Life on Ship Board in West Indies Cruise

Canadian Pacific, West Indies Cruise, S. S. Montroyal.
Dear Mr. Johnson:— Thinking you might enjoy a letter and sending you this:
At sea, Jan. 30, 1928:
About opposite Florida 500 miles east, temperature 70 degrees.
Monday morning, ocean is a beautiful dark blue, sun shining brightly, soft Summer-like breeze blowing, some have already seen flying fish. We left Bermuda Sunday afternoon about 6 o'clock, without being able to land due to a big sea running so that our boat could not clear the harbor entrance drawing too much water to float over the shallow entrance.
The next stop will be Porto Rico 800 miles south of Bermuda; the island came into possession of the United States during the Spanish-American war, its shape is square like a brick, is 100 miles long by 30 miles wide, has about 40 rivers running down from its inland mountains. The last census gave a population of 800,000 whites, 70,000 negroes. The climate is tropical. The monthly weather temperature at San Juan, the principal town is given as 79 degrees and is never above 92 degrees. The island is within the hurricane area. It is occasionally visited by terrific cyclones, but these occur only during the months of Summer and early autumn.
The established church of this island is Roman Catholic. In 1899 census 80% of the Porto Ricans could neither read or write. Established American schools have educated this 50 per cent. Both English and Spanish are taught in the schools. There are now ninety post offices in operation. The island is the same as in the United States controlled by the post-office department. All the postmasters are native Porto Ricans. Order is well kept throughout the island by 277 native police, so it is safe to visit any place on the island. The hookworm infested the intestinal tract of many of the natives which was said to be responsible for general debility and disinclination to work. Over 45,000 cases were treated and cured in six months in 1918 and 1919. The people recovered strength and health. There may be some undiscovered hook-worms located in our own locality. I expect to look up while on the island. 2:30 p. m., January 30, luncheon just finished, temperature 72 degrees; ocean calm and the bluest blue one can imagine. Went out to participate in deck games on the boat deck, a game of boat tennis, one game of shuffle board, one deck quoits one ring toss, one golf game, one game of ball, one game of pong. All were in full hilarious swing.
At 4 p. m., we had horse races. Six wooden horses on pedals. Dice throws advanced each horse one number at a time, pools were purchased on each horse. One might put in from $50 to $200 on his horse No. 1, or any one of the six, selected might win as much as $20 on one race. Ten per cent of the winnings went to the sea man's relief fund. They were very exciting horse races. A friend of mine won $25. Yours truly did not win. My horse always was displaced. It is remarkable how 400 passengers have been absorbed into this ship, with little elbow room for all men beginning to wear knickers, flannel trousers and light flannel suits. Bridge played about 30 or 40 tables after dinner, going full swing. The sporty bunch filling the smoking room, (saloon) where drinks are served, to overflowing. I mean the room overflowing, not the drinks, in the lounge elderly ladies and gentlemen. In the ladies card room the very quiet and expert players assemble. So goes life on ship. Discovered gratefully on going to our room that the steward had taken all blankets off our beds and started our electric fan.

The Lowell Rod and Gun club together with County Agent, R. K. Vining, are sponsoring a splendid program in the interest of conservation which will be given in the City hall on Wednesday, February 22, at 8 p. m. There will be several reels of movies, entitled "Wild Wings." The pictures are about wild life and they are very interesting. Obituary--Mrs. Bessie Davidson

Bessie Ann Wright was born in Flamboro, Ontario, Sept. 9, 1847, and died Feb. 5, 1928 at the age of 80 years. She was the daughter of Richard Clutton and Carrie Wright.

She was married to David B. Davidson, August 3, 1881. To this union were born three children: Carrie E. Weekees, Thomas A. (who died April 26, 1907), and Will, now of Milwaukee. Her husband died eleven years ago.

Mrs. Davidson served with her husband in pastorates at Forest and Sparta Ont., Mt. Pleasant, Charlotte, Pewamo, Vernon, Lowell, Alpena and Lyons.

