PLAYGROUND GREAT BOON

ACTIVITIES PAST SUMMER AT HIGH POINT—MISS MARY-AN ASHLEY THE CAPABLE LEADER—LEGION AND THE BOARD OF TRADE PROVIDE APPARATUS

Playground activities at Recreation park the past summer were doubtless at the highest point and very popular and beneficial as well with the children of the community. The children's various activities were ably directed by Miss Maryan Ashley.

The apparatus on the grounds was placed there through the generosity of the Lowell Board of Trade and the American Legion, the former building two double cement tennis courts and the Legion furnishing the swings, merry-go-round, teeters and slide. The courts and slide were in almost constant use during the summer.

For the smaller children the village placed sand boxes under the trees that border the park on the west and these were occupied most of the time during each day.

Few communities are as fortunately situated as is Lowell in regard to its recreational facilities. The park is but a few minutes' walk from any part of the town. Visitors frequently speak of its good appointments which include a good grandstand, baseball diamond, football ground and half-mile track in addition to the playground facilities first mentioned. These features, combined with the beautiful trees on three sides, form a setting of which we may all be proud and of which we should be appreciative.

Standard Oil Co. To Use the Ledger In Ad Campaign

Autumn campaigns to advertise premium gasoline and new motor oils have been started by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. Large ads will be used in more than 1,550 newspapers in thirteen middle west and Rocky Mountain states in this major undertaking to assist marketing by use of newspaper space. The Lowell Ledger is one of the papers selected by the Standard Oil Company.

The advertising of gasoline will undertake to impress on the motoring public the great success the company has achieved in sales of its premium product, New Red Crown Ethyl, and will feature the endorsement of the product has received also from independent dealers who are handling gasoline on a reseller basis. "Amazing Acceptance," "First in the Field," and "Evidence" are to be catchwords of the campaign.

The motor oils advertising will consist of a series of ads which will strikingly picture and explain the ability of the Winter grades of the new oils to flow at freezing temperatures when other oils tested remain solid.

Spring and early Summer advertising smashes, coupled with vigorous selling effort, have greatly increased popularity of the premium gasoline, Red Crown Ethyl. The new oils, Iso-Vis and Polarine, have also achieved an outstanding success on the market.

Household Problems to Be Discussed Here Wednesday

Homemakers of today are finding the problem of buying for their homes more and more complex, in spite of pure food laws, truth in fabrics legislation and similar measures of protection. How to get value received for money expended will be the subject of study in the new Home Economics extension project, "Problems of the Household Buyer," starting next week in Kent County.

Leaders from groups in Eastern Kent will meet at the Lowell school on Wednesday, Oct. 22.

GARDEN LORE CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

The Garden Lore club held their annual meeting Tuesday, Oct. 14, at the home of the president Mrs. L. E. Johnson. A goodly number were present and elected their officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Maude Van Dusen; vice president, Mrs. Edna Hunter; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mable Harker. The hostess served lovely refreshments. This was the final meeting of the year.

AGED MAN INJURED

Michael O'Brien, of Lowell Center, was quite badly injured Tuesday when he fell while ascending the porch steps. Mr. O'Brien is 93 years old and is well-known to Lowell people as he assisted in the construction of most of the brick blocks here.

FALL HARVEST CROP REPORT

STATE POTATO CROP LOWEST SINCE 1916—OATS AND BARLEY ABOVE AVERAGE — CORN, TAME HAY DOWN— GRAPES, PEARS, GOOD

The volume of late crops being harvested by Michigan farmers this fall is considerably below the average of recent years, according to the estimates released Oct. 11 by the office of the Agricultural Statistician. Although spring grains yielded well above average, the late crops, with the exception of grapes and pears, were reduced by the drought which continued practically unbroken in many localities from the latter part of July until late September. Rainfall during the past month was more than one inch below normal for the Lower Peninsula, and in many sections, it came too late to be of much benefit to potato crop. Harvesting of beans and fall fruits has progressed rapidly during September due to favorable conditions and the advanced nature of the season.

