EDELMANN & NERRETER

"QUEEN OF HEAVEN."

A Grand Rapids Medium Accused of Victimizing a Too Trusting Patron.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 30.—Mrs. Esther M. Bulman tells a most remarkable story of how she was to be made queen of all the angels and how she was worked up into a state of ecstatic anticipation so that she was willing and anxious to die.

The spiritualistic seances, trances, etc., by which Mrs. Margaret Spencer is alleged to have gained her control over Mrs. Bulman are said to have taken place in a little upper room in the Majestic hotel, of which Mrs. Spencer is proprietress. Mrs. Bulman was introduced to the medium nearly a year ago and soon became deeply interested. She almost lived in the "Little Heaven," as the spiritualist's room was called. Soon Mrs. Bulman learned that she had a "guardian angel," who guided her actions in almost everything thenceforth. Mrs. Bulman gave money, jewelry, clothing, etc., to Mrs. Spencer from time to time, at the command of the "guardian angel." Then one day the "angel," through Mrs. Spencer, of course, told Mrs. Bulman that he loved her, that he could not do longer without her and that she was destined to join the spirit world.

"I have admired you as my ideal of womanly loveliness and purity since you were 12 years old," the "angel" told Mrs. Bulman.

"Who are you?" Mrs. Bulman asked.

"I am Jesus Christ," was the answer. The "guardian angel" from that time talked of her coming death until the woman ceased to fear it, and even bought a coffin and acquiesced in the arrangements she declares Mrs. Spencer made for her funeral.

The "guardian angel" three weeks ago directed that she procure a small bottle of rose water. He blessed it and returned it with careful directions not to look at it, but to shake it well while it was concealed in a handkerchief and drink it.

Mrs. Bulman looked at the liquid, which contained a white sediment. The bottle has been turned over to Prosecutor Brown and later to Dr. Chappel for analytical examination.

Next the "angel" instructed her to get five ounces of morphine. She could get only 40 grains. This, she says, she delivered to the "guardian angel," who blessed it while she prayed. Then Mrs. Bulman said she threw it into the sewer.

The "angel" then directed, she says, that she write a letter to her sister telling of her impending departure from this life.

Mrs. Spencer said she had recovered the morphine bottle and explained it had been blessed and returned to her from the depths of the river. The "guardian angel" instructed Mrs. Bulman to take a spoonful of this drug. She went home, wrote the letter as directed and took it.

In fear that she might die and the letter be construed as the last message prior to suicide, she burned the letter and the bottle containing the remainder of the morphine. Then she was taken desperately ill and Dr. Chappel was suddenly called and made the desperate and successful fight to save her life.

Mrs. Bangle, a nurse who was employed, says she was ordered to permit no one to be alone with the sick woman. Mrs. Spencer came and in spite of her trust, Mrs. Bangle says, she was forced to do the woman's bidding and went out into the diningroom, leaving Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. Bulman alone. The nurse insists that she was hypnotized. Some time later Mrs. Bulman was taken seriously ill and Dr. Chappel was again summoned. He succeeded in bringing her out of this collapse.

Mrs. Spencer, who is said to have secured $1,190 in cash and property from the woman she is alleged to have put so completely under her spell, was arraigned in police court on a charge of grand larceny and will have a hearing on February 2.

Today for the first time she saw a reporter, but refused to make any statement further than to say that she would be able to explain all.

The woman tries to appear composed, but is decidedly nervous. The vial containing the residue of the drug said to have been given Mrs. Bulman is now in a chemist's hands. Prosecutor Brown refuses to give out his plans, but it is not likely any action along the line of attempted murder will be taken until after the hearing on the larceny charge.

Dr. Henry Hulst, one of the leading physicians of the city and known throughout the state for his knowledge of X-ray treatment, is also celebrated as hypnotist, which he uses in some cases. Speaking of the Mrs.

Bulman case he says:

"It was entirely possible for one person to bring about the death of another by hypnotic suggestion if such was the desire. The power of a strong mind over a weak one is such that the stronger can so influence the weaker with the belief that death is about to come that the nerve centers lose their power, with the result that the person really dies. There is no question in my mind but that in several mysterious cases death has been caused in this way."—[Detroit Journal.

WHITE FILLS VACANCY.

Township Board appoints Successor to the Late Supervisor Hunt.

The township board met Saturday and appointed Frank N. White to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Supervisor L. H. Hunt, whose term would have expired April 1, next. Mr. White accepted the appointment and at once entered upon the duties which are familiar to him by reason of having occupied the office several years prior to Mr. Hunt's incumbency.

One of Mr. White's first official acts was to sign an order for the balance of salary due Mr. Hunt payable to his widow. At the same time he drew a check for $50 on his private account and presented it to Mrs. Hunt as a voluntary offering of the salary that would have been drawn out by Mr. Hunt had he served out his term. Thus, Mr. White will serve as supervisor during the next two months virtually without pay.

Another Lowell Son Takes a Bride in the Northwest.

Frank Kopf, son of Mrs. Goodrich Kopf of Lowell, was recently married at Bremerton, Wash., where he has been for several years. The following is from the Bremerton News:

"Frank C. Kopf and Miss Grace McDiarmid were united in marriage last Tuesday evening, Jan. 16, at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. J. H. Carter officiating. The bride is an estimable young lady of Bremerton and many friends wish her all the joys of life. Mr. and Mrs. Kopf will make their home in Bremerton, Mr. Kopf being an employe of the Navy Yard."

COME HOME TO ROOST.

Lecturer L. B. Wickersham Says That Chickens Do.

L. B. Wickersham of Iowa delivered his lecture "Chickens Come Home to Roost," before a splendid audience at Train's opera house Monday evening, holding the closest attention of old and young for two hours.

The lecture abounds in humor and pathos and in warnings and counsel for the young, in inspiration for the middle-aged and consolation and cheer for the aged.

The sentiment in favor of bestowing kind acts and expressions of love, appreciation and sympathy upon the living rather than heaping flowers upon coffins met with hearty applause. Children were told that mother's funeral could be postponed for years by thoughtfulness, appreciation and kindness on their part. If a vote of thanks had been tendered the speaker, the mother vote would have been unanimous.

Idleness was declared to be the greatest evil of the age; and education and industry were extolled.

The ladies of the Clover Leaf club are gratified by the attendance and appreciation shown; and the people of Lowell will be glad to greet the speaker at some future time.

On Sunday evening Mr. Wickersham occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church at a union meeting and crowded house.

The tobacco evil came in for a large share of his attention, and at the close of the discourse, users of the weed were called upon for a contribution which should be used by Mr. Wickersham in his educational benevolences. The response was liberal.

Monday morning at the Central school, children of all the departments gathered in the High room where they were addressed by Mr. Wickersham for an hour in an inspiring address on education and kindred topics.

The gentleman is greatly interested in the cause of education and the welfare of young people; and aside from his financial assistance of poor students is everywhere inspiring young people to greater efforts and higher motives. May he continue long in the good work.

Demand Good Rubber Goods

There's a tendency on the part of some rubber goods manufacturers to see how little pure gum rubber they can use in their goods and still have them called rubber. The demand for cheaper goods has brought on this condition, but as such goods do not wear—people are beginning to call for something better and we are prepared to supply it.

Such goods as we are selling are decidedly cheaper in the long run because they wear years to the inferior goods' months.

When you want family rubber goods come here first and see what the real thing is like and also what real values are.
