AN ILLUSTRATION

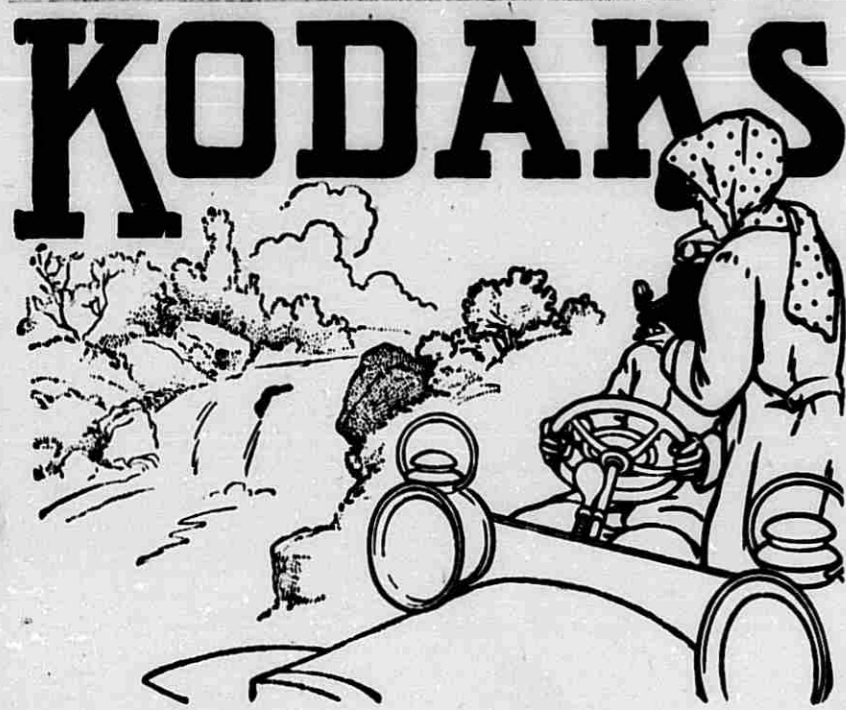

Two of our farmer friends dealt with the same merchant. The merchant was honest, but a poor bookkeeper. One of our farmer friends always prided himself upon paying his bills with cash. The other kept his money in our bank and paid by check. The result? Easy enough. If the careless merchant presented a bill a second time to the one who had a cancelled check as a receipt, he had the merchant convinced at once, while the one who paid cash had to scratch his head and worry about it and sometimes thought he paid twice. It pays to pay by check.

'TIS BOOSTER'S DAY

For Lowell Chautauqua, Tuesday, August 18.

Let everybody in the townships around Lowell be ready with a glad hand and open purse to greet the Chautauqua boosters at your homes on Tuesday, August 17. Village people will be solicited in advance of that date.

Remember, this is not a money-making scheme, but is one endorsed by the Lowell Board of Trade as an uplift for the public; and the committeemen have no interest in the enterprise but that of citizens in the social and intellectual welfare of the community.

Automobile owners are requested to lend their services and join the boosters for a big day's work.

Ladies will be around selling tickets in the village the latter part of this week and the first of next. BE A BOOSTER. Arrange to buy your tickets of them. Now as it will save the ticket committee a great amount of work and help the ladies selling the tickets.

MOOSE ANNUAL OUTING

Three Island Lodge Enjoy Picnic at Edison Dam

The first annual outing of Three Island Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, was held Tuesday in the grove below the Edison dam, with about 150 members in attendance; and the event was unanimously voted a huge success.

The day was spent in playing baseball, pitching quoits, racing and other sports. At 11 a. m., a picnic dinner was served and continued as long as there was a hungry man to partake. A. A. Scott and Everett Cogswell had charge of this important feature and did their work well.

F. B. Rhodes was sent for and a photograph of the jolly crowd was taken.

LONG ILLNESS ENDS.

Mrs. Stiles Dead. Burial at Byron Center.

Mrs. Alonzo R. Stiles passed away at her home in this village Saturday, August 8th, after an illness lasting over a year. After a prayer service at the house Monday morning conducted by Randall Miller, the body was taken to Byron Center, where the funeral and burial were held, Rev. J. T. Husted of Grand Rapids officiating.

Martin Adell Hathaway was born in Ohio May 8, 1864, and came to Michigan with her parents in 1865. The family settled at Byron Center, and there deceased spent her childhood and young womanhood. She was married to Alonzo R. Stiles January 1, 1891. The earlier years of their married life was spent in and about Byron Center, with the exception of a short residence in Grand Rapids, and during the past eleven years they have made their home in Lowell.

Besides her husband she leaves one son, Robert Stiles, also of this village, an invalid father, three brothers and four sisters.

Fragments of Time Count.

Many persons have become truly educated merely by the wise use of odd fragments of time. A bit of poetry or a verse of Scripture learned while dressing in the morning; a few foreign words or phrases conned on the way to work, or between tasks; a great book read in snatches while waiting for meals; a dip into noble literature at bed time; a studious effort to secure contact with some nobler person than one's self every day—by such simple plans as these life is enriched and made powerful.