The Michigan potato crop promises to be the second smallest of the last thirty-one years, the yield per acre from early reports being the lowest since 1916. The total production as estimated on October 1 was for a crop of 16,043,000 bushels as compared with 18,410,000 bushels last year and 30,249,000, the average for the ten years 1920-29. The crop was favored by a longer growing season this year, heavy frosts not being general until the last few days of the month. Last year killing frosts were quite general September 18 to 20.

The longer growing season was also beneficial to the bean crop. The estimated production of field beans amounts to 5,165,000 bushels as against 5,691,000 bushels last year. Average production for the ten years 1920-29 was 5,626,000 bushels. The probable yield is now estimated at 6.2 bushels per acre, returns being best on the heavy land of Saginaw Valley and the Thumb and Light.

ALMYRA KRUM McCALL

Almyra Krum, daughter of Mary and William Krum, was born Sept. 20, 1850 in Vergennes, where she spent the younger days of her life. She was married to Henry McCall, living in Vergennes for a few years, then moving to Barryton, later moving to Ewart, where they lived for fifteen years, where she passed away Monday, Oct. 6, 1930. To this union were born two sons, Harry, of Albion and Harley, of Rockford, who, with the husband and other relatives survive. Funeral services were held at the home Oct. 8, 1930, and burial in Oakhill cemetery in Grand Rapids. Those from Lowell attending the funeral were Mrs. Lora Blair and daughter Evelyn, Mrs. Sarah Jones, Mrs. Frank Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. D. Krum, and Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Krum and Mrs. Edna Crates.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A birthday surprise party was given Mrs. Ray Covert at their home last Thursday evening. The evening was spent in games and visiting. A luncheon was served to the many present, and at a late hour after wishing Mrs. Covert many happy returns, and voting a good time departed for their respective homes. Those from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. W. Converse and son Glenn, and daughter Ruth, and Peter Petersen and daughters, Joy and Virginia.

Twenty-five communities have enrolled for the project which is still open for membership.

BETTER BODIES AIM OF PUPILS

HABIT HEALTH CARDS RECEIVED WITH ENTHUSIASM BY PUPILS OF CITY AND RURAL SCHOOLS — PUPILS DO THEIR OWN MARKING— WEAKEST POINTS FOUND.

Much enthusiasm is manifest amongst teachers over the new health habit cards which have been distributed recently to all city and rural teachers. "Build a Better Body" is the war cry of each young health crusader when the cards are marked daily in the classroom. In the suburbs and rural areas the work is done in grades 3 to 8 inclusive, by the Grand Rapids Anti-tuberculosis Society in co-operation with Allen M. Freeland, school commissioner. The work is conducted in grades 3 to 6 inclusive in city schools by the tuberculosis society in co-operation with Leslie A. Butler, Superintendent of Schools. More than 20,000 of these attractive cards are now in the hands of our boys and girls, and being supervised by teachers.

Little change has been made in the well-known laws of good hygiene. The value of sufficient rest for proper growth is emphasized on these new cards in a sleep schedule which shows that children 4 to 7 require 12 hours of sleep; 7 to 9 years, 11 hours; 9 to 12 years, 10 hours; 12 to 16 years, at least 9 hours. The habit card stresses the drinking of at least four glasses of water daily, milk instead of coffee or tea and vegetables besides potato.

The children are to mark these cards just a week or two each month and from their marks the teacher can learn which good health rule is most frequently broken. Her teaching can then be directed against their weakest point. Because parents are, in the final analysis, responsible for the habits of their children, space is allowed on the back for the signature of one of the parents each month. The Anti-tuberculosis Society feels that this tie-up gives the card more educational value. It also feels that if rest, good food, fresh air, and sunshine are the strongest weapons in the cure of tuberculosis, it is more economical and sensible to use these weapons to prevent disease.

