YOUNG LADIES WON ANOTHER BANQUET

A Great Success in Entertainment at Methodist Church.

The concert given by Mrs. Merrill and her local assistants under the auspices of the Y. L. C. of the M. E. Church last Thursday evening was a pronounced success financially and otherwise. The entire program was bright and interesting and was received with generous applause by a large audience.

The musical numbers were unusually good, both instrumental and vocal, the pipe organ playing a prominent and pleasing part. Mrs. Merrill's exceptional talent as a reader and entertainer was thoroughly demonstrated in all her numbers. As a humorist she won delighted applause, and her pathetic readings were touchingly and beautifully rendered. The entertainment has been pronounced by some of the best given in Lowell for several seasons. The net proceeds to be applied on the piano fund by the Young Ladies Circle were seventy five dollars.

A GOOD MAN GONE

Life Sketch of the Late George E. Bartlett.

George E. Bartlett was born at Alynor, Que. Nov. 13, 1848. He came to Michigan in Oct. 1866 and settled in South Lowell just west of his late residence. Later he moved to Bowne township where he lived until Jan. 1880, at which time he returned to South Lowell, where he lived until his death, Nov. 2, 1909. Dec. 16, 1874, he was married to Hannah V. Allen of Hull, Que. To them three children were born Howard G. of South Lowell and two others who died in infancy. He is survived by his wife and son Howard G. also by two sisters Mrs. Albert White of Saranac and Mrs. James Welch of Grand Rapids.

Brother Bartlett heard and obeyed the call of God under the ministry of Rev. W. L. Bray. He joined the South Lowell M. E. church as a charter member and served in an official relation throughout the years of his membership therein. He was recognized not only as a man of profound religious convictions and experience but as a man of affairs and through his industrious yet upright dealings in business was blessed by temporal prosperity.

He was genial, brotherly and kind and for these qualities of mind and heart was highly prized as a friend by all who came to know him. His love and care for his family were persistent, a constant source of patient watchfulness and tender support.

A wise, faithful and brotherly man he gave to his reward, suddenly dismissed from the cares and duties of this life and conducted to the delights and glories of the heavenly world. Earth and loved ones are poorer, but heaven is richer and more attractive to those who remain here.

The funeral services were held from the South Lowell Methodist church Friday, Nov. 5, conducted by Rev. J. G. Robeson, who was assisted by Rev. M. A. Bratton a former pastor. Interment at Bowne Center cemetery. The cordial sympathy of a host of friends is extended to the bereaved family.—[Con.]

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Subject for Sunday morning, "A Man Sent from God," companion to the topic of last Sunday.

Brotherhood class, "Duty of Those who Hear the Gospel." Evening subject, "The Kingdom of God." In fact, why not be a regular attendant at the Congregational church?

METHODIST CHURCH.

Public worship each Sunday at 10:30 a. m., and 7:00 p. m. Sunday school at the noon hour. The sermon on the coming Sunday morning will be in the interest of home Missions. At request of the W. H. M. S. the pastor preaches this sermon at this time as it is the Sunday preceding their regular annual Thank-Offering services which will be held Tuesday afternoon and evening at the parsonage.

"Spiritual Heart Diseases" will theme for the evening sermon.

The pastors of the local churches have received official notification of the coming great Laymen's Missionary convention which is to be held in Detroit on December 4, 7, next. This is to be a great rally in the interest of missions of all churches. It is to be hoped that a delegation of laymen from our churches may be able to attend. If so then a rally day can be held here later at which we may have the "echoes" of that convention.

The orchestral instruments at time of the Methodist Sunday school are proving quite attractive and interesting in the Sunday school.

Division No. 3 of Congregational church will give a coffee Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 16, at the home of Mrs. R. W. Graham. Refreshments served from 3 to 8. All are cordially invited.

ANOTHER BANQUET A JOLLY GOOD TIME.

Enjoyed by the Congregational Brotherhood, Friday Evening.

The Lowell Congregational Brotherhood held their monthly meeting and banquet at the Lowell house Friday evening Nov. 5. A large number of the Brotherhood were in attendance, as many as could well be accommodated at the social and banquet board. At 7:30 a welcome all issued from the dining room, and the beautifully laden tables were soon surrounded by a merry Brotherhood. President, Look called the meeting to order and with a few appropriate remarks turned the meeting over to Dr. O. C. McDannell toastmaster of the evening.

A short and interesting program followed the abundant banquet and was enjoyed by all. The principal speaker was A. E. Ewing of Grand Rapids who after the usual stories and jokes customary on such occasions, spoke in favor of less denominationalism in and among the churches, and more similarity to the acts and teachings of Christ while on earth. He recommended the simplicity in all Christ's works and doings, without any ostentation. Mr. Ewing's speech was full of christian spirit and good solid suggestions for all Brotherhoods.

Harvey J. Taylor, answered to the toast of "Our Village and its Doings and Prospects," which was well covered by him in mentioning and describing our present and prospective manufacturers, their rank, persons and workmen employed and the apparent success of each.

Mr. Shivel an attorney who has lately come among us, responded to the toast "Upright Character," which was well handled by the speaker, and enjoyed by the Brotherhood, who will expect to hear from him again in the near future.

Rev. W. D. Ogg gave rehearsal of a poem that he loved and admired in his youth, which has been lost, forgotten and found several times since his school days.

At the close of the program the minutes of the last monthly meeting were read and approved, and some business regarding the good of the Brotherhood was attended to, then all arose and sang "America," and with a benediction the meeting closed in harmony.—[Con.]

