CITY HALL OPENED

sources to be jealously safeguarded. Lowell is not only beautiful for its location, it is pleasant, prosperous and progressive. This is the result of the public spirit that is characteristic of the people of Lowell with moral character and vision. For civic pride, high character and the power of vision are, after all, more important factors in a community than the abundance of its natural resources and advantages. "Other men have labored and ye have entered into their labors." This village, in its material growth and progress, is the result of the labors of hand and brain of the many now dead and gone, as well as of the living. How much, not only of private and purpose of this community and of its people as a whole. Shall we be narrow, materialistic and greedy or shall we be progressive, human and helpful? For the life of the village, its spirit and purposes have much to do with the character and morals of its people. The environment of the people, the setting and surroundings of the individual mold and make, or mar the life. In this community, not alone its churches, but the ideals and deep seated purposes of its people and of the community as a whole make character and transform or deform life. What ideals shall the spirit of the village hold up and what inspiration shall she give?

For the individual, shall it not be an ideal of high thinking and noble living? Of character dominated by conscience, inspired by love and moved with public spirit and civic pride?

For the social ideal, shall it not be that of brotherhood and service? We are members of society as well as individuals, members—one of another and of the living organization called society. The fact of brotherhood—of love and its every member, however humble, is the fundamental of religion, of democracy and of the coming of civilization. Brotherhood not as a mere name, theory or sentiment, but brotherhood as a vital fact that is a part of our selves and affects all that we think and do! No room for selfish pride, the class spirit or exclusiveness here. And the community ideal! The community and village, even the county, state and nation are organic and living things, with ideals, of influence and life. As members of such community we cannot work against its highest good, we must subordinate our selfish individual interest to the good of the whole.

Shall not this spirit live and work, not in this town hall alone, but in the hearts and lives of the people of this community?

We therefore dedicate today this town hall. We dedicate it as a monument to the enterprise and labor of the past. We dedicate it as the fruit of the vision and sacrifice of the present. We dedicate it to the larger life, the higher citizenship, the greater community of tomorrow. May it be a thing of beauty, a place for the village, a place of usefulness, a center of social life and of inspiration for the present not only, but for the generations to come.

Harley Maynard followed with a solo song in his very best manner and then impromptu addresses being in order Messrs. Hicks Shivel and Jenkins responded to calls with happy remarks of congratulation and felicitation.

Messrs. Hicks and Maynard sang "Larboard Watch," and the big hall gave ample room for their powerful voices. The old song was well rendered and appreciated by all.

The chairman read letters of congratulation from former citizens Russel H. Brady and John L. Kopf, the latter enclosing $10 for his old home town. "Lovers of Lowell" from Saginaw also sent $5 for tickets to begin to those unable to buy and to help the enterprise; and the afternoon meeting closed with the singing of the ever appropriate "America."

In the evening a crowd of several hundred people gathered for the opening ball and a gray throng tripped the light fantastic toe till the wee sma' hours of the morning starting off with a grand march led by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hooker and participated in by a large company.

At the hour of going to press figures of receipts are unavailable; but the opening was a great success and it is believed the proceeds will be ample to pay the $350 required for the beautiful scenery, drop curtain and stage settings.

POPULAR JANITOR WEDS.

Mr. Chamney Townsend and Mrs. Anna E. Hamlin United.

Married, at the home of the groom, Saturday evening, May 28, Mr. Chamney Townsend and Mrs. Anna E. Hamlin of Detroit, Rev. W. D. Ogg officiating, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. After the ceremony the company sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper.

Thus, in brief, is told the latest enterprise of our bustling and popular High school janitor. His pleasant home, which has lately been fitted with modern improvements, will continue to be their home; and Mr. and Mrs. Townsend are assured of the good wishes of their adult townsmen, while the school children expressed their sentiments in their own way by showering their good natured old friend with rice when he appeared in duty on the school premises.

Even if you think that what is to be will be, there is no harm in trying to make it what it ought to be.—Puck.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness during the last illness and death of our beloved husband and father. We wish to especially thank the friends who furnished the beautiful flowers.

Mrs. Theo. Lott.
Miss Mary Lott
John McCreary

METHODIST CHURCH.

What are the conditions of acceptable prayer? Will be discussed at the Methodist church on coming Sunday morning. This discussion will be based upon an examination of a request made in prayer by a man of mighty faith whose request was turned down by Him who hears a prayer.

In the evening the choir will render a program of sacred music. This will be one of the fine choral services given by the choir of this church. Come and enjoy the evening with us.

WON THE FIRST

Lowell Starts Base Ball Season at Home With Winner.

The base ball season started with a rush Friday when the home team took the first game of the season from the M. A. M. team of Grand Rapids by the score of six to one.

Holliday was easily the star of the game accepting seven chances without a skip. His catch of a line hit by Montgomery doubling David at first being one of the best plays ever seen on the Lowell grounds.

McMahon had the visitors at his mercy at all times, although loose playing at times kept men on bases and let one run in. Eight of the visitors went the strike out route and only five of them hit safely. Jackson accepted his only chance in the outfield the other fielders not having an opportunity to show what they could do.

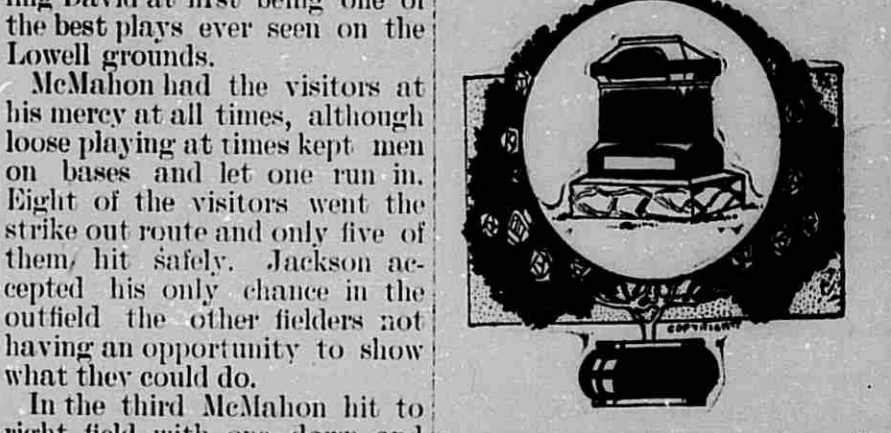

In the third McMahon hit to right field with one down and went to third on Jackson's single. Jackson stole second. Shivel hit to David who threw into the 1st base bleachers, scoring McMahon and Jackson. Shivel went to third and scoring on a wild pitch.

In the fourth Baird hit between first and second and stole second. Behler was hit. Baird was out trying to take third on a passed ball. Behler going to second. McMahon hit to Cook who fumbled it then threw past the catcher letting Behler in. McMahon went to third on the play and scored on a passed ball. The other run was scored in the fifth when Shivel was safe on the pitcher's error, stole second, went to third while McQueen was being thrown out at first and scored on a sacrifice fly by Holliday.

Score by innings: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
M. A. M. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Batteries: Krowkoski and Montgomery, McMahon and Shivel.