Lowell Grid Outfit Downs Ionia, 6-0 in Annual Valley Tilt

In winning over their friends at Ionia last Saturday in their annual tilt the local team displayed the poorest brand of football of the season. We do not mean to detract from the opposition, for the Ionians showed a well-coached team full of fight and pep. But we feel that Lowell is "off form" Saturday. Every team is bound to have an "off day" during a season. This is especially true if the schedule is long and difficult. Lowell has conquered four class "B" schools this year and the task has been a difficult one. We hope that the "let down" came last Saturday, for unless a better brand of football is displayed in the future Lowell will surely be defeated in at least two of the remaining games. The less we say about the game at Ionia the better. We will sum it all up by saying that we commend the boys for playing a clean game.

On Friday the team travels to Sparta where a close game is expected. Neither team has been defeated, and both outfits will strive to remain in the running for county honors. According to dope the fans will be treated to a real contest.

Rockford Here October 25.
The keenest sort of rivalry will be renewed on a Saturday, Oct. 25, when Rockford comes to Lowell. Rockford has a good team and is out for Lowell's scalp. Rockford has not been defeated thus far this season.

On Cigarettes, Luxuries; Is Opposed to Sales Tax

Expressing an opinion that the theory had not as yet been developed to a point where it would be advisable to lay the Michigan levies upon cigarettes, luxuries, and other items of a nature that would be subject to a general sales tax, he said, in the belief such a levy would be oppressive to working men of moderate income, who, because of their larger families, would be compelled to bear an inequitable proportion.

"If we could level off the school taxes," declared Webster H. Pearce, state superintendent of public instruction, "you could level off the whole tax, and we could give the men and women of Michigan a nearer equal burden of taxes from all sorts. In renewing her subscription to The Ledger, Mrs. Clarence Smith, of Albion, Mich., expresses kindly wishes for former Lowell friends.

A picture of a street scene in Lowell more than 60 years ago has excited a great deal of interest during the past few days, the picture having been found back of a stairway in South Boston Grange hall, where it has doubtless laid hidden away for several decades. The picture was brought to Henry's drug store and many of our older citizens have been called upon to give the date of the taking of the picture. Mr. Ed. Clark, who operated a woolen mill here many years ago, says the business block shown in the background was erected in 1867. This is the block in which The Ledger is now located and over the doorway in those days was a sign reading "Hunt & Hunter, Druggists." Adjoining this store on the east was the retail store of the "Lowell Chair Factory."

while on the west was the store of "Noah & Stone, Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes."

In the street in front of these stores stands a hearse of that period, drawn by a single white horse. The driver of the hearse has been identified as Wallace Lange and it is stated that the outfit was owned by John Kopf, the undertaker of the village at that time. There may be other old timers able to make further identifications of scenes shown in this old picture. If so, the Ledger will be glad to make further mention.

Ruth Chatterton Star Attraction In Dramatic Play

The management of the Strand Theatre announces a rare treat for its patrons beginning on Sunday next.

Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brook will appear in another fascinating talkie—one which is said to contain an even greater amount of dramatic and romantic punch than the two earlier successes of these capable favorites.

The picture is "Anybody's Woman." It is the story of the vagrancies of a misfit marriage. Brook is seen as the prosperous young lawyer, who indulges in a prolonged orgy after his wife divorces him to marry another man. One morning, after a night of insensate drunkenness, he wakes up to find that he has been married to Ruth Chatterton, an unrefined, lawdry, down-at-the-heels actress.

His friends forsake him after he "straightens out," and begins again his respectable pursuit of business. Ruth sees him losing his prestige and decides that she will leave him for the sake of his standing in society. She goes away, although she loves him more than anything in the world. He carries on without her, but before long discovers that there is an emptiness in life that can only be filled by this woman. After a series of dramatic episodes they are brought together again for a finale that is pleasing to all.

