Editor's Home Again Visited by Death Angel

Mrs. Frank M. Johnson passed away Monday at 5:20 p. m., at her home, 704 Monroe avenue, in Lowell, after a long decline, but a brief, last illness. Funeral services will be held at the home Thursday at 2 p. m., burial at Oakwood cemetery; Rev. A. T. Carland, officiating clergyman.

Myrtilla Dickerson, daughter of A. Cooper and Lavina Wood Dickerson, was born at Almont, Mich., Feb. 9, 1861. She graduated from Almont High school in the class of 1880, and was a classmate of Frank M. Johnson, whom she married two years later, Feb. 2, 1882.

In March 1884, they moved to Mayville, Mich., where they started the Mayville Monitor, which they continued for seven years, and which is still being published.

In 1891 they moved to Grand Rapids, and two years later to Lowell, where, together they started The Lowell Ledger, and to her aid in those trying years as compositor, reporter, and society editor very much of their moderate success is due.

In later years she has been glad to devote her time and limited energies to the care of her home and her family, in which, and with whom, she spent her happiest years.

She is survived by her husband and three children, James A. Johnson, of Hot Springs, New Mexico; Rob Roy, of Lowell, and Mrs. Ruth Oberlin, of Belding. Eleven months ago on Christmas morning came the greatest sorrow of Mrs. Johnson's life in the death of their oldest daughter, Mrs. Ola M. English, of Grand Rapids, a blow from which she never recovered. Three children, little ones, died during the family life in Mayville. Mrs. Johnson is also survived by seven grandchildren, upon whom she bestowed a wealth of motherly love and helpfulness.

She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and of Cyclamen Chapter, O. E. S., and for many years was an active and interested worker in the Clover Leaf Literary club.

Thanksgiving 1928, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson spent the last of twelve such happy days with their daughter Ola, in her Grand Rapids home. The Thanksgiving just past they planned to spend with their daughter Ruth in Belding, but her decline became so marked that the plan was changed, and the gathering was held at the Lowell home, Mrs. Oberlin bringing the dinner.

"The night is dark and I am far from home, Lead thou me on."

GOVERNOR GREEN CALLS AT EDITOR'S HOME

The Ledger office and Editor and Mrs. Johnson's home were honored Tuesday evening by a sympathetic call by Fred W. Green.

We feel that a man carrying upon his shoulders the cares of the great state of Michigan who will go so far out of his way to sympathize in person with a humble country editor is worthy of our profound respect. In behalf of Mrs. Johnson and my family I thank him most sincerely.
F. M. Johnson.

"Tea House of Sing Lo" December 12

The Music club of the High school will present "The Tea House of Sing Lo" as its annual operetta, December 12, at the Strand theater. The music scores were written by the well-known composer, Daniel Protheroe—the books and lyrics by Geoffrey F. Morgan.

The leading roles are taken by Emma Kroff and Emory Friesner, and they are supported by Bernice Yeiter, Orville Spencer, Ray Loveless, Margaret Lalley, Zona Rivette, Jack Peckham, Lawrence Biggs, and American and Chinese Choruses.

Business is dull at the Tea House of Sing Lo, due to the conservatism of the owner, who detests modern advertising methods.

J. Mortimer Maxwell, proprietor of "Sho-Glo" electric signs, arrives to capture the China market, accompanied by his wife, his daughter, June and his salesman, Bert McKee, who aspires to win June's hand.

Goaded by Bert, Maxwell agrees to the marriage, provided Bert proves his business mettle by selling a sign to Sing Lo, who has given orders to have all salesmen thrown out.

June suggests to Sing Lo's daughter the idea of increasing business by interesting fashionable patrons, and recommends a reception in honor of the new American Consul, Hon. Alexander Appletree. Bert is mistaken for the Consul, and is entertained with elaborate ceremony at the Tea House; while Appletree, arriving later, is thrown out by the porter.

Bert insists on an electric sign, and Sing Lo, fearing he will lose the favor of the supposed Consul, reluctantly departs from the customs of his ancestors and signs the proffered contract. Bert wins his bride, the real Consul is placated because of Sing Lo's progressive business policy, and the property of the Tea House is assured.

George Wilson Victim of Hit-Run Driver

Cadillac, Nov. 29.—Indignation was running high here today against a hit-and-run driver who fatally injured George L. Wilson, 72, shortly before daylight today. The injured man was thrown about 30 feet by the impact. He was taken to Mercy hospital, where he lived but a few hours.

Before he died Wilson said the car was traveling at a high rate of speed when it approached the cross-walk and had but one headlight burning. The by-stander cornered while Mr. Wilson was going to work at the St. Johns Tabac company.

Mr. Wilson is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. M. M. Van Valkenburgh and Mrs. Esther Van Meter, of Cadillac; two sisters, Mrs. H. A. Peckham and Miss Jeanette Wilson, of Lowell, and a brother, Milan, of Los Angeles.

Was Born in Lowell.
Mr. Wilson was born in Lowell in 1857 and had lived in Cadillac almost continuously since 1888. He was one of the oldest members of the Masonic lodge in this section.

