Consider This Best Time to Pave Main St.

On another page of this paper will be found the legal proceedings necessary to the paving of Main street from the East side of Washington avenue and from the West side of Hudson street to the West side of the Pere Marquette Railway right of way.

The proposition differs from that of the proposition voted on last Spring to the following extent: The original plan was to pave each side of the twenty foot strip laid by the State Highway Department through the center of the unpaved section, above mentioned, and including the block from Jackson avenue to the East side of Division avenue, ten feet including curbs, catch-basins, gutters and intersections at a cost of approximately twenty-one thousand dollars, fifty per cent to be assumed by the abutting property owners, fifty per cent by the village at large. The proposition lost by a very small majority.

The present plan was proposed by the State Highway department after an inspection of the work now in progress. They propose to pave, instead of twenty feet, thirty-six feet, extending from curb to curb, including curbs, catch-basins, gutters and intersections over that portion of Main street, above mentioned at a cost to the village of nine thousand dollars. Cutting out the block from Jackson to Division avenue.

The Common Council was asked to consider the proposition, and, after due deliberation decided that it was the opportune time for the improving of Main street, accepted the proposition of the State Highway department, instructed the Village Attorney to proceed with the proper legal steps in placing the matter before the abutting property owners and the voters of the village at large. The fifty-fifty plan of payment being adopted. The State Highway department having become interested in the behalf of the village, offer to make the improvement to our Main street at a figure far below that ever anticipated by the Village Street committee.

All will agree that a twenty foot strip of pavement through the portion of Main street, which will be laid by the State should the proposition be rejected, would be unsightly in the eyes of our citizens, eventually would have to be paved when the cost would be prohibitive.

The opportunity of beautifying our Main thoroughfare is at hand, the cost is nominal, the everlasting upkeep of gravel shoulders will be done away with, adequate lighting will improve parking facilities, property values will increase, tourists will more than ever be impressed with the slogan--"A Friendly Town with every up-to-date feature."

The Common Council have considered the proposition from every angle and are acting in a manner which they consider means an ultimate saving to the tax-payers at large, a valuable improvement to the abutting property, a cost plan acceptable to all concerned. Friday, September 14th is the day set aside for the hearing of objections, which there should be none, the Common Council will be in session at the City hall at 7 o'clock p. m. E. R. K.

YEITER FAMILY REUNION.
The seventh annual reunion of the families of John, David, Jacob and Fred Yeiter was held at beautiful Island Park, Lowell, Tuesday, August 21st. About fifty were present from Grand Rapids, Ionia, Freeport, Akron, O., McCords, Lowell and vicinity. After a sumptuous dinner, Clarence Yeiter, the president, called a business meeting at which time the following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Clarence Yeiter; vice-president, O. J. Yeiter; secretary-treasurer, Wesley Yeiter. After this the time was spent in renewing acquaintances. The oldest member was unable to walk across the foot bridge and quite an exciting time was had when the river was forded with difficulty with an automobile.

M. S. C. Poultry Tourists Visit Lowell Plant

A delegation of seventy-five poultry raisers and students from the Michigan State College, under the leadership of Mr. Will Hanna, of the M. S. C., visited the King Milling company's chicken feed and chick feed plant Tuesday afternoon as the first stop on a state tour.

An exhibition of the various products entering into the King products, which are being shipped all over Michigan in large quantities, was made in the company's new poultry feed plant and a description of each of the ingredients entering into the different products, including ground alfalfa from California and other ingredients was given by Mr. Will Doyle in a highly interesting and convincing manner.

The tourists, who were a jolly lot of men and women, were treated by the King Milling company in the former office of the Peckham Furniture company, to ice cream, lemonade, cake and cigars, after which they departed for the next point of interest on their route.

The King Milling company, which recently purchased the property of the defunct Peckham Furniture company, is making good use of the same; and is one of Lowell's very best boosters.

RALPH STUART BACK IN OWN BAKERY.

Floyd Clay, who has conducted the bakery in the Howk building adjoining The Ledger office on the West, has sold out to Ralph Stuart, late of Portland, who took possession of his former stand Monday morning, while the Clay family moved to Grand Ledge, where they have bought a moving picture show. Mr. and Mrs. Stuart and family are delighted to be at home in Lowell again and will be welcomed by a host of friends.

PEACHES, PLUMS AND SUMMER APPLES

We are now harvesting peaches, plums and summer apples. Would suggest that our patrons phone orchard before coming for peaches, so as to be certain that we have ripe stock in readiness.

Saved the Cows Wrecked Car Hurt the Men

A. H. Stormzand and Merrit Miller met with a bad accident while driving to Murray Lake Sunday morning.

Just as they went over the hill at the Lizzie Blaser farm on Lincoln road they were confronted by a herd of cattle driven onto the highway by some young boys.

Mr. Stormzand had to drive into the cattle or take the ditch and he chose the latter, hitting a telephone pole and turning his car completely over. He saved the cows but ruined his car. Miller was thrown out but Stormzand stayed with the steering gear. The former received a bad cut on the leg and was given first aid at the Blaser farm and rushed to Lowell where Dr. G. Fredsen fixed them both up, both of them having been badly shaken up, bruised and cut.

Next time, Stormy says, he will hit the cows instead of wrecking his car.