Useful Life Ends With Passing of Mrs. J. E. Tower

Mrs. James E. Tower, for thirty years a valued correspondent of The Lowell Ledger, passed away at her home at Fallsburg Monday morning, Oct. 13, aged 72 years. Funeral services were held at the home Wednesday at 2 p. m., Rev. A. T. Cartland, officiating clergyman; burial in Fallsburg cemetery.

The large attendance of old neighbors and friends, many of them from a distance, attested to the high esteem in which Mrs. Tower was held, a fine tribute to a beautiful and well-spent life.

Minnie Adaline Tower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Land, was born at Waterford, Mich., Sept. 25, 1858. At the age of 18 she united with the Presbyterian church in Grand Rapids. For several years she was employed as stenographer in the office of her uncle, H. F. Welch, circuit court stenographer for Kent county. She was united in marriage in 1886, to James E. Tower, of North Dakota, where they lived for nine years. For the past thirty-five years their home has been at Fallsburg.

Besides her devoted husband and her sister, Mrs. Eva Steketee, of Grand Rapids, who has given her most loving care and companionship throughout a long decline and illness, Mrs. Tower is mourned by a nephew, George Steketee, a cousin, Hadley Welch, numerous other relatives and a host of friends limited only by the wide circle of her acquaintance.

AUTUMN DAYS CHEER BERLIN

LETTER GIVES GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF NIGHT VISIT OF GRAF ZEPELIN—RUSSIAN GRAIN COUP AND EUROPEAN POLITICS DISCUSSED.

Extracts from the following letter from Prof. and Mrs. Robert D. Horn who left early in September for Berlin, Germany, will be read with much interest by people of this community. The letter is furnished The Ledger through the courtesy of Mrs. Charles H. Horn, of Lowell, mother of Prof. Horn.

Prof. Horn is head of the English department of the University of Oregon, and is spending a year abroad in research work. The letter was penned by Mrs. Horn's daughter-in-law:

Berlin, September 25, 1930.
Dear Mother and all—
"These days are lovely ones—and the people here are talking about the beautiful autumn. They had no summer to speak of, and these sunny days are cheering. There are occasional rain showers, but they don't amount to very much. We go out in all weather, and really get more exercise than ever before. We walked for four hours yesterday afternoon, and the day before. It is the way to learn a city, we think—for we go through fine sections and poor ones. There is still much to see inside many of the buildings and museums, but as far as Berlin itself goes—we know it.

"We even had to come to Berlin to see the Graf Zeppelin. It was due to fly over the city after its return from Moscow, at 11 o'clock the night of the 23rd. We thought that we needed rest, and decided against going out in the street at that hour to wait for it. We were already sleeping when I awoke and heard voices down below our window. They seemed so wide awake that I remembered that the city was on the lookout for the Zeppelin. Suddenly there came a heavy buzzing—I flew out of bed and over to the windows—and looking almost straight up—there it was making its path directly overhead where we could see—the tremendous glowing bulk. It frightened—its size was so awful—it moved so quickly—from the left, then overhead, then it was gone. That great thing, a shimmering gray pearl in the night, secure in the steady drive of its engines—it had come and gone in the flash of a few seconds.

"There is a Swiss living at our pension. He has traveled through the world, lived in Bombay recently, speaks many languages. He deals in grains. He is now employed by a German firm, brokers I think, in wheat. He has daily cables from all over the world—news of the wheat market. Yesterday he told us that the worst had happened for (Continued on page five.)

Moseley Downs Cubs In Good Base Ball Game

The largest crowd of the season saw Moseley beat "Fallsburg Cubs" 14 to 11 last Sunday, but Fallsburg claims it took a Parnell pitcher, and three A. C. players as pinch hitters in the eighth to do it. Morse and Brooks featured with home runs for the Cubs.

MUST NOT ALLOW WAYNE CONTROL

Ledger Urges Full Registration and Vote on Redistricting Amendment

We hope every voter of Kent county and all of Michigan outside of Wayne county, will oppose the amendment which will be submitted at the November election for redistricting this state on the basis of population for representation in both houses of our state legislature.

