OUR SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

BASKET BALL CONTESTS WITH ROCKFORD, TRAVERSE CITY AND ST. JOHNS. DEBATORS WIN.

After annihilating Rockford on its floor with a score of 41-5, the Lowell girls allowed them to come here and hold them to a score of 7-7 the first half. Over-confidence was the cause of Lowell's failure to run up a score similar to that of the previous game. The girls were so sure of the game that they put forth very little effort during the first half. In the second half, realizing their danger, they came back in their usual style, making 22 points to Rockford's 3. Dorothy Kysar, forward, played a good game the last half, ringing in eight of the eleven baskets made. The real work, however, was done by the guards, Moore and Porritt. Their guarding and passing was the feature of the game. The final score was 29-10 in favor of Lowell.

What? Time--March 6. Where? Though playing a poor brand of basket ball last Friday night, the local basketballers managed to take out a 14-9 victory over the Rockford aggregation. Inability to hold the ball and penetrate Rockford's close defense nearly cost the locals a home game, something which had not happened in several years. With a still harder game in view the following night, Coach Edgington kept shifting his lineup, never allowing a first string man to play longer than a period at a time. Stan Moore, who relieved Maxon at forward, showed some good basketball ability and with another year of age and experience should make a fair offensive forward.

Saturday night, our boys were in Traverse City ready to play that special A class team. Lowell put up the best game of the season so far; but was forced to accept a 15-14 defeat. The game was hard fought and close from start to the finish. Traverse outplayed and outlasted our lads the first quarter, but the remaining three periods, Lowell was the better of the two teams. The score was practical even during the entire game, being tied at 6, 8 and 12. A field goal and foul gave Traverse a three point lead but Maxson dropped one through the leather, thus making 15-14 score in favor of the home lads which was the same at the final gun a minute later. Henry and Finis were, perhaps, the best for Lowell, though every man on the team played good ball all the time and never let up.

This week Thursday, the local boys go to St. Johns to try out their new high school gym and the following Friday, Feb. 27, play the Grandville outfit on our home floor. This team was easily defeated in the early part of the season, but since then has had some sensational victories over Rockford, East Grand Rapids and Sparta. This game, which was looked on as an easy spot in the schedule, is now one of the hardest on the county list and according to dope from other schools should give Lowell real opposition.

A letter was received recently from Mrs. Albert Roth (nee Ethel White) who graduated from Lowell High in 1916, saying that she read the school notes with much interest. She also expressed a desire to see alumni activities re-juvenated. If there are others who wish to have the annual banquet, established again, we shall be pleased to hear from them. The senior class this year sets a new high mark with fifty-one enrolled.

The negative debating team composed of Lucille Visser, James Marsh and Roy Holland, won from St. Johns, there, last Thursday evening. This is the last preliminary debate in the State league. Out of the four preliminary debates, the Lowell team have lost to Rockford by a 2-1 decision and won three, the first by a forfeit, and from Zeeland and St. Johns by a 2-1 vote of the judges. This gives eleven points with which it is hoped to get into the semifinals. The debate at St. Johns was held in the new high school auditorium before a good attendance. Each member of the team is to be congratulated upon their splendid preparation and knowledge of the subject. They well earned the decision.

Olivet, Mich., Feb. 7--Miss Esther Perry, Lowell, a junior in Olivet college, will represent the college in the women's contest of the State Oratorical League in Kalamazoo, on March 6. "The Maestro" is the subject of her oration. The Lowell contest resulted in a tie between Robert Kemper, Lansing, with an oration on "The Spirit of War," and Harold Jones, of Angola, Ind., with "The Flower of Youth." The tie is to be worked off within two weeks.

YOUNG MOTHER IS TAKEN AWAY

The people of Lowell and vicinity were shocked this week by the separation of a young wife and mother, Mrs. Ray Barber, from her husband and little ones by death.

Mrs. Barber passed away Sunday morning from her home in Lowell after a brief illness with pneumonia and heart-failure at the age of 21 years, 8 months and 25 days.

