GREAT RELIGIOUS REVIVAL ON ALL OVER THE WORLD

Beyond Precedent

HARVEST OF CONVERTS LARGER THAN EVER KNOWN.

Historic Movement of 1857 Far Eclipsed in Intensity and Fervor-Starting with the Work of Torrey and Alexander in Australia Four Years Ago It Has Spread to All Civilized Countries-What the Evangelists Say of It.

Chicago .- The greatest religious revival of modern times is in progress. Phronghout the United States the manifestations of enthusiasm have been no more marked than in foreign countries. The movement seems to be world-wide. China and India are ending to this country most remarkable reports of the religious awakening in those countries. Everywhere the evival spirit is marked beyond all recedent.

in the central part of the United States, with Chicago as the focal point, the series of "old-time" religtous meetings and the harvest of conerts have been the most notable in he history of the country since 1857. In that year occurred a religious novement that has become historie y virtue of its intensity and scope. 'onsidered in proportion to population solubly was as important as the one

New England in a Fever.

The present revival spirit in this country appeared in its most distinct form soon after the wonderful successes of Torrey and Alexander in England. New England, cold temperamentally and rock-bound religiously. cast off its traditional reserve and laid itself open to the influences of the "old-time" religion. In Boston the evangelistic work under Rev. A. C.

Dixon and others resulted in an unprecidented number of conversions. All over Canada the same was true. A four weeks' campaign in Toronto by Torrey and Alexander resulted in 4,300 conversions. Philadelphia next was attacked by the evangelists, and the enthusiasm whipped to a high pitch, a small army of men, women and children professing conversion. Every section of the rial reasons for the strength of the country, outside possibly of the Pa- present movement. Here they are: cific coast, has fallen under the wave of religious enthusiasm.

Felt Throughout the West.

The revival in the middle west cannot properly be said to have spread from Chicago, because the religious fervor in this part of the United States has been as much in evidence in the cities surrounding Chicago for as long as it has been in the city. The proportion of converts to population in the smaller cities and towns also has been much greater than in Chicago for obvious reasons.

The exact number of converts in Chicago within the last six months is not obtainable, for the reason there have been so many individual revival han and now, the movement of 1857 movements in Chicago without any central controlling organization whose business it is to keep track of the converts, each church doing this work for itself. The principal evangelists working in this city estimate the number to date at from 4,060 to 5,000. Besides these, many "backsliders" have been reclaimed and much interest has been aroused among persons who have not affiliated themselves with any church.

WILLIAM PULLEN---OF A STURDY RACE In the death of William Pullen, Lowell loses one of its old time merchants, leaving very few indeed of his early-day business contemporaries. Going to the great majority he has joined Blaisdell, Hunter, King, Hunt, Mathewson, Howk, Quick, Train and others who were active in the affairs of this community forty and more years ago and who lived until recent years to enjoy the benefits of the industrial, social, educational, fraternal and religious institutions they helped to establish and maintain. They were a sturdy race of men, of many and striking virtues; and present and future generations will do well to average up as well.

Mr. Pullen was a man of more than average intellectual ability. While not, in the later years during which we have known him, inclined to seek sociability he would warm up in disposal of the stone crusher was, in congenial conversation and express himself clearly and forcibly. THAT the cause of temperance is much making great strides, to the alarm of the liquor traffic, is evidenced by a warning to the saloon in a recent number of Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular. This organ of the saloon declares. That half of the geographical limits of the country are under prohibitory laws; that Tennesee and West Virginia are preparing to follow press companies $5,000 each for trans- United States senators; and those porting wines and spirits: that Illinois lawless, senile old money bags and proposes a $1,000 retail license; that Kentucky is almost dry; that anti-saloon progress is being made all over, particularly in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota; and that the anti-saloon league workers so from being long - haired far fanatics, are able, well financed and well advised. All this should encourage temperance people everywhere to new zeal in their warfare against the enemy of the home. Another remarkable point in the Wine and Spirit editorial is its warning to the saloon that it "must reform." We can all agree on that point. Undoubtedly, the saloon would do much to disarm its enemies by a strict observance of the laws already in force, particularly those regarding sale of liquors to minors and to drunken husbands and fathers. As for the people, they utterly fail in good citizenship, if they tolerate the violation of these laws. Let us protect the dependent families of drunkards now and stand like another Stone wall against the infamous debauchery of our boys. FRANK FAYANT in his article on "Fools and Their Money" in Success for April tells of a New Hampshire country preacher who wrote to a New York promoter of "Wild Cat" enterprises saying that he had $1500, the savings of a life time, that he desired to invest for the benefit of his family, and asking the promoter "as man to man" if he would advise the clergyman to invest in the scheme then on hand. The promoter had a conscience and some pity for the family of the poor minister and wrote honestly advising him to put his money in a bank. Two days later he received from the determined New Hampshire dupe a draft for $1500, and he kept it. In the face of such facts as this, the giving of advice seems useless, and yet with the daily newspapers full of attractive display advertising, costing, in the case of New York and Chicago papers, $1,000 and upwards per page, roping in victims by the thousands, it is only fair to repeat the warnings heretofore given in this paper. Conservative investments commonly pay no greater interest than five or six per cent; and greater returns inevitably mean greater risks. If the fabulous returns offered by advertisers were safe and sure don't you suppose conservative banks would gobble them up?