This amendment was not submitted to the voters by an act of the legislature. Petitions were largely circulated in Detroit, and to some extent in Grand Rapids, calling for the submission of this amendment. When the requisite number sign such petitions, as they did in this case, the state government has no option—it must submit the amendment.

If the carelessness of the people of Michigan who live outside of Detroit and Wayne county shall permit this amendment to become a law, Wayne county will get 40 per cent of the membership of both the house and the state senate. As we have said before, this means putting the city of Detroit in the saddle; for, with 40 of the 100 members of the house and with 13 of the 32 members of the senate, it will be possible, with this solid block of votes in each legislative body, to do enough trading, especially with the upper peninsula and with Grand Rapids, for Detroit to put across almost any kind of bill that may be desired by that city. The amendment as proposed, if adopted would, in case the legislature failed to redistrict the state, require the secretary of state to perform that duty, thus putting upon one man the responsibility of redistricting the whole state on the basis of population. That would be one-man government with a vengeance.

An organization is being perfected in Detroit for the purpose of getting out every elector in that city to vote for this amendment. We notice by the Detroit Free Press that an organization is also being perfected in the townships of Wayne county for the same purpose. Unless the

Berets of White Velvet or Colorful Chenille

That black canton crepe frock of yours will take on new swank if topped with a beret shirred of transparent thin-as-chiffon white velvet, or else made of wide velvet ribbon. A chenille beret, crocheted or embroidered, in matching color is just the thing with your new wine colored or dark green light woolen frock.

Nothing to Play With Opportunity goes only so far. We should not assume that the prosperity built here by our fathers is perpetual. The economic history of modern civilization is strewn with the ruins of once mighty edifices of business power.—American Magazine.

That's Something Little Mary was sent to a strange school, so was somewhat bewildered and inattentive. Her first test came suddenly and by surprise. Little Mary's grade was just one below hers. She came home and told about it, explaining that only four in the class had passed. "But," said her father, "why were you not one of the four who passed?" Little Mary was distressed for a moment, then said triumphantly: "But, daddy, I was the best failure."

Just Try It! Of course, you all know how to make ordinary paper darts, don't you? Here is a little hint that will make them glide so gracefully. Make your dart fairly large, out of stiff paper, and when it is finished push a wire paper fastener over the end, so that it is weighted slightly. Now you will find that when you throw your dart high up into the air it will glide down ever so gracefully.

SCOUT NEWS

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Dear Ledger Editor: Your son told me the other day that you were glad to get news for your paper about Scouting. At his suggestion we are going to try and give you a bit each week about the troop, their projects and advancement.

We meet each Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. The first part of the meeting we consider the business end of Scouting. Reports on dues, attendance, projects for entire troop and patrol reports. After this we are to spend time for test passing and assisting lower rank Scouts in advancing.

Charles Houseman is Troop scribe.

Gerald Yeiter is Patrol leader of the Eagles. His assistant is to be chosen by a contest in advancement in Scout rank. The Scout first obtaining 300 points is to share the leadership of this Patrol.

Frank Van Dusen is the Wolf Patrol leader.

Robert Lee is Fox Patrol leader.

There are three complete Patrols of eight boys and any one whose interest does not keep him active will be replaced by the new recruits we are sure to find.

Plans for hikes and at least two over night camps are already made, before cold weather prevents so active an outdoor program.

Although Scouting is primarily a training for "Being Prepared," fun is not forgotten and contests in volley ball and basket ball are carried on with keen rivalry between patrols.

Fun troop committee: W. W. Gumscher, chairman; A. Lemke, G. D. Cook, C. E. Freyermuth, J. R. Stryker.

Scoutmaster, A. F. Zwemer; assistant Scoutmasters, L. E. Miller; William Van Vorst.

Parents and friends are always welcome to visit us at our meetings.
