STILL ANOTHER HOLDUP RECEPTION LAST EVE.

Nathaniel Thurston Assaulted and Robbed on Grand River Bridge.

Nathaniel Thurston, an old Lowell farmer, was attacked and robbed on Grand river bridge, on his way to the village after leaving the Sunday evening train from Grand Rapids. He was severely handled and lost about eight dollars in money and a watch.

Bert Charles, who was driving in the vicinity of the robbery, picked up the old man up and when he heard what had taken place lost no time in making tracks for town where left the victim in charge of Landford Swayze and wife who gave him much needed attention.

The Grand Rapids Press says of arrests made in that city:

Deputy Sheriff Ellis arrested Andrew Rouse and Herbert Wingate, two Lowell men yesterday on suspicion of being the men who held up Nathaniel Thurston on the bridge of that village Saturday night. Thurston says the men approached him in the Grand Trunk depot at Lowell in the evening with a request for some money and had threatened to get even when he refused them. Rouse, it is said admits that they followed the old man to Lowell and after being questioned by the deputy is alleged to have told where the watch which was taken from the farmer had been pawned. It has been recovered.

Ellis rounded up Rouse in the Arcade after a long chase and took him to the jail. Wingate was arrested later in the evening.

This Thursday morning's Herald says:

"Andrew Rouse and Herbert Wingate, when arraigned in justice court yesterday charged with robbing Nathaniel Thurston of Lowell, pleaded not guilty. Bonds were fixed at $1,000 each, but the date of examination has not yet been set."

Deputy Morse who was present at the arraignment says that both men practically admitted their guilt, and charged it to "booze." Mr. Morse thinks Mr. Thurston did not lose the amount of money at first claimed.

A fine musical program was furnished and dainty refreshments served by the ladies.

It was the largest reception tendered to Rev. and Mrs. Bready during their residence in Lowell.

SERIAL STORY

THE HOUSE OF A THOUSAND CANDLES

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON

“Ah, to be sure!—You were away Christmas eve, when those vandals broke in. Bates merely mentioned it in the last report I got from him in New York. That was all right. I assumed, of course, that you had gone off somewhere to get a little Christmas cheer. I don't raise anything about it.”

“But I had followed her—I went to Lincolnville to see her—don't you understand? She demanded to come—it was a trick, a part of the conspiracy against your property.”

The old gentleman smiled. It was an old trick of his to grow calm as other people worked angry.

“She asked you to come, did she? That is quite like Marian; but you didn't have to go, did you, Jack?”

“Of course not, of course I didn't have to go, but—”

I stammered, faltered and ceased. Memory threw open her portals with a challenge. I saw Marian on the railway at the Armstrongs; I heard her low, soft laughter, I felt the mockery of her voice and knew I knew the exquisite delight of being with her. My heart told me well enough why I had followed her.

“Jack, I'm glad you turned up here in that evening graveyard with nobody to exercise the right of this handily over you. I've had no news about you. I need to think you were a hardy tramp, and you disappeared in my own back yard. I've been looking for you in all the places I can find, but this performance of yours really hurts them all. Don't you know that a girl like Marian has a right to be married? To be married to a man who is a really fine fellow? Do you really believe she would have married you if she had known what you were like?”

“I know she was trying to find out what you were like, and she was very wise. She was right with the old man. He was a really fine fellow. You would be a good husband for her. For her sake, you ought to get married. You ought to have a home, and you ought to have a wife. You ought to have a home and a wife. You ought to have a home and a wife. You ought to have a home and a wife.”

“The old man said, ‘Jack, don't speak to me in that way. I've had my fill of your kind of talk. I've had my fill of your kind of talk. I've had my fill of your kind of talk. I've had my fill of your kind of talk. I've had my fill of your kind of talk.’”

“And I with you!” declared my grandfather. “I never believed your story at all,—you were too perfect in the part!”

“Well, I didn't greatly mind the valet business; it helped to hide my identity; and I did like the humor and whims of Mr. Glenam. The house-keeping, after we came on here, wasn't so pleasant,—he looked at his hands ruefully,—but this joke of Mr. Glenam's making a will and then going to Egypt to see what would happen,—that was too good to miss. And when the hole arrived I found new opportunities of practicing amateur theatricals; and Pickering's efforts to enlist me in his scheme for finding the money and making me rich gave me still greater opportunities. There were times when I was strongly tempted by that whole thing; I got kind of being suspended, and of playing ghost in the wall; and if Mr. Glenam hadn't got here just as he did I should have stopped the light and proclaimed the truth. I hope,—he said, turning to me,—you have no hard feelings, sir.” And he threw into the “sir” just a touch of irony that made us all rose.

“I'm certainly glad I'm not dead,” declared my grandfather, staring at Bates. “Life is more fun than I ever thought possible. Bless my soul!” he said, “if it isn't a shame that Bates can never cook another omelette for me!”

We sent Bates back with my grandfather from the boat-house, and Stoddard, Larry and I started across the lee; the light coating of snow made walking comparatively easy. We strode on silently, Stoddard leading. Their plan was to take an accommodation train at the first station beyond Annandale, leave it at a town 40 miles away, and then hurry east to an obscure place in the mountains of Maryland where a religious order maintained a house. There Stoddard prom-

“The moment I set eyes on this man I recognized him. It's not fair to you or to him that you should not know him for what he is. Let me introduce an old friend, Walter Cretchton; he was a student at Dublin when I was there, a poor boy with nobody to help him; but I remember him as one of the best fellows in the world.”

“For God's sake—no!” pleaded Bates. He was deeply moved and turned his face away from us.