Yes. 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood - Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Poisonous substances are then absorbed into the blood, instead of being removed from the body daily as nature intended. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills, liver pills. All vegetable.

IMPROVEMENT of internal waterways as a remedy for a congested railroad traffic, has an able advocate in the President, who has appointed a commission to investigate the improvement and control of our river systems. RECIPE FOR PLUM PUDDING.

Delicious Confection as It is Made in the South.

Southern plum pudding differs from the time-honored English one in that it is steamed in a mold instead of boiled in a cloth or bag, but is no less toothsome. The recipe given here, which was secured from a Virginian, will be found sufficient for 14 persons, and can either be cooked in one large mold, or, if desired, the mixture placed in smaller ones. It will keep well and indefinitely, and, like fruit cake, is improved with age. If the family is small it is well to use the small molds, and reheat as required, says What-to-Eat.

Weigh one pound of raisins, one pound of currants and one pound of suet, one-half pound of citron, one pound of grated bread and one-half pound of brown sugar. Stone and chop the raisins, clean and dry the currants, chop the suet fine, sprinkling with a little flour and cut the citron into thin strips. Measure one even teaspoonful each of ground cinnamon and nutmeg and one-half teaspoonful each of cloves and allspice. Put all the fruits into a bowl and mix lightly with a handful of flour. Add the sugar and spices, the chopped suet and the bread, and mix all thoroughly. Beat eight eggs until very light and mix them with one-half pint of brandy. Pour into the fruit mixture and stir until well blended. Pack in a greased mold and steam for six hours. Turn out of the mold and decorate with blanched and split almonds. Serve with brandy sauce.

a pinch of thyme and a plece or lemon peel the size of a ten-cent piece is sufficient for six mushrooms; fry them in some bacon fat (scraped), flavor with pepper and salt and add sufficient breadcrumbs to fill the six cups hollowed out; cover with breadcrumbs. Cook the filled cups slowly in a stewpan with a little melted fat, keeping covered to retain the flavor. This should be served with brown gravy poured around, not over.

HER "BOY" A TREASURE.

His Acquaintance Proves of Value to American Women.

An American woman who had gone to live in Shanghai was compelled, soon after her arrival, to entertain some important business associates of her husband's. Her finest china, glass, and so forth had not yet arrived from the States. Nevertheless, she determined to give a dinner and called in her "Number one boy." "Now, boy," she said impressively. "I entertain three gentlemen at dinner to-morrow, very fine gentlemen Must be nice, everything." Bowing and scraping, he went off to inform the other seven servants. The next evening as she ushered her friends into the dining hall she gasped in astonishment. Before her was a table spread with the most exquisite linen, cut glass, silver and delicate china. Over it all hung a gorgeous cut glass chandelier. Course after course was served as if by magic. The instant she could leave her guests she sought her "Number one boy."

WHEN WAGES WERE LOW.

slaries of Long Ago Really Larger Than They Seemed.

"Columbus," said an antiquary of hicago, "got a salary of $320 a year, ss than a dollar a day. His capains got $180 a year apiece. His rew got $2.25 a month. To equip the expedition that discovered America cost $2,800. The total cost of discovering America was $7,200.

