LOWELL GETS IN LIMELIGHT

GROESBECK SUPPORTERS IN THE RECOUNT FIGHT PICK ON THIS TOWN—CHANGE US WITH HAVING TOO MANY VOTES—HOWEVER, ONLY TWO-THIRDS VOTED.

Reports from Lansing this (Thursday) morning are to the effect that the recount will be discontinued today, Groesbeck supporters admitting that they are unable to alter the result so far as the vote is concerned, but are hoping for delay through a Supreme Court mandamus to prevent the state board of canvassers certifying to Brucker's nomination.

The state-wide recount on the governorship, demanded by Alex J. Groesbeck, who was defeated by Walter M. Brucker on the face of the returns by about 5,000 votes, has been in progress at Lansing for several days, featured mainly by heckling and gagging, and threats of the Groesbeck lawyers to carry the matter to the State Supreme court whenever the disputes are not decided by the canvassing board according to their wishes.

Thus for something over one-third of the state's precincts have been recounted and the changes found amounted to practically nothing. Occasional errors have been discovered, sometimes favoring one candidate, sometimes the other, but no evidence of fraud had been produced.

Lowell came in for a lot of publicity in the state press of Tuesday, one assertion by Groesbeck supporters being to the effect that 185 more voters had been cast in Lowell than there were registered voters.

"It is to laugh," as Shakespeare would say. The truth is there are upwards of 1,500 voters in Lowell township, while only 903 votes were cast.

A recent charge that unregistered voters had cast ballots in the last election, Chris Bergin, clerk of Lowell township, is quoted as saying that he considered the registration of two years ago had taken care of that detail. He further said that no challengers appeared at the polling place and that there was nothing for him to do but accept the votes. "These persons have been voting right along in other elections," Mr. Bergin said. Mr. Bergin states that he had listed the addresses of the 41 absent voters in his township and that his books were open for inspection any time.

Vergennes township is also one of the spots upon which attention has been directed in the gubernatorial recount, Groesbeck supporters implying that too many absent voters ballots were cast in that township. Vergennes cast 70 absent voters ballots, Lowell 41, Grand Rapids township 5, Nelson 4, Plainfield 4, Solon 28, Sparta 17. Other townships none. The Ledger believes that those townships which failed to cast absent voters ballots could have had many such votes cast and that the absent voters in the other townships would have been much larger had the customary volunteer work been done in getting out those votes.

In regard to the matter of burning the applications for absent voters ballots in Vergennes, this was not done until after the voting. "Mrs. Ford, the town clerk, in no manner violated the law," Pros. Atty. Jonkman is quoted as saying, "as there is no provision saying they must be preserved."

Mrs. Ford pointed out that she had properly checked all absent voters on the poll lists and that she had another list, as required by law, showing when the applications were made, to whom, and when ballots were furnished, and when the ballots were returned.

Pros. Jonkman says further: "If members of election boards were liable to prosecution every time a man who had not registered managed to slip past them and vote, you would get very few to serve on the boards."

The recount of the Lowell vote at Lansing on Monday gave Groesbeck a gain of four and a loss of four—leaving the net result the same as before the recount, The Ledger is informed.

Attorney R. E. Springett, of Lowell, who, with several others from here has been acting on the recount a portion of this week, states that it is freely talked there that Groesbeck followers do not expect to win the recount, but that their real purpose is to delay matters in the hope that Brucker nor any other Republican candidate for governor can be certified in time for the November election.

It is true it is one of the most contemptible things ever committed in Michigan politics.

The one ray of sunshine in the whole affair is the fact that election boards everywhere—outside of Wayne county—are honestly conducted and it is gratifying to note that the state's traditions in that respect are being maintained.

On account of illness and absence from the office for a time, I would appreciate it if parties owing me would please settle their account by mail or leave the money at the house. Thank you.

That was a pretty good swipe "Uncle Marcus" gave the editor in last week's Cozy Corner when he credited us with being prolific. Rabbits have the same reputation.

It is unfortunate to lose a limb but fortunate that it can not be lost more than once, as James Bath, of Bangor, Me., can testify. Desiring to cross a railroad track, he misjudged the speed of a passenger train, which threw him for no gain, and nearly clipped off the end of his wooden leg.

