WARM BATTLE ENDS WORK OF SUPERVISORS

COUNTY BUDGET FIXED AT $1,313,684.50 — ATTEMPT TO DEFEAT ROAD PROGRAM FAILS—COUNTRY AND CITY LINES DRAWN ON RENTAL PROPOSITION.

An injunction is being prepared against Maurice Post, chairman of the Kent County Board of Supervisors, restraining the board from executing a lease to the city of Grand Rapids, for the old road Commission property on Michigan street in Grand Rapids, for $501 yearly rent. This property is now under lease for $3,000 a year and the rental of $501, as put through by city members of the board, would mean a distinct loss to the county of $2,499 a year.

The October session of the Kent County Board of Supervisors ended last Friday. The board adopted a county budget of $1,313,684.50.

This means a tax rate for county purposes about $1 higher than the $2.60 rate last year. The budget was approved 30 to 22, after effort to strike out the entire road program and the $6,000 appropriation for a county health unit had failed.

Grand Rapids' share of the county tax total is slightly over 78 per cent and for the county outside slightly under 22 per cent.

Sup. Kirkwood led the attack on the road program, supported by Mayor Karel, of Grand Rapids.

The health appropriation was allowed to stand on the plea of its boon to suburban townships. The question of selecting a county physician will be determined at an adjourned session to be held Dec. 8.

The budget setup presents a grand total for general purposes that will stand near $955,021, to which is added $282,340.88 for roads, $65,000 for airport and $22,113.50 for county parks. The salaries item in the general budget is $298,078.45.

A warm battle followed the introduction of a resolution by Sup. Veldman providing that the county lease to the city at an annual rental of $500 for three years the old road commission property at Michigan st. and Division ave., Grand Rapids. The property has been renting for $3,000. City supervisors were successful in forcing the issue and the rental was fixed at $501. In plain language this was a steal from the county on the part of city supervisors.

Chairman Maurice Post named Supervisors Souter, Parks, Kennedy, Collins, Hilton, Hunsberger and Emmons to the committee to collaborate with a committee to be named by the Grand Rapids Association of Commerce to confer on the matter of making the West Michigan fair a state institution.

Would Make Highways Safe For Pedestrians

The Kent County Road Commission announces it is working for proposed legislation to permit the construction of sidewalks along state trunkline highways and main county roads.

This action is in accord with a move by the Michigan Association of Road Commissioners and Engineers for a statute covering the same subject. It was explained that under present conditions there is no legal way for the construction of these improvements, no matter how badly they are needed.

The road commission also announces it is behind another statute which would permit the State Highway Department to pay the entire cost of bridges and grade separations at the city limits.

Under present law the city must pay half where the population of the city is more than 16,000.

MARY LOTT DAILEY DIES

Mrs. Mary Lott Dailey, of North Keene, passed away Wednesday at Blodgett hospital, where she had been a patient for the past several weeks. The funeral services will be held Monday at 9 a. m. at the Lowell Catholic church.

Being a Collection of Various Topics of Local and General Interest

We believe in boys. We believe in boys having fun and heaps of it. Halloween is one of the occasions on which they are especially entitled to have fun. But listen, boys. Vandalism is not fun, and fun can be had without being destructive to property. We believe that if boys knew that "window soaping," because of the chemicals or abrasives used in soap or paraffine caused hundreds of dollars of damage to plate glass in every community each Halloween, that they would cheerfully refrain and find some harmless but equally joyful outlet in some other way.

Marshal Fred Gramer reports many lodgers at the city bastille since the cold nights began, upwards of thirty having been given shelter during the past ten days. Most of them young fellows, wandering without work. Eleven were in one night, with sleeping places for four. Shelter and warmth are furnished free, but there is no provision for meals except to regular prisoners.

Reported a farmer living near Lowell knowing of the close times experienced by many villagers as well as those in city and country, divided a fine bee animal in four parts between as many families in Lowell Thursday, regarding the text found in Matt. 25:35.

Great excitement on Main street Wednesday evening. Stranger from Indiana running up and down, declaring his car had been stolen while he was eating supper. Red light flashed, officers appeared and the search began. Car found right where the stranger had parked it. In the meantime he lost part of the contents of his pocketbook in Henry's drug store, which were found and mailed to his home address. That man better take his wife along in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harris, of Alto, are making preparations to spend the winter at the home of their son, Perry E. Harris, in Norfolk, Va., where he holds a position as cashier in the Ford plant. Mr. Harris erected the buildings on the farm where he now lives forty-two years ago. Ten years ago, when he attained the age of 70, he held an auction sale with the intention of taking things easy, but found that "taking things easy" was hard work. Now past 80, Mr. Harris enjoys good health, without an ache or sign of "rheumatiz," but Mrs. Harris is not quite so well and for that reason will hold an auction sale next Thursday and spend the winter in Virginia as stated above.

