

Where's Your Proof?

Let's suppose you owed the grocer $5.00 on account and had handed him a $5.00 bill in payment and he had forgotten to give you credit. If he tried to collect the account later, what would you have to show that you had paid it?

Now, suppose you had given the grocer a check on our bank for the amount and he had not given you credit. You would pull that cancelled check on him promptly and show him his endorsement on the back, wouldn't you? Which plan is the safest? We leave it to you.

COUNTY Y. M. C. A. PLENTY OF HITCHING ROOMS FOR EVERYBODY COMING TO LOWELL

Branch is Proposed for Lowell's Consideration.

From the Grand Rapids Press. Unexpected interest in meeting the social and moral needs of young men in towns of Kent county probably will lead to the early organization of a county Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night Secretary Van Akin went to Lowell in response to a request and addressed a meeting of business men desirous of taking steps in this direction. Similar interest manifested in other towns will be utilized for the general movement, by which Y. M. C. A. features, without material equipment are made possible through the engagement of a county secretary and the organization of classes for bible study, social groups, etc.

The Y. M. C. A. state executive committee at its last meeting appointed two men to give all their time to organizing county associations in the state, and so numerous have been the requests for their help that today the two men have work enough ahead to keep them busy six months. The local Y. M. C. A. may lend its aid to the work of organization.

Secretary Van Akin would like to hear from town leaders who are interested.

From Our Point of View

In the electoral college—and a REPRESENTATIVE should expect to represent. We like Senator Smith and we believe that the popular will as expressed in the senatorial primary should be respected. That the "Progressive Alliance" tariff was expressed AFTER the primary and the right of the people to be rid of the tariff on life's necessities, is greater than the individual rights of ANY man.

THAT astute old lawyer John M. McDermott used to say: "Say what you please but be mighty careful who you write." Some people who can talk fairly well, without any aid from a writer, are greater than the individual rights of ANY man.

AGAIN the papers deck with leadily written accidents. The danger of the hunted is equalled only by that of the hunter.

The Bulgarians will have Turkey for Thanksgiving and they have earned it.

Nervous Troubles Kill Ambition

Tona Vita Brings It Back To Normal. Kill Ambition. One of the principal symptoms of nervous troubles is feeling of discouragement.

A man or woman suffering with nerve exhaustion loses out on time and inevitably the time that they become hopeless and depressed.

The people of this country have expressed their wish that women have the suffrage and I think they have shown no lack of courage. I shall lead in the belief that the constitution, so wisely framed by the framers and his supporters, will not be warped or even strained thereby.

A CONSIDERABLE opposition has developed among important legislators to the collection of Senator William Alden Smith, owing to the feeling that he is not progressive in his sympathies. This is a pity, because Senator Smith is a campaign declaration that he had voted for his last out on the tariff has much to do with this feeling, and through Tom Lusk's influence, he was badly mistaken. The people have declared overwhelmingly against the standard doctrine—look at Mr. Felt's poor record seven years ago.

THE work on the street paving job has kept Main street in an uproar all summer and fall and people are impatient. The streets are cleaned and kept clean by sidewalk extension work has contributed more than a liberal share to the litter. It is desirable that the entire street from end to end be thoroughly cleaned before arrive the slush and snow of early winter.

STANDARD Democrats are already announcing themselves as opposed to the reforms for which the platform declared. The new line-up must be made until the progressives and stand-patters are of two distinct camps, regardless of old party names. The progressists, who all parties should unite and work together for the public good.

NO WONDER young men hesitate about taking on the burdens of married life. Dealing the proposition absurd and impossible that a young couple can live on $15 a week. A Detroit society woman said that her daughter shall not marry without an assured income of $5,000 per year. God grant Mrs. Society Woman a happy matrimony.

IN BAY COUNTY, where a large majority was given against equal suffrage, the name of the name of the county charged against those in Genesee and Ingham, which favored the reform by raising majorities. Will the members of equal rights have the Bay County vote ruled out, too? Poor rule that doesn't work both ways.

THE Detroit Journal announces its intention of helping to clean up the vice dens of that city, but advised by a citizen in the Times to begin by cleaning up its own columns of liquor advertisements. The business that breeds, maintains and thrives on vice. It was well put.

THE brewery interests are showing a woful lack of business sense in fighting the woman suffrage victory. The liquor interests are simply inviting the wrath to come.

WIFE MAN
 "Poor faith that his wife talks all the time."
 A man's wife is often the source of his faith. She is the one who encourages him and supports him through difficult times. Her faith in him can be a powerful force that helps him overcome his doubts and fears.

 "What a lot of things happen in ten years! Deaths, births, marriages, divorces, and all sorts of things."
 In ten years, a lot of things can happen. Life is full of surprises and changes. We never know what the future holds for us, and it is often surprising to see how much has happened in such a short period of time.

CHAPTER X
 "The drawing back of Ryanne's power was produced by the stimulus of her own mind."
 Ryanne's power was drawn back by her own mind. She was so focused on her own thoughts and feelings that she lost sight of the world around her. This led to a loss of her power and a sense of isolation.

CHAPTER XI
 "Ryanne, with an angry glance, glanced at the woman who was sitting in the chair."
 Ryanne looked at the woman with an angry expression. She felt that the woman was interfering with her life and was causing her pain. Her anger was evident in her gaze and her words.

