This ad is to tell you that we are all ready already. We've done our buying, received the goods—and now we've nothing to do but hand them over to you. Come early.

ON PLANS FOR NEW FACTORY

FACTORY SITE BOUGHT AND BUILDING STARTS SOON.

B-J Steam-Gas Generator Company Also Takes Option on Lowell Hotel Property.

The B-J Steam-Gas Generator Co., Inc., whose announcement of their intended new industry in Lowell was published in our last week's issue, has bought a commodious factory site, the former J. C. Train residence property, of the Lowell Land & Improvement company, just north of Recreation park, on which to build their new factory, concerning which one of the company states to The Ledger:

"We have made plans to build a plant in Lowell that will not only be an asset from the standpoint of prosperity, but will be an ornament as well.

The company has also taken an option on the Lowell hotel property for rooming house purposes, as a starter for taking care of from one hundred to two hundred men whom the company expects to employ.

Applications for employment are already being received and the company's representatives are expected here hourly to complete arrangements for beginning operations.

The Train house will be moved away to make way for the factory on the corner now occupied by it.

The officers of the B-J Steam-Gas Generator Co., Inc., are as follows: C. S. Johnson, president.

James McManus, vice president. H. B. Barnaby, secretary-counsel. N. J. Polites, treasurer.

J. E. Best, general sales manager. E. D. Lambert, assistant sales manager.

The company has asked no bonus or other inducement from the people of Lowell, except their goodwill and co-operation, which will certainly be forthcoming.

The best way for our citizens to help, and the officials of the Lowell Board of Trade have assured us this will be done, is to provide housing accommodations for the hundreds of new families that will be needed by the new factory, and for those already established, when active operations resume, as they soon will.

Great credit for the securing of this new Lowell industry, with its advance contracts for over a million steam-gas-generators, is due to D. G. Look, W. C. Doyle, M. N. Henry, P. C. Peckham, J. C. Smith, Harry Day, William Murphy and other members of the Board of Trade and Village Council.

METHODIST NEWS.
Communion services Sunday morning. "This do, in Remembrance of Me."

The Ladies' Aid society will meet with Mrs. Charles Doyle, next Friday afternoon at 8 o'clock. Besides the regular business there will be a program suitable for this joyful month of the year. Every member of the society should be present. A surprise awaits you.

There will be a meeting of the Sunday school board, in the church basement next Monday evening. A pot luck supper will be served at 6:30, after which the officers and teachers will be elected. This is the most important Sunday school meeting of the year. All members of the board and any who especially interested are asked to meet with us. Those who have helpful suggestions are asked to present them.

The Sunday school is of vital interest to all of us. The Euodan class had a gathering at the home of Mrs. H. DePuyter, formerly Mrs. Mary E. Frazier, on Tuesday afternoon. Refreshments were served, and a gift was left for the bride. To the men who are thinking along a certain line, it is but fair to say, there are still several "unclaimed jewels," left in that class.

FROM FATHER TO SON

Dry Goods Business of E. R. Collar Continues in Family.

C. J. Collar has decided to carry on the dry goods business of his late father, E. R. Collar, and left today for Waterloo, Iowa, to close up his house and Dubuque business connections. His wife and little daughter joined him here late last week. This announcement will please the people of Lowell, who did not wish to see the old business closed or passed on to strangers.

Mr. Collar is no novice in the dry goods business, having been brought up in the retail trade with his father, and since his removal from Lowell to the West, having been associated with the great house of Marshall Field, Chicago, as traveling salesman for its dry goods department and more recently with the Glover Company, of Dubuque.

OBITUARY—E. R. COLLAR.

Edgar R. Collar, was born in Adair township, Jan. 12, 1848, and died at his home in Lowell, Michigan, Nov. 12, 1920.

When he was a young man, he came to Lowell and worked in a store owned by Parker & Weatherwax. In 1860, he and Mr. A. W. Weekes started in partnership in a dry goods store and continued in the same until 1892, when, on account of failing health, Mr. Weekes was obliged to leave the business, and sold his part to Mr. Collar, who continued in the same until the time of his death. He, with one exception, had been in business longer than any man in Lowell. In this business career, he was honored and respected by all.

On October 13, 1880, he was married to Jennie Cleland, and to this union three sons were born, only one, Clarence Collar, of Waterloo, Iowa, survives. On August 15, 1890, his wife and youngest son died but a few hours apart. On October 10, 1893, he was married to Lydia Morgan, who survives him.

More than 48 years ago Mr. Collar joined the Methodist Episcopal church of Lowell, and has since been one of its most faithful members. He was a member of the church choir for 45 years, part of this time being its leader. He was for 40 years on the official board of the church, and for 27 years treasurer of the church funds. No church official could be more faithful than he, during all of these years. The last thing that he did was to care for the church offering of the morning. Surely the church has lost one of its most faithful members, and the town one of its most valuable citizens.

He leaves to mourn his loss, besides his wife and son, one sister, Mrs. Banks, of Blanchard, Michigan, and a host of friends.

The funeral services were held in the church, where he had so long been a member, conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. H. Harris, and the remains were laid to rest in Oakwood cemetery.