“But, like me,” Larry went on, “he mixed in politics. One night in a plot at Dublin a constable was killed. No one knew who was guilty, but a youngster was suspected,—the son of one of the richest and best-known men in Ireland, who happened to get mixed in the row. To draw attention from the boy, Cretchton let suspicion attach to his own name, and to help the boy's case further, ran away. I had not heard from or of him until the night I came here and found him the defender of this house. By God, that was no servant's trick,—it was the act of a brave gentleman.”

They clasped hands, and with a new light in his face, with a new manner, as though he resumed, as a familiar argument, an old disused personality, Bates stood transfixed in the twilight, a man and a gentleman. I think we were all drawn to him; I know that a sob choked my throat and tears filled my eyes as I grasped his hand.

“But what in the devil did you do it for?” blurted my grandfather, exclaiming by twirling his glasses.

Bates still held him fast,—he resists on his laughing. For the first time he thrust his hands into his pockets and stood at his ease, one or two.

“Larry, you may remember that I showed a fondness for the stage in our university days. When I got to America I had little money and found it necessary to find employment without delay. I saw Mr. Glenam's advertise-

As my two friends waved farewell to me from the rear platform of my train a mood of depression seized me. I had lost much that day, and what I had gained,—my restoration to the regard of the kind old man of my own blood, who had appealed for my companionship in terms hard to deny,—seemed trifling as I tramped back over the lee. Perhaps Pickering, after all, was the real winner by the day's events!

I tramped on back toward the Glenam shore and leaving the lake, half-moonedly struck into the wood beyond the dividing wall. The melted snow of midday was now crisp ice that rattled and broke under my tread. I came out into an open space beyond St. Asa's, found the walk and I turned toward home in the gathering night.

As I neared the main entrance to the school the door opened and a woman came out under the overhanging lamp. She carried a lantern, and came with a hand outstretched to some one who followed her with careful steps.

“Ah, Marian,” cried my grandfather, “it's even the best of youth to light the way for one!”

Miss Edith, aged 14, walked with great dignity into a large draper's establishment the other day. “Please,” she said to the stately shopwalker, “I want a pair of gloves.”

Children Employed.

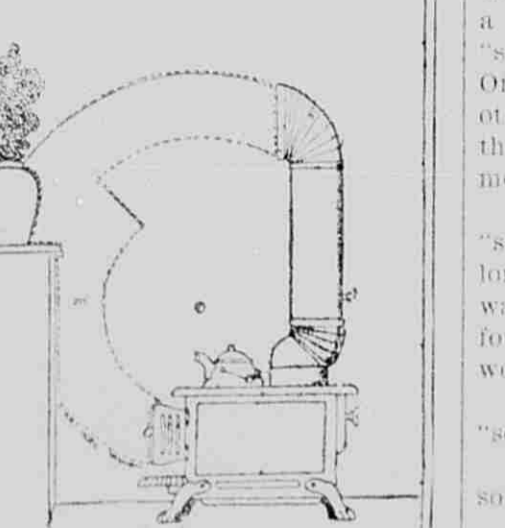

Nearly 700,000 children are working in the United States in occupations other than agriculture. Of these 700,000 children one in every six is working in Pennsylvania, and the number of working children in Pennsylvania is declared to be growing with alarming rapidity. In 1902 there were 32,000 discovered by the factory department; in 1904, 41,000, and in 1905, 48,000.

Schools for Indian Children.

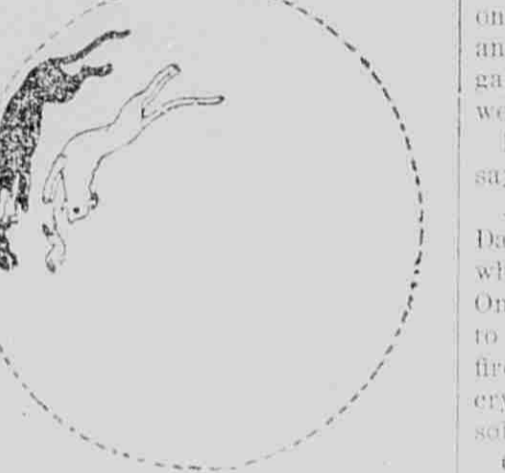

The United States government has started 300 schools for Indian children. Nearly 25,000 boys and girls attend these schools. They study books part of the day, and half the day the girls learn sewing, mending, housework, baking and so on, while the boys learn to be carpenters, shoemakers and farmers.

The Flying Spiral.

Details of Making Spiral.

In one end of a spool or bobbin drive two little nails without heads. See that each is the same distance from the hole and directly opposite each other.

Thrust through the spool a smooth stick. Have it in such a position, directs the Cleveland Leader, that the cardboard spiral will rest firmly on its head and the tops of the nails. Thrust a pin through the stick just below the spool.

When you spin the spool by means of a string, the spiral wing will whirl around swiftly, and then spin swiftly up through the air for quite a distance.

Twist the piece of cardboard all the way round, as shown in Figure 3.

SIoux PUPILS.

They Are Bright, but They Make Funny Mistakes.

Indian children know hardly any English when they first go to school but they are so bright and quick they soon learn. The older pupils coach the new arrivals, for even in a government school way out on an Indian reservation in the far west those who have been to school one year feel superior and think they should teach the little ones how to act, says the Brooklyn Eagle.

Some of these Sioux children make their teachers laugh with their droll mistakes. When a little one loses a tooth he says, “My tooth come off.” If a splinter gets into a finger, it is a “stick,” a “board,” or even a “lumber.” Of their shoes, mittens, etc., it is “the other side,” never the “mate.” When they have had a particularly good meal they say, “We eat very nice.”

For “scissors” these little people say “scissor,” pronouncing the “i” like long “e.” Once there was a girl who was reading her lesson out of the fourth reader. In the lesson there were a few lines from Shakespeare.