Selfishness. Selfishness assumes many forms, and in every one of them may be found the desire to grasp some fancied means of happiness, even at the expense of others. Many things in life are pleasurable in themselves, when they come to us in a rightful and natural manner, turn into guilty and fraudulent possessions when sought and gained through the losses or pain of others.

He Lost the Wager.

A man who prided himself on a wonderful imagination that could conceive the biggest lies on record once made a wager that he could tell a greater falsehood than any man in the town where he resided. The stakes being deposited, he proclaimed that he once threw a nail with such force that it pierced the moon. "Aye, that is true," exclaimed another man. "I saw him do it, for I stood on the other side and caught the nail."

The Reason.

"I just can't seem to keep a dining-room girl!" "I have often wondered why you never can keep any help. I never have any such trouble." "I know, but my husband just won't flirt with them."

Then He Met a Just Fate.

"Well!" he muttered, butting his head on a landing as he fell down the elevator shaft, "as Mr. Kipling would say, 'This is another story.'"

WHY LOWELL NEEDS

A New School House? Answer by Supt. Frazee.

Watervliet, Mich., Aug. 11.

Dear Editor:
In response to your kind invitation to give reasons, from our point of view, why Lowell needs a new school house, we gladly submit those that we feel are essential, remembering that the latest war bulletin so predominates public interest and copy space, that editorial generosity must not be imposed upon.

An argumentative thesis upon the subject, "Does Lowell Need a New School House?" would be superfluous. Everybody concedes that there is a need; therefore the issue, as we see it, is whether, after the facts are all in, it is advisable to meet that need at the present time. But the question belongs entirely to the tax-payers and voters of the district, and should be decided only after the facts are all in. I feel gratified to learn that at the annual meeting the district decided to take up this question in the near future, because we are coming to where some solution is imperative.

The first and most apparent way in which our present building is not adequate to our needs is in its lack of room. The pressure of an increased enrollment in the high school has forced the fifth grade out of the Central building, and with an enrollment of some forty-three students, it is necessary for the Board of Education to rent and equip a room outside. And even now the high school is seriously cramped, not only in seating in the assembly room, but more especially in the classrooms and laboratory where sections of classes must be repeated because we do not have room for the entire class in one period. And what makes the matter still more alarming is the fact that our high school is growing, and our problem is constantly becoming more difficult. Second to pressure for room, we would say that our next greatest need is for better laboratory facilities. We are so cramped that it is impossible to do justice to the amount of science we are required to teach, to say nothing of what we would like to offer. We have splendid apparatus, but we lack room for the entire class to manipulate that apparatus. The plumbing system is in such poor condition that it is next to impossible to keep a well ordered, sanitary chemical-laboratory, and at the same time accommodate such large classes. Unless some other solution be found, the entire laboratory plumbing must be replaced in the near future.

Less obvious, but for that very reason far more dangerous is the menace of poor lighting and poor ventilation afforded by our present building. Not a single room in the Central building is lighted properly, and there is no system of ventilation. We feel sure that we have an unusually large amount of eye trouble among the students who attend the Central building, and without a doubt this condition is due to poor lighting. An examination into our system of sanitation, would prove that this matter needs attention also. The Board of Education has done all in its power to remedy these conditions but they cannot be permanent*ly rectified with the present building.

The Central building is heated by two furnaces, both of which must be extensively repaired and partially replaced in order to make them serviceable for one more year. There is a constant expenditure for new floors, stairways and school furniture. In fact, not a single one of these needs can be met without a large cost to the district and then the final solution is merely delayed.

Without any reference to the danger from fire or of imperiled health, from the old building; nor of the ethical value of a new building upon the morale of the school, we believe that there are sufficient reasons why a new building should be erected as a matter of expediency. Sooner or later Lowell must build. Why not now?

Sincerely,
A. F. FRAZEE.

Not intended for Her.
The Sunday school teacher was having her class memorize a little prayer. When it was the turn of a certain shy little lad to recite he did so in a very low and faltering manner. "Could you speak a little louder, dear?" asked the teacher. "I can't hear what you say." "Well, it's a prayer isn't it?" came the unexpected if logical answer. "I wasn't speaking to you."

From Our Point of View
STANDING TOGETHER.
Again has party politics ceased at the water's edge.

That is a phrase usually reserved for times in which the country is engaged in war, but it is applicable to any great national emergency, and indeed, in a true sense these are the times for us as well as for the fighting nations, and they are war times for every country in the world.

It is inspiring to see how such an emergency calls out the sense of unity so little apparent in the factional disputes of peace. There is a peace which the times of peace are the only real times of strife.

In the presence of a great emergency citizenship becomes brotherhood, and things that were forgotten in England there was a manifestation of the same spirit that led to the utterance of John Ruskin's words.

Change Your Seed Wheat

Sell ten bushels of your common wheat at market price, say 75 cents, and get $7.50. For this sum, $7.50 we will send you enough of the wonderful Marvellous wheat to sow ten acres.

You're skeptical? We don't blame you! It will cost a stamp or postal card to get the proof how thousands of others in 1913 have saved money on their seed wheat and grew the greatest crops they ever did.

We quote just a few extracts from hundreds of letters received. The original letters are on file in our office and can be seen by interested parties.
