HUNTING ACCIDENT FORTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL REUNION

Theodore Bailey Loses His Left Hand.

Theodore, young son of M. L. Bailey of Vergennes has lost his left hand as the result of a hunting accident Saturday, not on Sunday, as reported in the Grand Rapids papers.

The lad in company with several other boys was hunting, when about 5 o'clock that afternoon the shot gun he was carrying was accidentally discharged, tearing a great hole through the base of the hand and the wrist.

Dr. Lee, assisted by Dr. Anderson made an amputation above the wrist. The boy endured the ordeal bravely and is doing as well as could be expected.

Theodore is fourteen years old, has handled both rifle and shot gun for several years and is an excellent shot for one so young. He declares the accident was not his fault but due to a slip and fall that might happen to any one; and that he will hunt again as soon as he is able.

ELECTRIC R. R. TALK

And It's Bound to Come Some Time or Other.

From The Grand Rapids Herald, September 30.

Andrew Fyfe, who is associated with a number of Eastern capitalists in the building of an interurban railway from Detroit to Grand Rapids, announced yesterday, as forecasted in The Herald some time ago, that his company had concluded all arrangements for the financing of the project.

Mr. Fyfe and his associates have purchased the interests in the Detroit, Lansing & Grand Rapids Railroad company, formerly owned by Dr. Oliver Lau of Detroit. The construction of the road, which will be about 160 miles in length, will require an expenditure of nearly $6,000,000. The territory traversed will be a rich and prosperous one, and already the franchises and other necessary requirements have been obtained.

Mr. Fyfe stated last night that the survey of the line from Lansing to Grand Rapids would begin at an early date, the remaining portion of the line from Lansing to Detroit being surveyed.

It is expected the road will be in operation within three years. Townships and counties through which the line will pass have been very friendly to the enterprise and have welcomed it.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE

Three Men Injured in Accident near Ada Yesterday.

Three men were injured, one seriously, yesterday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, when an automobile in which they were riding turned turtle on the Lowell road a mile west of Ada.

J. B. Williams, 1440 Scribner street, is in Butterworth hospital, suffering from a broken rib and a badly cut head. William Waltz, 320 Madison avenue, S. E., was injured about the shoulders and arms, but not badly hurt. The third person in the car, whose name could not be learned, escaped with minor injuries.

The men had been at Lowell and were on their way home. They were riding in Mr. Williams' machine and were traveling at a high rate of speed. Williams, who was driving, lost control of the machine and it turned completely over, landing right side up against a fence.

The accident was witnessed by J. H. Bennett, who lives near Ada, and he went to the assistance of the injured men, who were brought to the city and taken to the hospital. Waltz and the third man in the party left, refusing attention and without giving their names but Williams was so badly injured that he demanded hospital attention.

"The machine was traveling at a high rate of speed," said Mr. Bennett, "when it suddenly left the road and turned completely over. All of the men were thrown from the car, and when I ran up to them, I thought Williams was dead. The men refused to give me their names, but I called for the ambulance."—[Grand Rapids Herald, October 4.]

PAINFUL INJURIES

Suffered by J. R. Buchanan, from Barbed Wire.

Our old friend J. R. Buchanan was thrown from his road cart into a barbed wire fence Monday evening and his face was terribly torn in several places with deep and ragged gashes.

He had spent the day in Grand Rapids and returning on the evening train was driving to his boarding place at Kelsey Denton's in Keene. When near Baily Kerekes' place his horse was frightened by something running across the road and threw Mr. Buchanan as related.

He was taken to the Kerekes house and Dr. Lee was called; but owing to the severity of the injuries he was taken to the doctor's office where the cuts were sewed up and dressed, and afterward removed to the Denton home.

Mr. Buchanan is 78 years old and the injuries and shock are severe for a man of his age. He has been planning for a home in Lowell; and we wish him a speedy recovery.

The horse after throwing the driver broke loose from the cart and made its way to the Denton stable in good time.

