

Heated Argument

Why argue with a man who tries to collect an account you have already paid? Why fuss until you get warm around the neckband and threaten to "start something."

There is no need of it if you are doing business in the modern way and have a checking account at our bank. No use to waste words then. The cancelled checks you gave would settle the dispute quicker than a "scrap" and it isn't nearly so hard on ones clothes to say the least.

HIGH SCHOOL HONORED

NORTH CENTRAL ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGES.

Gives it Place on Accredited List. Will Furnish Incentive for Better Scholarship.

Word was recently received that at a meeting of the North Central Association of colleges and secondary schools held in Chicago, the Lowell High school was accredited. This is the first time that Lowell has been admitted to the North Central list, and since but one hundred schools of the state enjoy this distinction, it is considered a worthy recognition of the standard maintained in our local High school.

Lowell has long been on the University list, but the North Central list has a wider significance, in that her graduates are eligible to enter any college in the Northwest.

Further than this, students may exercise more latitude in elections. By the University arrangement students were required to present credits from certain specified courses. But the students going from schools from the North Central list simply present a statement from the superintendent or principal to this effect that they are ready for college.

Further, the new standard has caused Superintendent Frazee to recommend two kinds of diplomas to be issued. One goes to students who have an average of B (85 per cent) or better for their high school course and it is marked "recommended." The other kind goes to all other graduates and is marked "not recommended." This plan enables the faculty to maintain the high standard necessary to remain on the North Central list and at the same time allows students who are not able to make this grade and who never expect to go to graduate. Not only does it protect the prestige of the school from being represented by students who barely squeeze through, but it gives an incentive for better grades to those students who would go away to college.

YEITER-DYGERT WEDDING
Two South Lowell Young People Made Happy
From our Morse Lake Scribble. Married, by Rev. Lloyd Mead at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Yeiter, their daughter, May, to Clayton Dygert, Saturday, April 11. About twenty-five of their most immediate friends witnessed the ceremony. After congratulations a dainty lunch was served. The young people were the recipients of many useful and beautiful presents.

They took a short wedding trip to Deekerville Sanilac county and will make their home in Grand Rapids, where Mr. Dygert has a business. Congratulations.

Locks-Miller.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Locks announce the marriage of their daughter Marjory to Roll Miller of Columbus, Ohio. The young couple were quietly married at Wheeling, W. Va., April 6. Many useful and beautiful gifts were bestowed upon them from friends in Wheeling, Columbus and Lowell. After spending a week with the bride's parents, they left Monday for Columbus, where the groom is employed in the electrical business, and where they will make their home.

Teachers Hired for Next Year.
The Board of Education last week took up the question of teachers for next year. Although the entire corps of teachers were tendered their positions for another year, three resignations were accepted. They were those of Miss Cholerton, first and second of the West Ward; Miss Flynn, music and drawing; and Miss Covell, kindergarten. Miss Beatrice VanDyke was elected to the latter position. The others including the sixth, remain open.

In the high school the faculty will probably remain intact for another year with the exception of the principalship. Since the Board meeting Principal Smith has resigned. Mr. Smith, who teaches science and coaches athletics, leaves after two years of faithful and efficient service. The complete corps will be given out as soon as the vacancies are filled.

Annual Meeting.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of The Lowell Building and Loan Association will be held in Yeiter & Shaw's store Monday evening, April 20, 1914.
J. B. YEITER, Secretary.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to thank The Ledger for its kind words in caucus report, also Mr. Bergin for admitting a grievance and adjusting the same, also all who supported me. The almost solid support of those among whom I lived for twenty years is more gratifying to me than to have won the race without such support.

HOME TALENT PLAY CHAUTAUQUA DATES

August 25 to 29 Inclusive, for Lowell Event.

Rehearsals began Monday evening in the City Hall for what promises to be one of the biggest home talent theatrical productions ever attempted here. The big event is "College Life," a three act musical comedy, and the date is set for Thursday, April 23. It will be produced under the direction of the local chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Messrs. Steed and Mann have arrived in the city with the production, which includes a complete equipment, scenery, electrical effects and musical score, just the same as the bigger musical comedies of professional companies. Mr. Steen, who is directing the cast and chorus in rehearsals states he is confident from the early returns, the local production will be a finished one. Press notices from East Jordan, Manicoua, Alpena, H. ri or Springs, Charlevoix, Traverse City, Boyne City and Gaylord, where the production has been since the first of the year, speak very highly of "College Life."

