THE NEED FOR CLEAN MEN.

If one were to go to the President of the United States and ask him to name the country's greatest need he would reply in his quick, conclusive way, "Clean men." He knows. Smart men there are by the thousands; rich men abound more than any other age of the world; able men are found in every State and town ship, but even from a population of eighty millions the chief executive has difficulty in finding the man of exceptional character for a post which requires a square and flawless morality. It is to his credit that he misses no opportunity to preach clean manhood. But neither Presidents nor preachers nor teachers can do the work of fathers except in their own families. We do not mean to underestimate the marvelous influence of the mother. In most lands men who reach success give their mothers the credit. "All that I am I owe to my mother," said Lincoln. "It was you who taught me to write so. You really did, dear mother,' said the crabbed Carlyle. We get our moral qualities from our mothers, our mental from our fathers, say the physiologists, and as we look back we find this maternal affection the loveliest thing on earth. But isn't there a conviction down deep in our souls that we should have done much better if our fathers had taken time and trouble to share our confidences in the years that counted most?-From The Delinator for

From Our Point of View

CARL SCHURZ, INDEPENDENT CITIZEN.

In the death of Carl Schurz, independent good-citizenship loses one of its most worthy and illustrious exways took precedence over partisan-

Born in Germany and soldiertrained in a fruitless struggle for a free fatherland, he came a young man to America in the early fifties, took an active part in the anti-slavery agitation of those times, helped to nominate and elect Lincoln; and as a brigadier general fought with the Union army at the second Bull Run, Hager, at Clarksville on Sunday. Chancellorsville, Gettysburg Chattanooga. After the war, he studied the problems of reconstruction in the South and was among the first to discover and denounce the wrong of carpet bag rule.

a senator "from Missouri" who did afternoon. not 'have to be shown." He supported Horace Greeley for the presidency; but was in line for Hayes four years later, and served in his cabinet. Again, in 1884 we find him stumping the country for Grover Cleveland. Thus we see, that while he was hu man and likely to err, he was always here last week looking after a branch true to his convictions, lead where they would.

In death, Carl Schurz is honored by all his adopted countrymen, as a patriot soldier, reformer, statesman and journalist; and his successful career will ever be an inspiration, alike to foreign born and native citizens in America, the land of opportunities.

IT SEEMs cruel to disappoint that excellent but needlessly alarmed class at the home by Rev. J. G. Mange. which for a thousand years has been declaring the iminence of the destruction of the world and the inhabitants thereof; but it is only fair to announce that Dr. Thomas C. Chamberlain, head geologist of Chicago university, declares that the earth will be habitable for a hundred million years yet. Worrying about "the last day" looks like borrowing trouble on long time; and what's the

Some readers of Dixon's "Clausman," whose knowledge of the reconstruction days may like our own be mainly a matter of history, may have been puzzled to place the character of "Stoneman," House leader DO YOU GET UP of the impeachment proceedings against President Johnson. It was Thaddeus Stevens of Pennysivania. Our townsman, S. P. Hicks, saw "the old commoner," and remembers the deformed foot so frequently referred to in Dixon's book.

A WRITER in the popular Science Monthly announces the discovery that city people are shorter lived than their "country cousins;" and declares his proofs incontrovertible. There is no question, however, but that the city man lives faster while he lives. Still the testimony in favor of the simple life of the rural districts will be pleasing to the millions whose lot is cast there.

According to the Ladles' Home Journal, of all our Presidents who have passed away, there is only one, John Tyler, whose grave is unmarked, even by autone. Richmond, every case that a special arrangement has Virginia, where the body is buried, should cause a suitable memorial to be erected.

"A LIE spoken or acted is never justifiable," said John D. Rockefeller. Jr., to his Sunday school class, and then the young saint visited a Connecticut town and registered as "John Davidson."

ROCKEFELLER's pastor has resigned. Don't blame him a mite. He's played second fiddle to the gold-dress, Binghamton, N. Y., on every en calf long enough.

Kansas Democrats very justly refused to re-elect as state chairman Col. Sapp, who called President Roosevelt "a liar." Such hasty and intemperate language from our public men is not palatable; and Washington itself has of late been too free that with sort of argument.

Do THE people wish to elect their own senators? They say "Yes!" by 2054 to 10, according to the straw vote taken by the Grand Rapids Herald. Undoubtedly the test is a fair one; and it shows what will | happen to the obstructionists some sweet day.

Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort, instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Vast Volumes of Ashes Blown Twenty Miles Above Earth — Detonations Heard Three Thousand Miles Dis-

By Sir Robert Ball.

The following description by Sir Robert Ball of the eruption of Krakatoa will be read with special interest at the present time. It is taken from his book, "The Earth's Beginning," recently published by D. Appleton & Co. Until the year 1883 few had ever heard of Krakatoa. It was not inhabited, but the natives from the surused occasionally to draw their canoes up on its beach while they roamed through the jungle in search of the wild fruits. The island seemed to owe its existence to some frightful eruption tion to the instances above mentioned of bygone days, but for a couple of The portrait here presented is of during the Mississippi flood of 1882, the centuries there had been no fresh outbreak.

There they beheld a vast column of steam pouring forth with terrific noise from a profound opening about thirty yards

As the summer of this dread year advanced, the vigor of Krahatoa steadily increased. The noises became more and more vehement. These were presently audible on shores ten miles distant, and then twenty miles distant, until the great thunders of the volcano, now so rapidly developing, astonished the inhabitants that dwelt Britain, and there were other symptoms of the approaching catastrophe. With each successive convulsion a quantity of fine dust was projected aloft into the clouds. The wind could not carry this dust away as rapidly as it was hurled upward by Krahatoa, and accordingly the atmosphere became heavily charged with suspended particles. A pall of darkness thus hung over the adjoining seas and islands. Such was the thickness and the density of these atmospheric volumes of Krakatoa dust that for a hundred miles around the darkness of midnight prevailed at midday. Then the awful tragedy of Krahatoa took place. Many thousands of the unfortunate inhabitants of the adjacent shores of Sumatra and Java were destined never to behold the sun again. They were presently swept away to destruction in an invasion of the shore by the tremendous waves with which the seas surrounding Krakatoa were agitated.

The development of the volcanic energy proceeded, and gradually the terror of the inhabitants of the surrounding coasts rose to a climax. July had ended before the manifestations of Krakatoa had attained their full violence. By the middle of August the panic was widespread, for the supreme catastrophe was at hand,

On the night of Sunday, August 26, 1883, the blackness of the dust clouds, now much thicker than ever in the Straits of Sunda and adjacent parts of Sumatra and Java, was only occasionally illumined by lurid flashes from the volcano. The Krakatoa thunders were on the point of attaining their complete development. At the town of Batavia, a hundred miles distant, there was no quiet that night. The houses trembled with the subterranean violence, and the windows rattled as if heavy artillery were being discharged in the streets, and still these efforts seemed to be only rehearsing for the supreme display. On the morning of Monday, August 27, 1883, the rehearsals were over and the performance began. An overture, consisting of two or three introductory explosions, was succeeded by a frightful convulsion

PAINT WITHOUT OIL.

A. L. Rice, a prominent manufacturer, of Adams, N. Y., has discovered a process of making a new kind of paint without the use of oil. He calls it Powdrpaint. It comes to you a dry powder, and all that is required is cold water to make a paint weather-proof, fire-proof and as durable as oil paint. For many purposes it is much better than oil paint, and is indispensable to every property owner. It adheres to any surface, wood, stone or brick, spreads and looks like oil paint, yet costs only one-fourth as much.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. ## A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Lowell.

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the urine when the kidneys are well are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder get inflamed and swollen, crowding the delicate female organs nearby and sometimes misplacing them. This is the true cause of my bearing down pains, lameness, backache, sideache, etc. Uric poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, language nervousness and rhouse tick. languor nervousness, and rheumatic

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that cures sick kidneys. You will get better as the kidneys get better, and health will return when the kidneys are well. Let a Lowell woman tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs J. R. White, of West Water Street, says: "I have always had more or less trouble with my kidneys. I inherited it from my parents, especially on my father's side. He died with Bright's disease and my sister died two years ago with uraemic poison. It is no wonder Work called for and delivered that I have a great dread of kidney complaint. The last ten or twelve years I have suffered severely. At times there seemed to be a sinking place in my left bip large enough that I could put my band in it, draw inwardly and was very painful. If I catch the least cold I am worse. The kidney secretions at times were were much too frequent and at others scanty and painful. In the morning, I felt lame and sore and had to make quite an effort to dress myself. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I got a box at W. S. Winegar's drug store and used it. They are excellent. They gave me more relief and acted more quickly than any other remedy I ever tried. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo,
