AIR LINE JOBS ARE NOT LET

GRAND RAPIDS AND LANSING PAPERS MORE FAST THAN ACCURATE

Friends of the old M 16 state highway through Portland, Ionia, Saranac and Lowell will be interested in the following correspondence which shows that Lansing and Grand Rapids papers to the contrary notwithstanding—contracts for the new air line thru "No Man's Land" HAVE NOT BEEN LET.

These same friends should send copies of this paper to Lansing and Grand Rapids papers that they may know the truth and publish it.

Ionia, Michigan, Nov. 5, 1923.
Rowland T. Ford.
Dear Mr. Ford:—

In response to a rather hot letter which I sent to Mr. Bierce, after their lack of attitude, on our road question, Mr. Bierce called me by phone Saturday and after bumping the ceiling a few times, he came down and read me a letter from Frank Rogers, S. H. C., and it was about as follows: Dear Mr. Bierce: In reply to your letter relative to the letting of contracts for paving M 16 will say "There have been no contracts let NOR WILL BE LET, UNTIL SUCH TIME AS A CONFERENCE CAN BE ARRANGED BETWEEN YOUR ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE, Lowell, Ionia and Portland and the entire matter goes carefully over, and a decision reached satisfactory to all."

Thus, you see they are practically granting us a conference before we have asked it, which shows that pressure is being applied in the right places.

We are hoping to hear from Flint today; in fact are promised letters Monday on the subject. Clinton & Montcalm counties are with us. Saranac is now organized and will have members with us at the next meeting.

Bad accident at your bridge Sunday is a bad one for us as they will hold that as an example of the poor lay out across the river. What can we promise them as a proposed remedy? Think hard on this.

Yours,
L. H. Hale.
Grand Rapids, Michigan,
November 5, 1923.

R. T. Ford,
Lowell, Michigan.
Dear Sir:—

I am in receipt of your letter and newspaper regarding the re-routing of M 16, and beg to say that while I am not particularly familiar with the subject will endeavor to become so and render you any assistance that I may be able to.

Trusting Lowell and the other towns mentioned may receive that which is due them, I beg to remain your very truly,
Glendon A. Richards.

Lowell, Michigan,
Nov. 7, 1923.
Mr. L. H. Hale,
Ionia, Mich.
Dear Mr. Hale:—

Your letter of the 5th was read by our committee with great eagerness. It surely was the source of a lot of hope and confidence. Mr. Bierce's letter shows plainly that there was some back passing as was remarked at our Portland meeting. We believe that in you we have the right man and our committee is ready to help you in every possible way. Mr. Look was not able to see Sen. McNaughton on Sunday but expected to see him at Lansing yesterday. However he missed him but is taking the matter up with him today.

In regard to the bad accident we had here Sunday, we believe that can be satisfactorily explained. In the first place it did not happen on M 16 but was on M 66, about two miles north of Lowell. That power canal bridge has been regarded by all as a very, very dangerous place for some time, but it is firmly believed that there were other contributing causes of more importance than the condition of the road.

I am setting letters from some of my Grand Rapids wholesalers and while they are at present unfamiliar with the situation, they have promised to become so and render their assistance.

Yours,
R. T. Ford.

THREE DIE IN AUTO PLUNGE OFF POWER CANAL BRIDGE M66

Two Lowell Girls and Saranac Boy Drown. One Saranac Lad Escapes With Life. Three Homes in Gloom of Death.

Two Lowell homes and one in Saranac are in mourning and the two communities have been shocked and saddened by a calamity that snuffed out three young lives, when a Ford car, containing Thelma Smith and Winifred McCaul, Lowell High school girls, and Earl Jepson and Paul Weber of Saranac, broke through the iron railing of the bridge over the Consumers' Power company canal two miles north of Lowell and plunged into fifteen feet of water late Sunday afternoon.

The first three are dead. Paul Weber survives and is thought to be the only living witness to the catastrophe.

The young people were returning from Belding on M 66 shortly after 5 o'clock and rounding the sharp curve above struck the narrow bridge with the car beyond control of the driver, Earl Jepson, 23, of Saranac. After the crash, which broke the iron posts from their concrete foundations and carried out about 30 feet of iron pipe railing, the car plunged into deep water. Paul Weber, 17, Saranac High school boy, was alone able to extricate himself. He succeeded in reaching the canal bank and shouted frantically for help.

