TEACHER-INVENTOR

Lowell Man's Device Donated to Government.

Coast Artillery Board, Fort Monroe, Va. S. C. Mitchell, Supt. of Schools, Lowell, Mich.

Dear Sir:

Your trigonometric function indicator has been submitted to the Coast Artillery Board by the Chief of Coast Artillery, to whom it was referred by the Secretary of War.

It is believed to afford a very useful means of instructing enlisted men in the practical elements of trigonometry, and it is therefore desired to publish in the Journal of the United States Artillery, a diagrammatic sketch of the device, together with a brief description, suggestions as to method of use. If agreeable, the Board would be glad to have you prepare this short description with a view to its publication.

Very truly yours,
E. J. Wallace,
Major, C. A. C.
President.

The above letter was received recently by Supt. S. C. Mitchell. It refers to a device, to be used in teaching trigonometry, which Mr. Mitchell invented some time ago. Several weeks ago a blue print of the device was sent to the Secretary of War.

By means of this instrument, the study of trigonometry is greatly simplified. It is possible for one to get a practical working knowledge of this subject without much previous mathematical training. Accuracy of artillery fire depends upon range finding and that in turn upon trigonometry. This explains the evident interest shown by the Coast Artillery Board in the invention.

Notice to Correspondents. The first annual picnic of the Ledger Press club will be held at the home of Editor and Mrs. Johnson June 30, at 1.30, p. m. Arrange to get this afternoon off. Further announcement next week.

PROCLAMATION OF RED CROSS WEEK

INASMUCH as our thoughts as a nation are now turned in united purpose towards the performance of the utmost of the services and duties which we have assumed in the cause of justice and liberty.

INASMUCH as but a small proportion of our people can have the opportunity to serve upon the actual field of battle, but all men, women and children alike may serve and serve effectively by making it possible to care properly for those who do serve under arms at home and abroad.

AND INASMUCH as the American Red Cross is the official recognized agency for voluntary effort in behalf of the armed forces of the nation and for the administration of relief.

Now, therefore, by virtue of my authority as President of the United States and President of the American Red Cross, I Woodrow Wilson, do hereby proclaim the week ending June 25, 1917, as Red Cross Week during which the people of the United States will be called upon to give generously and in a spirit of patriotic sacrifice for the support and maintenance of this work of national need.

WOODROW WILSON, Washington, D. C., May 25, 1917.

PATRIOTISM WINS.

St. Joseph German Teacher Gets Public Rebuke.

WELL DONE, JUNIORS

For a number of years it has been customary for the juniors of Lowell High school to entertain the seniors at an elaborate banquet. An inexpensive picnic will be held this year and the money thus saved has been used to purchase a $100 Liberty bond.

This bond will be presented to Lowell High school. Each year the interest will be offered as a prize for the student in the graduating class having the highest general average. After the bond matures the money will be reinvested and the same general plan will be followed indefinitely.

Disloyal Worse Than Alien Enemy-Sessions

Some of the things Judge Sessions said in his charge to the federal grand jury:

These are times when every man and woman is called upon to display utmost loyalty to his country.

Unfortunately we have had among us a few who not only preached doctrines of law violation, but sought others to violate that law.

Any man who is so disloyal as to attempt to secure a violation of these defense laws is more dangerous to the nation than any alien enemy and should be dealt with accordingly.

Disloyalty to one's country is wrong, all know it is wrong, and if the proof is clear, act at once and leave it to the determination of the court as far as the legal question is concerned.

The best man Cecil Warner of Lowell, cousin of the groom, joined the bridal party in the guest room where the solemn vows that made them husband and wife were spoken by the Rev. Weldon of Lowell. Only a few of the immediate relatives were there to congratulate and wish them a pleasant journey on life's uncertain sea.

Farmers Attention!

Every reader of this paper interested in farming or gardening will be glad to learn of our plans to offer an authoritative series of special articles on Michigan Agricultural problems each week. Arrangements just effected with the Michigan Agricultural College enable us to announce that the state's foremost agriculturalists will be contributors to our columns each week.

Their message is of vital interest to you, Mr. Farmer! It is of your problems they will write. Tell the Editor how you like these articles.

How Kangaroos Fight.

Kangaroos are distributed over all parts of Queensland. The "old man" or fully grown male, is mostly found on downs and in open forest country. An "old man" sometimes grows to the height of six feet and when hunted into a rocky gorge or corner will turn and face his pursuer. It is a formidable adversary at close quarters. Its mode of fighting is to clasp its enemy in its arms, hug him to its breast and then with its powerful hind claws rip him open.

Power of Flattery.

Wife (in the cafe)—George, that brute over there has been staring at me for half an hour. Somebody ought to knock his fool head off. Sir (to stranger)—What do you mean, sir, by seeing my wife? Stranger (calmly)—I'll admit that I have taken more than passing notice of the lady. A more than ordinarily pretty woman always attracts my attention. Wife—Now, George, don't make a fool of yourself and start a scene in here. The gentleman evidently meant no harm.—Puck.

More and More.

The graveligger in "Hamlet" was a very witty man, wittier far than many of the epitaph makers who have adorned headstones with their jingles. A sample of the punning rimes which are cut on tombs follows. It comes from the grave of William More, at Stepney, near London: Here lies one More, and no more than he, The More and no more—how can that be? Why, one More and no more may lie here alone, But here lies one More, and that's more than one.