Manitoulin Island, off the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula, was the scene of an interesting discovery of the McDonald-Warren expedition of archaeologists. They found the grave of an Indian chief, buried with all his treasures. It is thought now that he was buried 500 or 1,000 years ago. The skeleton is to be removed to the Warren foundation exhibition at Three Oaks. In the grave were found bear tooth necklaces, stone beads, an arrow and spear heads, all with markings of tribes which inhabited the region long before the coming of the white man.

A cat, presumably black, was the cause of a fatal accident near St. Joseph recently. The cat was riding in the rear of the car driven by John Rickers, of Joliet, Ill., when it jumped upon Rickers' neck. He lost control of the car and ran into a tree. His mother, Mrs. J. E. Rickers, was killed.

County Treasurer Thomas Vidro has received a check for $1,178,434.90, which is Kent county's share of the state primary school fund, and teachers of the county will now receive their pay without further delay. The townships receive $356,193.28 and the city of Grand Rapids $822,241.

The following is contributed by a Lowell business man: "A merchant who doesn't advertise is like a blind man throwing a kiss to his girl in the dark. He may know what he's doing but nobody else does!"

A fawn was recently killed by an automobile on a road near Webberville in Ingham county. The fawn was blinded by the car's headlights. It is believed that the animal was part of a small herd of deer that for the past few years has been roaming the woods and fields of Livingston and adjoining counties.

The open season for Florida Gallinules and Rails opens October 1 and closes November 30. The bag limit is ten in one day, 20 in possession at one time and 50 in a season. The same hours for hunting are in effect as for ducks.

Autumn officially arrived at 3:17 p. m., Tuesday, Sept. 23, bringing to many their favorite season with its colorful landscapes, invigorating air, harvest time, hunting season, and pumpkin pies, (huckleberry pies are but a memory now.) In his forecast for Fall, L. N. Pritchard, of Grand Rapids, phenologist and forecaster, judging by the stars sees a cool Fall with some extremes in weather. The general trend of temperatures will be somewhat below normal, he predicts, and the precipitation, which will be the heaviest during October and after the middle of November, will be slightly above normal. If there is to be a period known as Indian Summer, he pointed out, it will appear following October 20, when the weather will be fair, quiet and cool.

Ada Township Has Wildlife Sanctuary

Six wildlife sanctuaries having a total area of 788 acres were dedicated by their owners and accepted by the Conservation Commission at its regular September meeting.

One of the sanctuaries is that of Perry Archibald, Ada township, 80 acres, dedicated for five years. Others in this section are those of Anders Peterson, Montcalm township, Montcalm county, 40 acres, dedicated for five years, and Paul G. Brodbeck, Woodland township, Barry county, 260 acres, dedicated for five years.

The other sanctuaries dedicated are in the counties of Calhoun, Huron and Ottawa.

Five applications for sanctuaries were not approved by the Commission for various reasons, generally because the properties did not appear to be suitable for effective sanctuaries.

OAKLAND-PONTIAC SALES ON INCREASE

During the first 10 days of September new car sales by Oakland-Pontiac dealers throughout the United States increased 11 percent over sales during the corresponding period of August, while used car sales improved nine per cent.

These figures, released by W. A. Brees, vice-president in charge of sales for the Oakland Motor Car Company, tend to substantiate his recent assertion that the tide of business had seen its lowest ebb and that increased buying is bringing conditions back toward normal.

HIGH HONOR GIVEN STRAND

BRONZE PLAQUE AWARDED LOCAL THEATRE FOR SUPERIOR SOUND REPRODUCTION—CONGRATULATORY ADDRESSES BY PRES. O. J. YEITER AND REP. D. G. LOOK

A brief but interesting dedication ceremony took place at the Strand theatre last Thursday evening, the object dedicated being the "Award of Merit," a bronze plaque denoting the perfection and excellence that is achieved by the Strand in the presentation, projection and reproduction of talking and sound motion pictures.

The dedication program was opened by President O. J. Yeiter who emphasized the significance and importance of the plaque and complimented the theatre on attaining such distinction in sound reproduction. Mr. Yeiter then introduced Rep. D. G. Look, who stated among other things that many outsiders make Lowell their entertainment headquarters and complimented Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gallier on their enterprise in providing a high class theatre for the community.

Hollis Drew, manager of the Strand, responded by stating that the symbol, which now has a permanent resting place in the foyer of the theatre, makes worthwhile the hard work and headaches that were necessary to attain the distinction exemplified by the plaque.