By and by the girl came to the word “scissors,” and mispronounced it.

“You must say ‘scissors,’ not ‘scissor,’” corrected the teacher.

A minute or two later the teacher heard her murmuring, “We come to bury Scissors, not to praise him.”

They are quick to see such likenesses in words.

A little girl who had lost a button from her dress asked for a pin to “button” it with. When a casket came off a bed in the dormitory a child exclaimed, “Look, a bed wheel!” Putting on her hat one afternoon a little girl announced “I think I will go out and gather some fresh air,” while another went out to “catch” some.

If they want to know the time they say, “How many o'clock?”

At one of these schools in South Dakota they had a little push cart in which wood was brought to the door. One day a troop of children were sent to gather dry willows for kindling the fires. When they returned one was crying, and when asked the cause, she sobbed: “The cart step on my foot.”

One day the little girl who was waitress for the teacher's table spoke of the dross as “the deservin’.”

Quaint as are their attempts to speak the English language, they are almost always very expressive, for these little Sioux children are wonderfully apt.

PROPRIETARY REMEDIES VS. PHYSICIANS' PRESCRIPTIONS

Statistics Show, of the Deaths from Misuse of Drugs in Two Years, Only Three Per Cent. Were Due to Patent Medicines, According to Figures Based on Medical Certificates.

The press committee of the Proprietary Association of America will present at the next meeting of that body a report showing the number of accidental deaths caused by patent medicines in the two years ending June 30, 1907, as compared with deaths from other causes.

Almost immediately after the beginning of the latest crusade against proprietary medicines this committee was instructed to collect data. This work was done through the clipping bureaus, which furnished accounts of all deaths, exclusive of suicide, due to the misuse of medicines, drugs or poisons. The result showed that only three per cent. could be traced directly to the products made by the members of the association.

The greatest care is said to have been exercised in tabulating the figures received. Whenever the cause of death was doubtful, special investigation was made, no matter where the cause might have occurred. The work of assorting and preparing the record was done in Chicago, and the original clippings and correspondence are in the possession of Ervin F. Kemp, 184 La Salle street, that city the association's publicity agent. The report says, in part:

“A large number of accidents, resulting fatally or otherwise, were caused by the carelessness of persons who left drugs, medicines or poison within the reach of children. A large number, also, were caused by persons going to medicine cabinets in the dark and taking down the wrong bottle. In no case reported was any medicine ‘patent’ or otherwise, held responsible for injury or death except when left within the reach of children or taken or administered in gross overdose.

The committee says that it is unlikely that any cases of death from the use of patent medicines escape the newspapers, but that it is probable that death from the causes tabulated did occur without receiving publicity. Physicians, of course, report the causes of death. The committee says that they would be the last to suppress the cause if due to the use of medicine not regularly prescribed.

A recapitulation of the committee's findings show 4,295 cases of poisoning, of which 1,755 were fatal. The greatest number of cases, 1,636, with 82 deaths, is attributed to medicines other than proprietary remedies. There are on the list 90 cases of sickness and 43 deaths due to patent medicines.

Analyzing its statistics, the committee finds 201 cases of sickness, with 143 deaths, due to strychnine tablets, which are among physicians' favored remedies and are often left within the reach of children.

Under the head of miscellaneous prescriptions are grouped 44 cases where, the report says, it has been impossible after diligent inquiry to ascertain the name or the character of the drug or medicine which caused injury or death, beyond the fact of the medicine or drug was prescribed by a physician. Of these cases were fatal. The committee says:

“Under the head of ‘All Patent Medicines’ are grouped all those remedies which are recognized as patent medicines and which are advertised direct to the public for internal use. Competent authorities say that least one-half of the medicines tabulated in the United States are of the kind known as ‘patent medicine,’ and in two years among 80,000,000 people there have been but ninety cases (forty-three fatal) that have been reported in the newspapers from use or misuse of these remedies.”

Not in a single fully substantiated case is it over charged that any patent medicine in recommended dose was injurious. In this connection should be understood that in making death certificates and in reports cases of injury to the newspaper from which these cases were seen a physician had the final word. In this connection is there any possibility that the doctor will hide own carelessness or neglect or that a fellow practitioner whose sup he may want at some time, and there even a possibility that he might hide any responsibility that could be thrown at a patent medicine? yourself these questions. Then you have found the answer, come that during all this most thorough and careful investigation covering period of two years, in not a single established case was it shown patent medicines in recommended doses was injurious.

The most remarkable case reported was that of an Italian laborer in New York who suffered from pains in chest. A physician ordered a plaster which the patient ate, with fatal results.

New Method of Cutting Steel

A new method of cutting steel said to have been patented by a glazier engineer. The process consists in first heating the metal by means an oxyhydrogen flame and then cutting it by a small stream of oxygen, which unites with the steel forms a fusible oxide, which freely from the cut. It is said the cut is fully as smooth as made by the saw, and is only inch wide.

KIDNEY TROUBLE PUTTING UP FRUITS

Suffered Two Years—Relieved in Three Months.

SEPTEMBER THE BEST MONTH FOR THE WORK.

Some Old-Fashioned Recipes That Are Decidedly Worth Trying—Delicious Preserves of Grapes and Peaches.

September preserving is by all odds the most pleasant of the fruit season. The days are much cooler, fruits are abundant and cheap and the preserving and pickling is of the pungent, spicy nature that is a distinct relief after the earlier preserves of a cloying nature. Such fruits and vegetables as are now in the market should be bought early in the morning and cooked immediately. Here are some old-fashioned recipes which it will pay to try. If the ingredients are bought at the proper figure the results will be much cheaper than factory-made articles.