CHAPTER XII
 "Ryanne, with an angry glance, glanced at the woman who was sitting in the chair."
 Ryanne's anger continued to grow. She felt that the woman was a threat to her happiness and was determined to get rid of her. Her actions were driven by a mix of anger and fear.

CHAPTER XIII
 "Ryanne, with an angry glance, glanced at the woman who was sitting in the chair."
 Ryanne's anger reached a boiling point. She was no longer able to contain her emotions and let them out. Her actions were now completely out of control.

CHAPTER XIV
 "Ryanne, with an angry glance, glanced at the woman who was sitting in the chair."
 Ryanne's anger was now a constant presence in her life. She was unable to think of anything else but her anger and the woman who had caused it. Her life was a living hell.

Silver Fizzed Tongue
 A man cannot see his wife and his mind stores up. Our faith in the memory of a blind man's memory was recently justified.
 A man cannot see his wife and his mind stores up. Our faith in the memory of a blind man's memory was recently justified. This is a powerful story that shows the strength of the human mind and the power of faith.

[From a series of elaborate chemical tests.]
Comparative digestibility of food made with different baking powders.
An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of two kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar and alum—submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.
The percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:
Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:
99 Per Cent. Digested
Bread made with alum powder:
67 Per Cent. Digested
Royal Baking Powder raised food is shown to be of greatly superior digestibility and healthfulness.

Porto Rico's New Wonder

Marchan, of Barcelona, writes "Dr. King's New Discovery is doing splendid work here. It cured me about five times of terrible coughs and colds, also my brother of a severe cold in his chest and more than 20 others who used it on my advice. We hope this great medicine will yet be sold in every drug store in Porto Rico." For throat and lung troubles it has no equal. A trial bottle will convince you of its merit. 50c and $1.00. Gift That Blaine Had.
James G. Blaine had the rare gift of dismissing from his presence any one who had come to him for a favor which he could not grant, with a feeling that he was his big brother, and grieved to death at the compulsion of refusal. Although he was universally beloved, yet he was defeated for the best office in the gift of the people—his in the Magazine of American History.

Once Exclusive Pet of Royalty.
The Pekingese spaniel, or "Peking dog," now so popular among dog lovers, was formerly an exclusive possession of China's rulers, and it was a capital offense to remove one of the diminutive creatures from the imperial palace. A pair of them were brought to Europe after the capture of Peking in 1860, and from these and a few others the American specimens of the breed are descended.

Food for Thought Here.
A southerner, who has his own way of stating things, inquires whether the world is fair "in dealing with God's servants." "We will criticize a long sermon," he says, "a lengthy prayer, or any lengthy religious services, but sit quietly through a two hour political speech, a fussy lecture or even a monkey show."

Surpassed Them All.
A bear race riot happened in a southern town. The negroes gathered in one crowd and the whites in another. The whites first their revolvers into the air, and the negroes took to their heels. Next day a plantation owner said to one of his men: "Sam, were you in that crowd that gathered last night?" "Yassir." "Did you run like the wind, Sam?" "No I didn't. But I passed two niggers that was running like the wind."—Pennsylvania Grit.

Might Be the Best.
Burglars who broke into a Paris flat recently removed all the fashionable pannier dresses belonging to the mistress of the house and left a number of old skirts. "The police," says a Paris correspondent, "suspect a fashion expert." We, on the other hand, are inclined to wonder if the burglar was not committed by the lady's husband, who may easily have been a simple-hearted fellow who wished to see his wife becomingly dressed for a week or two.—By-stander.

To Clean Paper.
To make a paste that will clean wall paper, mix a quart of flour with five cents' worth of ammonia and enough water to make a stiff dough, and knead until smooth. Then wipe the paper with the dough, working it so that a clean surface will be presented with every stroke, and the wall paper will look like new.—New Haven Journal Courier.

Intolerance Not a Virtue.
Persons sometimes associate intolerance with strength and firmness of conviction; but intolerance is far more a feature of ignorance, defective sympathy, imperfect grasp of truth. We want the charity that makes allowance for other people's points of view without wavering from its own.

Very Mysterious.
An old colored woman had occasion to call the doctor for her husband, who was very ill. The doctor made a diagnosis and pronounced it a severe case of gastritis. "Oh, Lor', doctor," ejaculated the old woman, "how did he eber get dat gastritis? I haint burnt a ting but coal tie in dis zero house, an' powerful little ob dat."—Harper's Bazar for September.

Make Bathing Form of Worship.
Our American bathing resorts pale into insignificance beside those of India—though to the Hindoo bathing is a religious duty as well as a personal luxury. East India papers report that during one week recently at the holy city of Allahabad nearly 2,000,000 people bathed in the rivers Jumna and Ganges, which meet at that place.

Real Financier.
Robbing Peter to pay Paul is an old expedient, but the ingenuity of a man in Washington improved even on that simple method. He stole his landlord's watch and then sold it to pay the rent. Such resourcefulness ought soon to put him in the frenzied-finance class.

What is the Use?
If a man succeed by acting on your advice he feels that he would have acted as he did without being advised by you, and if he fails because he neglected to heed your advice he blames you for not making it stronger than you did. So what's the use?—Chicago Record-Herald.