Last Thursday was the 53rd birthday anniversary of Fred D. Keister, editor of the Ionia County News, and The Ledger wishes to take this opportunity to extend greetings and good wishes. Mr. Keister was the founder of the News. Under his able management and facile pen it has become one of the outstanding weeklies in the profession. One of Keister's good qualities is his loyalty to his friends and in the thousands of columns of editorials he has penned during his editorship he has never written in the pose of a judge of other people's aims and ambitions, but instead has been frank in admitting his own shortcomings—a virtue which all of us could well emulate. Possessed of a fine sense of humor his writings have brought cheer to many. The value of his paper to his community cannot be measured.

TAKE STEPS TO CONSERVE CLAM FISHING

DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION RECOGNIZES IMPORTANCE OF INDUSTRY—ANNUAL VOLUME OVER HALF MILLION DOLLARS — NOT DETRIMENTAL TO FISHING

The temporary closing of the season, the prohibiting of the use of forks, the zoning of streams, an increase in the cost of licenses, the establishment of a size limit. These are some of the suggestions made to the Fish Division of the Department of Conservation as a means of perpetuating the clam industry in Michigan and of conserving the clams that now live in the rivers of the southwest section of the state.

In recent years the clamming industry has grown enormously in this state. It has been estimated that last year the industry earned more than a half million dollars.

Because of this rapid growth, the desire to conserve the clams, the complaints of riparian owners and of sportsmen and for several other less important reasons the Fish Division last Summer began an investigation of the entire situation. J. L. Brass and Henry A. Schull, of the Division, were detailed to conduct the survey. Hundreds of questionnaires were filled out by clammers, business men, riparian owners and sportsmen. Mr. Brass and Mr. Schull spent weeks on the rivers where clamming operations were being carried on, looking into every angle of the situation. Their final report has now been submitted to the Lansing office of the Fish Division and will be used in recommending legislation.

The season just passed has been unusual, the report says. The number of clambers has been unusually large due to the unemployment situation. In addition, the water levels have been low and the price of clams dropped from $70 to $35 a ton. Clammers do no apparent damage to fish life nor do they spoil fishing, the report states. On the other hand clamming operations serve to stir up fish food and good fishing is usually obtained from the stern of a clamming boat where minnows and crayfish are stirred up.

The investigators also vindicated clambers from rolling the water. Rising and lowering of water due to dams is the real cause of rolled water in the clam streams, it is claimed. (Continued on Page Four.)

Lowell Hunter Seriously Injured

While hunting Saturday afternoon Howard Walsh was seriously injured when his gun was accidentally discharged in a manner unknown to himself. He was alone and was found by friends sometime later in an unconscious condition. Dr. Altland was summoned and the Brezina-Roth ambulance carried him to St. Mary's hospital, Grand Rapids. The discharge penetrated the left knee above the joint coming out below in a slanting manner. An X-ray showed the joint bones splintered.

Mrs. Walsh, through the kindness of Mrs. Arthur Clark, arrived at the hospital shortly after her husband, remaining with him until the fractures were reduced and the knee bandaged. Mr. Walsh is employed in Lowell by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

John Farrell, 19, son of Mrs. Mary Farrell, of Grand Rapids, was shot in the right leg by his own gun while he was climbing a fence near Lowell Sunday afternoon. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital. Examination revealed that the shot had only become imbedded in the flesh and the bone was not injured.

Lowell Sprayer Co. Calling Men Back
Good news this week in the local industrial situation. The Lowell Sprayer Co. has been getting things in shape this week preparatory to resuming operations next week, when about forty men will resume work. We are informed that this has not been brought about as the result of any one large order, but as the result of business from jobbers over a wide territory.

News dispatches in the daily press during the past several days have indicated a gradual resumption of business at many points throughout the country.

Lowell Downs Rockford in Annual Gridiron Tilt, 22 to 0; Defeated Team Game to the End

Lowell plays at Belding Friday. The silk city lads have a good outfit this year and Lowell can expect a lot of opposition.

Next week Friday, East Grand Rapids comes to Lowell for the last home game.

