NEW PRODUCE FIRM

Fielding & Kniffin of Detroit Added to Lowell's Live Buyers.

Lowell is to have another firm of produce buyers, who will move here from Detroit and locate permanently. The company is composed of Ed. Kniffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Kniffin, our old residents, and Charles Fielding. The firm will operate under the style of Fielding & Kniffin and do a general produce business.

They are negotiating for the Johnson block as a warehouse and Mr. Fielding has rented the Lester Combs house on Water street.

The buyers are experienced in their business and are familiar with the wholesale market in Detroit and other centers. Mr. Kniffin is an old Lowell boy, who for years has been connected with the Griswold house in Detroit, one of that city's leading hotels.

They will add strength to Lowell's already strong and popular market and our town will continue to be the mecca of people who sell as well as people who buy, one class helps the other and both build up a live town.

J. C. SCOTT SERIOUSLY INJURED

Thrown from Buggy by Street Car and Dragged.

J. S. Scott of Grand Rapids a former Lowell business man, was badly injured in that city last Friday. He and Mrs. Scott were driving on Wealthy avenue when their buggy was struck by a car and they were thrown out. Mrs. Scott escaped without serious injury but Mr. Scott was dragged for some distance and suffered serious injuries. Mrs. James Scott of Lowell has been in the city several days helping to care for the invalid.

Mrs. Scott returned home last evening and reports that the old gentleman—he is 83 years old—is doing as well as could be expected. The wounds on his limbs are healing and he is expected to recover. Considering that he was dragged an entire block his escape from death is almost a miracle.

ADDIE SCOTT SAGE.

Young Lowell Woman Died at Her Home in Ionia.

Addie, wife of Louis Sage, died, at her home in Ionia, Saturday night at 12 o'clock, after several weeks' illness at the age of twenty-two years. Mrs. Sage was the daughter of A. A. Scott of this village and was born in Lansing.

Beside father and mother Mrs. Sage leaves a husband, a little daughter 21 months old and three sisters, Mrs. Hobart Clark and Pearl and Katie Scott of this village and a sister in Washington.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at Ionia at which Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Scott, Pearl and Katie Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Clark were in attendance.

The last two have a little one of their own but they have shown their goodness of heart by taking the motherless babe for adoption.

WOODMEN SPRUCE UP.

Their Newly Refitted and Refurnished Hall is "A Dandy."

The Woodmen of Lowell can now boast of one of the most finely finished and home-like lodge rooms in the state. The walls and ceilings have been handsomely decorated and the floors grained and oil finished. The reception rooms are elegantly carpeted and the main hall floor is handsomely furnished with rugs, one 15x19, another trifle smaller, and numerous small ones conveniently placed. The carpets and rugs were furnished by Payne's dry good store in competition with Grand Rapids bidders at $180.

A Welcome Visitor.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 12, 1909

F. M. Johnson, Editor, Lowell Ledger.

Dear Sir—In looking over my memorandum I ascertain that my last subscription to your valued paper was forwarded to you one year ago from Indianapolis, Ind.

I am enclosing you one dollar for the coming year from Chattanooga, Tenn., the heart of the sunny South.

While living permanently in Detroit I received the Ledger each week promptly, but during the past year it has reached me in eleven states and at Vancouver, B. C., being forwarded four issues at a time from the address given below, where you will kindly continue to mail it.

The Ledger is indeed a welcome visitor and I am much interested in the fight you are making for temperance, as well as eager to scan the news pages to learn the topics and events among my many old friends in Lowell.

Trusting that I shall receive the Ledger in as many states during the coming year, and with best wishes, I am, Respectfully,
Margaret Deegan Britt.

CITY FREE FROM POVERTY; LEGAL OPTION THE CAUSE.

