GRANDSTAND TO BE BUILT

BOARD OF TRADE FUNDS OF $1000 TURNED TO VILLAGE COUNCIL FOR $2100 BUILDING.

The July meeting of the Board of Trade was held at Hotel Waverly Tuesday evening, July 22. On account of the band concert at Recreation park by the 126th Infantry band from Grand Rapids the business session was a brief one. Col. Schotten and several officers of the 126th regiment were guests. After supper President Murphy called on Col. Schotten for a short talk. He responded choosing as his subject "The National Guard," emphasizing the importance of adequate preparation. He extended an invitation to Lowell people to attend a picnic at the rifle range, at Grand Rapids, the afternoon of August 2nd, and become better acquainted with the workings of the National Guard. Other talks along the line of national defense were given by Captain Smith, Captain Barnhart and Captain Wren. After these talks the guests excused themselves to put on the program at the park, which included an exhibition drill by a machine gun company from the 126th regiment.

Mr. Kniffin gave a report for the Credit Exchange stating the organization was about completed, a phone had been placed in the offices in the King block and that he was now working on the reports from the several members.

Mr. Look for the grandstand committee stated that the proposition to the village council to take over $1300 of the Board of Trade funds and locate and build a grandstand to cost $2100, had been accepted by the council. The village council reports that the location of the grandstand has been finally decided and that it will be at the north end of the park inside the track near the entrance, and work on the foundation will begin at once. It is hoped that the building will be ready for use on picnic day, Wednesday, Aug. 27, when the Fats and Leans meet for their first championship game. It was the sense of the meeting that all the business houses close on that day from 12 to 5, that the farmers of the community be invited and that all the Lowell people meet at the island park for a picnic dinner. Meeting adjourned. See'y.

MRS. PHOEBE RYDER DEAD.
Mrs. Phoebe Ryder, an old resident of Lowell and Vergennes, died Wednesday evening at 6:30, at the home of her niece, Mrs. Will Devring, in this village, after a long illness. Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church at 2 o'clock p. m., Friday; burial at Oakwood cemetery by the side of her late husband, Roland Ryder.

A COME BACK FROM DIST. NO. 9

Lowell, Mich., July 20, 1924.
Editor The Ledger:
Since you have given some little space in your valuable paper to Mr. MacVean, perhaps you would like to hear a little truth from one of those "degraded" voters, of whom I have the honor to be one.

At the time of our special meeting, where that measure was defeated 14 to 7, Mr. MacVean gave us a fine going over in your paper. So many persons have spoken to me about it that I think they, too, should hear both sides.

Mr. MacVean succeeded in getting the date of the meeting correct and truthful, after that most of it failed to get squarely over the plate. We were not invited to attend school in Lowell village but in the South Ward, which, from the description, is a sort of crippled step-child of the Lowell school system. According to Board No. 1, they have no music, do not hire as good a teacher as they do in town, seats need renewing, in fact, they have but little more than we have. No one is sure of either a saving of money, or a better school. They wave that money flag around down here before some persons its a sure fire hit.

Our board took the wrong way to pass the measure and please the very few who had a real objection to it. Our board, with the personality they are blessed with, could not promote a successful revolution in Mexico, so Mr. MacVean labored faithfully to help. He states that the "opposition" was there to kill it. He knows better, we were out-numbered and knew it. He knows that as soon as the matter of having no deed to our school property came up, those "degraded" voters came over to our side. We felt that a deed was a good thing before we tried this thing. So being a poor loser, evidently, he went home and tried drowning his sorrow in ink.

This measure was brought up very quietly at our annual meeting and passed 13 to 2. I wanted to vote twice. Some did not know it, the balance of us poor degraded voters attended the meeting and refused to vote. I had had a fair treatment before and was a dead issue, or should be, until we have a little next year. It all goes to show it pays to play with your cards stacked.

There was mighty little reconsideration about the vote, possibly, that is not generally known. Our right and left bowlers, together, with our financial Moses, went out and gathered in some voters who never come to school meeting and have no possible desire to help like Dorcas "they will win." Now, that they have it, we hope the other schools will be able to see and see us save money. Most of us leave that money question out, but its very popular with others.

