W. GREEN WINS VICTORY

MAJORITY IN STATE TO EXCEED 150,000. PATTERSON FOR SHERIFF BY TREMENDOUS MAJORITY.

Fred W. Green, Ionia's popular long-time mayor, has been elected governor of Michigan by nearly as a decisive victory over Comstock as the primary vote gave him over 150,000 majority. The exact figures cannot be given until the returns are all in. Anyhow the majority is big enough to warn the Gruesbeck office leaders in Lansing to begin packing their bags for the January exodus.

The entire state and Kent county Republican tickets were swept into victory with the ledger.

Congressman Mapes continues his splendid record for unopposed or little opposition campaigns, winning this time by a 5 to 1 vote over Dr. Frank G. Jarvis, his Democratic opponent.

Dexter G. Look and William J. Thomas, Legislative candidates were accorded the honor of unopposed elections.

Return from the country at large show many Democrat gains and Republican control of the National House and Senator will be by much reduced majorities.

Lowell Casts Nearly 850 Votes. Special interest always attaches to the local vote, and here it is: Governor--Fred W. Green, 666; William A. Comstock, 181; Lieut. Gov.--Loren D. Dickinson, 661; Gerrit Massilink, 151; Secretary of State--John S. Haggerty, 655; Catherine D. Duran, 145; State Treasurer--Frank D. McKay, 655; Cornelius Gardner, 144; Auditor General--Oramel B. Fuller, 659; John F. Cross, 138; Attorney General--William W. Potter, 663; Alva M. Cummins, 139; Justice Supreme Court--Ernest A. Snow, 613; George J. Burke, 139; Representative in Congress, Fifth district--Carl E. Mapes, 684; Frank C. James, 131; Senator 17th district--James C. Quinlan, 665; Representative Second district--Dexter G. Look, 720; Sheriff--Byron J. Patterson, 594; Theodore Norris, 234; Clerk--Lewis Neuman, 656; Harold W. Wall, 145; Treasurer--Jess W. Clark, 663; Carl Stewart, 140; Register of Deeds--George M. Reed, 658; William McCarly, 139; And so on down.

Only two Prohibition tickets were voted.

Ionia had its third great Green celebration Wednesday. This time a final victory rejoicing. The feature this time were a fine parade of bands, marching factory employees, schools, and citizens in decorated cars and speeches of congratulatory at the Armory, which was packed to the doors. The Mayor-Governor replied to the friendly greetings with words of appreciation and deep feeling.

Were he a smaller man Fred Green's head might have been turned by the honors that have been heaped upon him by his townsmen; but he is too large a man for that weakness.

Attending from Lowell were M. N. Henry, N. C. Borgerson, R. T. Ford, W. T. Webb and F. M. Johnson.

ROCKFORD 13 LOWELL 14

LOWELL FOOT BALL FANS GO WILD ON SIDE LINES. GOOD JUDGMENT ADVISED IN FUTURE.

Football fans throughout the county are still talking about last Saturday's game when Lowell defeated Rockford in what was probably the deciding game for the county championship. And it is safe to state that the fans will continue to discuss this game for a long time to come, for no one has ever witnessed a more nerve-racking struggle. Men and women forgot their dignity in the excitement and were, for the most part, acting like children. Many were on the verge of a nervous prostration as first one team and then the other would start a mad rush down the field. It was a game that will live long in the memories of those who were fortunate to see it. The best part of it all was that the game was remarkably free from rough tactics. The players were good sportsmen. The crowd on the whole was quite orderly but it is hoped that spectators in the future will refrain from surging on to the field. The protest and rations on the part of some fans between halves was uncalled for and this unpleasant incident was a great disappointment to the officials who handled the game very nicely. Fans should not become too active in their enthusiasm. We all want to win. But after all, good clean sportsmanship is what counts. If we are to control their tempers, how to be on the square and a few more worthy elements of good character, there would be no excuse for any branch of the game. In our opinion, a "Socks him in the jaw," are certainly not conducive to good sportsmanship. Even though a spectator might be in the crowd, he should not be allowed to handle the game very nicely. The boys who are playing are constantly on edge and are very apt to do as the crowd dictates. All in all, however, the crowd was very fine.

