Why Crescent Is Turkish Symbol.
When Constantinople was a Byzantine city, the crescent moon and star were the symbols of the city.

Do you know what real riches are?
Real riches consist not in having but in giving. Some of the people who are richest in the world are those who have sacrificed an uncounted luxury.

A WALLED CITY OF WOMEN

A little sunny village has grown up inside a high wall in France within the last year. Its square flat houses stand in straight even rows and along one side of the city wall is a long dormitory for single women. There are many more of them than of the families in the drab little houses. The village is full of women—old, young, middle-aged—whose faces, hands and hair slowly are turning yellow from the powder which it is said will eventually affect their lungs. But most of them are refugees and the fact that they are giving up their good looks, their health, and perhaps their lives in the munition factory, is of little moment to them. They have come into the walled town from ruined villages and devastated farms with their frightened little children, their despairing old people, carrying all their earthly possessions in tiny bundles. In their individual lives there is no future; in all their world there is no interest but the conquest of the Hun.

No one comes into this little war community that centers around the big new munitions plant but those who work. Because of the danger and the blighting yellow powder, the work is highly paid and all the workers are volunteers.

The women wear overalls or apron dresses, some of black sateen, some nondescript. The dull garb harmonizes with the yellowing faces and despairing eyes.

Into this modern walled city of despair the Blue Triangle has flashed the first message of hope. The Y. W. C. A. foyer is the only recreational center within reach. The cars which find cafes at the end of the line a mile away, stop running at seven o'clock to save fuel. The city is three miles from the factory.

"My problem," writes the Y. W. C. A. secretary in charge, "is to keep the women occupied in the evenings, to give them good healthy amusement so that they will forget their sorrows and go to bed and sleep, physically tired out from playing."

She goes on to tell of some of the women and girls who come to the foyer:

"There is a pretty little round, rosy-checked girl here who is just beginning to show the effects of the powder. The roots of her hair and her forehead are a pale yellow. The palms of her hands are a deep burnt orange and her hands and arms a bright yellow.

"There is an ex-professional dancer, an interesting girl who enjoys the foyer and helps entertain the other girls. There is a professional pianist who does her bit at the noon and evening hours. There is one rough-and-ready girl who speaks English, whose father was an innkeeper in northern France. There is a pretty little girl who is engaged to a French soldier who still is rejected in the five minutes she had with him recently during an air raid. His mother is the caretaker here and he is one of six sons in the war. Two of them are German military prisoners, two are civil prisoners in Germany and two are soldiers in the trenches. Her home in the north of France was destroyed and she escaped with a small bundle of such things as she could carry in her hands.

"There is a sweet-faced girl who was a lacemaker in Valenciennes, who came direct to us from the German-occupied section after a hard experience in getting away."

These are the women the Blue Triangle is helping to forget—perhaps only for an hour at a time—the horrors that have blackened their hearts and darkened the world.

"My foyer," the secretary writes, "consists of a hall and two large rooms with cement floors. One has a writing table and paper, pens and ink, sewing machines, a cupboard with tea-cups in it, a large table with papers and magazines, easy chairs and my desk. The other room has a piano, more tables, chairs, ironing boards and a Victrola. There are unframed French pictures and American and French war posters around the room. The walls are painted gray and white."

Saturday evenings they sing and dance. "First they have a chorus," writes the secretary, "such as 'Le Reve Passe' or the 'Hymne des Aviateurs' or something equally thrilling, and at the final notes of triumph a voice at my ears sings, 'Un polka, mes'. The polka finished, there is a call for the 'Hymne Americain' and we sing the 'Star Spangled Banner,' (Le Drapeau Etrole) in two languages."

These foyers have been established in several munition centers in France. Each one has a cafeteria, a recreation hall and rooms fitted up as rest rooms, writing and sewing rooms. At night these rooms are filled with French girls learning English, book-keeping or stenography, that they may work in the offices of the American Expeditionary Forces. In connection with each is a large recreation field or park.

At the request of the French military of war the Young Women's Christian association has opened club-rooms for the sixteen thousand French women employed in the offices of the war department.

So successful has been the foyer work in France that a call has come from England to the American Y. W. C. A. to bring its Blue Triangle huts and foyers across the channel. The English Y. W. C. A. has established centers for munitions workers on a smaller scale, but after inspection of the American work in France the four English representatives to the Allies' Women's congress in Paris in August officially requested that the American Y. W. C. A. undertake similar work in England.

PERPLEXING

"THIS IS MY WAR YOUR WAR, OUR WAR"

We Must All Dig Up Our Dollars to Invest in This Liberty Loan to Win It.

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON.

This is my war. The outcome, whether defeat or victory, vitally concerns me. No one urged that America declare war upon the Teutonic empires more stridently than I. I rejoiced in my soul when my country joined with the other great civilized powers in driving back the barbarian. In the strictest sense, in all the connotations of the phrase, this is my war, as completely as though I stood on my own doorstep, gun in hand to protect my household from sword and brand.

That I am only one of a hundred million American citizens who share my sense of responsibility in the conflict does not greatly matter. This is my war; it pleases me to think of it as something personal and intimate, undertaken at my behest and imposing upon me responsibilities which I should be the basest coward to shrink. Within a short distance of my home sleep my two great-grandfathers who were soldiers under Washington and my father who fought under Lincoln. They made this my war. The American citizens who perished on the Lusitania made this my war. Every shot fired at an American ship, every man wounded or killed under the Stars and Stripes intensifies my realization that this is indeed my war.