Funeral services were held at Yeller's chapel Tuesday afternoon, Rev. A. J. Blair officiating (cremation); burial at Oakwood cemetery.

Kittie Miller was born May 21, 1903, in Vergennes township, and spent her entire life in or near Lowell with her parents at Belding.

She was united in marriage to Raymond R. Barber of Lowell Feb. 9, 1922. Two children were born to them, Raymond, now aged three and Charlie aged 8 months.

She leaves to lament her untimely departure her husband, two children, her father and mother, five brothers: Clyde, Charles, Clifford, Orie and Monte, two sisters, Clara Raymond and Retna Rogers, and a grandmother, Mrs. Olive Irwin of Grand Rapids.

She had never been very strong, but was active in the faithful discharge of her household duties until last Wednesday, when she was taken ill and steadily declined until she died Sunday at 1:20 a. m.

She was devoted to her home and loved ones and her going out of this life so young, with apparently a great mission to fulfill in her home is sad in the extreme.

Among those from away attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Barber and son Hobbes of Ovid, Clyde and wife, Mazie Miller, Ionia; Mr. and Mrs. H. Rogers of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Irwin and Mrs. Pearl Hewarston of Grand Rapids.

WILBUR BURRAS IN BAD LUCK

While jacking up his truck Monday, Wilbur Burras received a bad and painful injury to his right hand. He had just got the truck where he wanted it when the jack cogs slipped and the handle was driven clear through the palm of the hand, driving a bone through the flesh to the outside. Fortunately the cords of the hand were not broken.

Dr. Gottfredsen fixed him up; but Wilbur will be laid up for some time.

Good neighbors are helping with the chores and milk route and he hopes to be on the job when Spring work starts upon the farm.

The world joins the Nation in paying to the memory of Washington.

Back of the power that enabled him to carry the new Republic through one crisis after another and place it in a position of esteem among the other nations of the world was the practice of thrift.

A TRIBUTE TO OSCAR RIVETTE

The passing of Oscar Rivette will be felt in this exchange more than any other business place up and down the length of Main street. Oscar was one of our most staunch supporters from the day this exchange opened. He thoroughly believed in our principles and scarcely a day passed by that he did not either come into the office or call us up to inquire how everything was going or to impart some valuable information which many times proved a great worth to the members of this exchange. He was the first to place with us material for trying out the letter system and even with our ordinary results, was satisfied. He loved action and his personality to that extent inspired us with a desire to make of this exchange all that he wished it might be. "Let's do it" was his motto and he could be depended upon to carry out his portion of any project he was asked to enter into.

"He Can Afford to Dress Poorly"

If your position in life and your income are independent of what others think, you can wear almost any kind of clothes.

To dress well is necessary only if you want to become more than you are, to get more than you now have.

If you doubt that good clothes are important, why not try lending money to men who dress like hoboes?

The indifferently dressed man is the hobo of the business world. He feeds on the crumbs that fall from the tables of those who feast.

"I can't afford to dress well," argues the business hobo; "the Boss can, of course." Old chap, if either of you could afford to dress poorly it would be the Boss. He's already got his. He knows the need of looking his best in order to get more.

It's your decision that will prevail, of course and your future that's at stake. If you think you'll succeed without dressing well, go ahead and try it.

YOUR INCOME TAX
No. The taxpayer must include in his income-tax return for the year 1924 all items of gross income specified by law. In the case of a storekeeper, gross income usually consists of gross profits on sales, together with income from other sources. The return must show the gross sales, purchases, and cost of goods sold. The professional man, lawyer, doctor, dentist, must include all fees and other compensation received from professional services. The farmer must report as gross income the proceeds of sales or exchange of products raised on the farm or whether purchased by him and resold. He must report also gross income from all other sources, such as rentals or profits from the sale of farm lands.
Net income, upon which the tax is assessed, is gross income less certain deductions for business expenses, losses, bad debts, contributions, etc. To take full advantage of the deductions to which entitled, taxpayers should read carefully the instructions on the form under the heads of "Income from business or profession."

