THE CHRISTIAN'S DUTY IN GREAT MORAL ISSUES.

Keep faith for storms and stress. Hold fast to the drift of imperious life. For if nothing you believe in, you are a man of straw. Uncomfortable your heart must be. If every dream of life is vain, the power to think increases. And all the brutes are better off than man, endowed to praise or scorn. They live and eat and sleep and dream, and never pause to question why. Why among all the brutes should they alone have lasting memory. The gift of speech, the power to think. If we in mud are doomed to sink? Was reason given us, that we but only a class in one church, and that the united support of the entire Christian body in the whole Lowell community as well. The need, always present, was never greater.

A Rochester University Professor of Psychology tells us that the average age for great intellectual ability is between 40 and 60. So it appears that married people who put up with their life mates' notions and foibles during the trying period of child-rearing, are more likely to be successful in the home-making and the accumulation of a competency for old age, should be able to get along easily together during the old age period. And yet, it is so uncommon a thing to read of people in their sixties rushing into the divorce courts with their petty complaints seeking each for the other, as a lonely and remorseful thing to see a man and a woman, who have been together for many years, parting ways. It is not that the old age period is so difficult to get along with, but that the old age period is so difficult to get along with, but that the old age period is so difficult to get along with.

The latest fool thing in the religious world is a sect styling themselves, "The Sons of Freedom," and known by others as "Dookhobors." The fanaticism is shown in indelicately mixing of the sexes in naked parades. The Canadian government is concerned about the silly antics of several colonies of these "Dookhobors" people; but a good old-fashioned British Columbian Winter should solve the problem. If not, haven't our Canadian friends got any hickory sprouts up there?

Secretary Good says Chicago was growing pains. The trouble now remaining seems to be in the joints.—San Francisco Chronicle. The difficulty in buying a newspaper's influence is that the one that can be bought hasn't any influence.—San Francisco Chronicle. If war and hell are synonymous, why do the naughty abolish one and the good abolish the other?—San Francisco Chronicle.

Other endurance records don't impress the naive crowd. A pup that gets lonely at night.—Boston Post. The United States' government's re-entire experiment in Alaska has proven a markedly successful venture, the herd having increased from 1,200 in 1902 to 500,000 at the present time. Another twenty-seven years or even less, should make the Alaskan meat supply one for future generations to count upon.

Sebastian Schmidt, of Milwaukee, is suing his 16-year-old wife for divorce because she doesn't talk enough. There's a fellow who didn't know when he was fortunate. Some scientist has discovered vitamins in hash. So that it. We always wondered what it was in it.

A. M. Smith Co. "One Half Century in the Egg Business" Lowell, Michigan

Dear Egg Patron: We are now offering you an opportunity to sell your eggs on a graded basis. You have probably thought of such a basis for some time, realizing that eggs that are large, clean, and fresh should bring more money than eggs that are small, dirty or old. We know that eggs are clean and fresh when laid. The condition they are in when sold depends entirely on the care given them. The size of the eggs will depend a whole lot on the breeding back of the laying hens. You cannot change the size readily, but you can, however, regulate the quality of the egg and condition of the shell.

Our Plan is as Follows: Each lot of eggs has a slip with it showing the patron's name and address. The lot is taken into the plant and graded and the check for the eggs is brought to you by the driver on the next trip. The Eggs Will Be Graded as Follows: PREMIUM GRADE will consist of eggs that weigh 2 oz. or more each, have sound shells and are clean and strictly fresh. NO. 1 GRADE will consist of eggs that are a little too small, too dirty, or too old for the premium grade. NO. 2 GRADE will consist of eggs that are very small, very dirty or old. Checks will go into this grade.

Loss will consist of eggs with blood spots or other faults. If you have good eggs and will give this method a fair trial we know you will be satisfied with the results. We will gladly answer your questions in regard to our plan or grades. Sincerely yours, A. M. Smith Co. H. L. Gulliver, Poultryman J. C. CHATERDON, Local Manager Phone 6 F 21

"YOUR OWN ROOF." The man who wrote this in the San Francisco Chronicle wrote "You probably have noticed a large public building, the one of the expressions most commonly heard is, 'Well, it's good to be heard.' It is usually said by the man who has been hooked in the front stream or the eaves on the beach. But he usually adds a postscript that reads: 'There's no place like home.' There really isn't. And the nearer it comes to being home the more you realize the truth of the sentiment. There is a thrill in the consciousness that you own that spot of earth and shelter upon it. It is yours. After the temporary pleasures of several habitations have begun to pall on you, here is refuge, here is a home to which no one can say you may. "Perhaps, after all, the greatest value of vacations may be in the renewed satisfaction that comes in returning to your own home. It isn't always the biggest mat, but it's always the biggest fact; it is the size of the light that counts.

A True Story About Christiansen's Ice Cream

Last week Wednesday evening two Belding fellows came down to the Strand show and one of them got a bag of groceries and a Christiansen Ice Cream ticket. After the show they got the package of ice cream and took it home to the folks in Belding—18 miles away and it got there in PERFECT CONDITION and the folks said they "Never ate better Ice Cream." That's what they all say and you can buy it with the CONE, GLASS, DISH, PINT, QUART or GALLON.

Introducing

The New SUITS for Fall

It's a showing well worth attending, for the new conceits of fashion and the smart style ideas are combined in these suits. The colorings, as varied as they are interesting, tend towards darker hues, with brown and heather shades leading in popularity. Young and older men, with a view to thrift as well as good style, will be attracted by this event. Prices are attractively low.