The grape season is now at its height nearly all over the country. Here are the three suggestions for tasty grape condiments:

Grape Butter—Separate the pulp and the skin of the grapes. After boiling the pulp, strain it through a coarse sieve. Mix this with the skins and then measure. Boil half an hour, then add to it a pint of sugar to each quart of grapes and cook them until thick and jellied.

Grape Catsup—Take nine pounds of strained grapes, five pounds of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of cinnamon, allspice, cloves and one-fourth spoon of red pepper. Boil this together until thick and when cool thin with vinegar.

Spiced Grapes—Pour over five pounds of sugar as little vinegar as will dissolve it, six cloves, a stick of cinnamon and boil to a thick syrup. Pour this hot over seven pounds of grapes, picked from the stems, and let it stand over night; drain off the syrup, let this boil, and pour over the fruit again. Repeat this process three times.

The large late peaches are particularly well suited to both pickling and brading.

Branded Peaches—Take four pounds of peaches, the same weight of sugar, and one pint of brandy. Peel the fruit, place the sugar over it and let it stand over night. Drain carefully, boil and skin. When the syrup thickens add the peaches, and cook slowly until the peaches are clear. Lift the fruit carefully into jars. Boil the syrup until quite thick, add the brandy and fill the jars, sealing very tight.

Peach Fritters.
Beat together the yolks of two eggs and a half cupful of cold water. Add one cupful of sifted flour mixed with a pinch of salt and olive oil and beat well again. Then stir in lightly the whites whipped to a stiff froth and set aside in a cool place for several hours. Have ready a kettle partly filled with smoking hot fat. Dip pared and halved pieces of peaches into the batter. Hold on the fork for a moment that any extra amount may drain off, then drop into the hot fat and cook golden brown. Skin out and drain for a moment on unglazed paper, then roll in powdered sugar and send at once to the table.

Rug and Curtain Holder.
When heating carpets or rugs on the line the housewife is presented with a problem. To prevent the rug slipping out of position, after being adjusted, a Musselshuts man has devised a holder. It is made of strong spring wire, the upper portion being curved to fit over the rug. In connection with the four lower corners—which, on account of the tension of the spring wire, are inclined to come together—are prongs which force themselves in to the rug. The operator has ample opportunity to stand at a distance from the rug and swing the beater with as great force as desired.

Salad Dressing.
Use two eggs, one-half lemon, one cup whipped cream, two teaspoons olive oil, sugar, salt. To the yolks of the eggs, beaten stiff, add the oil and juice of lemon slowly, beating hard all the while until all has been added and it is quite thick. Then add the beaten whites of eggs, salt and sugar to taste, and then add one cup of whipped cream. Whip all together until stiff and set on ice until ready to serve.

Delicious Cream Pie.
Line a pie tin with rich pie crust, prick with a fork and bake. For filling take one and a half cupfuls of cream and put in pan to heat; beat together two eggs, one cupful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls flour and half a cupful of cream. Add to cream and cook until thick; then whip it with a silver spoon until cool. Add a teaspoonful of vanilla and put in crust an hour before serving.

Cornmeal Cake Filling.
Bake any layer cake and let cool. Use one and one-half cups of brown sugar, with sweet milk to moisten, butter the size of hickory nut, and boil until it will harden in cold water like candy. Stir in quickly one teaspoonful of extract, spread between layers.

Make Peanut Butter.
Pound or grind to a powder one cupful of shelled and skinned peanuts, freshly roasted. Rub into this a half up of butter; salt to taste and work to a smooth paste for use. This makes delicious sandwiches for picnics or luncheons.

A MISSOURI WOMAN

Tells a Story of Awful Suffering and Wonderful Relief.

Mrs. J. D. Johnson, of 603 West Hickman St., Columbia, Mo., says: "Following an operation two years ago, dropsy set in, and my left side was so swollen the doctor said he would have to tap out the water. There was constant pain and a gurgling sensation around my heart, and I could not raise my arm above my head. The kidney action was disordered and passages of the secretions too frequent. On the advice of my husband I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. Since using two boxes my trouble has not reappeared. This is wonderful, after suffering two years."

KNEW VALUE OF AN OATH.
Colored Witness at Least Was Aware of Its Pecuniary Worth.

Clarence S. Darrow, the well known lawyer and essayist, discussing the Haywood trial, in which he played so prominent a part, said the other day: "Some of the evidence in that trial was so transparently false that it reminds me of a case that came off in Alabama a few years back. One of the witnesses in this case was an extremely ignorant man. As his testimony progressed, his ignorance became so shockingly evident that the judge, looking sternly down at him said: "Look here, sir, are you acquainted with the value of an oath?"

"The witness answered anxiously: "Judge, I hope I am. That that lawyer on yor left hand thumbe six dollars to swar agin the other side. That's the correct value of an oath, ain't it, judge?"

Hindoo Defines Billiards.
John Hogan, the champion pool player, told at a dinner in St. Louis a billiard story.

"Billiards is a tame amusement beside pool," Mr. Hogan began. "Two Hindoos were once discussing the game in Calcutta, and I think that their idea of it was pretty near the right one.

"What is this white man's game of billiards I hear so much about?" said the first Hindoo.
"No, Tell me."
"Well," said the second Hindoo, "billiards is a very simple game. Two men armed with long sticks poke at a ball on a green table, and one says, 'I am' while the other says 'hard lines.'"

Kismet.
Kismet is an Arabic word meaning "fate" or "it is fated." A belief in predestination is one of the fundamental principles in the Mohammedan faith. Not only a man's fortune, but his deeds, and consequently his future reward or punishment are, according to this faith, irrevocably, and thus unavoidably, pre-ordained—a doctrine which has contributed largely to the success of Islam by inspiring its champions with the greatest contempt for the dangers of warfare. When a Mohammedan meets with any disaster or misfortune, no matter how great, he accepts the situation calmly, merely saying, "Kismet"—"it is fated."