We are all united in hoping it will succeed, but this community has developed a new sort of scarlet rash the last two years and our beautiful school is more like a battlefield. In closing I should like to say we have a surprisingly good offer from Board No. 1, very fair indeed, I have the honor to sign this as a degraded voter from District No. 9.
Mrs. Elizabeth McCarty.

There will be a home-made ice cream social Saturday evening, August 2, on the lawn of Chris Kropp at Murray Lake, one mile west of Mosley. There will be on sale woven rag rugs, aprons, clothes pin bags and numerous other fancy articles at reasonable prices and some one will get a quilt.

AUTO WRECKS INJURE MANY

KERR-RYDER FAMILIES HURT IN ROLLING TRUCK. MRS. ANNA RYDER AND KEITH KERR IN HOSPITAL.

Two persons were seriously injured and a number of others bruised, cut and shaken up, when a truck loaded with children of the Kerr and Ryder families rolled over Sunday at 3 p. m., 1/2 mile north of the McPherson farms in Vergennes. Mrs. Anna Ryder, mother of Fred, and Keith Kerr, age 8 years, were apparently so badly injured they were allowed to lie where they fell until an ambulance came from Blodgett hospital to convey them there.

Two trucks driven by Fred and Sam Ryder and occupied by Mrs. Ryder and about a dozen children of the George Kerr and Ryder families were on their way to Hattigan lake for a swim, when one truck attempted to pass the other and racing began, resulting as stated.

Dr. Lee rushed to the scene of the accident and gave first aid to the injured and Dr. Gottfries attended to the cuts and bruises of the Kerr family at their home.

Mrs. Ryder and Keith Kerr are still at Blodgett hospital but are believed to be improving.

RECKLESS WRECKER DROVE AT 50-MILE GAIT.

Frank Gramer's car driven by James Bertholder, was struck by a large touring car Monday evening while backing out of the Pant farm entrance just west of Blodgett and totally wrecked. Mr. Bertholder was thrown 50 feet but miraculously escaped serious injury.

The touring car occupied by two men, is said by Clifford Klump, who occupies the Pant farm, to have been going 50 miles an hour and it was out of sight when a shot, the driver making no stop for investigation of even slowing up.

Deputy Sheriff Bowes, who lives next to the Pant place, is investigating.

BEE CAUSED AUTOMOBILE COLLISION.

Charles Denny and John Frazee were quite badly injured Saturday evening when the Frazee's Ford touring car collided with a stranger's car near the Wunsch farm east of Ada. Both men received cuts on the head, Denny's requiring four stitches to close and Frazee's nine. One of Frazee's arteries was cut. Dr. Lee attended them.

The driver of the other car did not run away. He claimed that a bee flew into his face and that he lost control of his car. He owned up to a speed of about 45 miles per hour.

The Denny car lost a wheel—smashed; windshield shattered, the steering wheel broken, etc.

A state official happened by and made some inquiries.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE

The finest event in the history of the Michigan Press association was pulled off at Fowlerville last Friday night by the "Dad" Adams, editor of The Fowlerville Review, whose 50th anniversary of the founding of that paper by himself it was.
The village was decorated with the National colors and the Fowlerville Chamber of Commerce and the beautiful church of the latter, which was fittingly decorated for the occasion.
After a program honoring Editor Adams, eloquently and feelingly participated in by local people and by our Neighbor Editors, Feigner of Nashville and Keister of Ionia, Mr. and Mrs. Adams were presented with a pair of beautiful easy chairs and a mahogany table and book stand from the visiting editors and with a gold-headed cane by the Fowlerville Chamber of Commerce.
In a response of thanks and with tearful eyes, Mr. Adams regretted that he knew but one language and that was inadequate to express the emotions of his heart.
Perhaps the most beautiful feature of the whole affair was the presence of "Dad's" aged mother and the blessing she pronounced upon the assemblage for their kindness to "My Boy."
The Ledger editor feels that it was good to have been there and congratulate the people of Fowlerville upon its bestowal of "flowers" upon its living benefactor rather than keeping them to heap upon his senseless clay at a future time.
Here's joy, peace and plenty to Mr. and Mrs. Adams and Mother. Long may they wave.

LITTLE ONE TAKEN.

Mary Louise, 14 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Nave, passed away July 15th at Golden Rule hospital after an illness of five months. Funeral services were held at the home in Grand Rapids last Thursday afternoon; burial in Lowell.