Passing motorists Tom Watson, Lee Lampkin and Clarence Hart finally stopped and after hearing the boy's story and seeing the car by its lights in the river, decided that they could do nothing alone. Lampkin took Weber to the home of his uncle, Ed. Walker, in Lowell and Mr. Watson called help from the village.

Among the early arrivals were Charles Doyle, R. T. Ford, J. A. Archard, Pat. Bowes and Earl Thomas who drove to recover the bodies. Mr. Bowes went into the water twice in his strenuous efforts.

Among the first to arrive was William Atkins with the Atkins Motor Sales company wrecker, who found the lights on the submerged car still burning fifteen minutes after the plunge. He summoned help and set to work in great haste to raise the car as it was believed it still contained the bodies of the lost.

Justice of the Peace Andrews of Lowell and members of the sheriff's force from Grand Rapids were summoned and workmen at the power plant started the machinery running at full speed to start a swift current flowing which washed the bodies of the girls down stream in view of the searchers by light of quickly gathered automobiles which plattered upon the water to aid in the search.

The body of Miss Smith was first recovered by Charles Doyle and Dr. Gottfredsen attempted to resuscitate her but the body had been under water too long. The body of Miss McCaul was found shortly afterward by Leo Daffer; but the body of Earl Jepson was not recovered until 3 o'clock Monday morning, when Clyde Kinson dragged it from the canal near the bridge.

A crowd of several hundred people gathered during the early part of the night but dwindled after the recovery of the girls' bodies.

After summoning aid from the power house, Lee Lampkin took Paul Weber to the home of his uncle, Ed. Walker, in Lowell. The boy seemed dazed from the shock of his experience and could throw but little light upon the cause of the accident. He was riding with Miss McCaul in the back seat, felt a bump and found himself in the water. He managed to get clear of the wreck and as he struggled to save himself thinks he saw his late companion floating down stream calling for help.

Earl Jepson's body was taken to his home in Saranac where funeral services were held Wednesday.

Bodies of Misses Smith and McCaul were taken in charge by the Yetter Undertaking company and removed to their chapel.

Officer Pat Bowes, who looked the scene of the accident over carefully believes that a car following the Jepson car hit the latter after it had struck the railing and shoved it off the bridge. He corroborates this theory by the fact that he unknown man stopped at the Beaver ferry barn in Lowell and said there was a car in the river with people in it. Mr. Bowes thinks this may have been the person who claimed Jepson wasn't drinking at more than a fifteen or twenty mile gal.

Mr. Bowes drove to Saranac Tuesday to question Paul Weber but was not permitted to see him, his mother claiming that he was "A nervous wreck," although the lad had returned from a drive to Lowell but shortly before.

Thelma Smith, 16, was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orris Smith, who recently came from Grand Rapids vicinity to make their home in Lowell and give their children the advantage of near by schools. The father was present when his daughter's body was taken from the water, was overcome with grief and was with difficulty restrained from throwing himself into the water. Mrs. Smith says that Thelma left home about 4:15 saying she was going for a ride and would be back soon.

Winifred McCaul was well known about town, particularly to patrons of the Sugar Bowl, where she had been employed by the present owner and her predecessor. She was a cheerful, happy girl and Mr. McCaul speaks kindly of her. Her funeral was held at the home, the Gullford house, at one o'clock Wednesday, Rev. H. H. Harris officiating; burial at Oakwood. The attendance was so large as to make the house unsafe and the service was held in the yard.

The funeral of Thelma Smith was held at the home, the Broadwood house on West Main street, this Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. H. H. Harris officiating; burial near Vexburg, Montclair county.

Rev. Harris gave the following brief testimonial:

Thelma Smith, daughter of Orris and Annie Smith, was born in Fremont township, Isabella county, July 2, 1907, and passed away Nov. 7, 1923, at 17 years, 10 months and 7 days of age.

Winifred was a sophomore of the Lowell High school, and a member of the Girl Scout troop No. 1. She was active in school and class organizations and was treasurer of her class. She was a member of the High school orchestra and a member of the Lowell High school choir. She was a member of the Lowell High school choir and a member of the Lowell High school choir. She was a member of the Lowell High school choir and a member of the Lowell High school choir.

EUGENE CABELL DEAD

Eugene Cabell, old resident of Argosius and Lowell, died Friday, November 2, at 12:30 p. m., of Kalamazoo hospital, aged 71 years. Mrs. Cabell was a veteran of the West in Grand Rapids Monday and went to Kalamazoo and Grass Lake, their former home, where the burial was made in their family lot. Mr. Cabell was a veteran of the Civil war and continued in the army service in the two world wars in the late sixties. His health had been failing for several years.

