WELDON SMITH, The Baker

THROWN BY HIS TEAM.

Alton Man Run Over By His Horses in Lowell Tuesday.

Al. Biggs of Alton vicinity, while in Lowell Tuesday afternoon, was run over by his team and severely injured internally. The accident occurring near Roth's blacksmith shop, just north of Main street.

Biggs had untied the horses, and held the reins in his hand, when they suddenly started up and ran down the street, the driver hanging on until he was thrown down. The wagon wheel ran over him, striking just between the hip and the ribs. No bones were broken. Dr. Anderson was summoned and took him home, remaining with him during the night. Though it is yet impossible to determine the full extent of the injuries, it is believed that the man will recover.

CLEMENT M. HIGBY DIED

At Charlotte October 31. Was a Mechanical Genius.

Clement M. Higby died last Wednesday at the home of his sister, Mrs. G. H. Spencer, at Charlotte. Funeral services were held at two o'clock Friday afternoon, Nov. 2d, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, and burial was in the family lot at Maple Hill cemetery.

Clement M. Higby, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Higby, was born at Charlotte, Mich., May 15, 1864, and grew to manhood at that place. In 1892 he graduated from Parson's Horological Institute at Peoria, Ill., and went to Little Falls, Minn., to work at his trade. On June 20, 1893, he was married to Miss Alma Dubneuil of Little Falls and later moved to Belding, Mich., where he went into business for himself. After four years he moved with his family to Lowell, where they have since lived. More than a year ago, Mr. Higby was obliged to give up all work and last February he went to the home of his sister at Charlotte, where his family afterwards joined him, and where he passed away Oct. 31st.

He was a man of great mechanical ingenuity, to whom a task requiring skill and head work was a pleasure, and he was often called upon to direct difficult tasks.

Mr. Higby is survived by a wife and two sons, Spencer and Warren, and an only sister. The family will return to their home in Lowell for the winter.

THIRTY CARS OF CANS

Filled by Lowell Canning Company up to October 31.

Work on canning apples closed last Wednesday at the Lowell canning factory, closing a busy and prosperous season's canning campaign, in spite of the disastrous fire that marked the opening week. The large sums of money paid for labor and stock should lighten the winter expense problem for many people.

The season's output at the close of the fruit season last Wednesday, was 123,000 gallons, or 30 carloads, the minimum amount to the carload being 30,000 pounds.

Asked what he would do to keep himself out of mischief this winter, Mr. Falls replied that he expected to keep running on mince meat, apple butter and baking powder until January, and would still require 75 bushels of apples per day. After that date, he will be occupied in making cement blocks for the new canning factory on the former site, where preliminary work in the shape of sewer connections, etc. is already being done.

The new factory, which will be larger than the old one and modern in every respect, will have floors of concrete, sloping slightly to gutters connected with the sewer, providing for cleanliness and better sanitary conditions than have been possible in the temporary quarters.

VICTIM OF DOG'S BITE

Lake Odessa Farmer Wouldn't Give $25 to Save His Life.

Lake Odessa, Nov. 5.—George Helmer, aged 50, a prosperous farmer, died Saturday evening from rabies after 15 hours of intense suffering.

His death, and the deaths of many of the chickens on his farm, two hogs and his dog, resulted from an attempt by him to force his dog into a woodchuck's hole Sept. 4, when the dog objected to going. The dog bit Helmer and he went to Ann Arbor to take the Pasteur treatment. When told it would cost him $25 he grew angry.

"I'd like to know if this isn't a state institution and if I, as a taxpayer, am not entitled to this treatment free," he demanded.

He refused to pay the $25 and returned home.

Before the dog was killed he bit two hogs, which died two weeks ago. Hens that picked at the dog's unburied carcass also showed symptoms of rabies and many of them died about the same time.

He leaves a widow and two married daughters.—(Detroit Journal).

NEW CONTESTANT

Mrs. Ray N. Parker Joins Race. Mrs. Gibson Gets Second Place.

Mrs. Chase still leads the race for THE LEDGER'S Christmas sewing machine gift, but the others are chasing her up lively. Since the last count, Mrs. James Gibson has gone from third to second place with Mrs. Boyce and Mrs. Willey just a notch or two behind, and Mrs. Ray N. Parker's name has been entered in the contest by friends.

Wednesday evening, Nov. 7, at 5 o'clock, the contestants in the voting race ranked as follows:

Mrs. E. E. Chase.
Mrs. James Gibson.
Mrs. Jay Boyce.
Mrs. Ethel Willey.
Mrs. Ray N. Parker.
Mrs. Nellie Andrews.
Miss Zella Wood.

