Former Lowell Student Dies in Airplane Dive

Washington, Nov. 25.—Lieut. George T. Cuddihy, formerly of Grand Rapids, one of the navy's most experienced pilots, was killed Monday when the British Bristol bulldog airplane he was testing crashed in a dive from a 10,000-foot altitude and buried itself so far in the earth that only the feet of its pilot were visible above the plowed ground.

More than half an hour after the accident the naval personnel at the Anacostia air station were digging to extricate the body.

The crash took place at 9:53 a. m. Cuddihy had taken the plane aloft to test it. The ship had been delivered to the navy only last week. It was constructed to make 180 miles an hour with full military load and was of the class of latest fighting ships used by the British air forces.

Visibility Bad.
Visibility was none too good when the veteran navy pilot took the craft aloft. Persons at the air station estimated he lost control at 6,000 feet.

Air station officers said Cuddihy specifically was testing the plane's diving speed. He had reached an estimated elevation of two miles before entering the dive and when he attempted to draw out of the dive at about 6,000 feet, they said, the ship reared to right itself and tore downward nose first at terrific speed.

The nose of the ship plowed 10 feet into the earth.

Lieut. Cuddihy was one of the navy team to defend the Schneider cup in the international seaplane races in 1928 at Hampton Roads, Va.

Cuddihy was born at Alto Feb. 22, 1896. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cuddihy, O'Brien-rd., Route 5, Grand Rapids. He entered the naval academy in 1914 and was graduated in 1917. He was on the U. S. S. Mississippi until June, 1921, when he went to the naval air station, Pensacola, Fla., for aviation training. When he left Pensacola in December, 1921, he went to the aircraft squadrons with the battle fleet on the west coast.

In June, 1924, Lieut. Cuddihy left the west coast and came to the naval air station Anacostia, D. C. Oct. 25, 1924, he was a member of the team of navy pilots taking part in the naval air meet at Bay Shore, Md. In this meet he established a world's record for seaplanes at 188.82 miles per hour in a navy GR seaplane. He commanded the high speed aviation gunnery unit for the years 1922-23 and 1923-24.

Forced Down in Race.
Lieut. Cuddihy piloted a navy R3C1 seaplane in the Schneider cup race held near Baltimore on Oct. 25, 1925, and was forced down on the last lap of the course due to engine trouble. He was in second place at the time.

He also established a record for flying time between Philadelphia and Washington when he flew the navy Curtiss racer, the R2C2, which won the Pulitzer race in 1923 to Anacostia Naval Air station, a distance of 120 miles by air line, in exactly 32 minutes.

He was the second American airman to fly across the Andes mountains in South America. Lieut. James Doolittle of the army was the first.—(Grand Rapids Press.)

George T. Cuddihy was a student of the Lowell High school and graduated with the class of 1914. Superintendent Gumsier informs us that his records show that he was more than an average student.

FORMER SOUTH BOSTON COUPLE CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

In a clipping from a Phoenix, Arizona paper the account of the celebration of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Stannard was recently received by friends in Lowell. The celebration was arranged by relatives and friends was an informal affair at their Phoenix home. The Stannards have lived there twenty-three years and have witnessed many changes in the Salt River valley. Phoenix, Mr. Stannard described in retrospect as "only a little burg" and Mrs. S. recalls hitching the horse they drove in front of the old New York store, then wading through the mud on a shopping expedition. Mr. S., who, until his retirement a year and a half ago farmed a small tract of land. Gates, as he is familiarly known in and around Lowell graduated from Michigan Agricultural college over fifty years ago. It was partly because of his brother, J. D. Stannard, one of the engineers on the Roosevelt Dam project and partly because of ill health of Mrs. Stannard that they went to Phoenix.

Mr. and Mrs. Stannard lived in South Boston twenty-seven years on the farm now owned by Chris. Fahmi, Jr., opposite the farm home of his parents, Hon. and Mrs. A. S. Stannard, who were buried in a double grave in February 1906.

