NEARLY FIFTY YEARS

Clarendon C. Winegar Lived in Lowell and Boston Townships.

Clarendon C. Winegar died at Lowell, May 26th, 1909, after an illness of nearly three years. He was known throughout the entire community, where he had been known for nearly fifty years by the familiar name of "Clan" Winegar.

Mr. Winegar was one of the pioneers of Lowell. Coming here in his early manhood, he purchased a new farm and commenced heaving out a home for himself and family.

Possessed of a strong will and sturdy manhood, he succeeded not only in building a home, but in acquiring lasting friendships. He was a man of rugged character, honesty and justice were the controlling motives in his business transactions; no bond was necessary; his word was a bond. As a man and neighbor, he was both genial and sympathetic; as a citizen he was public spirited; as a husband and father, he was all that husband and father could be to wife and children. Mr. Winegar was a man who, by reason of his life, left the world better for having lived.

Besides his family he leaves a large circle of mourning relatives and friends.

The funeral services were held at 3 o'clock p. m. May 29. Rev. S. T. Morris assisted by Rev. W. D. Ogg were the officiating clergymen. Interment at Oakwood.

Clarendon C. Winegar son of Winans and Lydia Bailey Winegar, was born January 4, 1834, at Savannah, Wayne county, New York.

He was brought up on a farm, and farming was his vocation during his entire active life. He received his education in the common schools and at Red Creek academy, became a legally qualified teacher and taught school several terms.

On December 31, 1857, more than fifty years ago at Clyde, Wayne county, N. Y., he married Clarinda Vosburg, who survives him.

In March, 1860 together with his family he came to Lowell, purchased a new farm in the southwest part of the township. In 1865 he sold the Lowell farm and bought the Simon Hunt farm in the township of Boston, Ionia county, Mich.

In 1886 he came to Lowell and lived in the village about three years then returned to the Boston farm for two years, when he again returned to Lowell where he lived until his death.

Six children were born, five of whom are living and were present at the funeral, viz., George Winegar of Morris, Mich., Mrs. E. O. Wadsworth of Lowell, Mich., Mrs. E. E. Graber of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. P. H. Schneider of Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. E. R. A. Hunt of L'Anse, Mich. The first-born died in infancy. There are also seven grandchildren.

In his early manhood, Mr. Winegar united with the Disciple church at South Butler N. Y.

He died at Lowell, Mich., May 26, 1909, aged 75 years, 4 months and 22 days.—[Com.]

MEMORIAL DAY WELL OBSERVED

WEATHER MAN WAS KIND. EVERY FEATURE CARRIED OUT.

Large Crowd at Island Park. Senator Tuttle Spoke. Fine Musical Program.

Memorial exercises were carried out in Lowell without a missing feature or an unpleasant event. Even Dame Nature was kind and gave us pleasant weather from Sunday evening for the church services until bed time Monday evening, when she loosed the shower that had been hanging over head during the afternoon.

The union memorial service at the Methodist church Sunday evening was well attended. Rev. W. D. Ogg delivered a sermon on "The Good Soldier with thoughts appropriate to the occasion, both as to the civil soldier and the Christian soldier. The program committee found appropriate places for patriotic music and the Battle Hymn of the Republic. The Red White and Blue and America were sung with feeling and vigor. At 1:45 p. m. Monday a large crowd of people from Lowell and vicinity, including some of the faithful annual homecomers from Grand Rapids and elsewhere, had gathered about the platform at Island Park. After music by the Lowell band, Village President Look called the assembly to order and E. N. Hildreth sang "The Boys in Blue are Turning Grey," his splendid voice filling the grove and reaching his furthermost listeners.

Rev. A. T. Cartland invoked the Divine blessing and W. S. Winegar read Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

"Brave Hearts, Sleep On," was then sung by Misses Maynard and Carson, Mrs. A. L. Knapp and Miss Andrews and Messrs. Harley Maynard, Charles Barr, E. N. Hildreth and Clarence Collier. R. D. Stocking accompanied all the musical numbers.

Ingersoll's "Union Soldiers," was effectively recited by John M. Rhodes, and The Star Spangled Banner sung as solo and chorus with Mr. Maynard as soloist.

The address by Hon. Alfred H. Tuttle, state senator from Leslie, followed and was worthy of the large audience and the close attention he received. Our attention has been called to the fact that Governor Johnson of Minnesota on the same day in an address at St. Paul followed about the same line of thought. Here is one paragraph from the Johnson address as a sample: "This is not a new bereavement, but one which time, the healer, even the most poignant grief, has softened. These are not new-made graves we grieve for over them all nature has already spread the memorials of her love. They have received the benediction of her sunshine and her tears and above them her vines and grasses have spread the mantle of immortality."