Shrewd Scheme.
Traveler in Parlor Car—Porter, that man in front will give you a quarter for dusting him off, won't he?
Porter—Yes Sir!
Traveler—Well, I'll give you half a dollar to leave the dust on him and not brush it off on to me.

PUTS THE "GINGER" IN.
The Kind of Food Used by Athletes.

A former college athlete, one of the long distance runners, began to lose his power of endurance. His experience with a change in food is interesting.

"While I was in training on the track athletic team, my daily 'jogs' became a task, until after I was put on Grape-Nuts food for two weeks I day. After using the Food for two weeks I felt like a new man. My digestion was perfect, nerves steady and I was full of energy.
"I trained for the mile and the half mile runs (those events which require so much endurance) and then the long daily 'jogs,' which before had been such a task, were clipped off with ease. I won both events.
"The Grape-Nuts food put me in perfect condition and gave me 'ginger.' Not only was my physical condition made perfect, and my weight increased, but my mind was made clear and vigorous so that I could get out my studies in about half the time formerly required. Now most all of the University men use Grape-Nuts for they have learned its value, but I think my testimony will not be amiss and may perhaps help some one to learn how the best results can be obtained."
There's a reason for the effect of Grape-Nuts food on the human body and brain. The certain elements in wheat and barley are selected with special reference to their power for rebuilding the brain and nerve centres. The product is then carefully and scientifically prepared so as to make it easy of digestion. The physical and mental results are so apparent after two or three weeks' use as to produce a profound impression. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pages, "There's a reason."

TEA FROM THE FLOWERS.

This Product Little Known in the United States.

Tea, not from leaves, but from the flowers alone of the plant, is rarely encountered in commerce. The petals, stamens, etc., are sun dried, and the resulting tea is of a rich, deep brown hue of peculiarly delicate odor, and gives a pale amber colored infusion rather more astringent in taste than that from the average fair grade leaf. The taste for it is an acquired one, and even if this tea could be made commercially possible, it is doubtful if it would ever become popular.
The American tea trade could advantageously take a suggestion from the brick tea of the far east. In our country, the tea dust, some of which is good quality, is not properly utilized. In Europe it is a regular article of trade, and it is advertised and sold as tea dust. In America it is sold to thousands of cheap restaurants, who make from it the mixture of tannic acid, sugar and boiled milk which they sell as "tea." If, as in the Orient, this dust was compressed into bricks, good tea could be made from it.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF ECZEMA.
Terrible Itching Prevented Sleep—Hands, Arms and Legs Affected—Cuticura Cured in 6 Days.

"I had eczema nearly fifteen years. The affected parts were my hands, arms and legs. They were the worst in the winter time, and were always itchy, and I could not keep from scratching them. I had to keep both hands bandaged all the time, and at night I would have to scratch through the bandages as the itching was so severe, and at times I would have to tear everything off my hands to scratch the skin. I could not rest or sleep. I had several physicians treat me but they could not give me a permanent cure nor even could they stop the itching. After using the Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura Ointment and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent for about six days the itching had ceased, and now the sores have disappeared, and I never felt better in my life than I do now. Edward Worrell, Band 30th U. S. Infantry, Fort Crook, Nebraska."

NO PLACE FOR HIM HERE.
Alabama Judge Did Not Think Deceased Would Miss Much.

"Your honor," said a prosecuting attorney in an Alabama backwoods court, "the prisoner at the bar is charged with killing one of the most exemplary citizens of this county, Thomas Jones, your honor, was in every respect a model man. He was a member of the church; he was never known to bet on horses, play poker, drink whisky or use tobacco. He—"
"Hold on a minute," said the judge. "You say he never bet on a horse?"
"That's what I said, your honor."
"Never was known to play a game?"
"Never your honor."
"And he never drank liquor?"
"Never drank a drop, your honor."
"And he didn't chew tobacco?"
"Never took a chew in his life."
"Well, then," said the judge, "I don't see what he wanted to live for. There wasn't anything in life for him, and I don't see why he ain't about as well off dead as alive. Release the prisoner, Mr. Sheriff, and call the next case."

Transmission of Warts.
"Recent experiments show that the popular belief that warts are communicable is warranted," says a writer. "Inoculation of healthy tissue with blood obtained from a wart will cause the growth of a similar excrescence. It is thought that these warts contain an ultramicroscopic germ to which is due the transmission from one person to another. At all events persons who have warts should take measures to have them removed at once."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together and until the few years ago supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a mortal disease and prescribed opium, and by constantly failing to cure with their treatment, produced the terrible disease which is now known to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Just a Cathartic Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only cathartic on the market. It is taken internally, it does not touch the mucous surfaces of the system. It enters the blood and cleanses it. It is not a habit, it is a cure. Read the testimonials and testimonials.

Horrible Method of Suicide.

Most people have at some time witnessed revolting sights, but the falling of a suicide from the cathedral tower onto the pavement, 210 feet below, into the midst of the hurrying noonday crowd, upon whose faces and clothes his exploding debris scattered itself, which was seen in Antwerp recently, beggars description. A merchant known as Jacques Simons quietly left his wife and two children at home, as if to go on some business errand, made straight for the cathedral tower, climbed it, and without an instant's hesitation, hurled himself into space. History relates that no one has jumped from this tower since the suicide of its architect, to whom a popular legend of the sixteenth century attributes the same fate; small bits of brass marking the spot on the pavement where he fell.

