ADA PIONEER PICNIC

Monday's Gathering a Great Tribute to Temperance.

BY F. M. JOHNSON.

It was a large and splendid gathering of people that greeted President Clements of the Ada Pioneer association at Schlenk's grove in that village Monday, when after the enjoyment of a basket picnic, he called the assemblage to order.

Secretary Farrell then delivered a characteristic address of welcome, in which he paid high tribute to the old pioneers of the Grand River valley, after which Rev. Mr. Miller invoked the Divine blessing on the assemblage and the Grand Rapids City band played a patriotic selection.

A flag song by several young ladies, with ten little girl flag-bearers in the foreground, won much applause. The number was arranged and directed by Miss Nellie Smith.

William Malloy, Democratic candidate for senator from the Seventeenth district, paid a glowing tribute to the pioneers of foreign birth who came to this section 70 or 80 years ago, cleared the forests and built school houses and churches.

Mayor Ellis of Grand Rapids gave a humorous address telling a number of good stories, several at the expense of Rev. Russell H. Bready who followed him and who paid back with interest in full to date.

Mr. Bready complimented the Pioneer association on the fine gathering and its action declaring for a picnic uncontaminated by the liquor traffic. He advocated woman suffrage, favored the mixing of political candidates with the people on such occasions and the owning of public resources by the people. He took a crack at the idle rich, citing a recent eastern ball which cost the family which gave it $200,000 for the night's entertainment, where the jewels were valued at millions and the cost of costumes was incalculable, while almost within stone's throw people were in want and misery. He was not a political socialist but believed that a remedy must be found for such extremes of wealth and poverty and advocated the dissolving of swollen fortunes on the death of the owners.

After a selection by the band Congressman Sweet spoke briefly of capital and labor, admitting that wages had not advanced with cost of living. He urged a better distribution of wealth by means of a better distribution of population from city to country, better methods of farming, good roads, more and better corn and less wheat for this vicinity and the growing of alfalfa.

Amos S. Musselman, Republican candidate for governor, was not outdone by the other speakers in his praise of the pioneers: "There seems to be a spirit of unrest all over the land, he said, I can't understand why this should be. The nations of the world look upon us and say we are the best housed, the best clothed, the best fed and the most prosperous people in the world, and we know this is true." "Why then the unrest? There are conditions which need attention, doubtless, but there is danger when that spirit of unrest becomes too general and too widespread, instead of calmly sitting down and figuring out what needs attention and how best to remedy the condition and then going about it in a businesslike fashion."

Whitney Watkins of Adrian Progressive candidate for governor talked politics right from the shoulder. He paid his respects to the thirteen senators who prevented Michigan from having a presidential primary vote this year and explained the referendum, initiative and recall, which he advocated and declared he had no fear of.

J. W. Eardley whose father Michael settled in Cascade in 1836, where "Jim" was born four years later, captured the crowd from the start. Said he had been here 72 years. Mother raised him in a smoke house—went to school with the Indians, plowed among the stumps with ox team. Said farmer girl with flush and beauty of health who could make butter and bread and could care for fowls and fruit, knew more than Roosevelt's daughter and advised them to marry farmers and stay on the farm. Mr. Eardley concluded with a vigorous assault on the saloon and rejoiced over its banishment from the Ada Pioneer picnic occasion.

Brother Bready "came back" to crack a little joke on Mr. Eardley which drew a big laugh from the crowd, and then speech-making was over.

Seated on the platform was Hiram A. Rhodes who came to Ada in 1839, who next to Augustus Riggs who came in 1836 was Ada's oldest living pioneer.

A program of sports followed, witnessed by many, and greetings between old friends occupied the remaining time for the older people, while the young folks enjoyed the dances and other amusements.

Mrs. M. Ruben and daughter Lotta of Grand Rapids were in town yesterday.

GETS GLAD HAND

New Pastor of Baptist Church Cordially Received

REV. D. Q. BARRY

Who came from Ovid and settled as pastor of the Baptist church here has every reason to be encouraged in his work. The scattered flocks are rapidly gathering around the old standard as they fully recognize Mr. Barry as a true pastor so far as the spirit of brotherly love is concerned. He is also recognized as an exponent of true Baptist doctrine.

The congregations are steadily increasing. The Bible school is taking on a new life and the B. Y. P. U. just organized is proving a real live wire. The latter society with Miss Mary Ecker as president meets at 6:30 every Sunday evening when Pastor Barry conducts a Bible study class. A deep interest is manifested in every department of church life and new members are being received.

Mr. Barry holds a diploma of graduation from the Baptist Union Theological seminary of Chicago which conferred upon him the degree of B. Th. He has been honored by the denomination in placing him in the capacity of state worker for some time. His interest and sympathies reach out beyond the bounds of church or denomination for he is vitally interested in all the needs of humanity. The latch string is always out at the parsonage two blocks north of the church in the Nash house on High street. Every body regardless of their belief or church affiliations finds a royal welcome.

ADA COUPLE WED

Bertha Belle Buttrick and Harry L. LaBarge

The marriage of Miss Bertha Belle Buttrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Buttrick of Ada township to Harry L. LaBarge of Ada took place at high noon Thursday at the country home of the bride's parents. Rev. Russell H. Bready of the city performed the ceremony, using the ring service. Ferns and flowers formed an artistic decoration for the home, green and white being used in the parlors, and various shades of yellow being the predominant color in the dining room.

The bridal party entered to the music of a wedding march played on the violin by Dr. E. R. Jackson of Grand Rapids. The bride, who entered with her father, wore a train gown of white satin, lace trimmed, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by Miss Grace Evans, who wore a pink silk gown and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. Bert L. Davis of Cleveland, Ohio, acted as best man.

Following the ceremony luncheon was served. Those assisting in the dining room were Misses Nellie Smith and Lydia Boyd and Mesdames Chester Weldon of Ada and Hiram Frazier of Lowell. Mrs. E. R. Jackson of Grand Rapids assisted in the gift room.

Among the Grand Rapids guests were Sidney H. LaBarge and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Webb. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. LaBarge will make their home in Linden, where Mr. LaBarge is superintendent of schools.—[Grand Rapids Herald.]

MAYOR WILL UMPIRE

Mayor Ellis to Assist in Lowell-Alto Game in Grand Rapids.

Mayor G. E. Ellis of Grand Rapids will umpire Lowell's game with Alto, which is to be played at Ramona Athletic park tomorrow (Friday afternoon) at 2:30 and the Pere Marquette railway has announced that a special train consisting of 15 passenger coaches and with a carrying capacity of 1200 will leave Lowell at noon for Grand Rapids, returning at 11:30 p. m. and stopping at all stations.

The Alto manager states that his men are "ticked to death" to play on neutral grounds, and as the closing game of the recent series of five was a close one, a hot contest is expected tomorrow. Mayor Ellis is much interested in the coming game, and says that in his opinion one such game is more interesting than a dozen league contests.

Yesterday's game with the Chinese Students from Hawaii created a great deal of interest, and was well attended. It resulted in a victory for the Chinesemen, score five to zero. Rain Friday morning necessitated calling off the Saranac game scheduled for that afternoon. On Sunday the Lowell team played Ionia at that place and met defeat, score nine to six.