OBITUARY—WARREN SHEPARD

Warren Shepard died Saturday at his home near Lowell, not far from the place where he was born June 16, 1847.

In 1861 he joined the 21st Michigan Infantry and served over three years in the Civil war.

He is survived by his widow, Maria Hoy Shepard, and three sons by a former union.

Funeral services were held at Yetter's chapel Monday, Rev. H. H. Harris officiating, and the body laid to rest in Lowell cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hatch entertained with a dinner Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Taxien.

Mrs. A. F. Archard and two children of Saginaw are visiting her sister, Mrs. C. H. Runciman, and family.

Harry Karrell of Grand Rapids spent several days in Lowell last week and left Sunday for the Northern part of Michigan to hunt deer.

Miss Winnie Hapeman, who is attending the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, spent over the week and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hapeman.

Mrs. John Tusken and Mrs. Cliff Kinnip and two children will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Tony Taxien to Chicago for a visit with relatives.

WARNING TO CHICKEN THEFTS

The person or persons who have been taking free of my chickens are hereby warned to keep away from my premises at 1215 1/2 street. No more shooting over the bird's head and my gun will be loaded. One of the night prowlers is known. Better stay away.

LYCEUM COURSE OPENS NOV. 10

"The Climax," popular three-act comedy-drama by Edward Locke, will be presented here on the Lyceum course Saturday evening, Nov. 10.

This drama of love and treachery, temper and temperament, holds an unique place in the history of American drama. Produced first at a time when lavish stage settings and crowded casts were the order of the day, it required for the telling of its story only one simple setting. This was revolutionary. Producers said it couldn't be done. Yet "The Climax" scored a great success.

The power and force of the story, entwined throughout with bubbling humor, by which the love, ambition, despair and triumph of the characters is depicted, has made "The Climax" a classic of the American stage.

The company which will appear here was organized and coached by the New York City producing department of the Hedlich-Burgard. The cast of Broadway players present an admirable interpretation of this striking play.

This is the first number of the course this year. Here these dates open for the Lyceum Course—entire: Chicago Company, Nov. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1923.

Tragedies, male quartet, Jan. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1923.

Comedies, instrumental and vocal music, Mar. 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1923.

Secular songs, duets in Gounod's, Verdi's, etc., on Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The reserved seats may also be secured at Deane's store for "The Climax."

LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Lowell High defeated its second opponent in the Kent county championship meet by a consistent score, 9-0, at Grand Rapids Friday afternoon. Lowell won the toss and Capt. Lowell elected to receive. On the first down Lowell fumbled and a Grand Rapids runner fell on the ball but only had time to kick the ball. Lowell's fullback, recovered the ball on long end runs and off tackle snatches. Lowell put over its first point before the 10 minutes of play had expired. At the end of the first quarter the score was 2-0. Lowell's fullback again the plays so much that the less experienced men did not know what to expect, an end run, line smash or pass. Werkes and Mueller were at the receiving end of several long passes. Lowell's offensive play always netted the downs and Lowell was not forced to punt one time. Grandville made its downs one and then because of a defensive penalty. Touchdowns: Lewis, 2; Flanagan, 2; Taylor, 1; Finney, 1; Brennan, 1; Chatterton, 1; Werkes, 1; Schneider, 1. Drop kicks for the extra point: Flanagan, 3; Lewis, 1.

Lowell plays Sports at Lowell

Nov. 10 which will decide for championship of the county. The High school orchestra is working hard and expects to be able soon to give a whole evening's program by itself. There is a lack of stringed instruments, yet even with this handicap they are producing excellent results. The members are: Vinton, Lester, Mauge, Vivian, Haysmer, Hildegarde, Link, Daniels, Donald, Charles, Harold, Collins, Clarence, Helen, Louise, Inez, Lowell, Smith, James, Marie, Lillian, Philip, Schneider, Carl, Arnold, Victor, Beckman, Byrne, McMahon, Robinson, Carl, Armstrong, Roger, Spang, drums, Meakin, Lewis, piano, Grandall, Flanagan, leader, Mr. Clark.

It was a great shock to the students of the High school when they learned of the death of their two schoolmates, Winifred McCaul and Thelma Smith.

An atmosphere of sadness pervades the school. Quiet tributes are being paid by flowers being placed on the desks by the Sophomore class of which they were members. All outside school activities are being suspended for the week. We extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved relatives and friends.