Seven votes thrown out this week dated "October 31." Votes counted at 5 o'clock each Wednesday evening. Don't let your ballots lapse.

The chance is still good for anyone to get into the race. Good commission on new subscriptions and 52 votes with each dollar paid. Now is the time to help yourself or some other deserving person to a fine sewing machine. See picture elsewhere in this issue. Vote early and late and often.

QUARTER VOTE OUT.

IN Lowell Tuesday. Was a Republican Day Pretty Much Everywhere.

Only 254 Lowell people knew or cared that a state election was on Tuesday, and of these 197 voted for Warner and 57 for Kimmelerie.

Ada voted Warner 61, Kimmelerie 35; Bowne, Warner 66, Kimmelerie 19; Caledonia, Warner 59, Kimmelerie 24; Cannon, Rep. 69, Dem. 5; Cascade, Rep. 69, Dem. 12; Grattan, Rep. 56, Dem. 58; Vergennes, Rep. 30; Dem. 27.

Warner carries the State by 100,000; legislature is Republican all but four representatives. Michigan's congressional delegation is solidly Republican. Of course everything on the Republican county ticket was elected.

Hughes beat Hearst for governor in New York; but the Democrats claim the rest of the ticket.

Democrats have gained representatives in the National house, elected governors in Rhode Island and Minnesota and hold the "Solid South" otherwise it was a Roosevelt day throughout the country. One bad feature was the coming back to power of the Republican feature in Pennsylvania, the Lincoln Republican reform party which won by a handsome vote two years ago being defeated by Stuart, the regular Republican nominee for governor.

The theatre people defeated the anti's on the Sunday closing proposition by about 600; but the non-partisan city election idea was approved by an overwhelming majority.

About thirty of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Seeley of Lewisville gave them a surprise last Thursday evening in honor of the latter's birthday, and presented each with a token of regard.

Mrs. Bell Perrine left Tuesday morning for her home at Bisbee, Ariz., after spending several weeks with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. Brower, and other relatives.

S. S. Hudson will have an auction sale at his farm in South Boston, 1 1/2 miles east of the upper Grand river bridge and south of the river, known as the Henry Alden farm, Wednesday, Nov. 21st, at 10 o'clock sharp. The list includes horses, colts, nine cows, heifer, calves, wagons, pair bob sleighs, farm implements and a few articles of household furniture.

Levi Burras and wife drove to Grand Rapids Monday, fifty-three years after his first visit there, when all of the city then existing was located on Canal and Monroe streets. He remembers a sign hung out by A. J. Ealy in those days, which read: "Come one, come all, and you shall find"

The cheapest goods of every kind—Sugar, coffee, teas and satin, Shinglenalls and cotton batten'."

W. S. Godfrey met an eastern manufacturer of fitwell clothing in Grand Rapids Tuesday and purchased an entire new stock for his new store at Hastings. Mr. Godfrey says his present stock was bought for Lowell and must be sold here, and by the way it is going it shows that his low prices and good intentions meet the approval of the people. We are sorry to lose a man like Mr. Godfrey, but what will be our loss will be Hastings' gain.

NUTS WANTED.
10,000 bu. of hickory nuts, walnuts, butternuts and beechnuts. Highest prices paid. J. H. McCarty Bros.

"I am sorry the Old Man is going out of business."

"You know I've traded at this store for over twenty years and I've always found Marks Ruben square. When he said all wool it meant—all wool—no shoddy—not a thread but pure wool, and now when he says that he is going out of business it is pretty safe to bet that he means just what he says and I am sorry for it."
The above remarks overheard by the writer crudely but expressively explain the way a great many people feel about the loss to Lowell of a sturdy old citizen who has lived and made his home in our town so long and aside from his business connections the cause for regret has a deeper reason, coming to America 40 years ago a vigorous chap with good habits and mighty little money he began the struggle of life at the bottom of the ladder with the accompanying hard knocks that come to a young man without friends and a limited knowledge of his surroundings, and as he climbed away from the bottom round he did not as many do, forget the poor and friendless we have always with us, and it is to that quick, practical sympathy that gives substantial help to the needy, that has helped to build for him that warm friendship that now appears to find such universal expression.

More Glasses Are Worn

nowadays than ever before. No doubt of it. People used to think that the wearing of glasses should be put off as long as possible.

We know better now.

We apply every known agency for the relief and cure of eye weakness and there are methods in common use which weren't heard of even ten years ago.

Now we commence to right the eyesight just as soon as it begins to go wrong. Now school children by the hundred wear glasses. And it's wise and proper too.

Let us tell you what shape your eyes are in.

No Fancy Prices.