VERGENNES TAXES.
Ray E. Onan, Treasurer of Vergennes township, will be at the City State Bank of Lowell on the following dates for the collection of taxes, Saturday, Dec. 4th, Saturday, Dec. 11th, Saturday, Dec. 18th, Friday, Dec. 24th, Friday, December 31st, and Saturday, January 8th. [30]

ORA ANDERSON-ROACH DEAD.
Mrs. D. A. Roache died very suddenly Saturday at her home in Alhambra, Calif. She was a sister of E. A. Anderson, and will be remembered by the older people of Lowell as Miss Ora Anderson. Twenty-five years ago she was manager of the Lowell station for the Western Union Telegraph company and a collector for express. In those capacities and socially she endeared herself to the people of Lowell with a personal charm all her own, and the news of her death will bring a pang of regret to her old friends.

Mrs. Roche is survived by her husband and only brother, Mr. Anderson, whom she had not met since her removal from Detroit to California at the war time.

OIL REFINERIES

PAY BIG PROFITS

"History of Refineries Shows They Consistently Earn Large Dividends For Stockholders."

By George E. Morrison

(The following is quoted from the "Texas Oil Ledger," of Fort Worth, Texas.)

Any kind of an oil refinery, no matter how primitive its processes, pays enormous dividends, provided these two factors are present: Honest and capable management, and a supply of crude oil. Mere "skimming plants," such as sprang up in Oklahoma about five years ago, like mushrooms, made fortunes for their owners. Riches are rolled up by oil wells, but the returns are apt to cease or be greatly curtailed after a time. The opposite is true of refineries. The little refinery pays profits at the start—amazing profits—and as the plant is developed and the operations are extended and become more diversified, the profits increase by vast jumps.

Out of Argonne Forest I stepped out of the Argonne forest into the office of a refining company and its advertising. After having had a year's experience in lying on my stomach and walking with my legs far apart so as not to interfere with the shrapnel, I have an ascending sense of obligation to truth. So when some data on refineries and their profits was handed me for my study, and I read that they paid 100, 200 and nearly 300 per cent profit, I thought it well that I restate myself.

It was difficult to get information, because the news was too good to be disclosed. Besides, the facts might stir the energy of the income tax investigators. Furthermore, while it did not appear that there would be enough refineries actually built and operated to care for the crude that seems to be spouting all over the world, and it was not likely that all the refineries in operation and projected could manufacture all the refinery products needed, yet those in the business did not care to put these questions to a test. Also, it was nobody's business, but their own.

The Standard has for a number of years been essentially a refining industry. In the matter of production, it has been altogether content to encourage others, it being in the market to buy the crude and refine it. Why should any owner of Standard Oil stock sell? What investment could a man make with the money from the sale of his refinery stock that would yield more than a small fractional part of what his Standard holding would yield him? None.

Profits of Staggering Size I read definitely that the profits of the independent refineries were paying were staggering in their immensity. What, then, must the Standard be paying, with most of its major obligations long since retired? Through personal inquiry among stockholders, prying at commercial agencies, and information as to income tax receipts, I got the vivid figures on the Independent of last year.

The Goodrich Company paid 75 per cent; Atlantic Refinery, 192; Ohio Fuel and Oil, 224; Iowa Park Refining Company, 374; and Wichita Refining Company, 294.

RED CROSS SEALS.

Christmas Sale Commenced Dec. 1, Township Committees.

Quota Set at 10 Seals per Capita. Organization of an active campaign for the sale of Red Cross seals in Kent county has been completed under the leadership of Earl Breyman, director of seal sale for Kent county. The sale began on Wednesday, December 1, and will continue until December 25.

The committee of this township has been named and is completely organized with the following: Mrs. P. C. Peckham, Mrs. Austin Morris, Mrs. Fred O'Harrow, Mrs. W. V. Burras, out in the township, and L. C. Doerr, chairman; R. E. Springett and Miss Lena Veitor, in town. Mrs. M. B. McPherson and Mrs. Clyde Condon, in Vergennes.

The local committee has all confidence that our township will not fall under the quota of ten seals per capita, and under their leadership, we are sure to reach the quota set.

The other townships and their chairmen are as follows: Ada, Mrs. D. E. Grant; Algoma, Mrs. Edwin Giles; Bowtie, Mrs. Edith Drew; Caledonia, Mrs. K. Purcell; Cannon, Harry L. Morris; Courland, Miss Gertrude Swartz; Lowell, Vergennes, Mrs. Carl Peckham; Mason, Mrs. M. Workink; Sparta, Mrs. B. S. Coleman; Spencer, Arthur Holland; Tyrone, Mrs. H. L. Miller; Wyoming, Mrs. A. R. Tate; the other township committee will be announced later.

The seals will be on sale in some of the local stores, and will also be sold through the school children on a competitive basis, which is as follows: To the school in Kent County, outside of Grand Rapids, selling the most stamps per pupil, will be given a silver loving cup, and to the individual pupil selling the greatest number of stamps outside of Grand Rapids, will be given $2.50 in gold. Bulletins will be issued from time to time telling of the standing of the various schools in every township.

The money raised by the seal sale, outside of a very small percentage which will go to the National and State Anti-Tuberculosis association, will go for work in the county outside of Grand Rapids. Some of the clinics conducted have already been here, and school children have been surveyed for anything which might retard their growth, and it is for this work that the seals are being placed on sale. We must all do our share, as we reap the benefits, through the county work conducted under the Anti-Tuberculosis society. [Com.]
