The sentiment which induces the erection of a memorial, and the very word itself, demand permanence.

That is the first quality to be considered in choosing monumental material.

The Lowell Granite & Marble Works can furnish what you wish.

For Hot Weather

One thing is necessary to the comfort of everyone. That thing is Talcum Powder. Every family keeps a box or two in the house. Many people are careless in the purchase of it.

The Best is None too Good

We sell the best in large boxes, the largest of any for 25c. The one that we swear by is the famous "Alfred Wright's Violet Talcum." It is delicate of odor and very pleasant to use. It goes much farther than the cheap kinds, so that it really costs no more.

DRAFT HITS LOWELL

Many Young Men Will be Called From This Locality.

The Draft board for the Kent county Second district will hold its sessions at the Lowell High school building as being the most central available place. The superintendent's office will be used for executive sessions beginning this week and examinations of drafted men for acceptance or rejection will be made in the building. C. J. Collar of Lowell, W. H. Watts of Alto and Dr. Houghton of Caledonia are the members of the board, the first being secretary. It is due to Mr. Collar's influence that the sessions will be held here and a large body of men brought here, many of them probably for their first visit.

Kent county outside of Grand Rapids must supply 401 men for the first draft army to make up its full quota of 448, its enlistments having totaled forty-seven. Each of the two Kent county districts will be called upon about equally. As it is figured that at least two-thirds of those drawn will be rejected or exempted, those who are among the first 500 in each of the Kent county districts may consider themselves included in the draft. The first 250 in each district are surely drafted and it is figured that several hundred more will have to be moved up to fill places left vacant by men ahead of them in the drawing who are considered not fit material for the army.

If the physical examining officers are strict and the exemption board makes large allowances for men engaged in agricultural pursuits the draft may reach men from the townships as far down in the lists as those in the seventh and eighth hundreds drawn.

The Kent county Second district embraces the southern half of the county, including the townships of Ada, Bowne, Byron, Caledonia, Cascade, Gaines, Lowell, Paris, Vergennes, Walker, Wyoming and villages of Ada, Cascade, Grandville, Fisher Station, Wyoming Park, Beverly, McCords, Lowell, Alto, Alaska, Byron Center, North Dorr, Ross Station, Dutton, Caledonia and Bowne.

Following are the names drafted from Lowell, Alto, Ada and their rural routes, as published in the Grand Rapids papers:

ANOTHER ASSAULT

W. L. Stowell Adds Another to His String of Victims.

D. E. Owen was assaulted Tuesday afternoon by W. L. Stowell, who was promptly taken before Justice Andrews and fined $53.50, including costs. The assault took place on the sidewalk before Look's store and was due to trouble with Stowell's chickens running at large; a suit for which complaint is pending.

Stowell, commonly known as "Bill Stowell," is big of body and has long been a bully about town and his victims have been numerous, including one or more old veterans.

It is high time for the public to be protected against his vicious attacks; and some remedy besides fines should be applied.

Mr. Owen, who is manager of the Citizens Telephone company's Lowell exchange, is attending to his business as usual, but still bears the marks of violence. That he was not more seriously injured was due to the interference of bystanders.

Jessie B. Armstrong Dies at Home in Cansonsburg.

Jessie B. Armstrong, good roads enthusiast and for several years road commissioner of Cannon township, died Tuesday at his home in Cansonsburg at the age of seventy-six years. He was a charter member of the Masonic lodge at Grattan. Mr. Armstrong leaves his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Anna Hartwell and Miss Lettie Armstrong of this city, and three sons, Wilbur and Wilson of Grand Rapids and George of Seattle. Funeral services under Masonic auspices will be held at Cansonsburg Methodist church Thursday at 10:30. Burial will be in Cansonsburg cemetery.—Grand Rapids Press.

EDISON CONVENTION

Lowell Dealer Attends Great Event in New York City.

R. D. Stocking, who attended the Edison Dealers National convention in New York City, makes the following interesting report. The Michigan dealers arrived in their special car in New York City at 9 a. m. and went immediately to the Waldorf Astoria where the whole of second floors were given to the convention. After registering and receiving our badges we went to convention hall where for three days over 1,000 Edison dealers and officials were in session. While lack of space prevents mention of what was done it can be said that the spirit of optimism and enthusiasm that dominated the convention made every dealer proud to be associated with such an organization as the Edison company.

We were given several tone tests by great artists who sang in direct comparison with recreations of their own voice and it verified in every detail what thousands have said before that it is impossible to distinguish the difference between the actual and the re-created tones of an Edison. Marie Morrissey played a joke on the convention before giving her tone test, as the chairman introduced her he said before making the test she would sing a certain song by request, and thus we supposed she was doing until near the close of piece she bowed and left the stage and a curtain was drawn aside exposing an Edison which had rendered the whole song while she had by gestures and movement of lips made it appear that she was singing, which in reality she had not, and the deception was so complete that not a single dealer had discovered it until it was all over.

Friday night was the $5,000 banquet, at which time we heard some of the world's greatest artists sing, and as a climax a triple quartet composed of these artists sang the Star Spangled Banner and America, which made a fitting close of the third and greatest convention ever held by the Edison company.

Saturday morning we went in special train to Orange, N. J., and saw the grand old man in his wonderful laboratories, after which the dealers disbanded and returned home as they desired.

The Junior Chautauqua

THE Junior Chautauqua will be one of the most important features of the Assembly this summer, and it will be handled by one of the trained supervisors pictured above. On the opening night of the Chautauqua she will outline the work in detail and each morning thereafter at 9:30 will conduct the story hour for the children. One day she will tell "Camp Fire Stories," the next "Favorite Stories of Many Lands," then will follow the "Colonial Stories" and "Japanese Fairy and Folk Tales." After the story hour will come training for the pageant entitled "A Night at the Fairy Carnival," which is to be the climax of the children's work on the last night of the Chautauqua. There will also be work for the children in the afternoon, at which more stories will be told and games played.

The youths' season tickets will admit them both to the regular Chautauqua program and the children's work. To all boys and girls who earn the money for their tickets the supervisor will give a badge of special distinction.

"Somewhat Exaggerated."

Editor of The Ledger:
Dear Sir:—Your item in last week's issue stating that I had wrecked a car after a wild drive from Hudson street was rather misleading to say the least, considering that the damage to the car was very slight and that it has been in daily use since the "wreck." Furthermore, there had been no "wild driving" either from Hudson street or any other part of the village.

Yours,
Loyal W. Rickner.

Evidently, as Mark Twain remarked on hearing that he was dead, The Ledger's report was "somewhat exaggerated."—Editor.

This reason stands on its own.

Dodge Brothers Motor Car

It is difficult to conceive how one of these cars can outlive its usefulness if given even ordinary care.

They are for long life. The same scrupulous manufacturing methods that make for efficiency and economy are an assurance of years of service.

Records carefully kept by municipalities which employ a number of cars show figures that are gratifyingly low.

Building a Business is like building a House

To build "for keeps" you must build strong; No shaky foundations, No broken bricks— No insecure rafters— That's our idea for this store— To sell merchandise with never a "come back"— To offer styles beyond reproach— To make value a watchword and service a creed— And when err—as we sometimes must— To make "good" cheerfully and above all to satisfy the other fellow.