DEED SET ASIDE

Judge Perki's Supports Complainant in Allen Browne Case

In the case of R. M. Shivel, administrator of the estate of Allen Browne, vs. William and Margaret McGrath, Judge Perkins has just filed his findings setting aside the deed in the case and supporting the contention of the complainant. The case grew out of a deed of a farm in Lowell township of eighty acres given by Allen Browne to William and Margaret McGrath on the twentieth day of April, 1912. Allen Browne was more or less a recluse during the latter part of his life and lived alone for many years on his farm in Lowell township. He lived in Nebraska some years and returned to this community about twelve years ago. In December, 1911, he removed to Lowell and entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. McGrath where he remained until May, 1912. He had three brothers living and some nieces and nephews by his deceased brother Richard. As above set forth, on April 20 he conveyed his farm by warranty deed to William and Margaret McGrath, taking back a life lease. On the twenty second day of May following the conveyance he was adjudged mentally incompetent by the probate court and a guardian appointed for him, and died some time later in the summer.

The court by its findings held that Allen Browne was mentally incompetent at the time the deed was given and therefore set it aside.

R. M. Shivel of this village was administrator, and was assisted by Judge Jewell and Judge Doyle. The defense was represented by R. E. Springett, M. L. Dunham and H. Monroe Dunham.

Clover Leaf Club Reception

The Clover Leaf Club opened its club year by a reception held at the home of Mrs. D. G. Mangle Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. E. A. Anderson, greeted the club in a short and appropriate address and commended to the club's consideration the following topics: the sanitary conditions of the village, the management of its liquor traffic, and the establishment of a means of its children and youth from spending their time until late at night on the streets.

Mrs. W. O. Merrill gave a short explanatory introduction to Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and then read the play. She was assisted in the interpretation of the play by Mrs. S. S. Lee and Mr. C. A. Barry who rendered music of Mendelssohn interpretative of the scenes read. Mrs. R. T. Ford and Mrs. E. A. Anderson sang solos. The whole program was thoroughly enjoyed.

Punch and wafers were served by Mrs. R. VanDyke and Mrs. H. J. Taylor.

It was agreed that the Landrat not only located a subterranean vein of water near by, but discovered that it led almost under one corner of the club house, where it would be easily accessible by means of a shaft.

The second deep interest in diving rods is connected with the use of diving rods for locating minerals, water and all sorts of other things in all probably regions of the very ancient times...

Prof. W. F. Barrett, P. R. S. of Dublin, who is regarded as the chief modern investigator of the subject, has been employed, dating as it does from the revival of learning, is based on the medieval doctrine of "sympathy," that is, the drawing of forces and the character of the vegetation give indications of minerals under the earth's surface by means of a sort of attraction.

A long hunt at last unearched the desired wire, and with this in hand Von Uslar wandered from room to room about the clubhouse. Nothing occurred until he reached the billiard room, when the rod began to turn rapidly.

HE TOOK THE RISK

By FLORENCE HENDERSON. "It's a very thing to ask you to do, Alling," spoke the chief clerk of the Empire Bank as he looked at the smiling Gerald Alling quietly, "for two allied reasons."

"Every moment after that for more than a week Gerald repeated this operation and one eventful day there were really a number of things. A jam of vehicles near a crowded corner, a jostling mob around him, two men just close upon him in a screened way of holding the rod, and then, suddenly, Gerald Alling smiled despite his peril.

"Give up that satchel!" ordered one of the men. "Take it!" retorted Gerald accordingly, and he let the loop slide from his finger. The satchel was a large, heavy one, and it was filled with cases of tobacco, boxes of cigars, and other desirable goods.

THE DISAPPOINTED

There are songs enough for the hero Who dwells on the heights of fame Sing for the disappointed, For those who missed their aim.

Sing with a tearful cadence For one who stands in the dark, And knows that his last, best arrow Has bounded back from the mark.

Sing for the breathless runner, The eager, anxious soul, Who falls with his strength [exhausted], Almost in sight of the goal.

For the hearts that break in silence With a sorrow all unknown; For those who need companions, Yet walk their ways alone.

There are songs enough for the lover, Who shares love's tender pain; Sing for the one whose passion Is given and is vain.

For those whose spirit comrades Have missed them on their way, Sing with a heart o'er flowing, This minor strain to-day.

And I know the solar system Must somewhere keep in space A prize for that spent runner Who barely lost the race.

For the plan would be imperfect Unless it held some sphere That paid for the toil and talent And love that are wanted here.