A flashlight picture of the group was made by Chris Leonard, Ionia photographer.

The award, which was sponsored by the exhibitors Herald World, the leading trade publication of the motion picture industry carries with it the recognition and acclaim of the show world and brings home most forcibly the fact that Lowell has one of the finest small town theatres in the country.

Michigan Leads In Tree Planting

Holds Record for Entire United States—Plans Under Way for Planting 30,000 Acres Additional this Fall

The 27,820 acres planted in trees in Michigan last year constituted a record for the entire United States during the year 1929 according to a bulletin of the Federal Forestry Service.

At the end of the year 1929, the Forestry Bulletin says, a cumulative total of all forest plantings in the United States had reached 1,653,308 acres.

If planting conditions are favorable this fall, the Forestry Division of the Department of Conservation expects that the 1930 plantings by Michigan alone will be close to 30,000 acres. Approximately 16,000 acres of pine were planted by the state at the last spring season.

At the close of 1929, the Forestry Division had a record of 79,601 reforested acres in state forests. There are now 94,600 reforested acres and it is probable that this figure will reach close to 110,000 acres after the fall planting.

Notice No Change in Time

The Council of the Village of Lowell has received a petition from taxpayers and business men asking that Eastern Standard time be continued in the village the year around.

In consideration of the above it has been decided that until further notice Lowell will continue to operate under the present Eastern Standard time.

By order of the Common Council.
O. J. Brezina, Clerk.

MUSKRAT MEAT GROWING IN FAVOR

That muskrat meat is widely used as food and is frequently considered as a delicacy is indicated by a report of the Game Division of the Conservation Department showing that last year 2,578 muskrat carcasses were sold for food by various Michigan muskrat farmers. The carcasses, averaging about a pound of meat each, frequently sell for $2.00 a dozen.

Many muskrat trappers, it was said, value the meat as highly as that of other game. The dark rich meat of the beaver is also highly prized by Indians as food, and many white trappers emphatically agree with them. Beaver tail is considered the choice portion and a great delicacy. But there are comparatively few who have had the opportunity to sample beaver meat as the season has been closed in Michigan since 1919-20.

THE FOLKS BACK HOME

I've seen a lot of country
And I've met a lot of folks;
I've heard their hard-luck stories
And I've listened to their jokes;
I find most people friendly
In a "keep-your-distance" way—
But it's the folks I left back home
I long for, day by day.

The folks back home are friendly
And the folks back home are true,
And they wish me all good-fortune
In the things I try to do;
They seem to know how happy
They can make a fellow's heart
Just by showing him that friendship
Can live on, though friends may part.

I like to see new faces
And I'm glad to make new friends;
I hope to trudge new pathways
Till the day my journey ends;
But often I'll be turning
From the trails I chance to roam,
To greet my childhood comrades—
Those dear folks I left back home.

LOWELL BESTS Nat'l Leaguers

LEE, 46 TO 7

VISITORS PUT UP VALIANT GAME BUT ARE OUTPLAYED—TOTING THE BALL AND BLOCKING WERE FEATURES—GO TO GRAND HAVEN SATURDAY.

Lowell won the first county game by a decided margin last Friday. The score, 46-7, indicates the superiority of the locals in every department of the game. According to the report in the Grand Rapids Herald, Lee High School possessed a very promising squad of players and a most successful season was predicted for them by the critics. The visitors fought valiantly against defeat but could not cope with the attack of Coach Finch's protégés.

About thirty local boys saw service in this encounter and many of them were almost new to the game. It was while the "third team" was on the field that Lee scored its only touchdown. The regulars advanced the ball at will, and they were good on defense, except against forward passes. Laver, Baird, Broadbent, Waters, Bergin, and Friesner all toted the oval for long gains. Laver and Broadbent, aided by beautiful blocking by Stall, Sterkins, Friesner, Baird, and Waters made gain after gain.

Lowell's ball carriers continued to improve and if the line continues to assist in clearing blocking, the fans will be assured of seeing Lowell cross the opponent's goal line in every game. For the first time the fans saw the locals complete several haling forward passes. Other lining up to receive special mention for splendid work are Johnson, Dinsen, Curt, Roberts, Swanson and Hartley. Other boys who looked good while in the game are Stormanz, Bergin, Maloney, Ross, Weaver, Peckham, Runci-mahon, Brown, and others.