LOWELL 22—ROCKFORD 0

The largest crowd of the season saw Rockford go down to a decisive defeat last Saturday. The visitors showed a splendid spirit by fighting to the very last, but the odds were too heavy against them. However, the victory for Lowell proved to be very costly for Richard Court, who started at guard all season, and was injured so that he will be lost to the team for the rest of the season. Those who saw the game were convinced that Lowell excelled in every department. The officials at the conclusion of the contest, complimented the players and fans from both villages for their splendid display of sportsmanship.

First Quarter

Lowell received the kick and returned the oval to the 30 yard line. Lowell failed to gain and was forced to kick. Rockford failed to gain and on a poor punt kicked outside on Lowell's 40-yard line. Again Lowell failed to gain and kicked to Rockford's 30-yard line. It appeared up to this point that the teams were evenly matched and that the outcome would depend upon the breaks. At this juncture, however, Layer reeled off 15 yards for the first down of the game. On the next play Lowell was penalized 5 yards for off side, but again Layer advanced the ball 20 yards on three plays. The ball was on Rockford's 25 yard line. Broadbent, Wepman and Layer carried the ball on four plays to the 7-yard line and Elmer carried it the rest of the way for the first touchdown. The try for extra point failed. Score, Lowell 6; Rockford 0. Again Rockford chose to kick and Layer returned the ball to the 40-yard line. Wepman made 12 yards around end; Layer dashed 20 yards through the line; and a pass to Broadbent netted 13 yards, placing the ball on Rockford's 15-yard line as the quarter ended.

Second Quarter

Layer carried the ball over in (Continued on page 8)

School Heads Frown on Needless Expense; Cooperate With Parents

Supt. W. W. Gumsier and Prin. W. J. Smith have sent a copy of the following letter to all parents of juniors and seniors:

To the Patrons of the School:

From the frequent demands your children make upon you, you know that there are a good many more activities and expenses in the school than those connected with class room work. Many customs have grown up and been handed down from class to class. There are for example such Senior expenses as graduation announcements and cards, Senior photographs, and so on. The Juniors usually buy class rings, and they put on a reception for the Seniors, and so on down the list of classes. Then there are general expenses such as athletic tickets, class dues, parties, annuals and clubs. We find that some pupils order everything and join any organization without consulting their parents. Sometimes it happens that parents are unwilling that their children should have the things that they have ordered. Some parents make good such orders and some do not, thus causing both themselves and the school needless delay and embarrassment. We want it understood that from our point of view most of these expenses are not necessary, and we would be pleased to discuss the matter any time. If parents want their children to have these things we will do all we can to help them. We want to know, however, that an order is placed with the consent of the parents.

N. B.—In the letter sent to patrons space was provided for signature and expression of approval or disapproval of proposed expenditures.—Editor.

The Ledger Family Is Growing Rapidly

Many new names are being added each week to The Ledger list of subscribers. Ada, Alto, and Clarksville postoffice addresses are especially notable among the new names the past week.

Those who have read or heard the addresses of Wilber M. Brucker, republican candidate for governor, are more than favorably impressed with his personality, character and statesmanship. His addresses are founded upon high ideals and sound economic theories in which he displays a thorough grasp of state affairs and a keen conception of a governor's responsibilities to the state at large.

Cong. Mapes and Judge Clements Spoke at Rally

Good speeches were heard and general good time was had at the Republican rally held in Lowell last Saturday evening. M. N. Henry acted as chairman and all of the events proceeded in a happy manner.

Congressman Carl E. Mapes gave a splendid talk, dwelling on the great achievements of the Hoover administration. The Congressman spoke of the superhuman efforts the President is making towards bettering business conditions and bringing of relief to both farmer and worker and predicted that the new tariff would prove of much benefit to the country.

Judge Arthur Clements, of Saginaw, made a brief address in which he spoke of the sterling manhood of Wilber M. Brucker, the Republican nominee for governor.

State Senator James A. Skinner, of Cedar Springs and Rep. Dexter G. Look, of Lowell, made interesting talks, explaining the injustice of the reapportionment amendment fostered by Wayne county.

Prosecuting Attorney Bartel J. Jonkman declared that four-fifths of the people are law-abiding, that it is the one-fifth that break the laws and emphasized the necessity of choosing officers who are efficient and then standing back of these officers who are trying to uphold the law.

Other speakers included County Clerk Louis Neumann, Mrs. Irving Woodworth, vice chairman Women's County Republican committee; Fred Kelley, nominee for sheriff; George Reed, register-of-deeds.

A half hour of visiting, sweet cider and doughnuts followed the speaking.