"Lawyers nowadays, especially corporation lawyers, think nothing of earning a million a year. In the reign of Edward IV, a baronet entered in his diurnal, or diary:

"'Paid to Roger Flypott, learned in the law, for his counsel, three shillings, with four pence for his dinner.' "Ministers often make to-day $20,000 or $30,000 a year. The late Dr. Talmage made $60,000. Yet John Knox only got $220 a year, or $4 a week, and that was a dollar more a week than Scottish judges got.

"Small salaries, those," concluded the antiquary; "but we must remember that in that epoch there were no trusts to inflate prices, and a dollar went a long way. In fact, a Christmas dinner for a family of six would been cut short, in the aggregate, by have cost, in John Knox's time-for fires in the woods. Uncounted milthe turkey, 10 cents; cranberry sauce, lions of dollars worth of extremely 2 cents; potatoes, 1 cent; turnips, 1 cent; celery, 1 cent; plum pudding, 2 cents-total 17 cents, or less than 3 cents a head."

TIMBER WASTE BY FIRE.

Need of Scientific Forestry in the United States Is Very Great.

A forest fire is a terrific thing to fight when it once gets a fair start Often it is practically beyond human control not long after its destructive work begins. And it is a prodigious waster of the natural resources of the United States. Probably no other country suffers so much from fires in forests, says the Cleveland Leader.

If the timber of America could be saved from damage and destruction by fire the day of the exhaustion of the forest wealth with which this republic was wonderfully endowed would be indefinitely postponed. Fires not only ruin trees ready for use, but kill millions of young saplings. They prevent reforesting in many wide areas which have been denuded of their original timber.

The tragic news from northern Mich-Igan and neighboring districts in Wisconsin is a grimly impressive reminder of the havoc and peril of forest fires. The story is old. It has been told over and over in the United States. Many thousand lives have useful property has gone up in smoke. The nation's resources have been wasted.

There is room for vast improvement in the guarding and care of American forests. It is possible to prevent many fires which would be terribly destructive if permitted to get well started. Others can be put out while still small enough to control. The whole wide field of forestry is open for guard curled up in a basket filled with progress which will mean much to the

THE LETTER OF THE LAW.

Sheriff Had Provided Exactly What Judge Called For.

The Hon. John Steel was a sheriff in Missouri. A new county judge was elected, and Steel, thinking to pay the judge a delicate compliment, selected for his first panel of jurors every fat man in the county; the judge weighed nearly 300 pounds, says the Saturday Evening Post.

The day was hot, and Steel, when he took the jurors out to dinner, fed them so heartily that all went to sleep during the afternoon. The judge was farious.

"What do you mean," he roared at the sheriff, "by bringing those sleepyheads into court as a jury? They haven't heard any of this afternoon's evidence. I discharge the panel. Go the blood not merely of human paout now and get a panel of men who will stay awake. I want men with a single eye to justice, not dolts like these!"

Steel went out and rode the country that night. When the judge appeared next morning Steel had a panel of oneeyed men for him.

It Happens Every Night.

At the end of one of the sessions of the world's convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Boston, Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens condemned the habit that so many men have of going out between the acts at the theater.

"I am in hearty sympathy," said Mrs. Stevens, "with a woman whose husband said to her, at the end of an interesting drama:

"'Jove! what a play. I don't believe there was a dry eye in the house when the curtain went down on the third act.'

Fever From Apes to Man.

Sir Patrick, in his recent lectures on tropical diseases, although accepting the theory that the only mode of transmission of marsh, or malarial, fever, is through the bite of the Anopheles mosquito, adds the statement. which will probably be new to most readers, that the mosquitos are capable of becoming infected by absorbing tients, but also of anthropoid apes, and perhaps even of various other mammals, which, in an evolutionary sense, are related to man .-- Youth's Companion.

GOATS DID THE MOWING.

In Two Summers the Browsers Cleared a Hillside of Brush and Briers.

A flock of Angora goats were put on a rocky hillside that it was desired to have cleared and gotten into grass, says a writer in Country Life in America. It was such a tangle of brush and briers that it was difficult to make a way through it.