SIGLER TO REMODEL STORE.
The Sigler Jewelry & Optical store is running a pre-Christmas sale to reduce the stock to make room for a more complete optical department.

On account of the increased optical-business Mr. Sigler has found it necessary to give more room to that department and add more equipment.

You will find a half page advertisement on the fourth page telling all about the wonderful bargains you can get by attending this pre-Christmas sale. Buy your Christmas needs while the price is low. Turn to page four, look over carefully and note the many useful items that will make cheerful Christmas presents.

LEST WE FORGET.
The Lowell Santa Claus girls have placed sealed boxes in the stores of R. Van Dyke, Martin Houseman, H. L. Weekes, A. L. Coons, C. D. Hodges, D. G. Look, O. J. Yeiter, W. Christensen, L. A. Weaver, M. N. Henry, R. D. Stocking, Warner & Scott, R. D. Hahn, Lowell State bank, City State bank, Mrs. Snelling's Millinery shop for your contributions to help give our needy children a happier Christmas. Every bit you give will be greatly appreciated and gives names published weekly. Sponsored by the Lowell Women's club.

FORMER LOWELL BOY DEAD IN CALIFORNIA.

Mange Estate Asked to Pay Bank's Loss

Grand Rapids, Dec. 2.—Claim of $90,285.99 against the estate of David G. Mange, former cashier of the Lowell State bank, of Lowell, was filed in probate court today by the bank which alleges this to be the amount of bonds, moneys and property converted and embezzled by Mange, while acting as cashier of the bank, prior to his death last June.

The statement is accompanied by an affidavit of Fred H. Swarthout, the present cashier.

It was not until after the cashier's death, it is said, that the shortage was discovered. The bank quickly made restitution in the case of private claims and the condition of the institution was not affected.—Detroit Free Press.

Editor's note: The Ledger was fully informed of the above state of affairs at the Lowell State bank very soon after Mr. Mange's death; but out of sympathy with the Mange family and in consideration of the interests of the entire community and with the knowledge that the bank officials and stockholders were pledged to protect the interests of the bank and its patrons to the last dollar publication has hitherto been withheld.

This has been done with the best interests of the entire community at heart.
F. M. Johnson.

WRIDE—CHATERDON.
A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Chaterdon at 11 o'clock Thanksgiving day, when their daughter, Mildred A., was united in marriage to Louis J. Wride, of Paris township by Rev. A. B. Lenke in the presence of only the immediate relatives.

After an Eastern trip Mr. and Mrs. Wride will be at home in Cascade, where they have the best wishes of their many friends.

ROTH—PLETCHER.
Announcements have been received by relatives and friends of the marriage of Miss Edith Lillian Pletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pletcher to William A. Roth, son of Carl Roth, on Friday, November 9, 1929, at Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Roth are enjoying a motor trip to Kentucky, and on their return will visit relatives in Chicago, Ill., and will make their home in Vergennes.

SPRINGER—YODER.
Aaron Springer, of Faybrook, Ill., and M. Catherine Yoder, of Bowne Center, were united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage Tuesday evening by Rev. A. T. Carland. They were accompanied by Elizabeth Yoder, of Bowne, and Dorothy Berkeley, of Lowell, sister and cousin of the bride.

LEGION FAIR A BIG SUCCESS.
The publicity department of the Legion was asleep at the switch last week and permitted the annual fair to pass on without due notice. We will take this belated opportunity however to tell the good folks of Lowell that the Chas. W. Clark Post, No. 152, of the American Legion considered the recent display at the City hall a huge success. The business men loyally supported the venture.

They made elaborate donations and they decorated the booths very beautifully, in short the merchants were very liberal in their support. The patrons also made a splendid contribution. Those who attended night after night dropped over a thousand dollars into the tills and the total donations brought a profit to the Legion coffers of more than six hundred "simoleons." This money will be used for community purposes. Those who provided the free entertainment between "whirls" put on a fine show. Their efforts were "knock-outs" in many respects. All in all, the affair was a splendid co-operative success and the Legion wants to thank the business men and the patrons for their support.

WANTED
A copy of the poem, "When One Must Go and One Must Stay." Any one having a copy of same will greatly oblige by leaving or sending it to The Ledger office at once.

Andy Mellon has cut down my size but not my purchasing power, thanks to Look's Christmas Drug store. They have practical gifts for everyone, priced so that part of me can stay in your pocket. Our stock of the popular copyright books, that is the seventy-five cent books, is the best ever. The five and ten cent Gibson Greeting cards can not be equaled in any line, and boys, if you could hear what the girls say about our toilet and manicure cases, you would say: Please save this one for me. We are laying them aside now, make your selection soon and have a gift that pleases.

The Homecoming

Each Christmas homecoming reminds us that the years are flying and gives us an opportunity to check our progress.

Are we progressing as the years fly by? Will we reach the goal we hoped to attain?

Are we doing as well as Brother George or John, or Cousin Bob?

Now is a good time to take stock-to lay plans to make some headway during the coming year.

A good banking connection is always a valuable aid to the progressive man or woman.