Lamer charges in this paper: First page notices 5c per line; locals 1c per line. Special price to churches of 5c per line in locals or country letters for cash or stamps with order. This is made necessary because some of the score of more of neighboring churches are constantly sending in orders for from three to five lines. Changing makes unnecessary bookkeeping and collection trouble and costs. To get the lowest price send money or stamps. Six words make a line; 30 words mean 5 lines—25c. If charged full price must be paid. Publisher.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

The first regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary for the month of November was held at the City hall with a very good attendance. Let us keep the ball rolling and see that every absent member is in her place next time.
The Legion, with the help of the Auxiliary, will entertain the W. R. C. and the G. A. R. at the annual Armistice day dinner next Monday evening. Dinner will be served at six thirty promptly and Mrs. White has a splendid corp of workers selected to help with this affair. These dinners have always been a huge success and this year's promises to be up to the standard of excellency set by the Legion in all its endeavors. Let every member called upon do her part as it has been planned and make the chairman's work show the best of results.
Two days next week have been set apart for the collection and packing of canned fruit for Roosevelt American Legion hospital. The members of the Auxiliary will call on every one in town that they can, but they cannot possibly go to every home in the short time allowed for collection. That, however, will not excuse any of our loyal townspeople from contributing their share towards this worthy project. To facilitate this work, the Auxiliary room at the City hall will be open next Thursday and Friday, Nov. 15 and 16, to receive your fruit and to deliver to you empty jars in exchange for full ones. Remember, Thursday and Friday of next week. A report has somehow been more or less circulated that this fruit never reaches our boys. Just forget this as you do all other unfounded gossip. The same menu is served to hospital staff and patients alike and any visitors to the institution are served tinned fruit from stores. Several hundreds of patients pass thru this hospital yearly and you will want to see that they get the best of foods that we can help supply to them, won't you?
The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held at our meeting room Monday evening, Nov. 19, at eight o'clock. Be sure to be in your place. At our last meeting, we followed as well as we could the form adopted for opening and closing the meetings. Our song books have not yet arrived but we shall have the other numbers planned. Come and do your part to make this new departure a success.
The election of officers for the coming year will not be held until January. Until then the present officers will hold their present places.
Plans are further under way for the annual fair. We will do our best to help everyone have a good time, so be on hand. Our committees are now at work and will need the help of every member to put this affair over.

Lowell Church News Past and Future

Methodist News
"You can do what you want to do, if you want to do it bad enough to do it."
Since next Sunday is Armistice day, the services Sunday morning will be appropriate to the occasion.
The Woman's Missionary meeting will be held this week at the home of Mrs. Milton Coulter Friday afternoon, Nov. 12.
The activities of the church have been postponed to give all who can an opportunity to attend the state Sunday school convention in Grand Rapids next Thursday.
Plan to attend the dinner given by the Ladies' Aid society of Bailey church next Thursday, Nov. 15.
Congregational Church
Morning worship 10:30. Subject, "Americanism or Radicalism?" An Armistice day program has been prepared for the morning service. The preachers to the Revolution, Grand Army of the Republic, Relief Corp, American Legion and Auxiliary are especially invited to attend this service.

Mrs. White's class will meet with Mrs. Royden Warner Monday evening, Nov. 12.
The members of the Round Table held an election of officers Friday evening, Nov. 2. Games and refreshments were enjoyed.
Mrs. C. H. Horn was appointed delegate to the Michigan State Sunday school convention held in Grand Rapids. Many others plan to attend some of the meetings.
The cheerful Doers had an unusual service Sunday night at the home of Mrs. Wykes. Ghosts, fortune tellers, weird lights and incantations cast a charmed spell over the gathering. The reports were good. About sixty were present.
German Methodist Church
The first quarterly meeting will be held next Sunday. The preaching service at 10 o'clock will be followed by the Lord's Supper.
The evening services at 7 o'clock will be in English.
Rev. George Wahl of Lansing will preach both morning and evening and will also address the Sunday school.
Baptist Church
William Becker, assistant superintendent of the Grand Rapids Rescue Mission, will hold services in the Baptist church 10:30, Sunday.

Grand Rapids wholesalers and business men in general "stand in" well with the retailers of Lowell, Saranac, Ionia, Portland and other towns along M 16. That feeling shows in the mutual advantage and will if our friends in the city choose to fairly consider the interests of these live trading centers as against the haste and waste of long haul trucking. A demonstration will convince you.