A Life Long Lowell Resident Laid to Rest

Annette A. Pullen, a life-long resident of Lowell and Kent county, died August 23, at Blodgett hospital, after an illness of several weeks, aged 62 years, 3 months and two days. Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p. m., at the Lyzen funeral home in Grand Rapids; burial in Oakhill cemetery in that city, Rev. A. T. Cartland, of Lowell, officiating clergyman. She is survived by her brother, W. W. Pullen, who is left alone in the home, and a nephew, Wm. H. Morrison.

Miss Pullen was born in Cannonsburg, Kent county, May 20, 1866 and came to Lowell with her parents when she was six months old, and her father conducted a clothing business here for many years. At one time the family lived in Grand Rapids.

After the death of her father, William Pullen, she went to California, where she made her home for six years, returning here to share her brother's home and life, after the death of his wife in 1920. Miss Pullen was always of a cheerful, friendly disposition, was loved by all who knew her and will be missed by her many friends in Lowell.

AN APPRECIATION.

We wish to thank the friends of Lowell and our cousins and friends in Grand Rapids for their kindness and sympathy, also for the beautiful flowers in the death of our sister and aunt, Annette Pullen, who passed away August 23 at Blodgett hospital. We would especially mention Mrs. Norwood and Mrs. Lee Walker. Their kindness will never be forgotten.

Will Pullen,
Wm. H. Morrison.

Building of Hooker's Mill 80 Years Ago

During the month of November, 1847, C. S. Hooker, then a resident of Lowell since Dec. 1846 contemplated the building of a grist mill on the east bank of Flat river. He bought nine acres of land along the east bank of the river. Hooker being a millwright looked at the proposition as nothing difficult for him to undertake. The starting point was to obtain the right of way for the water power which had to be granted by the government. That being secured the next thing in order was the lumber, which was soon contracted from Jim Kidd, who operated a saw mill at Kiddleville on Flat river near Greenville. His son, John S., a boy of 17, with the help of the Indians rafted the building material down the "Quobasha," Flat river.

At the same time the race was being built, and things began to move. Hooker engaged a carpenter by the name of George Montague, who lived a short distance from the Upper Grand river bridge.

Montague had secured a piece of land from the government and built a cabin in the woods which provided him a home. The family consisted of himself, wife, and a little girl of two years by the name of Anna. Here the curtain drops--and the mill stops in the midst of scenes and activities of life--we are in death.

A Tragedy Occurs.

The young carpenter having finished his day's work followed an Indian trail to his little home to find no fire, no candle to light his home, the little girl alone and the mother gone. The father brought the child to the Hooker home, and a search was started to find the missing woman. After a search of two days and nights the body was found in the woods by the side of a fallen tree and thickly covered with leaves. The little girl lived with the Hooker family two years, when Mrs. Dr. Richards, Mrs. Octavia Eaton's mother, gave her a home until she married.

The old mill was practically built in 1848. On the morning of July 4, 1848, the wheels were set in motion and the first grist was ground. It must be the oldest landmark in Lowell today. The building is in a very good state of preservation and may celebrate its 100th anniversary.

If the old Quaker poet could only look back,
And cast his wild eye o'er progress' hot track
From the oxen that were to the autos that be,
Oh weeping Jerusalem, what would he see?

Written by request,
Mrs. John S. Hooker.

Editor's Note--The building told about by Mrs. Hooker is the front room of the west part of the King Milling company's East side mill, that portion west of the archway drive. Built of virgin timber, it is as staunch and sound today as when built eighty years ago. I have a piece of red cedar cut from the foundation when repairs were being made a few years ago and it is as sound as a new nut. F. M. J.

POLICE RECOVER $731 STOLEN OF LOWELL MAN.

Theft of $731 in currency from a Lowell resident with whom he had been residing was charged Sunday night against Charles Gailas, 57, who was arrested by Patrolmen Church and Wilcox at 759 First-st., N. W., after the Lowell resident, Michael Grigas, had appeared at the west side precinct station.

Grigas came to Grand Rapids Sunday evening to complain against Gailkas, who is suspected of having taken the cash upon leaving a short time before. The officers hurried to the First-st. address where Grigas said they could find the man under suspicion and reported they found the exact amount of the money lost by Grigas in Gailkas' possession.

Detectives Parkhill and Bielecki expected to obtain a grand larceny warrant against Gailkas Monday afternoon. (Grand Rapids Press, August 21.)

When Jane goes by

I hear a certain lady say, "When Jane goes by, 'Another stunning dress today!'"

Somehow some junior Hawthorne knows When Jane goes by, "Oh, Mother, there she goes!"

It is a pleasant find When Jane goes by, "I enjoy a secret view."

Digestible Feed at Low Cost

Producing milk at a profit depends first, on the supply and cost of digestible feed; and second, on the efficiency with which the cow turns this raw material into milk. A cow today must bring in $100 over her feed cost before she can be considered profitable.

There are two sources of digestible feed on most dairy farms. One is the home-grown feeds—grains and roughages. The other is purchased concentrates.

The formulas of AMCO feeds are open so after sizing up your own available stocks of feed you can select the one which gives you what your home-grown feeds lack and which, when combined with them, will make milk for you at a profit.

AMCO 24% DAIRY, when fed with home-grown alfalfa and clover hay, utilizes without waste the high protein content of these roughages. It also furnishes the safest amount of protein to feed with legume hay.

Try a Sack of 24% and realize its Feed Value