They came to Lowell about thirty years ago to the pastorate of the Baptist church, following which he taught and conducted the Lowell Journal for some time, after which he resumed his ministerial work.

Besides her children and four grand children she leaves four brothers and one sister, A. A. Wright, Port Burwell, Ont., H. H. Wright, Aylmer, Ont., S. Wright, Berkley, Ont., S. W. Wright, Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Edgar A. Smith, St. Thomas, Ont.

The funeral service was held Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 8, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harold L. Weekees. The presence of many friends and the many beautiful floral tributes bore witness to the esteem in which this excellent lady was held. Rev. H. H. Harris, of Middleville, who had known Mrs. Davidson intimately in years past, spoke of the usefulness and nobility of her life, her kindliness and her devotion to Christian work. Rev. A. T. Carland assisted in the service. Burial was in the Lowell cemetery.

"The gate that leads out of life, dear heart, Is the gate that leads to Him."

LIFE ON SHIP BOARD IN WEST INDIES CRUISE.
January 31, bright and fair. Ocean blue, much floating sea weed which is very yellow, showing beautifully on the deep blue of the sea, walked about two miles before breakfast at nine o'clock but prunes, bananas, pineapple, much fruit is recommended in the tropics. Afterwards went out on deck to spend some time at the West Indies tourist sport watching Richard Clutton and Carrie Wright. Leaving here tomorrow morning for Marlinque.

Sincerely,

our ship leaves. The country is all excited. I nearly forgot to mention that we noticed in passing as many as seven or eight little fellows or girls about three or four years old out in the road playing, dressed exactly as they were when they made their first noise in this world. Spain lost a wonderful island when she blew up our Maine warship some years ago.

Seventy-five Winter hats, $1.00 at Mrs. White's. ad.

Mrs. Sarah Purdy, of Belding, was a Lowell visitor Saturday.

A. C. Poulson, former Lowell teacher, recently of East Lansing, has accepted the position of superintendent of schools and Agriculture teacher at Mattawan, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Norwood and daughter Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Norwood spent from Friday to Monday at Hart with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Bowman.

Amco Lowers The Cost In Feeding
Chickens Cattle Sheep Hogs

What you pay for a ton of feed is fixed largely by the ability of the company behind it to buy to advantage, to mix efficiently and to get orders cheaply. Amco Feed Mixing Service is able to price feeds RIGHT, (1) because its trained buyers have back of them great capital and storage facilities for many thousand tons of ingredients; (2) because three great modern plants run through their mixing lines a limited number of mixtures, making for efficiency and economy in handling and (3) because these mixtures are then routed DIRECT from the Amco plant to the Authorized Amco Agent in your community.

THE BLIND EVANGELIST WILL GIVE HIS LIFE STORY.
Clyde Rothrick, the blind Evangelist, who has been preaching every night to a good attentive audience for the past two weeks gave his life story to a large crowd in the M. E. church at Grand Ledge Sunday night while Dr. Helms, of Grand Rapids, took his place. "I enjoyed going to Lowell," said Dr. Helms. There was a splendid crowd and a good spirit at the Baptist church.

The Evangelist will speak every night this week.

On Friday, February 17, at 7:30, Mr. Rothrick will give his life's story of how he went from a blind child to a successful evangelist. He will also give his story of how he has been preaching for the past two weeks in Lowell.

"There is no such word as can't within the realm of reason for the man who will walk and talk with God."

Sunday morning the Evangelist will speak at 10:30. Again at 7:30.

CITY TEAM LOSES TO SPARTA.
Rockford Here Thursday.

Last Wednesday the city basketball team fell before the fast Sparta aggregation to the tune of 32-26. The game started out as if the locals would be snowed under, but they quickly staged a "comeback" and the crowd was calling for a victory. Sparta possessed one of the strongest teams in the county and the locals did well. R. W. Finch was sorely missed but Bud Moore did a good job at substituting. This chap together with Phil Schneider accounted for most of Lowell's points. Henry and J. Moore also played good games. Moore also did well. If Haysmer had been given half a chance he would probably have shown some real basket ball, but he was removed shortly after the game started on four personal fouls. The spectators thought that two of these fouls were questionable but the referee thought otherwise. All in all the official did a good job at officiating.

