Big Gale Hits Lowell and Vicinity

Lowell vicinity had a bad wind storm Friday night, one of the worst in its history, in this seldom wind-disturbed locality. Only one life was lost, so far as learned—that of a hen on the J. B. Sturges farm in Keene.

In view of millions of dollars of destroyed property in Florida, it seems a shame to speak of it at all, we relatively so fortunate.

First Lowell people knew about any unusual doings was when the lights went out at the Strand Theatre and stayed out for perhaps half an hour. This was due to toppling trees and broken wires, which the Lowell Light & Power company employees worked all night to remedy and all the next day and we guess they are working yet.

The story of the storm in Keene is told by the Keene Center correspondent elsewhere in this paper.

In Lowell E. R. Kniffin's home received a startling shock when the mammoth elm split and crashed down upon and crushed the fuel house, narrowly missing the bedroom. Fortunately, Mr. and Mrs. Kniffin were not at home and escaped the shock.

A tree also crashed down on the Chris Gehrer home and a large section of roofing was blown over the Milo Johnson home and landed in the field beyond. Boards from the Sturges barn roof were blown away and can not be found.

A big oak on the Methodist church lot was split and a large section went down grazing and damaging a section of roofing.

Damage and destruction of trees about town was general. Among others visited by the big wind were the Denny, Howard, Levi Edson, Bert Myers, Will Burt, R. T. Ford and James Muir homes.

Some drains were also played at Runciman's elevator by Old Man Wind and things were tossed from each side of the road to the other.

There was much destruction of fruit trees and fruit in the vicinity, as indicated by the large amount of unripe fruit offered since in the Lowell market.

A Red Cross subscription list has been started in Lowell to help in the Southern tornado relief work and is being generously signed. Frank T. King has the local work in charge.

OLD TIME PICNIC AND REUNION

Last Tuesday the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville C. Austin was the scene of a very enjoyable school and community picnic and reunion with about fifty present. Those from the more distant places were Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Barber and Mrs. Mattie E. Sample, of Tacoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman W. Rowland, of Olivet and daughter Mrs. Roy Supplee, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rowland, of Lansing.

Many friends met here who had not seen each other for more than forty years. The time was spent first in eating of the good dinner and renewing old friendships and the relating of incidents which occurred during the early days of those present. This is expected to be an annual event and will be known as a school and community reunion, and all are invited who ever lived in this part of the country and who delight to let their minds run backward for a day.

"Backward, turn backward Oh time in your flight Make me a child again Just for to-night." O. C. A.

Foreman Poultry Victors at The State Fair

White Leghorns and Barred Rocks raised on the Foreman Poultry farm were pronounced by the judges to be the outstanding birds at the Michigan State fair poultry exhibit. The honor of being the best individual in the entire show was given a Foreman Strain Leghorn pullet that weighs 5 1/2 lbs. and placed first in the pullet class. Foreman Poultry farm registered one of the most complete victories in competition with the leading breeders of the State that was ever made in any large poultry show of this kind. In winning every possible first prize on White Leghorns and best display on Barred Rocks, Foreman Poultry farm accomplished something that has probably never been attained by any individual poultry farmer or breeder.

Chick orders from large commercial poultry farmers throughout the State are already being placed for 1929 delivery and a record year is being anticipated. Practically every Leghorn chick sold by Foreman Poultry farm in 1929 will be sired by a grandson of the World's record 351-egg hen. No other poultry farm in the country will be in position to duplicate such outstanding breeding.

Foreman strain Leghorns and Barred Rocks are also setting the pace in several international egg laying contests and are now on the honor roll in the New York, Missouri, Alabama and Illinois contests. These contests will be concluded the latter part of October, and at the present rate of production Foreman Farm pens should finish with highest honors in all these contests.

Wide Pavement on East Main About Done

The laying of cement on the wide paving two blocks east of the brick pavement to the Baptist church has been completed and the work on the State M-21 job is progressing rapidly to the east with a large gang of men and the usual big equipment of road, making machinery. Work on catch basins, etc., is now proceeding.

The long season of detouring and cluttered and rough streets is due for an early completion and temporary inconvenience can be endured with patience and good humor.

Lowell tax payers are congratulating themselves that the state has saved them about $10,000 on this job.

YOUTHS ADMIT BURGLARIZING LOWELL BANK.

Two Lowell youths, James Gaunt, 18, and Glenn Murray, 16, admitted burglarizing the Lowell State bank last March after they had been taken into custody yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Jay Schenck and John DeYoung for questioning regarding the theft of a small sum of money and personal property from the residence of J. C. Hatch, of Lowell. The youths, who, deputies stated, admitted having taken $128.99, denied connection with the Hatch burglary.