Gates and Jessie Story Stannard have many friends in Michigan who will be pleased to hear of this happy event in their lives.

LOWELL WOMAN'S CLUB.
The Lowell Woman's club met at the City hall club rooms Nov. 20th, in honor of Daughter's day. Mrs. W. W. Gumsier was chairman of the program and with her committee presented a very delightful entertainment. Two piano solos were played by Mrs. Harold Frost. Miss Margaret Lalley gave a solo dance, and a group of youngsters presented an operetta: "The Pink Parasol" with Mrs. Harvey Haysmer, accompanist. After the program the mothers were served ice cream and cake. Rep.

Mrs. Hoxie's Sufferings Are Over

Mrs. Martin Hoxie died Monday morning at her home on the Wilkinson farm in Keene after a long and painful illness. Funeral services were held at the home Wednesday afternoon, Rev. A. T. Gartland, officiating clergyman.

Mary Elizabeth, daughter of Orrin H. and Victoria Lawrence, was born in Scotland, Ontario, May 30, 1859.

Most of her life was spent in Lowell with the exception of two years in California with her niece, Mrs. Harriet Thyng. Previous to going there she was saleslady in the Stocking millinery store for several years. For a number of years, too, she taught a class of boys in the Lowell Methodist Sunday school.

In all her associations, she was a genial, friendly person and enjoyed a wide and warm acquaintanceship. She is survived by her husband, three sisters, and two brothers: Mrs. Julia Stone, of Pontiac; Mrs. Clara Hubbard, of Oakland, Cal.; Mrs. Will Brethour, Toronto; Charles O. Lawrence, Lowell; and Cyrus E. Lawrence, of Tacoma, Wash., besides many other relatives and a host of friends.

HOTEL FORT SHELBY REPRESENTATIVES VISIT LOWELL.
Maynard Smith, Jr., and Herbert A. Kline, of Hotel Fort Shelby, Detroit, were in Lowell Thursday and made The Ledger office a friendly call, remembering that the Lowell office was one of the Michigan Press party entertained at that splendid holiday last summer. The call rekindled memories that will invite repetitions of a delightful experience in years to come.

During the business meeting preceding the program, Mrs. Wm. Klahn, our able president, put the matter of having hot lunches in the school this winter up for discussion. It was unanimously decided to have hot lunches for the children, beginning December 1. It was also decided to donate a Thanksgiving basket to a worthy family needing such assistance, the contents being given by various members of the P. T. A.

When The Pilgrims Landed

On "the stern and rock-bound coast" they came, to found a new land dedicated to personal and religious liberty. Little did they dream of the great, prosperous land that this nation is now. Progress since the Pilgrims landed has been rapid, and is constantly accelerating.

But it was their forethought and prudence that laid the foundations of our present prosperity and freedom. Let us, too, be prudent, and exercise foresight, in order to ensure an even greater America in the future.

Do not waste. The Pilgrims could not!

Celebrate Thanksgiving by opening a savings account. It is the best thing you can do—and one dollar is enough to start.

PRESIDENT HAS NEW TELEPHONE NUMBER
This Is the Third Change in White House Telephone Number in Half a Century

The White House telephone number has been changed and the listing under United States Government in the newest telephone directory for Washington, D. C., is now:
"Executive mansion, 1600 Pa. Av. NW. National 1414."
This is the third telephone number the White house has had in the history of the telephone. When the first instrument was installed in the White House on May 10, 1878, it was listed as number 1. In 1900 a new exchange was established and the White House number became "Main 6." Main 6 continued as the number through the administrations of William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge. Now, however, due to the extension of service, it has become necessary to make a third change, and "National 1414" is the result. When Main 6 was established there were only 448 telephones in the city of Washington. When National 1414 became the White House number this year, Washington's telephones numbered about 154,000.