A summary of the game will be found in next week's Ledger.

LEGION DOINGS.

The local Post entertained members of nine of the American Legion posts of the Fifth district Wednesday, Oct. 27. Dr. Goffredsen called the meeting to start some pep and interest in the district, and the local Post set a good example with a short snappy membership drive in which we got 51 members paid up for 1927, which was the number we had for 1926, and which gave us the distinction of being the second honor Post in the state. Our grand is seventy-six members by November 30.

A large number of the boys enjoy a splendid pot luck supper with the Auxiliary Monday night. A very interesting meeting followed at which different plans for community work were discussed.

The American Legion boys will put on the Armistice Day supper and provide a program of speaking and music.

November 18-19 is the date of the American Legion show.

IT'S BACK TO THE FARM FOR HIM

TOLEDO LEDGER READER WANTS TO BUILD THE BEST POULTRY PLANT IN OLD MICHIGAN.

E. C. Foreman, former superintendent of the poultry department of the Michigan State college, who is about to engage in the hatchery business in Lowell on a large scale, was here last week in the interests of the concern and in consultation with the King Milling company, with which he is associated in the production of a scientific line of poultry feeds.

Mr. Foreman is showing the beneficial effect of Lowell Ledger circulation upon the interests of our community, and a forerunner of developments to follow in the wake of the new hatchery plant, is the following letter:

City of Toledo
Department of Public Welfare
Division of Health
MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL
Cor. Washington and Ontario Sts.
Oct. 29, 1926.

Mr. E. C. Foreman:
Lowell, Mich.

I, Dear Sir:—

With the co-operation you are willing to give me, I have concluded to develop a poultry plant on my little farm west of Lowell.

I want it to be the best in the State of Michigan and run on scientific principles only.

An going to put the concern in your hands if you will accept it and I feel sure by the development of a plant of which we can feel proud and be a credit to the little city of Lowell. Will be at Lowell within the next week or two at the most. Will write you again as to when it will be there.

Resp.,
George Demuth.

Mr. Demuth is a Ledger reader and through it learned of the concern. I feel sure that because Mr. Foreman selected Lowell as a promising place for the development of a large poultry business and because of the coming hatchery and the first hand dependable supply of the best in poultry feeds, Mr. Demuth comes from Toledo to Lowell to take a hand in the game. "Back to the country" for him.

MAN SLASHES SISTER-IN-LAW

MRS. LEONARD McCaul, THROAT GASHED, IN CRITICAL CONDITION. URBAN McCaul, TAKEN IN ACT.

In a frenzy of anger when she received news of the death of her brother-in-law, Mrs. Leonard McCaul, 42, yesterday morning attacked her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mazie McCaul, 28, with a razor, slashing her throat, after she ordered him to get out of her sedan in which the pair and three children were riding at Lakeside and Lake drs., East Grand Rapids.

Mrs. McCaul is in Blodgett hospital in critical condition, her trachea severed and the vertebrae lacerated because of the depth of the cuts on her throat. No attempt to close the wound was made yesterday and the operation will take place today. Death would have been immediate had not arteries of the throat only been grazed, physicians said.

Held in Jail.

The brother-in-law, who lost a leg in an auto accident in which his wife was killed six years ago, was removed from the East Grand Rapids police station after the assault, a special deputy after the assault and was taken to the county jail early last night. He will be held pending the outcome of Mrs. McCaul's condition.

"My life isn't worth anything, anyway, and I'll take my medicine," McCaul asserted. "When a man's crazy mad he will do such things. I only hope she lives long to carry the mark. I thought a lot of her, but when she turns you down for another fellow, well--"

McCaul's statement bore out versions of the attack by the children, two daughters of Mrs. McCaul, and a friend's daughter, and by the injured woman herself, who could barely speak and who screamed through the gash in the trachea.

Took Husband to Sanitarium.

The attack occurred after Mrs. McCaul had taken her husband, Leonard McCaul, 42, from the McCaul home at 15 Quinlan st., N.E. to the Miller sanitarium on Greenwood ave., East Grand Rapids. The husband has suffered from inflammatory rheumatism, which last spring caused him to give up operation of a farm near Lowell and has been crippled by illness. He intended taking treatments at the sanitarium.