Wear Pajamas on Cars.
"I learned something from the porter on our train this morning," said a hotel guest. "I noticed him pick up the coat to a pair of pajamas while he was making up one of the berths. Whoever had occupied the berth had got off the train, evidently, and left the garment behind. Forget part of his mischievousness? 'Forget part of his mischievousness? 'Wasn't any his about it, boss,' he says. 'It was a lady that was in that berth last night. Yes, sah. Lots of 'em seems to like them to wash on the cars. I guess they think that's better in case of a wreck or smother like that.'"

TUMORS CONQUERED

Overwhelming Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of women's dread enemy, Tumor.
The growth of a tumor is so insidious that frequently its presence is wholly unsuspected until it is well advanced.
So called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive monthly periods accompanied by unusual pain, from the abdomen through the groin and thigh.
If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation or displacement, secure a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, right away and begin its use.
The following letters should convince every suffering woman of its virtue, and that it actually does conquer tumors.

Mrs. May Fry, of 836 W. Colfax Ave., South Bend, Ind., writes:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"I take great pleasure in writing to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I also took the Blood Purifier in alternate doses with the Compound. Your medicine removed a cyst tumor of four years' growth, which three of the best physicians declared I had. They had said that only an operation could help me, I am very thankful that I followed a friend's advice and took your medicine. It has made me a strong and well woman and I shall recommend it as long as I live."

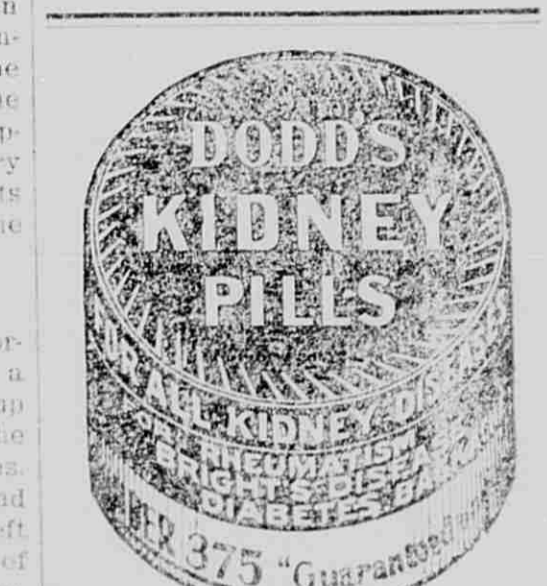

Mrs. E. E. Hayes, of 26 Ruggles St., Boston, Mass., writes:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"I have been under the treatment of doctors' treatment for a long time without relief. They told me I had a fibroid tumor, my abdomen was swollen and I suffered with great pain. I wrote to you for advice, you carefully and I followed your directions exactly and today I am a well woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system."

Mrs. Perry Byers, of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, writes:

Dugald's Explanation.

Staying at an inn in Scotland a shooting party found their sport much interfered with by rain. "Still, wet or fine, the old-fashioned barometer that hung in the hall persistently pointed to 'set fair.'" At length one of the party drew the landlady's attention to the glass, saying: "Don't you think now, Dugald, there's something the matter with your glass?" "No, sir," replied Dugald, with dignity; "she's a sude glass and a powerful glass, but she's no' moved w' trifles."

W. L. U. DETROIT, NO. 23, 1917.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—
"I was told by my physician that I had a fibroid tumor and that I should have to be operated upon. I wrote to you for a time, when I followed carefully and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am not only cured of the tumor but other female troubles and am feeling better now after eight years of suffering."
Mrs. S. J. Barber, of Scott, N. Y., writes:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham—
"Sometime ago I wrote you for advice about a tumor which the doctors thought would have to be removed. Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to-day am a well woman."

Mrs. M. M. Funk, Vandergrift, Pa., writes:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham—
"I had a tumor and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removed it for me after two doctors had given me up. I was sick four years before I began to take the Compound. I now recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound far and near."

Such testimony as above is convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for Tumor. Growth as well as other distressing ills of women and even symptoms as bearing-down sensations, displacements, irregularities and崩漏, etc. Women should remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing so many women. Don't forget to insist upon it when some druggist asks you to accept something else which he calls "just as good."

Mrs. Pinkham's Invitation to Women.
Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law, Lydia E. Pinkham, in advising. Thus, she is especially well qualified to guide sick women back to health.

REFRIGERANT STARCH for starching and pressing

From Our Point of View

Collier's Weekly, in its attempt to dictate what advertisements shall be admitted to the columns of the press, has received a "hot box" from The Living Church, a Milwaukee publication, which was criticized by Collier's for advertising grape nuts, while the latter journal was advertising corn flakes, cream of wheat and cigars. Living Church justly inquires why corn-flake and cream of wheat advertising are more legitimate than that of grape nuts, and publishes a longer list of questions concerning Collier's advertising, showing the folly of its assumption of superior virtue. The above mentioned are good foods. If the public wants them, that's the public's business. If the press, whose stock in trade is space, advertises them for cash, whose business is that? If some of these would-be reform journals should begin house-cleaning at home their efforts to guide the unwise might command more respect. One of them while frothing at the mouth about patent medicine advertising prints in every issue indictments for the purchase of corsets, to the everlasting detriment of millions yet unborn. If these motor-theory journals would give the public credit for half as much wisdom as they deem themselves possessed of their zeal for posing as saviours of the race would be greatly aided.

A straw vote as to presidential favorite was taken in every state shows Taft and the Roosevelt policy to be the most popular. Significance of the attitude of many people in matters political is the fact that while 4,013 voted for the Roosevelt policy to 243 against, 102 refused to express a choice. Voting on question of progressive or conservative candidate, 3,326 expressed themselves in favor of the former and 614 for the latter, while 278 voted "blank." It is these "blank" voters who fibr their thinking done. They never have any opinions until after a convention is held, candidates nominated and platform adopted, and then they declare, "That's just what I always believed." Some think such men are not good for much, but we believe they make first rate children.