One of the outstanding features of the game was the return of a punt by Emery Friesner. This boy squirmed and dodged his way 30 yards through a broken field. Bruce McMahon also turned the trick a little later.

Play at Grand Haven Saturday
The next home game will be on October 25 when Lowell enters Ontario Rockford. Up until that time Lowell will be on the road. The biggest game of the season for Lowell will be next Saturday when they will be pitted against Grand Haven, always one of the strongest "Class B" outfits in the state. Grand Haven boasts a squad of veterans this year and they are out to atone for the game last year when Lowell held them to a tie. The game will be played at Grand Haven.

Re-appointed Rowe Delightful Hostelry

This forward looking innovation but supplements the charm of the Rowe—and confirms its choice for conventions and banquets as well as the satisfactory "Hotel Home," for the visiting public.

The Rowe Hotel is one of the most popular in the Middle West. Its furniture is made by the artisans of Grand Rapids, famous the world over for the style and quality of their work, for the Rowe, of course, is located in the Furniture Capital of America. Its great lounges, its comfortable big easy chairs are the products of Grand Rapids' stories, with covers in dignified harmony, rich and restful.

Carpets and rugs throughout the Rowe Hotel are deep, soft and beautiful. Decorations are rich but not garish. Rooms are well ventilated, immaculate and comfortable, finely furnished without being crowded.

The cuisine is a service of which the management may justly boast, with the result that this hotel is the popular one for the transient public as well as luncheon clubs and other group gatherings. The English room particularly presents a most admirable opportunity for such gatherings and is consistently in great demand.

Every desired service is rendered efficiently, gladly and with precision that guests may enjoy a complete sense of comfort, with refinement.

Located in the heart of Grand Rapids' business district, yet removed from the area of "honest noise," the Rowe offers a "Hotel Home" of convenience for any gathering, and one of refreshing entertainment and rest for the traveler. Charmingly "new," the Rowe Hotel in Grand Rapids, Michigan, is one of the outstanding ones of America and its welcome is genuine.

THREE CARS IN SERIOUS WRECK

ONE MAN SUFFERS SKULL FRACTURE, TWO OTHERS LESS SERIOUSLY HURT AND TWO CARS TOTALLY DEMOLISHED IN FOG ON M-21 EARLY MONDAY MORNING.

One man in a Grand Rapids hospital with a skull fracture and two other persons, a man and a woman injured, but fortunately not seriously, two automobiles totally wrecked and one car badly damaged, tell the story of a head-on collision which occurred in a misty fog just before sunrise last Monday morning.

The scene of the accident was on M-21, a short distance west of Lowell. Marshall Fred Gramer, a Grand Rapids Sheriff, Charles Knapp were on the scene within a few minutes, and under their direction the injured people were cared for and the highway cleared of the wreckage. J. R. Meyers, 44, of Onsted, a construction contractor and his sister-in-law, Miss Minnie Doble, telephone operator in Grand Rapids hotel, were brought to the office of Dr. Shepard and Alland, where their injuries, which were found not to be serious, were cared for, while Arthur Jipping, 23, was taken to a Grand Rapids hospital by Fred Reusser, where it was found he had suffered a skull fracture and other injuries about the head and body. Roy Haas, of Ionia, was the driver of the third car involved in the accident.

It is declared that the parties involved in the accident are unable to tell how it occurred. Mr. Myers, driving a Dodge, and Mr. Haas driving a Maxwell, were both going west. Mr. Jipping, who received the most serious injuries, was driving east in a Chevrolet roadster. At any rate the Dodge and Chevrolet came together almost head-on. Whether one of the cars was traveling on the wrong side of the road or the two cars traveling in the center of the highway when they came together, has not been determined at this writing.

However, one man is at death's door, and two cars are wrecked beyond repair.

There was a rising and falling fog and the sun was not yet up. The conditions were such that moderate speed and caution were imperative.

It is stated that Jipping, who sustained the fractured skull was held on a charge of negligent homicide in Grand Rapids about a year ago, after his car had killed a pedestrian on one of the streets in that city, but the case was dismissed in court.