The goats actually ate their way in until it was penetrated with paths in all directions. After the leaves within reach were eaten they would stand on their hind feet, with their forefeet in the branches, and so eat the leaves seemed to be the usual number of dry higher up, or, if the brush was not too large, would throw their weight against and bend it to the ground. where others would help strip it of its foliage.

> The leaves would come out again only to be eaten off, then the sprouts would come from the roots to share the same fate, until at the end of the second summer everything in the shape of a bush not over six feet tall, except the pine and laurel, was completely killed, and white clover was beginning to appear ...

Visitation of Frogs.

An Australian town near Melbourne had a strange visitation. An army of frogs probably from a near-by morass swarmed into the town. They covered the roads, and got into the houses, whence the householders had to sweep them or shovel them. The episode caused somewhat of a scare in the minds of the superstitious, and is not for their benefit that this paof the world was at hand. The invasion, however, finally passed on to some more congenial home to sing its chorus of "Brek-kek-kek-kek koax," which Aristophanes put into their mouths erect a new building they should buy the material for that building at home of their neighbor, Mr. Building Material Man.

And let us speak a word for Mr. Printer Man also. He is a part of this community; he contributes to its prosperity; he advertises it, and he is entitled to his place in the circle through which the community's dollars are to circulate. When you, Mr. Merchant, want printing of any kind, give the job to the home printer. The dollar that you spend with him he will again spend with you, and both will make a profit on it. It is but fair that he have this, his legitimate portion of the home trade. He is as much a part of the community as yourself, and as much entitled to your support as you are entitled to the support of the farmer, the mechanic, the preacher, the doctor.

The battle against the mail-order octupus can never be a successful one unless all interests are actively engaged in it. It can never be successful so long as the merchant wants it preached but does not want to practice it himself. The merchant who sends his saving account to the city bank for safe keeping is not entitled to the support of the community whose money he takes from it. The merchant who will not patronize his brother merchants, who makes his visits to the city an excuse for buying his own household supplies, supplies that are not carried on his own shelves, of the city merchants, is not entitled to the support of the community. Such a merchant wants to preach but not practice home trade. He wants to do with the community's dollars just what he condemns in others-send them away from the community. He would bankrupt the community for selfish interests.

There are few, if any, such mer chants as this in this or other communities, but if there are any here it some of the old folk declared the end per is preaching home trade to its readers.

> We hear much of the strength of trusts and combinations. In what does their strength lie? To a large extent in the fact that they control the trade in the commodities in which they are dealing. They make every dollar they spend an interest earn-or whoever it may be, that intends to , will grow, and your town holdings will grow in value at the same time the farmer's acres grow in value. The home trade problem is a many sided one, and the home merchant's side of the problem is not the least of them. WRIGHT A. PATTERSON.

REASON FOR ALL THINGS.

Customs That Now Seem Peculiar Had Origin in Wisdom.

If you are patient enough to ferret it out you will find that there is a reason for every little idiosyncrasy we have, for every queer thing we do. Take, for example, the wearing of widows' caps. Why do widows cover their heads with these curious little arrangements of maline, crepe and lace? It is a custom handed down to us from the Romans, who shaved their heads when they mourned the loss of a dear one. This idea was all right for men who did not mind appearing without a single spear of hair on their heads, but of course it was most unattractive for women. No one, not even a Roman matron, liked to be seen bald-headed, so the women of the Tiber devised a little cap to hide their baldness, and thus the custom has come down to us, even though heads are no longer shaved as a sign of mourning.

The reason that bells are tolled for the dead is that years ago, when tolling was first established, the people thought that the sound of the bells frightened away evil spirits who hovered near the dead.

Why do men, and women, too, wear bows on the left side of their hats? The reason is simple enough. When the head covering built upon the order of hais of to-day was first introduced it was ornamented with a ribbon which went around the crown and hung down in two ends on the left side, reaching below the shoulder. These ends were a sort of anchor, or safety line, and were put there expressly to be seized when a sudden gust of wind threatened to blow the hat away. The ribbons were put on the left side because, as a general thing, the left hand was more apt to be free than the right. Eventually these ribbons were knotted in a fetching bow with flowing ends, and then they were cut off quite close to the bat, so that they form a very smal and stiff bow knot:

WITH A LAME BACK ?

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr

Kilmer's Swamp-Roci the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century: dis-wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.