May a lover of the leatherstocking tales be glad to learn that literary critics are dealing more fairly than formerly with the author of a Fenimore Cooper. He is now mentioned with Poe, Scott and Byron, and in connection with the Hall of Fame. Some of us will feel less like apologizing for a weakness for Cooper, particularly as wisdom that writers of greater fame are held to be indebted to him for many of their scenes and ideas. By the way, any who have not read Oak opening will find in it a good picture of Western Michigan, particularly of the Kalamazoo river section, as it was a century ago, Cooper having spent a considerable time in that vicinity and having had a personal acquaintance with characters who figure in the story.

Not satisfied with motor boats and automobiles, freak inventors have produced various contrived vehicles designed to run upon both land and water. Some of these "amphibious" machines are successful enough to demonstrate the feasibility of the idea, and now a Frenchman predicts that a machine will "climb" be made that will run on the land as an automobile, on or under the water as surface boat or submarine, and also be operated as an air ship. A few years ago this would have been dismissed as the chitter of a crazy man or a fool, but in the light of recent accomplishments, we can only admit its possibility and wait to see what we shall see.

The National Publishers association has waded up to the fact that there is a print paper trust and is calling upon Congress and the President to put wood pulp on the free list, as the tariff on Canadian pulp embles the trust to skin the newspapers and through them the public. Well, it's time. Bad enough to compel the publisher to hold his nose to the grindstone, without asking him to turn the crank.

News from the coming session of Congress will be awaited with interest, if the anti-Roosevelt crowd persists in its threatened attack upon the President's plans. The people are with Roosevelt; but the unfaithful trusts die hard, and there are still men in Washington who can be bribed or intimidated.

The American Economist has been knocking at Secretary Taft's presidential aspirations for some many months. Perhaps that accounts for the fat gentleman's growingly popular party. After all, the tariff isn't really sacred.

New York Democrats are said to be planning another presidential "safe and sane" boom for Judge Parker. The "conservatives"—as they like to call themselves—nearly killed the party in the last campaign. Let them persist in their role or ruin policy and there won't be enough left of it to hold a funeral over.

Stock men began to say they have proven that "the way of the transgressor is hard," and still there are agencies that must demonstrate it to their own sorrow. Happy are they who can profit by the experience of others.

In cases of sickness and contagion people should consider the public good first and their own convenience afterward. "The greatest good to the greatest number," that good old Jeffersonian doctrine applies here.

HAY CARR, author of "The Founding" and "The Christian," feels like raising Cain with the press agent who dubs him a has-been, and is starting an Ananias club of his own.

Testimonials could be printed by the thousands, many of them from Lowell and nearby towns that Hyomel is an absolute cure for all catarrhal troubles, but the best proof of its unusual curative powers is the guarantee that M. N. Henry gives with every outfit that he sells. "Money back if Hyomel does not do all that is claimed for it."

Hyomel is an ancient remedy. Its formula is given freely to physicians who want to know what they use when they prescribe Hyomel. It is guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drug Law by serial No. 118.

By bringing Hyomel, the healing medication goes directly to every inch and corner of the air passages where the catarrhal germs may lurk, and dislodge and head. To be convinced of this you have only to give it a trial, remembering that if it does not cure, M. N. Henry will refund your money.

The complete Hyomel outfit costs but $1.00, and in most cases is sufficient to cure the disease, making it not only a scientific treatment but one that is highly economical. Get an outfit today from M. N. Henry if you have any catarrh.

THE OCTOBER AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

Who is John Johnson? Why do the people love him? Why did they elect him governor by 73,000 when the Democrats have never been able to carry the state before? Is there some magic power for leadership in this son of a village druggist who helped his good mother with the washing? Is Colonel Henry Waterson right in his belief that John Johnson has one of the greatest of Abraham Lincoln, and that he may be the "dark horse" in the coming presidential campaign?

The October AMERICAN MAGAZINE contains the whole romantic history of John Johnson and his swift winning of a people's affection. It is great reading and especially timely. Lincoln's story of how Francis Henry gripped the wild graft in Oregon is intensely interesting. It is one of the features of the features of the October American in the same number. Ernest Thompson seton describes the habits of wolves with special reference to animal markings. Edgar Beacher Bronson tells the last survivor's story of an exciting adventure—26 hours in a balloon in 1874, the longest aerial voyage in point of hours, ever made in the United States and the world's endurance record until 1909.

Joseph M. Rogers writes a hair raising railroad yarn. Lily Long contributes a love story. Joseph C. Lincoln tells a lively funny story, David Grayson has another "Adventure in Condemnation." Carter Hamilton tells a cow story that is a thriller of the buff. Other writers are North Boyce, Harry H. Kemp, Louise Ayres Garnett, and two anonymous contributors to the new department called "The Pilgrim's Scrap."

The unique floating ice barrier pushed out from the mysterious Ant arctic land was found by Capt. Scott's expedition to extend 500 miles westward from the volcano Erebus and Terror, and more than 400 miles toward the pole, reaching beyond 82 degrees 17 minutes south latitude. Saturday Morning

We start the most important Rug, Carpet and Curtain Sale Ever Held in Lowell.

The Sale will interest House-keepers, Hotel and Boarding-house-keepers, and Committees, having Halls, Lodge Rooms, or a Church to furnish.

The sale is unique—a whole Store's whole Stock included in this Sale, a big Stock, clean, and up-to-date, never had a stock in hand that had so little goods carried over from another season. The best mills in the country are represented in the goods. Wish we could print a page of details but we can't. Here are some hints: Remember that while there are enough goods for a big week's selling, some of the lots are limited, and when sold out no more can be had at that price.