Improve Schedule on Lansing Coach Line

Effective last Sunday a new better service went into effect on the Lansing-Ionia-Grand Rapids coach line. Among the more important changes will be found improved Sunday service. Busses going west can now be taken at Lowell as early as 9:55 a. m. and going east as late as 4:25 and 7:35 p. m. The first bus west week days leaves Lowell at 8:35 a. m., and going east at 7:35 a. m., with eight other busses each way at various hours during the day. The complete schedule showing the hour of all stops at all points will be found in another page of The Ledger. A. A. Schubel, general manager of the Coach line, is striving hard to give patrons of his line the very best of service. Patrons can operate materially in aiding this service by buying tickets before boarding busses.

The Lowell stop is at Henry's drug store, telephone No. 30, where tickets are on sale.

Erwin Fineis and Bride Held Up By Bandits While on Honey-moon Trip

To be held up and robbed in a gas station holdup in the small hours preceding dawn is an experience not soon to be forgotten by a bride and groom of this community and their attendants.

The groom was Erwin Fineis, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Fineis, of Lowell, and his bride, Miss Elva Settles, of Hastings, Mich. They were married Saturday, Sept. 20, at South Bend, Ind., and were attended by Gerald Fineis, brother of the groom, and Miss Opal Dintaman, of Alto. After the wedding ceremony the party started on their return trip, stopping for gas at Higman Park, near Benton Harbor.

While the bride and her attendant were in the rest room the groom and his friends were held up by five bandits entered. They compelled the proprietors of the place and Erwin and Gerald Fineis and four other patrons to lie down on their faces, taking about $150 from the cash register and all the money and jewelry worn by those present. The winners took $1,000 in prize money while the losers won $600 as a runner up. South Bend scored two runs in the first inning and maintained their lead to the end, though Lowell scored in the first and sixth and two more in the eighth.

The winners made 13 hits, of which two were doubles and one a triple, to the losers' nine safeties, of which two were doubles. The victors made one error and it cost a run. They compelled the proprietors of the place and Erwin and Gerald Fineis and four other patrons to lie down on their faces, taking about $150 from the cash register and all the money and jewelry worn by those present. One of the proprietors was taken and gagged with one of the robbers and his wife was knocked down. Another proprietor was shot through the stomach as he attempted to run out of the building and is in a critical condition. When the bride and Miss Dintaman opened the rest room door they were much surprised to see a man standing at the cash register with a gun in his hand and their men lying on the floor. It did not take them long to slam and lock the rest room door, where they remained until the affair was over.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Fineis will doubtless remember the honeymoon ride, but can be thankful they escaped bodily injury and their friends are congratulating them upon that fact, as well as wishing for them a long, happy and prosperous journey through life.