This is no reflection on either gentleman, the occasion, topic, and inspiration being the same, it is not strange that "Great minds should run in similar channels." After the address a goodly parade was formed headed by the band followed by old soldiers, members of the Relief Corps, and citizens. A nice feature was a float covered with little girls dressed in white and carrying flags.

After the soldiers' graves were decorated Rev. A. T. Cartland delivered a brief but feeling and appropriate address at the soldiers' monument in honor of the unknown dead, after which the company sang America and dispersed.

SHOT HIMSELF WHILE HUNTING

KLEMENT NOWISKI FOUND DEAD ON JOHN ENGLE'S FARM.

Worked for Berkey & Gay in Grand Rapids. Had no Known Relatives in This Country.

From our regular Correspondent District No. 2, Lowell.

Guarded by his faithful dog, his unseeing eyes gazing into the mass of fragrant wild crab apple blossoms which overhung him, the body of a young Poleander was discovered by John Engle on his farm two miles west of Lowell, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Engle was in the lot which he uses as a pasture and noticing a smoke arising from some small brush near a stone pile went to ascertain the cause and discovered the body. He called to neighbors living near and they found the body to be extinct. A double barrel shotgun with one empty barrel was lying near the stone pile from which some stones had been removed, indicating that the man had been endeavoring to get a rabbit out of the stonepile when in some manner his gun was discharged, the whole charge entering his left side just below the lung and going upward toward the shoulder.

Peter Osterskia Poleander living near was immediately called who identified the body as Klement Nowiski a friend from Grand Rapids who came to his place on Saturday evening and left the house Sunday at about 8 a. m., ostensibly to kill a hawk but was later seen running toward the place where he was found, drawn there by the barking of his dog.

Nearly neighbors heard the shot fired and saw the smoke but thought nothing of the matter until called by Mr. Engle. Theories differ as to the cause of the fire. Some think it was set by the discharge of the gun, others that he started the fire to smoke out the rabbit.

Corner LeRoy and Sheriff Hurley of Grand Rapids and Undertaker Hakes of Lowell were summoned and the former, after an informal inquest at which John Engle, F. B. Martin and Wilson Washburn were called gave out a verdict of accidental shooting.

The body was then taken to the undertaking rooms of H. W. Hakes.

Papers found on the body proved Nowiski to be a resident of Third St. Grand Rapids.

He was twenty-six years of age and had been in America since he was sixteen having been employed by Berkey & Gay Furniture company for the past five years. He had no relatives in this country.

Fellow employees of the Berkey & Gay company made up a purse to provide for burial expenses and the body was taken to Grand Rapids for burial Monday evening.—[Mrs. W. W.]

A NARROW ESCAPE

Frank Richards, a Belding Printer, Nearly Killed by Train.

Frank Richards aged 23 years, a Belding printer employed on the Banner, had a narrow escape from death here last Saturday while trying to board the west-bound Pere Marquette express train that afternoon.

He was on his way to his home at Casnovia to spend Decoration day and got off the train when it stopped at the depot. The train backed to the pickle station and Richards expected it to stop again before going out. As it did not stop Richards attempted to board it as it passed him at a considerable speed. He failed to get aboard and was thrown to the track outside the rails and rolled under the tenders until his clothes were torn in shreds and it was thought he must be dead or fatally injured.

The unfortunate young man was carried to Hotel Waverly and Dr. Anderson was summoned. He found Richards bruised and torn from head to foot but fortunately with no bones broken. The wounds were given needed attention and the patient is in a fair way to recover.

Editor Laplum of the Banner immediately upon hearing of the accident telephoned to The Ledger to see that every attention was given to Richards; but the local Macombes, of which order he is a member, were already on duty.

Mr. Laplum came Monday to see Richards and to render any needed assistance.

As soon as Richards is sufficiently recovered he will go on to Casnovia to remain until he is able to resume his work on the Banner.

DOTS AND DASHES

Soundious Things Alleged to Have Occurred in Town Recently.

A few evenings since the residents in the northeast part of town, were disturbed from their slumbers about 11 p. m. by the rattling of what was first supposed to be an old lumber wagon, but on looking closer it was discovered to be an old fashioned carryall, or surrey, which from the dilapidated appearance was one used by George Washington or some one at that period. The ancient carryall was drawn by a bag of bones in the shape of a horse, but was so thin that his ribs cracked and rattled together at every step which added to the music made by the aged phantom? The rig contained three ancient looking spinsters, who were talking very loud and who at first seemed to be quarreling, but it was learned that they were all trying at once to see who could talk the fastest and loudest, to a tall Disciple (apparently of Brigham Young by the plurality of women he had with him) who was walking meekly along the side of the carryall, carrying a lantern, apparently to watch the handsome trio in the rig for fear they might be kidnapped. The quaint outfit was headed west and it is presumed on their way for Salt Lake City, to join their people. The good residents that were so rudely awakened and suffered from the noise and loss of sleep declare if such a thing occurs again, the Marshall will be called, and the ancient land marks taken care of.