On Thursday of this week the Jockey club will visit to Rockford. This game should be well worth seeing.

Life on Ship Board in West Indies Cruise

Canadian Pacific, West Indies Cruise, S. S. Montroyal.

Dear Mr. Johnson:—
Thinking you might enjoy a letter from me, I am sending you this:
At sea, Jan. 30, 1928:
About opposite Florida 500 miles east, temperature 70 degrees.
Monday morning, ocean is a beautiful dark blue, sun shining brightly, soft Summer-like breeze blowing, some have already seen flying fish. We left Bermuda at 6 o'clock, without being able to land due to a big sea running so that our boat could not clear the harbor entrance drawing too much water to float over the shallow entrance.
The next stop will be Porto Rico 800 miles south of Bermuda; the island came into possession of the United States during the Spanish-American war, its shape is square like a brick, is 100 miles long by 36 miles wide, has about 40 rivers running down from its inland mountains. The last census gave a population of 800,000 whites, 70,000 negroes. The climate is tropical. The monthly weather temperature at San Juan, the principal town is given as 79 degrees, and is never above 92 degrees. The island is within the hurricane area, and is occasionally visited by terrible cyclones, but these occur only during the months of Summer and early autumn.
The established church of this island is Roman Catholic. In 1899 census 80% of the Porto Ricans could neither read or write. Established American schools have reduced this 50 per cent. Both English and Spanish are taught in the schools. There are now ninety post offices in operation. Service the same as in the United States controlled by the post office department. All the postmasters are native Porto Ricans. Order is well preserved throughout the island by 727 native police, so it is safe to visit any place on the island. The hookworm infested the intestinal tract of many of the natives which was said to be responsible for general debility and disinclination to work. Over 45,000 cases were treated and cured in six months in 1918 and 1919. The people recovered strength and health. There may be some undiscovered hookworms located in our own locality. I expect to look up the treatment while on the island. 2:30 p. m., January 30, luncheon just finished. Temperature 72 degrees; ocean calm and the bluest blue one can imagine. Went out to participate in deck games on the boat deck, a game of boat tennis, one game of shuffle board, one deck quoits one ring toss, one golf game, one game of ball, one ping pong. All were in full hilarious swing.
At 4 p. m., we had horse races. Six wooden horses on pedestals. Dice boxes advanced each horse one number at a time, pools were made, chased on each horse. One might put in from $50 to $200 on his horse No. 1, or any one of the six selected might win as much as $20 on one race. Ten per cent of the winnings went to the sea man's relief fund. They were very exciting horse races. A friend of mine won $25. Yours truly did not win. My horse always was distanced. It is remarkable how 400 passengers have been absorbed into this ship, with little elbow room for all men beginning to wear knickers, flannel trousers and light flannel suits. Bridge played about 30 or 40 tables after dinner, going full swing. The sporty bunch filling the smoking room, (saloon) where drinks are served, to overflowing, I mean the room overflowing, not the drinks, in the lounge elderly ladies and gentlemen, in the card room the very quiet and expert players assemble. So goes life on ship. Discovers gratefully on going to our room that the steward had taken all blankets off our beds and started our electric fan.

CITY TEAM LOSES TO SPARTA.

Rockford Here Thursday.

Last Wednesday the city basketball team defeated the Sparta aggregation to the tune of 32-26. The game started out as if the locals would be snogged under, but they quickly showed a "comeback" and the crowd was calling for a victory. Sparta possessors one of the strongest teams in the county and the locals did well. B. W. Finch was sorely missed but Bud Moore did a good job at substituting. This chap together with Phil Schneider accounted for most of Lowell's points. Henry and J. Moore also played good games. Moore also did well. It has never been given half a chance he probably would have shown some real basket ball, but he was removed shortly after the game started on four personal fouls. The spectators thought that two of these fouls were rather questionable but the referee thought otherwise. All in all the official did a good job at officiating.