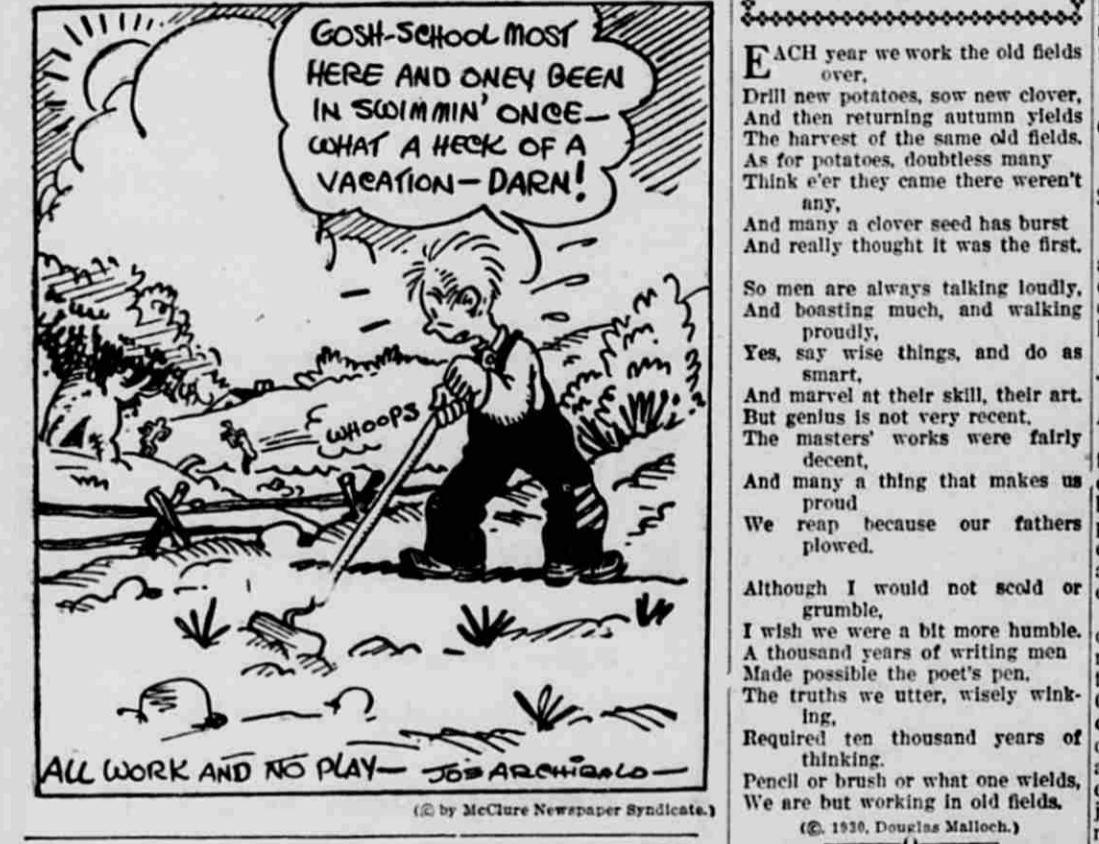

The bride is a popular Hastings lady and has been acting as secretary to the school commissioner of Barry county. The groom is one of Lowell's hustling and progressive business men, being active in the management of the Fineis Oil company.

Kiddies' Evening Story By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Lazy Singing David was certainly having a wonderful time. He had never, in all his life, believed that the creatures of the map could be so jolly and entertaining and interesting outside the school books and outside of school hours.

They were lots of fun to know, and they gave him delicious meals and told him about themselves and let him adventure all over their lands.

He would not have missed this trip for anything!

Not for anything in the world!

How splendid, too, that he could know about these creatures from themselves, instead of simply reading about them, or looking at them on the maps.

Now he was visiting a member of the Zonga family over in Africa known as Torrid Zone, and while the Island of Madagascar, a jolly soul, was giving him some delicious food they both sang to him.

As he was eating Torrid began this song:

I'm Torrid Zone and I hate the cold, And I'd shiver up and grow quite cold, If I had to bundle up.

Clothes would be such a bore, Clothes would be such a chore, Clothes would bother me.

If we meet You feel the heat So do not wear too much.

It was the kind of a song for a hot day, David thought, but the verses all so lazily different, but he didn't say anything, for Madagascar had just shouted:

"The chorus!" And then they both sang:

Oh, how they stand it far up north we never, never understood, We'd be so cold, we'd be so cold, we never could be good.

But here we feel at home, you see, for it is home to us, And though you find it pretty warm we never could make a fuss— For it's Madagascar, And Madagascar's home.

Oh, how they stand it in your home with winters cold and still, Is something we just do not see and doubtless never will, We'd hate the snow, we'd never glow.

But here we like the warm air so, for it's Madagascar, It's Madagascar, And Madagascar's home.

"But you said you did have snow on some of the mountain peaks where you wandered," David said to Torrid.

"Yes," agreed Torrid, "in a few high places. But that's different from living in a snowy, cold climate."

"Very different," agreed Madagascar.

"When you wander around the southern part of Africa you'll know that my brother Torrid is a South Temperate Island."

"South Africa and Australia have summer when you have winter."

"That seems funny," commented David.

"Funny but true. That is what you would call a true joke," Torrid explained.

David was a little doubtful if that would be the best thing to call it, but before he had a chance to say anything more

Wind came back for him, and they flew back to the mainland, across Mozambique and the Zambesi river and Rhodesia until they came to the Victoria falls, right in Rhodesia.

Seals Learn to Swim How seals learn to swim is described in the Sydney Bulletin.

On the outgoing inlets south of Stewart Island they congregate in the breeding season. On one inlet hundreds of them gather round a large rock pond which apparently has been used for generations as a swimming school for the infant seals.

When the time arrives for a baby seal to learn to swim the mother conducts her unwilling offspring to the brink, and, supporting the pool. The youngster, unused to the icy water, protests loudly all the time, and makes off directly he reaches land. After a while his mother will seek him again and drag him, whimpering to the water.

The protest goes on for several days, until the youngster can swim and dive, by which time he spends most of his time in the pool swimming nursery handi-caps.
