The Clover Leaf Club met with Mrs. Harry Day, Sept. 20 for the first meeting of the year, 1919-20, which was a musical day, chairman Mrs. H. L. Weekes. Reading of the club collect opened the program followed by reading of the minutes of April 30.

After a short business session, the president, Mrs. A. M. Andrews presented the chairman of the day who took the chair while the president gave her address to the club. She urged every member to attend all the meetings if possible for now that the war years are past we can devote more time to other clubs. She commended the year book committee for their excellent outline of work and asked that each member have the interests of the club at heart as never before. She gave a loving tribute to Mrs. S. Lee's mother, Mrs. Child, who was a former member and spoke of the sympathy the club extends to our member, Mrs. Thomas Emery, who so recently lost her husband.

The babies were not forgotten, George William Godfredsen and Betty Ruth Chase entering the baby list since our last meeting.

In closing, Mrs. Andrews spoke of our collect and of what it means to us as club members to "lay aside all pettiness and be large in thought, in word, in deed, and strive to touch the great common woman's heart to us all."

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Regular services at the Congregational church, Morning at 10:30 conducted by Rev. Todd, of Grand Rapids.

METHODIST CHURCH

Last week was moving time for the parsonage folks. The pastor arrived Wednesday evening and Rev. Jerrett left Thursday afternoon. So much time has been spent in moving boxes and barrels from one room to another that the pastor has had little time for other things. He hopes to be settled in a few days so that he can give his whole time to the regular work of the church.

There were two business meetings at the church Monday evening and both were well attended. At the Sunday school board meeting some readjustments were made. This seemed necessary after the trying vacation months. Our school is planning for large things. We expect every member will help. We have classes for every one. All who are not members of any other school are cordially invited to meet with us. A glad hand is awaiting you.

We greatly appreciate the room recently painted and made attractive in the basement. If you don't know what a fine room we have for the little folks and for prayer meeting "Come and See."

Wanted, twenty-five more strong young fellows of Lowell for our Young Men's class. If you are not attending Sunday school we want you to begin next Sunday.

The Ladies Aid society will meet with Mrs. Caroline Yeiler at 2:30 Friday afternoon. A good attendance is desired.

Last Sunday there were forty-two present at the Vergennes church. We hope to see fifty next Sunday. Miss Annie Maynard, of Lowell, attended and sang a solo, "Open Now the Gates."

GRATTAN FARM BRINGS $48,000

D. A. and E. J. Doyle Buy Holmes Homestead of 480 Acres.

The Nelson Holmes farm, one-half mile west of Grattan Center on the State road, was sold last week to D. A. Doyle, of O'Neil, Neb., and his brother, Judge Emanuel J. Doyle, of Grand Rapids. It comprises 480 acres and brought the huge sum of $48,000 cash.

The title was held by Frank N. Holmes, a grand son of Nelson Holmes, who purchased it from the state 72 years ago; and the farm has been held by the Holmes family ever since. For 50 years it has been regarded as one of the very best, if not the best farm in Kent county; and this transaction is one of Grattan's greatest farm sales, if not the largest farm sale in the history of Kent county.

Possession will be given March 1. The sale was negotiated by Garrett Doyle, plain clothes man of the Grand Rapids detective force, broker of the purchasers.

D. A. Doyle, who is engaged at present in shipping Nebraska-bred stock to Lowell, will make his home here.

LAST SURVIVOR PIONEER BAND

Wid Howe of Old Stocking-Cliffin Dance Orchestra Dead

Belding, Sept. 23.—When Wid Howe, 85, dropped dead here, the last surviving member of the old Stocking and Cliffin band—the first musicians to get together and form a band in this section of the country, died. For the last 65 years he had played at old time dances, festivals and many old times in Kent and Ionia counties will recall dancing to his music more than 50 or 60 years ago. He also was the last of a large family. He had no home and lived for a day or so at a time with the people of the country. He dropped dead when he entered the home of Ernest Chickering.

The above item which appeared in the state papers yesterday, will recall early day memories to the old residents of Lowell and vicinity.