WHEN THE SCRIBES SLUMBERED
At the annual meeting of the Michigan Press Association at Lansing last week the two Johnsons, Frank M. of Lowell, and Hiram T. of Saranac, were forced to divide a three-quarter bed owing to the crowded condition of the hotels. As the two great brothers of the press have edited papers in adjoining towns for over thirty years with never a break in their friendship, they found no fault with the arrangement and soon they slumbered.
During the night watches of the night, the Lowell brother dreamed his wife had commanded him to drown a litter of kittens in Flat river, which flows near "Seven Oaks," their home. This he proceeded to do, but it occurred that very time he'd push the sack containing the felines under water it would immediately come to the surface and he'd have to shove it beneath the waves again.
Suddenly an agonizing groan aroused the guests in nearby rooms—it was Hiram, who had awakened to find that Frank was slowly dipping his editorial trousers up and down in the bath tub.—Fred Keister in Ionia County News.
Well, if Fred says 'so, 't must be so; though we have always thought him a little different from the Father of His Country, George couldn't tell a lie. Fred can but he won't. "What, never?" Well, hardly ever.

APPRECIATION FROM CHRISTIAN MINISTER
New Belhelle, Penn., February 5, 1925.
Mr. F. M. Johnson, Lowell, Michigan.
Dear Mr. Johnson:
Please find enclosed my check in the amount of $1.50 for the local edition of The Ledger. Give me such credit as is mine. I do not know how my subscription stands. I like your paper for its abundance of local news; for its incisive and wholesome comment on community and public questions; and for the non-sectarian fairness in which you treat with the churches and with religion. This letter is most pleasing to any progressive churchman.
Very respectfully yours,
David F. Warner.

Let Reason Guide
Nothing which reason condemns can be suitable to the dignity of the human mind. To be driven to external motives from the path which our own heart approves, to give way to anything but conviction, to suffer the opinion of others to rule our choice or overpower our resolve, is to submit tamely to the lowest and most ignominious slavery and to resign the right of directing our own lives.—Johnson.
Ancient English Law
Deodand is a Latin term meaning "to be given to God." It was found in English law which had come down from the Middle Ages, and according to its provision anything which caused the death of a human being became forfeit to the sovereign or lord of the manor, and was sold for the benefit of the poor. The forfeiture was abolished by an act passed by the British parliament in 1846.
Preserving Book Bindings
The bureau of standards advises that the application of a thin coating of egg albumen to the leather binding of the books will prevent decay. The use of ammonia for diluting and preserving the solution should be avoided, but the whites, after a thorough beating, may be made antiseptic by the addition of a small quantity of camphor, thymol or some essential oil. Vaseline is also satisfactory in some cases as preservative for leather book binding.
Man of Feeling
T. S. writes that while entertaining a male friend one evening his little boy who had been sent to bed began to behave badly. Determined to stop the youngster's howling, T. S. grasped a pussy-willow switch from a vase on the table and began to strip off the "pussies." Whereupon the guest remarked: "Better leave on the sheet absorbers, old man."—Boston Transcript.

Many Birds Talk
Many birds besides parrots will learn to talk. The best of these are the yellow-wattled black mynas of India, says Nature Magazine. Well-trained birds equal the most accomplished parrots, but, like them, must be obtained when very young.
Protection Against Indians
A military company, known as the Oregon Escort, was raised by an act of congress in 1822 and placed under command of Capt. M. Crawford, to protect emigrants to California from the attacks of hostile Indians.
Origin of the Walts
The waltz is of French origin, but was adopted and modified in Germany so that it is usually identified with that country. It became popular on the continent early in the Nineteenth century, and was introduced into England in 1812.
Progress Imperative
Put behind things that are past, only as they may still serve, and look forward to things that should be accomplished. Only in so doing will one achieve whatever he may attempt. True life is continuous progress.—Oetl.