There will be a chorus of 40 local people in addition to the following cast:
Percy Wilkins, who masquerades as Oba, E. A. Anderson.
Prof. Aurelius Gaskill, professor of Latin, Clarence Collar.
Mervin Gaskill, niece of the professor, Miss Whitford Rowe.
Mrs. Moore, who conducts the boarding house, Mrs. Fernie Loomis.

"Bull" Eggleston, the college base ball hero, A. F. Frazee.
Edith Wilkins, Percy's sister, Miss Harriet Carroll.
Olat Nielsen, the terrible Swede, Herman Strong.
"The Star" Shine, the village constable, Lee Lampko.

Prosperous Penn Yan Has No Liquor Trade.
Penn Yan, N. Y., March 29, '14. Friend Johnson:

We read with interest the "Old Home Letters" which come to us through the Ledger. And also the news of our old friends, for though we make new ones they cannot take the place of our old friends.

Our home is two miles from Penn Yan, which is a very pretty place with a population of over 5,000 and situated on Lake Ontario. We are very proud of this lake with its thousands of acres of vineyards on its banks, and also Kenka College. This lake with its means of transportation has helped to make Penn Yan the industrious little place that it is today. But there is still a larger factor that has helped and that is there no liquor trade, because Yates county is a dry county.

Enclosed find the remittance of $1 for which please continue sending The Ledger as it keeps us in touch with the "Old Home Friends."

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Titus.

Death of Keene Farmer.
Harley Henry, aged about 40 years, died at his home one mile north of Potter's Corners, Tuesday at 4 p. m. He was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. James Henry of Belding, who with the wife survive him. Funeral at the house at one p. m., Friday; burial at Saranac.

How to Detect the Alum Baking Powder

"Which are the alum baking powders; how can I avoid them unless they are named?" asks a housekeeper.

Here is one way: take the can of a low-priced powder in your hand and read the ingredient clause upon the back label. The law requires that if the powder contains alum that fact must be there stated. If you find one of the ingredients named alum, or sulphate of aluminum, you have found an alum baking powder.

There is another and a better way. You don't have to know the names of the alum powders. Use Royal Baking Powder only; that assures you a cream of tartar powder, and the purest and most healthful baking powder beyond question.

WET WHEAT AT 45C PER BUSHEL

A. L. Hull, of Smyrna Tells Interesting Story of the Year 1853.

A. L. Hull, living near Smyrna, has become very much interested in the pioneer stories that have been appearing in the Banner. He recalls an incident which happened back in 1853 that he considers both interesting and humorous. At that time Mr. Hull was working for John Alberts, the father of Joe Alberts, living near Smyrna.

Alberts had harvested a crop of wheat, amounting to six hundred bushels, and wished to turn a portion of the crop into cash. The nearest market, of consequence, was at Grand Rapids, and they prepared two loads of wheat to haul.

The weather was very warm and they started on the trip early in the morning, intending to reach Silver Lake, located about eight miles west of Grattan, for the noon rest and dinner. Horses were not very common and those marketeers, like the most of their neighbors, drove ox teams.

Hull took the lead as he was driving the best team and would thus hurry the other pair. By the time they had reached the lake Hull was about one half mile ahead and he began to arrange for the noon rest. The stop had been made in the edge of a small grove beside the lake and he was looking for a sapling that would be suitable for a hitching post for his team.

Hull heard the rattle of a wagon and when he looked around the oxen were making straight for the lake. His repeated commands, to them, to stop were of no avail as the animals were thirsty. Into the lake they plunged, dragging the wagon after them. The plunge took the load of wheat deep into the water. The sand in the bottom of the lake was so soft that the wheels of the wagon began to sink into it as soon as the team stopped. Soon the water was coming into the bottom of the box and soaking the wheat. To make an attempt to get the wagon out meant only to get deeper into the lake and spoil more of the wheat.