AUTO FACTORY GOES

Building Contract Let and Work Already Begun.

The contract for the erection of the Lowell Auto Body factory main building has been let to A. W. Morgan of Grand Rapids, a former resident of Lowell, and construction work has already begun.

The building is to be of brick on a concrete foundation 155 X 60 feet, two stories high. There are to be erected also power house, dry kiln and bending room, of the same character as the main factory, but these are not included in the Morgan contract.

The Auto Body Company has bought the Scott blacksmith property, paying $475 therefor; and the building will soon be removed, though it will be used by the contractor while the factory is being built.

The removal of the old buildings on the required site proceeds rapidly, the ground is being cleared up for the builders, and material for the factory building is being placed on the ground.

With the new city hall in process of erection just across the way, Lowell is making a noise like building.

AGED PIONEER RESTS

Owen Howard Lived in Vergennes Sixty-five Years.

Owen Howard, the aged Vergennes pioneer, whose death and burial were recorded in our last issue, was born in the county of Cork, Ireland, in 1819. He came to this county when 19 years old and labored on public works gradually working his way westward until 1844, when he purchased the homestead in Vergennes upon which he lived for sixty-five long years, and from which he passed to his eternal reward Monday, Nov. 1, 1909.

In 1851 he married Catherine Rymes, who preceded him to the better world in February 1890. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. E. J. McCormick and her three daughters of Ada, who with many other relatives and a multitude of friends will long miss the kind father and faithful friend of many years.

He has plowed his last furrow. He has sowed his last grain. No more shall awake him to labor again.

Yours Respectfully, M. C. WEBER, Carrier No. 11.

Lowell Laundry Changes Hands.

E. A. Keedy of Greenville, a practical laundry man of experience, has bought the Lowell laundry of B. S. White and will continue the business at the present stand. Mr. Kelly is a young man and is accompanied by his wife.

Mr. White, whose health is poor, expects to find benefit in a change of occupation; but his plans for the future are not yet perfected.

A Pleasant Event.

Monday being the 16th anniversary of the birth of Miss Ruth Jenkins, she was very agreeably surprised by Mrs. M. C. Green's Sunday school class of about a dozen young ladies who gathered at the parsonage and passed a very enjoyable evening. Roasted marshmallows, music and fun formed the program. A nice souvenir present was given her as a memento of the occasion.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Kindly Furnished by Superintendent E. J. Martin.

Crowded out last week.

John Behler entered the High school last Monday.

Janitor Townsend has set about two thousand tulip bulbs in the flower beds in front of the main building.

Members of the senior class are wearing neat class pins.

Teachers who attended the State Association at Saginaw last week enjoyed one of the most helpful associations which have been held for years, the lecture by Prof. Earl Barnes of Philadelphia being worth the entire trip.

During the pleasant days recently most of the grade teachers took their pupils out for an autumn walk. Delightful lessons in English are growing out of these trips.

Pupils in Miss Klenk's room at the west ward, enjoyed a Halloween party.

A young man would like to work for board and attend school. In case anyone is in need of such assistance, kindly communicate with the superintendent.

Harry Hakes, member of the chemistry class, is able to make his own blue print paper which he uses with excellent results when making drawings of apparatus used in the different experiments. His note book to date, is a thing of beauty. Other members of the class are making some excellent books which show skill and care.

Twenty-four of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gehler gathered at their home last Thursday evening, it being Mrs. Gehler's birthday. Music and games were played after which light refreshments were served.

Mrs. Margaret McMahon has been spending a week with her daughter in Grand Rapids.

The Favorite Base Burner.

The stove that gives the greatest heat from the least coal is the one that saves money, and the one that saves money in coal bills is the one to buy.

The Favorite Three-Flue Base Burner takes the place of a furnace in a moderate size house. There is no variation in the heat from the Favorite. Variable winds have no effect upon it, while increase in heat, required in cold weather, hardly affects the coal bill. So scientific is its construction, that every atom of heat energy is controlled and distributed with such uniformity as to vary but an degree or two in an entire day.

The average furnace consumes from twelve to eighteen tons of coal in a season. The Favorite Base Burner needs but four tons, with better results in heating the house.

WILL BE FIRMS IN WHOLE WORLD
 Course in Conservation at Uni-

PLAN OF WORK IS LAID OUT
 Credit for Getting Course Established
 Is Given to Prof. Cooley—Will of the Word.

To the University of Michigan will belong the honor of being the first university in the world to establish the course in the conservation of natural resources. The course will be given by the engineering department, with the cooperation of the literary and law departments, and will do the degree at the end of six months. The course is being given for all teachers and a minimum term of nine months in all schools, city and rural. It also declared for more equitable distribution of the primary school fund. The report was made by John P. Cooley, president of the College of New York, whose subject was "Salaries of Professors."

In his address at the U. of M. at Lansing, Acting President Hutchins made a strong plea for endowments for the university. He said that the university is not a state liberal. It does not get the demand that the state of revenue must be found.

"In my judgment," he said, "where the state has the education rests with the state. It does not follow that the state should bear the entire expense of education. It is the duty of the university to go out into the state and raise the money for its maintenance."

"I believe that the men who have made their money in the state and whose names are here should be led toward the university and should be the fact that it is a state institution stand in the way."

"There is one thing before the state which contemplates forming an alumni association in every county in the state. It is the duty of the university to go out into the state and raise the money for its maintenance."
