SUCCESSFUL PRODUCTION

OF QUEEN ESTHER BY LOCAL TALENT LAST WEEK

Names of Those Who Help to Make the Enterprise a Success. Total Receipts $186.00.

The dramatic opera Queen Esther was presented to Lowell audiences on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week and those who witnessed splendid productions of the same by local musicians of ten and twenty years ago declare that the latest ones do not suffer by contrast.

The players were somewhat handicapped by reason of proper stage equipment at the church; and it will be borne in mind that the entertainment was planned for the opera house. After the five the Methodist church being the beneficiary and the largest available building it was well chosen. The public was well taken care of, and the promoters, the Nicholson circle, and their helpers and supporters have reason to be pleased with their success. The total receipts of the three evenings were $186.00.

Following are the characters represented and the names of the participants. Paste this in your local scrap book. It may interest you ten or twenty years later:

LIFE-LONG RESIDENT TRIP TO HOLY LAND

Mrs. John S. Bergin Passed Away Saturday Morning.

Mary Frances McGee was born in Vergennes township, Kent county, Michigan, Sept. 11, 1850. On Saturday Feb. 20, after an illness of scarcely thirty hours, she passed away at her home in Lowell.

Her childhood and girlhood life was spent on the farm of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McGee Vergennes. On Nov. 4, 1867, she was married to John S. Bergin of Lowell. Since that time most of her life has been spent in Lowell and vicinity with the exception of two years in Grand Rapids. Eleven children were born to this union, only six of whom live to share their grief with the father.

Mrs. Bergin's life has always been a happy and a contented one. All of her care and affection went out to the husband and children. Her loss is like the passing of a saint to a higher realm. Her life has always been a model of virtue and a good Catholic outside of her family her chief interest was her church and her name is spoken with reverence by priests in all parts of the state. All who knew her well were proud to call her a friend. Only to know her was to love her.

Besides a husband she leaves three daughters - Mrs. O. J. Howard and Eva and Irene Bergin of Lowell, three sons Frank and Raymond of Lowell and Carl of Petoskey, Mich., two brothers Richard and George McGee of Vergennes and one sister Mrs. Chris Bergin of Lowell. The funeral was held at St. Mary's church, Lowell Rev. Fr. Behan officiating, and officiating and she was buried in St. Mary's cemetery, Lowell.

A large number of relatives and friends from out of town were present among whom were Messrs. and Mesdames Robt. Bergin and son Robt., Andrew Bergin, Wm. Hammett and Messrs. Stephen and Dan Bergin all of Howell; Messrs. Frank and Henry Bergin of Brighton; Mrs. Thomas McKeever and Joe Bergin of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bergin of St. Johns; Corneal McGee, Mrs. James McGee and daughter Edna and son Will and Messrs. and Mesdames F. W. Hinyan, and R. B. Loveland. - [Com.]

Popular Lowell Pastor to Tour Europe - Egypt and Palestine.

Rev. Russell H. Bready, pastor of the Lowell Methodist church, has applied to the Bishop through the District Superintendent for a four months' leave of absence for a tour of Europe, Egypt and Palestine, leaving here April 13, and sailing from New York on the Muretana three days later. The expedition is the eighteenth to be conducted by Rev. Roy Allen of Rochester, N. Y., and the company is composed of thirty ministers.

The local church board voted unanimously Monday evening to approve the pastor's plan, considering his arduous and successful labors here, his need of a rest and the educational benefits to him and his later charges sure to result from such a journey.

Rev. A. T. Cartland, for the past two years of Alberta, N. W. T., and formerly a professor of Michigan Agricultural college, has been appointed pastor during Mr. Bready's absence.

to one of the "many mansions," who for half a century had been closely identified with the business and social interests of Lowell.

Susan A. only child of Jacob and Caroline Shell was born in Bath, Steuben Co. N. Y., Sept. 14, 1837. In the Spring of 1852 her parents came to Lowell, then only a small hamlet at the meeting of the two rivers, the entire population consisting of nine families. Her father was a lawyer, and for years was a prominent factor in the growth of the new settlement.

The young girl then in her fifteenth year, fresh from the advantages of an Eastern school, soon found that her part in the pioneer life was to be no idle one. In the organization of the first Sunday school she was forced to assume the role of teacher, as being the only young person who had ever been in a Sunday school. Quick witted and a keen observer she accumulated through all those early years a rich fund of fact and story of pioneer life from which to draw in later years, for her own enjoyment and the delight of her friends. But to this high spirited and sunny hearted girl came early in life the shadow of sorrow, the saddest form that sorrow can take, that of a divided home. Possessing strong filial affection, that she was able to hold with unswerving fidelity to the innocent and with equally loving charity to the guilty, evinced a remarkable character. In her mature years it was granted to her to minister through years of helplessness, to the more than widowed mother, and afterward to grace with her presence and loving words of cheer, the aged father in his hours of weakness.

July 15, 1821, she was married to Uriah B. Williams, a prosperous business man of Lowell. Two children were born to them, Carrie H. born January 5, 1822, and twelve years later, Uriah B. born March 14, 1875; the son still lives in Lowell, our well known townsman.