When Alberts came up with the second load, his team was unhitched from their load and taken into the lake to assist in drawing the wagon out. Both teams were started and a circle made in turning. Besides placing them further from the shore, this action brought them into another sand bank. This time the wheels became so thoroughly embedded into the sand that it was useless to attempt to pull it out with the oxen. Nothing was left to be but to unload the wheat and draw the wagon out later. Considerable time was consumed in carrying the wheat, a sack at a time, out to the bank. Then the wagon was removed with ease. Luckily the dinner which was on the rear wagon was not damaged in the accident.

After the dinner hour the marketeers proceeded on their journey to the city and arrived there about ten o'clock at night. They went directly to see the miller about taking the wet wheat. He agreed to take it at forty-five cents a bushel, provided they would carry it up three flights of stairs and spread it out on the floor. This the men agreed to do and work began.

The necessary purchases were made and the travelers started home at four o'clock in the afternoon of the next day. It took all night to get home, or until five o'clock in the morning and neither of them was any the worse for wear, according to Mr. Hull, except for the loss of some sleep.

From Our Point of View

It is the great cities that are depleting the rural population, not the county seat towns and smaller cities; and it may be that the worst of the cityward drift is over. It is stated that 6,956 towns in the best states have lost population, while the country at large has gained. Michigan has 677 towns showing a diminished population. Perhaps the growth of the great mail order houses of New York, Chicago and other cities has something to do with the losses in the small towns. Dollars sent to Chicago do not contribute to the prosperity of the rural villages and small cities.

THE repeal of free tolls on the Panama canal, is not a party measure, as shown by the vote in the House. Prominent Democrats, including Speaker Clark and Leader Underwood, opposed the President's measure, while twenty-three Republicans, including Representative Hamilton of Michigan supported it. In the Senate, among prominent Republicans supporting the repeal is Senator Root. It seems likely that the bill will pass the Senate by a small majority and become a law, thus scoring another triumph for President Wilson.

Isn't it strange? Some Catholics oppose the Free Masons and some Protestants oppose the Catholics and Free Masons too, while many thousands of Protestant clergymen are active members of the latter order. Now, how would it do for each to remember that one God is Father of all and that all are brothers? Why not each recognize that the world is big and that there is room for all and work for all? Wouldn't that be right and fair and sensible? That's the way it strikes us.

HEREAFTER all liquors shipped into Kansas will be confiscated and destroyed by the state, its supreme court having affirmed that right. The fight against the traffic in liquid damnation goes bravely on. One thousand more saloons outlawed in Illinois; and the campaign already on for another advance next year. "Mine eyes have seen the glory—"

AFTER losing $10,000,000 in wages and causing the loss of many lives, the Copper country miners are now willing to resume work on the old terms. The poor fellows heeded the demands of professional agitators, and walked into the trap. Hereafter they should look before they leap.

THAT'S an old warning sent out by the doomed "Gunmen" of New York. Attributing their own downfall to evil companions, just before meeting death in the electric chair they gave out for the benefit of boys and girls everywhere this message: "Keep away from bad company!"

IT WILL surprise readers of the Bertha M. Clay novels to learn that the versatile writer, recently deceased, was a man—Thos. W. Hanshew. Though but 57 years of age he had written over two hundred books. Another of Hanshew's pen names was Charlotte Monica Braeme.

WHOLESALE vote selling is charged against the men of New England, Rhode Island, Vermont, and Connecticut being named as chief offenders. A storm of protest is going up; but the exposure may lead to some needed house-cleaning among degenerate sons of noble sires.

HUPMOBILE

The Car of the American Family

GET THIS THOUGHT

Hupmobile owners—and there are tens of thousands of them—will have no other car, because the Hupmobile gives them complete satisfaction at lesser cost!

That's the Hupmobile story summed up and boiled down—a car that's never out of commission, and a car that costs less when it's in commission.

Two Mills Per Mile

When we speak of lesser cost we mean all-round lesser cost—up-keep, repairs, tire mileage, gasoline and oil mileage and lesser depreciation when you come to sell at second-hand.

But let us drive home just one point to-day—the repair cost indicated by a canvas of all the repair parts ever sold by this company.

Assuming an average of even 5,000 miles per car per year—which of course, is ridiculously low—the average cost comes to the absurd figure of 2.7 mills per mile.

As a matter of fact, the Hupmobile repair cost unquestionably averages way below 2 mills per mile—and any owner you talk to will tell you that his total cost is one of his least troubles and the service he gets, one of his joys.