Employing the Magic Crystal With Success

By SELINA E. HIGGINS
(© 1934, Western Newspaper Union.)

FOR a whole day our darling had moved about the house as one in some dreamlike trance. Elida was listless. She would sit for an hour gazing at seeming nothingness.

I, her aunt and guardian, wondered if it was anxiety for her absent lover, Willard Hull, that had brought on this deep abstraction.

It was early that evening when a warm friend of the family dropped in. She was a music teacher and quite an attraction at local social entertainments. She had been out late the evening previous at a soiree that I knew Miss Evans had also attended.

We were close friends with the music teacher, and in my anxiety and perplexity I spoke of the strange mood that had held Elida in a strange thrall. "My dear Miss Nettleton," spoke my visitor, when I had concluded, "I came purposely to see Elida. You understand me well enough to know that it would not be from any idle curiosity, but from motives of the purest friendly interest. Something happened at the soiree last evening that was inexplicable.

"Something happened?" I repeated, a trifle fearsomely.

"Yes. A young man, his name was given as Daisiel, attended the soiree last evening. He came with the Ritchies, who I only know incidentally. He is a wonderful conversationalist and a marvel at the piano."

"And he met Elida?" I asked, dreading that something might shadow the love and loyalty of my darling and her fiancé.

"Only as he did the others, as a gentleman of great attainments, courteous to everybody. He had just finished a brilliant musical composition of his own, however, when I saw him lean toward Elida, who sat nearby, and fix his eyes upon her. A light shone in them, I cannot describe."

"You are alarming me," I said timorously.

"I am sorry, but I must tell you all," replied Miss Evans. "I saw Elida start and a nervous tremor crossed her face. She was like one enrapt, fascinated. Suddenly, but without removing his glance, this Daisiel dashed both hands down upon the keyboard of the piano. There was a strain of wild, unearthly music. A look I cannot describe passed over Elida's face. Near to her was a stand containing a fragile glass receptacle for chattering cards. She seized this, dashed it violently to the floor and it shattered to a thousand atoms. Then with a low cry she shrank back shuddering, covered her face with her hands."

"You astonish me!" was all I could gasp out.

"I glanced at young Daisiel," went on Miss Evans. "There was a strange, weird expression on his face. He dashed off into a quick, lively Polish mazurka."

I had gone two blocks from the house and was turning into an intersecting street, when I chanced to look back. A man was just going up the steps of our home. In a flash I recognized him as answering the description Miss Evans had given me of Daisiel. I hurried back to the house. I paused to take up a small revolver kept for security in the drawer of the hall rack. Then I proceeded to the parlor entrance.

An amazing spectacle met my view. Seated at a little stand, her face pale but placid, her eyes dreamy and glazed, was Elida. Standing before her was the stranger. He held a piece of faceted crystal in one hand. On that Elida's eyes were fixed.

"Who are you? What are you doing here?" I quavered impulsively, and the man turned to face the weapon in my trembling hand.

He was not in the least moved. He placed a warning finger to his lip, never lowering the crystal.

"For Willard Hull," was his astonishing announcement in low musical tones.

"From Willard Hull?" I cried.

"No—for him. Do not interrupt—it is a critical moment. Speak!" he added, directing the mellow insinuating word at the transfixed Elida and fixing his glance piercingly upon her.

"The wall—is it cast? And which wall?"

"No," came in a dreamy, faraway murmur from Elida. "Not a wall—but a well."

"Success!" gasped the stranger, and sank into the nearest chair as if exhausted after some superhuman effort.

In a few moments the man arose. He made some movements with his delicate hands toward Elida, whose face renewed its usual expression. Then he turned to me.

"Miss Nettleton," he said, "I have heard of you. I am a friend of Willard Hull, who has gone to look up the hidden fortune of his dead uncle. He did not find it at any 'wall,' as the hint was. I am credited with possessing certain occult power. Perhaps. At least, my mind filled only with honest motives, working on the pure crystal-clear mentality of this beautiful young lady, has evolved a 'clow-well,' not 'wall.'"

It was a well, indeed—we knew it within a week when Elida's fiancé came back a rich man.

And Daisiel, the strange, mystic genius whom I at first feared, was all love now as a loyal, devoted friend.