CADILLAC, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Charles Haynes, head of the philanthropic work of Cadillac, who has carte blanche from one of the wealthy lumbermen of this city to fill in his checks for all sums she needs to alleviate the distress in the city caused by poverty, says that there is nothing doing in her line; that she is having no calls for assistance, and that the customary contributions taken at Thanksgiving time for poor families will not be taken this year, as there is actually no need of it.

Asked why conditions are so good, she replied that no saloons here make the helping of poor families unnecessary.

HOME FROM ALASKA

Fred Noyes Returns to Lowell After Absence of 21 Years.

Some towns have had fake "Klondike Bills," but Lowell has had the real thing. Wealthy visitor from Alaska this week in the person of Fred G. Noyes, a former Lowell boy who left here 21 years ago.

Mr. Noyes was accompanied by his wife and their home is at Fairbanks, Alaska, where his brother Frank R. is engaged in mining. Their sister Mrs. Josse Chisholm lives at Prince Rupert, B. C.

The brothers have prospered in the gold region and further work with them is a matter of choice not of necessity.

The Noyes family built and occupied the house on Monroe street since added to by Ransom Vaughan, and Fred worked in the Cutter factory for nine years. One of the places visited by him was the factory, where he found a few who were there when he left here.

Mr. Noyes remarked upon the many changes that have come to Lowell since his departure but he found many familiar places and faces. To keep in touch with them now that he has found them again he arranged to have THE LEDGER visit him weekly in his Alaskan home.

Mr. and Mrs. Noyes were entertained at the homes of David Flanagan and A. D. Oliver during their visit here.

They left yesterday afternoon for New York and other eastern points, whence they will go to Florida to winter, not expecting to reach their northern home until next June when the river opens for navigation.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICES

Rev. N. E. Jenkins Will Preach at the Congregational Church.

There will be a union Thanksgiving service at the Congregational church Thursday evening of next week. We place the service in the evening in order to accommodate the larger company of Lowell's people. This day being set apart by Federal authority it is fitting that as many as possible of any given community assemble in a public manner to render thanks to God. Rev. N. E. Jenkins of the Methodist church will preach the sermon. W. D. O.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Services next Sunday and the following subjects will be discussed: Morning—"This Grace Also." Whatever grace or graces one may possess the one under consideration should be very prominent in every experience. Brotherhood class at noon. Subject "What the Christian's example should be." Evening—"Why we should not judge another."

METHODIST CHURCH.

Public worship each Sabbath at 10:30 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Sunday school and Brotherhood meeting at 12:00 noon. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:00. Subjects for sermons by the pastor on coming Sunday morning, "Love Personified." For evening, "Spiritual Blindness, and It's Cure."

Our Sunday school is doing good work and is increasing in attendance. With the addition of the orchestra and new singing books the program of music each Sabbath will be excellent. Our Superintendent F. N. White, makes everybody feel right at home and can fit into the right place in class work.

VERGENNES BAILEY

Services at Bailey are maintained each Sabbath. Sunday school at 1:30 p. m. and preaching at 2:30. There is room for a few more of the people out that way in such services. Do not permit gospel preaching to be wasted. It is just as easy to preach to a houseful as a few.

Special Cut in Horse Shoeing.

We the undersigned Horse Shoers of the village of Lowell on and after this date will reset shoes for 15cts each; new shoes 30cts each.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Kindly Furnished by Superintendent E. J. Martin.

School at the south ward will be opened next Monday.

Thanksgiving exercises will be held in the ward schools and Grammar grades at the central building. The program will begin at two o'clock. Parents and friends are cordially invited.

The seventh grade, under the instructions of Miss Kathryn Ladd, enjoy its reading table when opportunity offers.

Spelling contests and challenges for more of them among the grades, are furnishing valuable incentives for special study of the spelling lessons.

Recently grade seven defeated grade six in a spelling contest with a standing of 97 per cent.

School will close next Wednesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving vacation.

The junior class officers are—president, Imogene Culver; vice president, Raymond Bergin; treasurer, Harry Chatterton; secretary, Elyth Charles.