On Thursday of this week the locals will play hosts to Rockford. This game should be well worth seeing.

LIFE ON SHIP BOARD IN WEST INDIES CRUISE.

January 31, bright and fair. Ocean blue, much floating sea weed which is very yellow, showing beautifully on the deep blue of the sea, walked about two miles before breakfast at nine o'clock but prunes, bananas, pineapple, much fruit is recommended in the tropics. Afterwards went out on deck to spend some time at the West Indies tourist sport watching, seem to rise about two or three swallows skimming across the water; saw several schools gray back, white belly, silvery translucent forward fins or wings, about the size of herring eight to twelve inches long, seem to rise about two or three feet above water, flies or rather glides like an airplane from twenty to fifty feet over the surface, smashing into tops of waves, then fall, flop into the water like a stone. Look like glistening silver in the sun-light with the beautiful blue background.

Say, do you know, rest, sunshine and a few days of laziness have caused me to feel ten years younger. We are now one hundred miles from Porto Rico, going directly south, expect to dock there tomorrow morning at 7:30, early breakfast, then to view one of Uncle Sam's most important island possessions.

At 8 P. M. Jan. 30, had luncheon scheduled. At 2:30 a fine round boxing contest between two of the sailors. I did not attend but heard it was not much. Horse races were staged again this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Two one mile races, three half mile races and one steeplechase. Six horses were entered in each race, pools were sold for each race. One could win six times what you bet on, each race less 10 per cent, which was taken out for the benefit of the Seaman's relief fund. I never saw a crowd have so much fun in two hours at races, nor did any crowd ever make more noise in urging their particular horse to win.

The ladies were more noisy than the men, and were kept off the race course with much difficulty. Being in mid-ocean the course was very dusty. "Come on, No. 2," "Go ahead, No. 5," etc. I saw an elderly Catholic priest from Northern Canada get so excited that he jumped up and down wildly waving his arms as his horse No. 6 just drove all around the finish, in the double 4-ounce caused No. 1 to jump two numbers at one throw and win first money. My horse always went lame or something. Outside this afternoon it was raining, and very much to our regret went and bet on wind horses and won the money. They were wooden horses on pedestals with red, blue, etc., jockeys mounted. They advanced only one number as the three dice thrown on a table showed their number, but it was good.

Feb. 1, arrived at Porto Rico at 8 o'clock. After breakfast took the tender ashore, had an eighty mile drive all around the island, saw growing coffee, oranges, grape fruit, bananas, pineapple, the first I ever saw growing and endless fields of tobacco. All the hills, some valleys and even the sides of some mountains are planted to tobacco. When one sees the extent of this planting you wonder that it could all be burned up by tobacco users. The country is tropical and beautiful. As we passed we were pleasantly greeted by school children yelling, "Adios!" They were everywhere, lining all the roads. (No race suicide here.) Very intelligent, smiling faces, all clean, all seemed to be so glad waving arms as if we were Lindbergh. By the way the real Lindbergh arrives here tomorrow morning, one hour after our ship leaves. The country is all excited.

I nearly forgot to mention that we noticed in passing as many as seven or eight little fellows or girls about three or four years old out in the road playing, dressed exactly as they were when they made their first noise in this world.

Spain lost a wonderful island when she blew up our Maine warship some years ago.

Leaving here tomorrow morning for Martinique.

Sincerely,
S. S. Lee.

What you pay for a ton of feed is fixed largely by the ability of the company behind it to buy to advantage, to mix efficiently and to get orders cheaply. Amco Feed Mixing Service is able to price feeds RIGHT, (1) because its trained buyers have back of them great capital and storage facilities for many thousands of ingredients; (2) because three great modern plants run through their mixing lines a limited number of mixtures, making for efficiency and economy in handling and (3) because these mixtures are then routed DIRECT from the Amco plant to the Authorized Amco Agent in your community.