We always supposed our worthy town clerk, kept a very neat and tidy office, but one day recently as we were called to his office on business, we noticed things about the office very much awry, office chairs being piled on the table, waste paper baskets thrown up on the tops of furniture, and a rough looking house in general, all the excuse Frank made was we are cleaning house.

THAT'S AN EXPENSIVE WATCH

no matter how little it cost you, if it doesn't tell you the right time. That kind of a watch would be dear if you got it for nothing. A handsome case is desirable—but an accurate inside mechanism is absolutely INDISPENSABLE. If you like we may put one of special movements in an Ors silver case, and you will have an excellent timepiece. What we wish to point out is that the works are the watch, the case is the adornment. And another thing we wish to point out is that if there ever was a jewelry store that was prepared to please you in watches, this is the place—and we include our guarantee for your protection. Call in and hear our arguments.

CATARRH MICROBES

A Dead Microbe is the Best Microbe Hyomei Kills Them All.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei) is a killer of catarrh germs, because when you breathe it in, its antiseptic and germicidal properties reach every nook and crevice of the mucous membrane, from the mouth and nose deep into the lungs. Hyomei brings the Australian forests of pine and eucalyptus to your home. It is made of the active principles extracted from these trees. No one who lives in or near these forests suffers from catarrh. No one who breathes in Hyomei the real forest air of Australia, will have catarrh for long after the treatment starts. If you want to cure catarrh, croup, bronchitis, coughs, colds, asthma, hay fever, or relieve consumption, try Hyomei, the common-sense cure, the cure that reaches the spot. A complete Hyomei outfit, including a hard rubber inhaler, costs only $1.00 and extra bottles of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, cost but 50 cents. Guaranteed to cure, or money back. Sold by leading druggists everywhere. Sold and guaranteed in Lowell by M. N. Henry.

A Geometrical Fallacy?

The somewhat intoxicated gentleman was making toward the door of his home with much difficulty. Over and over again he stopped, fixed his eye carefully on the door in question, ran his eye solemnly along the distance intervening between him and it, and started afresh, only to find himself once more tacking from side to side, like a ship adrift on the ocean. At last he stopped, thoroughly disgusted. "I'd like to know," he soliloquized, "wh-what old fool 'shaid shtraight line's shortes' distance between two-ble-points!"

BELDING SHUT OUT

Goose Eggged by Lowell at Recreation Park Monday.

One of the fastest games of base ball ever played here was the Belding game Monday. For seven innings it was a pitcher's battle between Speaker and Abner. In the seventh the home boys found Abner for three hits, which mixed with stolen bases and wild throws netted four runs. Crawford relieved Abner and stopped the fun. The features of the game were the pitching of Speaker and the base running of Lehman.

One of the oddest shapes in hats for the small girl of seven or eight years of age is a lamp shade effect that is made in sections, that flattened so that on the outside there is no visible division of crown and brim. There is a band inside which rests the hat on the head. These models are in brown.

TUCKED BLOUSE OR SHIRT WAIST. navy, cream and a pretty green. The usual trimming is a many looped bow of narrow ribbon placed on the point of the crown, from which spring dainty sprays of flowers, such as convolvul, daisies, buttercups, trails of rosebuds or other flowers suitable for children's wear. Skirts are a little fuller, and plaits are coming back gradually to favor, particularly those set in at the sides. Most of the new coats are three-quarter length. Psyche knots can be had in any color of natural hair for $1. Some come with three tufts. There is a demand for shirt waists that close at the front, but the model seen in the cut may be made with the opening either back or front. In the illustration it is constructed of Persian lawn embroidered by hand. The blouse includes the new one piece sleeve. JUDIC CHOLET.

Marathon mad! When a mere child I read a story—I think it was a dime novel—about an Indian runner; probably a ten-cent Beadle; among the first of the ten-centers, and far more wholesome than the salacious ten-centers of the present day of eroticism. The winning of the west was due largely to the dime novel. I never read one that did not tend to enlarge a boy's love of outdoor sport and clean adventure. There was nothing that could not be read at the family fireside. Yet some one started a crusade against the dime novel, and after 20 years it was partly eradicated—that is, it was forced to give way to the cheap tales of city dens and dives.—New York Press.