A mammoth winter radish, weighing seven pounds, was recently brought to school by Leo Kallinger. Members of the chemistry class found that eighty-eight per cent of it was water. Had they made the test when it was first brought to school the percentage would have been still higher; but, by being on exhibition a number of days, it lost some of its water by evaporation. The results were somewhat surprising when they found that the water amounted to a little over six pounds or a trifle over six pints.

The boys who went to Lake Odessa to play foot-ball report a rough game.

SHOTWHILE HUNTING

Charles Sargent of Grand Rapids, Proprietor With No. 4 Shot.

While hunting on the Charles Wilson place west of the village "the first of the week," Charles Sargent was shot with No. 4 shot in the arm, leg and hip by another hunter who was about five rods distant from Sargent, all of the party being from Grand Rapids.

Dr. Greene was called and removed four of the eight shot but had found a human mark, the others had penetrated too deep to be found.

Mr. Sargent is as comfortable as could be expected under the circumstances.

JOHN WESLEY CHAPTER

Methodist Brotherhood Goes to Trinity Church Grand Rapids Friday.

About fifty members of Lowell Methodist Brotherhood go to Grand Rapids tomorrow (Friday) afternoon on the 5:09 Grand Trunk train. They will be met at the depot in the city and escorted to Trinity church where a supper will await them. After the repast a program of toasts will follow. Then the Lowell brethren will initiate a class of sixty into the new brotherhood being organized there by Rev. Russell H. Bready.

The Lowell chapter is in flourishing condition, having in the last two meetings added twelve new members. Next year's program is now being prepared.

WELBRA BUCHANAN

Former Lowell Man Fell Dead Near Baker, Washington.

Welbra Buchanan, a former Lowell man, fell dead near Baker, Washington recently of heart failure. He was an employee of Charles McCarty for three years and left here in the eighties. The news of his death was sent to McCarty by Will D. Crofoot, another ex-Lowell man, who is prospering in the west and hopes to attend the next home-coming.

Thanksgiving Week Notice.

On account of Thanksgiving this paper will be issued Wednesday next week. Advertisers correspondents, local, church and society contributors will please send in their copy one day earlier than usual. Late matter cannot be used in that issue.

RISKED HIS LIFE

Ray Averill of Ada Tried to Believe His Infected Herd.

From the Grand Rapids Press.

ADA, Nov. 17.—One unfortunate little curr suffering from a violent attack of hydrophobia has kept three townships in a state of expectant terror for the better part of two weeks. As a result of the itinerant visit of the frothing and snapping canine stranger men's lives have been placed in jeopardy, cattle and dogs have been sacrificed and one of the biggest dairy farms in the vicinity of Ada has been tied up in rigid quarantine.

Where the rabies-stricken stranger came from and how wide the zone of his execution no one seems to know. Some three weeks ago vague reports were circulated through Ada of a strange dog which raced blindly, only pausing to slash cruelly with his fangs. Then a gentle collier went mad. Down on the river flats of Ada Ray Averill found one of his valuable Jerseys curiously stricken. Accustomed to the care of cattle during all his life, Averill never before had seen such horrible suffering. He tried a few simple veterinary remedies only to be driven away by the blind and maddened struggles and charges of this unusually well behaved cow. When the veterinary surgeon announced it a case of rabies the vague stories of the snapping dog were recalled.

It was the beginning of a period of ill-fortune for the Averill farm. Situated on what was the old original Rix Robinson homestead acreage, supplied by inexhaustible flowing wells it is one of the ideal dairy farm locations of the county. The herd of some forty cows had been pastured on the river meadows and it is believed the strange dog with the rabies charged through the herd biting right and left.

None who witnessed the death struggles of the mad cattle will soon forget the spectacle. Ray Averill, one of the three owners of the herd attacked by rabies, has been in the dairy business all his life. He has seen cattle die and has cared for stock suffering from a great variety of ills. In order that the already heavy financial loss might be reduced by the state reward provided for in such cases, Averill delayed killing the beast in hope that the live stock commission appraiser might reach the scene. In that interval he witnessed such agonies that the memory still fills his waking hours.