Warrants for Gaunt, who is in the county jail, and Murray, who is in Juvenile home, probably will be obtained Monday, according to Deputy Schenck, who stated that with the assistance of Police Officer Leo Rowland, of Lowell, they learned the pair had secreted themselves in the City hall, where the bank headquarters had been removed following a fire, and after watching the cashier lock up the funds riddled the money box.—Grand Rapids Herald, Sept. 16.

DECLINES TO PROSECUTE YOUTHS FOR BANK THEFT.

James Gaunt, 18, and Glenn Murray, 16, will not be prosecuted for the theft of $128 from the temporary quarters of the Lowell State bank last March, according to a decision announced by the bank's directors yesterday.

Gaunt and Murray are said to have admitted to Deputy Sheriffs, John De Young and Jay Schenck that they had taken the money.—Grand Rapids Herald, Sept. 18.

The Sheriff on West Michigan Fair Gambling

Lowell Ledger, Dear Mr. Johnson:
You perhaps saw by the Grand Rapids Press and Herald of the predicament which exists at the West Michigan State Fair.
For your information I wish to make plain to you that I and my deputies went to the West Michigan Fair grounds to enforce the law during the fair on gambling devices such as the law prohibits.
Selling of pools and bookmaking on horse races was stopped soon after my arrival and closed up.
Skin games on the midway then were receiving our attention on which we made very good progress.
The day ended with us a perfect day.

On Tuesday, September 11, I arrived on the grounds at the usual time only to be served with an injunction forbidding me of interfering anybody except for making a lawful arrest.
I put me in such a position that if I made an arrest and did not convict I would be cited for contempt of court for violation of the injunction.
While upon the grounds the only thing I did was to enforce the statute on gambling and free the grounds of undesirable people.

I think I have done my duty, nothing more or nothing less and in my judgment it is the first time in the history of Kent County of a Sheriff being enjoined from doing his duty and enforcing the law.
Yours very truly, Byron J. Patterson, Sheriff of Kent County.

The Press had the following paragraph, which is probably one of those referred to by the Sheriff.
Racing Interference Stopped. Sheriff Byron J. Patterson Wednesday virtually had given up his endeavors to prevent bookmaking at the running races at the West Michigan fair.
The sheriff had made a firm resolution to prevent anything of that nature and notified the management two weeks ago to that effect.
After service upon him of an injunction obtained from Circuit Judge M. L. Dunham on petition of C. Sophus Johnson, one of the fair receivers, who complained of interference, the sheriff considered that it was not his part to fight the courts and that even if he chose to continue in his efforts the matter likely could not be threshed out in the few remaining days of the fair.

FOOT BRIDGE POETIC ADVO. CATE.
We need a foot bridge, we need it now.
To span Flat river deep and wide.
All other plans should be set aside, Nothing else will do, nothing else shall we wait? how long! how long!
Before we see it, up and done.
Time speeds along, along
The years are passing one by one
Old folks need it, middle aged, and
Get at the job, get at it on the run
Before the plan grows old and stale
And we the foot bridge have none.
Citizen.

OBITUARY--MRS. F. J. GRAHAM.
Florence Jane Scribner was born at Weedsport, New York, August 23, 1856, the daughter of Jane Rose and Alexander B. Scribner.
She died July 14, 1928, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George W. Conolly, 15118 Myrtle avenue, Harvey, Illinois.

In April, 1865, she came with her parents to South Boston, Ionia county.
Her father bought forty acres of woods of Mr. Burr, (father of A. P. Burr,) and built a log house, the property is now owned by Charles Klahn.
Her father died in April, 1872, so she, with her mother and brother, were left to finish the pioneering.

February 9, 1876 she was married to Thomas Robert Graham, of South Lowell township, by Rev. Arthur J. Wheeler.
To this union two children were born, Ethel, at whose home she died, and Ralph, who preceded her in 1915.
Mrs. Graham lived in and around Lowell from 1885 to 1908, when she went to Grand Rapids to be near her children.
In 1917 she went to Battle Creek and in 1924, she went to Harvey with her daughter.
Besides the daughter and grandson, she leaves many other relatives and friends.
She was a daughter of the Revolutionary war.
When 9 years old she was immersed at Pratt Lake by Rev. A. P. Moore, and continued her membership with the M. E. church until the Lord called her home.
The funeral was held from Corker's chapel and burial at Fairplains cemetery, Grand Rapids, Mich.