The right of my children to freedom, happiness and peace make this my war. And it is my business, my politics and my religion to do my utmost, at any sacrifice, that this war, my war, may be carried to a triumphant conclusion. No dollar I can earn, no privileges I enjoy, no faith I hold in man or God will avail me aught unless I win this war.

This war is my job. I stand alone and take counsel of my conscience as to whether I am doing all that I can to win it. The demands are constant. The war that my blood cried for is too cheap. But viewing the mighty conflict as a vast undertaking, carried on by the United States of America for my benefit, it is not becoming to me to fret or quibble over the cost.

The fourth Liberty loan is about to be offered. It is in my heart to subscribe the whole issue, but this being impossible, it is with caution that I reflect upon the millions who will say to themselves: This is my war and dig up their dollars and buy bonds.

This is my war, your war, our war. Every investor in the Liberty loan qualifies as an active member of the great fellowship of American democracy. Every oversubscription of a Liberty loan is an American triumph, a stunning defeat for autocracy and barbarism.

Win the war and win it quickly. Whip the devil; and beat the kaiser. This is my cause and yours; this is our war!

Our Hearts and Souls and Money Must Help Win This War.

BY GERALDINE FARRAR. Famous Operatic Star.

At a theater the other day a box party was given in honor of half a dozen heroes disabled while fighting for that victory at the battle of Chateau Thierry. Some were without arms and others without legs; others so badly injured by the deadly poisons of the Germans they probably will not live more than a year. But from every one of them came a strange smile of spiritual gladness. They held their heads erect and snarled as though to say, "It was fine to have done what we did."

And the rest of us in the audience—we who were safe and whole and well—something tugged at our hearts and brought stinging tears to our eyes. What have the most actively patriotic of us done to compare with them?

We are past the time of mere logical calculations. Our hearts and souls, as well as our minds and bodies are in the struggle. And we are winning, winning, winning! Every day brings tidings of new victories. But remember, we have yet to strike the final decisive blow. And without money we cannot do it.

ALL AROUND TOWN

Bits of News About People and Things You Know. A. H. Parks was home from Ionia over Sunday. Mrs. A. H. Parks and Mrs. John Dawson were in Grand Rapids last Friday. Mrs. William Thompson, daughter and family of Grand Rapids visited relatives over Sunday. Miss Laura Nicklin of Grand Rapids is visiting the Lasbys and Shuters and is helping out at the restaurant.

Odd Fellow supper Thursday night, Oct. 10th. Every one come. Mrs. A. R. Barnes and sister, Mrs. Mary Smothers, are visiting relatives at Charlotte, Pottersville and Lansing. Word has been received here by friends that Ruby Lane has been seriously ill at Traverse City but is some better now. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Seese, S. Seese and wife of near Freeport and Mrs. Harriet Burkey of Kansas spent Monday afternoon with B. C. Smith and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Weeks are taking a trip through the Eastern states. Will stop at Buffalo, Niagara Falls, New York City, Washington and Baltimore. At the latter place they will visit Dr. Merrill and family. A slight accident occurred on Main street Saturday afternoon when the car driven by Doris Coles and a horse and buggy driven by Margaret Harkin of Saranac came together. Neither party was to blame. Miss Harkin could not control the horse and Miss Coles could not stop the car. One wheel was torn off the buggy.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Burdick and children spent Saturday in Grand Rapids. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cheetham and their five guests visited a cousin in Greenville Monday. B. C. Smith and wife and Morrison Brighton and family spent last Thursday evening with friends in South Boyne. William Condon, Jr., 18-year old son of Wm. T. Condon, left Monday for the Students Officers' Training school at Kalamazoo, having enlisted some time ago in Grand Rapids. He is of a cheery disposition and will be sadly missed by relatives and friends. A regular motor truck freight line from Grand Rapids to Ionia, via Ada, Lowell and Saranac, is in prospect. Lee H. Bierce of the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce, John I. Gibson of the West County Michigan Development bureau and H. F. Vancleave of the Packard Motor Car company of Chicago, were in town yesterday looking up tonnage prospects for the new project. We were lead to believe that if sufficient business is in sight, service can be established immediately.

The King's Herald's will meet with Mrs. W. S. Winegar Saturday afternoon, Oct. 5, at 2:30 o'clock. George Daly and wife of Belding drove to Lowell Saturday and took their aunts, Mrs. B. Ryder and Mrs. Will Devering home with them for a visit over Sunday. Mrs. Ryder remained a few days to visit other relatives. Some of our advertisers are getting negligent about getting copy in early. This week nine came in Wednesday, six for The Ledger and three for The Solo; and several of them were large ones, requiring much time. Please be kind to the printers and get your copy in early.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yetter of South Lowell are among the Kent county grange delegates to the State grange in Saginaw to be held the second week of December. Fifteen granges were represented at the County grange held at the court house in Grand Rapids Tuesday, T. H. McNaughton was chairman. Spasmodic Sermon. The chief requirement of being a crook must be the ability to keep a straight face.—Louisville Star.