Unable to gain its feet, the stricken animal, propelled by the spasmodic movement of its hind legs, struggled along on its breasts, tearing the flesh on bones and stumps and felling saplings four inches in diameter. One tree, fully twelve inches in diameter was felled by the repeated tearing of the cow's horns. The sight was too much for Mr. Averill. At the risk of his life, the young dairyman went into the enclosure and nimbly avoiding the charges of the beast, put it out of its misery with a charge of shot.

Soon another and another of the herd went down to kick and thrash its life away. At the first indication of rabies the animals were isolated and when they developed hopeless symptoms Averill killed them rather than witness such as marked the closing hours of the mad cow in the river meadow.

During the two weeks since rabies broke out on the Averill farm, hundreds of gallons of milk have been destroyed. The farm is under quarantine and each day the loss is increased.

In his efforts to relieve his dying cattle Ray Averill trilled with death in a manner few men would care to duplicate. Robust, strong and cheerful, the young dairyman makes light of it, but his neighbors fear some of the deadly infection might have entered his veins and are urging him to take the Pasteur treatment.

He takes a philosophical view of the situation. He is sure he kept clear of the deadly germ and is intent upon clearing the last vestige of the epidemic and getting his institution back upon a profit making basis.

Just on the day the quarantine would have been lifted one of the cows became ill. Averill says it is not hydrophobia. The health officer wasn't sure, so he extended the quarantine as a safeguard. Later the quarantine was raised.

During all this period of unrest farmers in the vicinity were watching their stock, fearful for the first symptom of the deadly rabies. No self respecting dog was safe in the display of a moment's ill-temper.

Quarterback Injured.

The local boys suffered defeat at the hands of the football team at Lake Odessa Saturday by a score of 5-0. Our boys were compelled to fill several vacancies with green material. A "square" game was indulged in by both sides. In the latter part of the last half Frank Jenkins fractured his right collar bone after which Lake Odessa soon scored. Our team will wind up the season by playing Grand Rapids Union High here Thanksgiving day.

The Favorite Base Burner.

The stove that gives the greatest heat, from the least coal is the one that saves money, and the one that saves money in coal bills is the one to buy.

The Favorite Three Line Base Burner takes the place of a furnace in a moderate size house. There is no variation in the heat from the Favorite. Variable winds have no effect upon it, while increase in heat, required in cold weather, hardly affects the coal bill. So scientific is its construction, that every atom of heat energy is controlled and distributed with such uniformity as to vary but adreger or two in an extraordinary.

The average furnace consumes from twelve to eighteen tons of coal in a season. The Favorite Base Burner needs but from two and one half to four tons, with better results in heating the house.

Thanksgiving Day in Washington

FROM Washington every year goes forth a special production called the people of the United States to give thanks for the blessings of the past year. In November for the first time in the history of the nation there has been no prosperity and progress, to give thanks for the past year. There has been no war, and that matters probably will be better in the future.

F. E. Hawk was very pleasantly surprised Tuesday evening when a few of his intimate friends dropped in to remind him that it was his birthday. The rooms were prettily decorated with ferns and carnations. Dainty refreshments were served and when Mr. Hawk took his place at the table he found a shower of presents from his numerous friends awaiting him. All enjoyed a pleasant evening and departed for their homes at a late hour wishing Mr. Hawk many happy returns of the day.
A very enjoyable afternoon was spent Friday at the pleasant home of Mrs. A. M. Barnes who entertained the members and friends of the W. C. T. U. We had the pleasure of listening to an impromptu speech by Mrs. Davidson of Alpena who spoke encouragingly of our work. Rev. N. F. Jenkins followed with a short address which was enjoyed by all. Five new members were received into the union after which refreshments were served.