The Stocking of the old band above mentioned was the father of our old and well-known musician, B. D. Stocking, who recalls when a small lad, attending a country dance in the Smyrna district with his father; the orchestra, or band as it was then called, was made up as follows: Fidius Stocking, first violin and caller; Luke Robinson, second violin and caller; Octavius Cliffin, clarinet; and Wid Howe, dulcimer.

Other members, who played at that time or later were Zaeck Howe, father of Mrs. H. Van Dyke and Miss Cora Howe; and Pete Driscoll, a clarinetist, who afterwards became quite famous in that line.

HILER ENTERS BUSINESS FIELD FOR HIMSELF

Lowell friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hiler will be glad to get the following information taken from last week's issue of the Ionia Sentinel-Standard, and extend congratulations and best wishes:

Harold Hiler, formerly connected with the T. R. Buck clothing company, bought out what remained of the $30,000 stock last Friday morning. He is working to get it ready for a big fire sale within the next few days. Mr. Hiler who has been popular with patrons of the Buck store for the past few years, is an able clothier, and it is his present intention to continue under his own name in the clothing business of Ionia. The site for the new store has not been decided upon, but will be announced as soon as secured. The fire sale to be held at the old Clark jewelry store will be either the last of this week or the very first of next and will be announced.

The goods so far taken out have been the smaller articles of men's wear such as caps, hats, neckties and similar things. They will possibly be able to dig out other articles of merchandise when they can with safety get into the debris of the back part of the ruined store. Nearly everything has been more or less affected by the water yet it is rather surprising how good the conditions of many articles are in spite of it.

A Kuppenheimer Overcoat

-the standard by which others are judged

For sheer style, solid comfort, downright good looks, and real quality and value, these new Kuppenheimer overcoats cannot be surpassed--or even equaled.

The styles are very new and distinctive--created by master-designers who know what young men like; carefully selected fabrics, and tailoring that expresses refinement in every detail.

Many have the fashionable all-round belt, others the stylish high-waist effect. Then there are new ideas in lapels, pockets and plaits.

A pleasing array of single and double-breasted models, all in a wide range of patterns, fabrics and color-tones--grey, brown, oxford and heather shades in herringbones, vicunas, iridescent cloths, diagonal oxfords and tweeds. Prices range from $35 to $40. Extra values at $50.

Three Exhibits to be Given in Lowell, Oct. 12. Visualizations of some unusual character types are a feature of the big Clune cinema drama, "The Eyes of the World," at the Idle Hour theater October 12, for three exhibits, 2:30, 7:30 and 9:30 p. m. Harold Bell Wright's novel, on which the photo production is founded, is rich in types, and the utmost care has been used in the recreation of those for the screen. It has been asserted that there is not a hackneyed character in "The Eyes of the World," and the story is both idyllic and melodramatic, but its melodrama is of the finest type. In the drawing of Sybil, the mountain girl; LeGrange, the novelist; Taine, the physical wreck of a misspent life, and Henry Marsten, the convict, has the author shown his unusual powers of characterization. The burned-out route, Taine, contrasts strongly with the ingenious young artist, Aaron King, ambitious for fame, but who is on the point of debasing his talents for the easy way to success and becomes the shining mark for a designing woman. Then there is Conrad LeGrange, the cynical story-writer, who confesses that he "haunts the intellectual slaughter pens" for material for his "successful" stories, but in whose heart still burn many of the kindly sentiments of his earlier days. Again, there is James Rutledge, the bull-necked art critic, "born bred and reared in an atmosphere that does not tolerate purity of thought," who covets the sweet young girl he maintains, whose character typifies their beauty, purity and strength. Besides, there are John Willard, the convict, who plays an important part in the story, after his escape in the wandering life of the hills; Myra Willard, a pitiable bit of folsom on the sea of humanity; and Brian O'Leary, the forest ranger, a hardy, rugged and fearless specimen of manhood. A quaint touch is added to the picture of Yee Kee, the keen, devoted Chinese servant, who adds many a light and humorous touch to the pictures. adv.

Catarth Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrh of the ears, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrh of the ears is caused by the inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it gets into the blood the deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface of the Eustachian tube. Catarrh acts like the blood on the mucous surface of the ear. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrh of the Ear that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. NEW SERIAL STORIES FOR LEADER READERS.