The joy of the birth of the son was quickly overshadowed with sorrow, as it was followed three days later by the sudden death of the father. All the hopes and plans they had shared of the new life to be centered in this little one were hidden in the heart of the young mother, and she took up this heavier burden with cheerful fortitude. Two years later the invalid mother found relief in death, and she found herself alone with the little son. Mrs. Williams was at one time a large owner of real estate in the village and when her son was partly grown she entered into business life, which continued until the son reached manhood, when she withdrew leaving the business with him. of these years, which were often exceedingly heavy failed to quench the sunshine of this rare spirit. No word of rebellion toward God, or bitterness toward man, however great her wrongs, ever escaped her lips. She was a woman of many sorrows, but she did not wear them upon her sleeve.

In 1871, Mrs. Williams became a member of the Congregational church of Lowell, of whose society she had been a life member. The faith she then publicly confessed, has grown stronger each year and she was always ready to defend it.

She was married to Samuel H. McDeid April 5, 1903, and in these six happy years she realized the fulfillment of the promise "At eventide it shall be light." The sunset of her life was made bright by the loving companionship of a devoted husband and son and the affectionate ministry of the two daughters that were hers by law. Anxious cares that she had borne for so many years slipped from her and while just beginning to feel the cool of the evening of life the "light of eventide" fell upon her.

A modern author has described true happiness as, "not missing any one." Few of us can hope to attain that in this life. Mrs. McDeid was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star; the Old Residents association and the Hooker Pioneer society, in all of which orders she will be sadly missed.

The characteristics for which Mrs. McDeid will be longest remembered were, her charity of thought and that "charity that suffereth long and is kind," her unflinching cheerfulness, and keen sense of humor, which did her good service in many a dark hour. The laugh was so firmly planted in her nature, it could rise above all the buffeting of adverse fortune. While we shall miss the bright smile and keen wit, the familiar form and pleasant companionship through so many years, yet we can rejoice for her, that at the close of the long and toilsome day, even in the peace and brightness of the Eventide, "He giveth his beloved sleep." ## MUST RELAY WALLS

Expert Builder Makes Report on Rebuilding of Opera House.

John Rowson one of the leading building experts in the state was called here Monday by the village authorities to examine the walls of Train's opera house block and to report on measures needed to be taken to insure public safety in the rebuilding of the hall.

His report was submitted in writing and recommendations are given in detail. Briefly, he finds the walls spring and with other defects that necessitate the relaying of much of the third story walls. Other directions for securing safety are given, which if followed will insure public confidence.

We understand that the owners are in an obstinate mood and propose to build on the old walls according to their own ideas without regard to the experts recommendation.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

LION

All Staple Fences May Look Alike, But There is a Difference.

This King of Fences, is the fence that is sure to please you, because: Every wire from top to bottom, and from end to end—line wires, cross wires and locks, is of a superior quality of BASIC OPEN HEARTH STEEL, heavily galvanized, and an examination of the tie will, we think, impress any farmer with its superior features. Firm but not rigid, simple, but strong, it has the smoothest, safest and surest tie on the market. It will not slide, slip, fall off or injure stock.

The Lion can be erected with any good fence stretching outfit, adapts itself to the lay of the land and will outwear any other fence on the market. WIRE GATES of Page Pattern, both double and single, we can furnish for use with Lion Fences.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Furnished by E. J. Martin, Superintendent of Schools. These notes were prepared for last issue. Editor. A large number of visitors attended the Lincoln exercises Friday afternoon.

The seventh grade pupils have recently been studying the countries of south western Europe; and, incidentally to their work, made some very neat booklets of the countries worked out in water colors. Valentine boxes followed the Lincoln programs in the grades; and, at the west ward, one of the patrons kindly brought a phonograph which helped the pupils to celebrate Thomas A. Edison's sixty-second birthday which occurred Feb. 11.

Harry Hakes, member of the physics class, recently constructed and presented to the school a very neatly made sismometer. A second lawsuit is being carried on by members of the civics class in which a high school student is being tried for carrying concealed weapons. At present he is out on five hundred dollars bond with two sureties. Glenn Barnes from East Lansing writes for his standings. A number of Alumni have recently favored the school with visits. Members of the plane geometry class are doing some exceptionally fine work in constructional work.

The tenth grade English class, last Wednesday, debated the question resolved "that the Japanese and Chinese should be excluded from the United States." Howard Peck recently began work in the high school. Members of the botany class are studying seeds and their germination; and, incidentally to the work are making a collection of different kinds of seeds which they are placing in bottles and labelling as a seed exhibit.

Tomlinson-Weeks. Monday's Grand Rapids Herald had this: Ara Weeks, a young Vergennes township farmer, was determined that his bride-to-be shouldn't get away from him after the license was secured, so he brought Rev. Weeks and the young couple will make their home at the pleasant farm home by the lake. Raymond E. Jones of Lowell and Miss Pearl E. Packer of Grand Rapids were groomsmen and bridesmaid.