The quality of Stocks carried by this Store are well established, the values are known values, and the savings are sure to be appreciated. Deliveries will be timed to suit buyers convenience. We'll store the goods until needed. Make a small payment to bind the bargain, but the goods must be bought the week of the sale.

For Thin, Poor Blood

You can trust a medicine tested 60 years! Sixty years of experience, think of that! Experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla; the original Sarsaparilla; the strongest Sarsaparilla; the Sarsaparilla the doctors endorse for thin blood, weak nerves, general debility.

But even this grand old medicine cannot do its best work if the liver is inactive and the bowels constipated. For the best possible results, you should take in addition Ayer's Pills while taking the Sarsaparilla. The liver will quickly respond, and so will the bowels.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, saps the energy, and leaves a woman's beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child reaches the age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with the condition, depend upon it, the cause of this difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant condition is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as many people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar packages. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet full of interesting facts all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless aid to prepare the system for baby's coming, and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, back-ache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, ante-version or retro-version or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This world-famed specific for woman's weakness and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native, medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.

MEN WANTED.

No Man Over 45 Need Apply.

There's the sign that's getting to be a common thing in America.

Corporations are retiring men at 50. They are not hiring anyone over 40.

A balded man often looks 10 years older than he is.

A man with gray hair always does.

It is important nowadays that a man look as young as he is; It is vastly important that a man having a family dependent upon him should take care of his hair.

If you have dandruff—get rid of it by killing the germs.

If your hair is falling out—stop it. If your hair is turning gray—don't waste any time.

There is one sure remedy that will cure these misfortunes and add you to remain young.

Parisian Sage, the great French Hair Restorer is guaranteed to permanently remove dandruff in two weeks, or your money back.

Parisian Sage stops falling hair—it prevents the hair from turning gray.

It is the best beautifier for ladies' hair as it makes harsh, lusterless hair fluffy, soft and beautiful and is not sticky or greasy.

Parisian Sage is sold and rigidly guaranteed by M. N. Henry. Price 50 cents a bottle. If you do not live near a druggist who sells Parisian Sage, send us 50 cents, stamps or silver and we will send you a large bottle, charges prepaid. Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Where the "Brave" Excelled.

Bloodthirsty, vindictive, treacherous, crafty, scornful of suffering, brave unto death when at bay, more cunning than the fox and of infinite patience on the trail, the Indian has proven more than a match for the white in the jungle. It is certain that more whites than savages have perished in forest fighting. But in set battle the redman is without steadfastness and perseverance. The least reverse disheartens him. After the first mad rush his purpose wanes and the slightest check is apt to dispirit his capricious mind.—Outing Magazine.

Wanted

Read the want columns of the metropolitan daily press, and you will be surprised at the demand for competent and reliable office help. From every kind of business, and from every city, village and hamlet comes the insistent call for young men and women who can render the intelligent service so much needed in modern commercial life. From all over the land comes the cry:

Trained Office Workers

We have plenty of every other kind. This is a remarkable age. Commercial life is the very backbone of our national existence. Business interests dominate the world, and all else is subservient. We are sending business men to our state and national legislature to make laws for us. A professional man to be successful must have a working knowledge of business. The same is true of the theologian, the explorer, the teacher, the politician, the artisan, the farmer. On every hand is displayed the sign—and there is only one qualified to every hundred needed. Shall we assist you to meet this demand? We can do it. No matter what plans you have made for your life's work, we can give you the business training you are sure to need for a successful career. Be ready when the Sign of the Times comes within the range of your vision. Write to us today for further information.

Competent Office Help

Saturday Morning

We start the most important Rug, Carpet and Curtain Sale Ever Held in Lowell.

The Sale will interest House-keepers, Hotel and Boarding-house-keepers, and Committees, having Halls, Lodge Rooms, or a Church to furnish. The sale is unique—a whole Store's whole Stock included in this Sale, a big Stock, clean, and up-to-date, never had a stock in hand that had so little goods carried over from another season.

Extraordinary Price Reductions on Drapery Goods for Saturday.

You are fortunate if you secure what you need in this line at the prices that will prevail for this day. The best money's worth in western Michigan. Saturday Specials on Sale All Day.

Carpets at a Saving of a third the Usual Prices

This means that a room that it would cost at usual price $15.00 to cover, can be carpeted now at $10.00. The shorter the lots, the shorter the price. The sale will last a week but the first picking is best.

Rugs Reduced

The reduction in prices makes them a more than ordinarily desirable investment because they have a value which is likely to increase rather than decrease in value. Among the lots are rugs of exceptional beauty, inexpensive at the prices in this sale.

Lace Curtains

The strongest bargains we ever had, we expect the biggest selling. The values in the sale of curtains exceed those of the average store's selling prices by 40 per cent, and it is well to remember that all goods are selling higher now than a year ago.

Floor Coverings

Linoleum, rug filling. The goods run from medium to the better grades, we believe it fair to state that there is nothing to equal these values in our town.

The Best of All Our Sales

The sale that will be the longest remembered for the economy it brings. This Sale for home-furnishers provides a chance to buy Rugs, Carpets, Floor Coverings of every description, and curtains, and drapery goods at prices fully a third under present values.

Who Needs A Watch

In these days of cheap watches and shoddy manufacture, a time piece should be selected with care. A good watch should last a lifetime, and longer. Such watches are the only kind worth having and in order to get them you must buy of a reliable dealer who is at hand to make the guarantee good.

We have in stock complete lines of the best watches made. All sizes for both gentlemen and ladies.

We sell watches for precisely what they are, and, quality considered, our prices are always a little lower than the "other fellow"

Remember we stand back of our rubber roovener, Phin Smith.