The brother-in-law has made his home with the McCauls since his wife's death, but has not been employed regularly, relatives said. Also residing at the McCaul home, formerly owned by Mrs. McCaul's mother, is Sidney Pearson, 24, a service station attendant, who has boarded with the McCauls for a week.

When Mr. and Mrs. McCaul, two of their three children, Geraldine, 11, and Evelyn, 8, and the daughter of a friend, Gwendolyn Underwood, 11, started from the house yesterday morning for the sanitarium, Urban McCaul insisted on going along.

Tells of Threat.

A short time before, the children said, he had entered Mrs. McCaul by the wrist in an upstairs room while the husband was on the first floor and had shouted: "I'll get you if you don't go along with me."

Mrs. McCaul told Pearson when she left the house that she feared trouble with the brother-in-law and told him to meet her near Blodgett hospital. Pearson reached the hospital at 10 o'clock and found Mrs. McCaul's fears were well founded. She was carried into the hospital soon after he arrived.

According to the children, Urban McCaul said during the trip to the sanitarium, but after the husband had been taken inside, he asked Mrs. McCaul to drive him to Lowell. She had intended going to Lowell to make arrangements with a trucker to bring a range to the city, but the children said she told them she wanted to go without the brother-in-law.

Refused to Leave Car.

When Mr. McCaul refused to leave the car, the children said Mrs. McCaul went into a store to attempt to reach her husband by telephone at the sanitarium, but failed. She gave Mr. McCaul 25 cents for coffee, but he insisted, she said, on riding to the end of the Wealthy car line. At Ramona park, McCaul told her to drive "on just a little further," the children said.

Near Lake dr. and Lakeside dr. McCaul drew the razor, the children said, and clutching Mrs. McCaul, shouted at her, "I'll leave the car and I'll leave you, but I'll mark you first."

The car hit the curb and a radius rod was broken. The children screamed and the eldest girl, who attempted to leave the car, fell out into the street. She said McCaul was holding down her mother and was slashing at her as he forced her down beside the front seat.

Screams Attract Deputy.

The girls' screams attracted Special Deputy Roy Harris, who was driving by, and saw the man and woman scuffling in the car. He seized McCaul and took him to the village police headquarters. Marshal Don Williams investigated and discovered that McCaul had broken the razor in cutting Mrs. McCaul and that this apparently prevented McCaul from ending his life as he had threatened. The pieces of the blade are held by Williams.

Joseph Swanson, sawmill superintendent for the Travis Lumber company, rushed to the injured woman and the eldest girl to the hospital.

The husband left the sanitarium upon learning of the assault and remained with his wife until last night when he returned to his home to care for the children. In addition to the two who were with the mother, there is a younger child, Bernice.

Members of the family said last night that Mrs. McCaul had resented the brother-in-law's attentions and said they believed the latter had become infatuated with her. The brother-in-law has four children, the oldest 16, who are staying at the homes of relatives, two of them near Lowell.—(Grand Rapids Herald, Nov. 1.)

BUSINESS INTERESTS LAUNCH TOWN-BOOSTING CAMPAIGN Local Merchants and Business Men Band Together to Put Our Town on Civic Progress Map

On another page of this issue, the business interests of our city launched their campaign to build Lowell into a model town. Deeply interested in the welfare of our home town, these men have prepared a series of twelve community-boosting advertisements, one to appear every month for one year.

Lowell has many splendid advantages which makes it a wonderful home town and a city of opportunity. Patriotic citizens have banded together in order that the town's advantages may be more strongly advertised and better understood—not only by our own citizens, but by those outside our borders.

The first plan is for Town Fellowship. Fellowship is the first requisite for community success. In order for our citizens to progress and the town to grow, there must be a wide measure of peace and contentment. Fellowship is good cheer and friendliness, the willingness through a helping hand to share your neighbor's joys and sorrows.

For your own interests, you will not have the strength as individuals that you will have if you combine your hearts and efforts as I have combined these sticks.

There is a story about a wise old Indian who lived in this country was not long ago. He gathered his five sons together and called them to him. He said to them: "I have combined these sticks."