State Police Radio Snares Two Youths

Two young fellows in their early 20's, giving the names of Richard Williams and Peter Boucher, furnished good illustrations of guilty consciences here Sunday night. Traffic Officer Delaney trailed them through Main street because of the speed they were driving their car. The youths imagined the officer was after them and abandoned their car on Riverside drive and later in the evening they were picked up on M-21 by Deputy Sheriff Charles Knapp as they were walking toward Grand Rapids, as the result of the broad-casting of a car theft from Owosso. They spent the night in the village bastille and were taken to Owosso the next morning.

VOTERS MUST BE ALIVE TO RIGHTS

Reapportionment Amendment Dangerous; Every Out-State Voter Should Vote 'No'

EDITORIAL

This has been termed an off-year in politics, but we believe the phrase is a misnomer this year.

If there ever was an election in which the voter should exercise his or her right and duty of franchise it is the coming election day, Tuesday, Nov. 4. This applies to Republicans and Democrats alike.

Starting at the top we have in our hands the choosing of a United States senator, a representative in congress, a governor and several other state officers, a state senator, a representative in the state legislature and county officers all the way from sheriff to coroner.

And last but by no means least we must make a decision on four amendments to our state constitution and a referendum proposition.

The Ledger has had much to say during the past few weeks in its endeavors to post its readers on the unfairness of the reapportionment amendment fostered by Detroit which, if carried, would reduce the outstate representation in the state legislature and ultimately give Detroit control of state law making.

If this amendment carries Wayne county will gain 18 members in the House of Representatives and three in the Senate.

Every member that Wayne County gains in either house will mean the loss of an equal number of members for out-state Michigan.

Do not imagine for one moment that if Wayne gains this dominance that she will not take advantage of the situation in all legislation, especially matters of taxation, and force added burdens upon the people of out-state Michigan.

This brings directly home to the men and women voters of this community the great importance of going to the polls next Tuesday, Nov. 4, and voting, not only against this reapportionment measure but for our own legislative candidates, James A. Skinner, state senator from the 17th district, and Dexter G. Look, representative from the second legislative district of Kent County, both of whom have proven tried and true servants, working faithfully for their constituents. We do not want to lose the benefit of their services, yet that very thing may happen if the reapportionment amendment carries, or if we fail to go to the polls and give them the benefit of our vote.

There are legislators—and then again there are legislators—and in this connection it is pertinent to state that we have legislators who are "worthy of their hire"—men who have worked for their constituents, not only during the 100 days' session of the Legislature, but every day in the year as well have stood ready to sacrifice their time and expense for those whom they serve.

Do not let this be an "off year"—but make up your minds to go to the polls and VOTE.

In connection with this amendment we might add further that Wayne County will not need to wait a period of years to have virtually 100 per cent control of the State under the amendment. With 39 votes in the house and 12 in the senate she will be able to write her own ticket from now on. The first effort of a Detroit-bossed legislature will be the passage of the Dykstra weight tax grab, a measure that nets almost unanimous opposition except in Detroit and a few other places in league with Detroit. It had the opposition of property owners and business leaders in Detroit itself.

Other Propositions

In addition to the reapportionment amendment there are four other propositions up to the voter. It has been suggested that the safer way is to vote "No" on each.

The amendment to Article X, section 14, would permit the state to be a party to, or interested in improving rivers and streams for the purpose of drainage only. The Ledger understands that this amendment was proposed at the instance of some counties in the "Thumb" district where the expense of a drainage project would be too large to be handled by the local counties or taxpayers and permits the State to expend money in aid of the same.

The amendment to Article XIV, section 2, will change from $1,500 to $3,000 the amount of homestead exemption in real estate. At the present time, a farm of 40 acres or less or a house and lot owned and occupied as a homestead is exempt from forced sale for debts, etc., against the owner to the extent of $1,500. The proposed amendment increases this exemption to $3,000, probably on the theory that at the present time a $1,500 homestead exemption is not as large as it was fifteen years ago when the Constitution was adopted.

The amendment to Article VIII, section 18, retains the constitutional mandate that townships shall elect certain officers annually, but, if adopted, will authorize boards of supervisors in counties having an assessed valuation of not less than one hundred million dollars to determine that the township officers in such counties may be elected for two years at each general November election and also that the Legislature may provide for the appointment of a highway commissioner by the township board instead of electing a commissioner of highways.

The vote on the cigarette tax is a referendum passed by the last legislature, providing a specific tax on cigarettes of "one cent on each ten cigarettes or any portion thereof." Sales taxes are called "nuisance taxes." They had to be imposed as a war-time necessity of the Federal Government but Congress wiped them out as soon as it could, as the result of popular demand. Perhaps a tax upon cigarettes would not be considered objectionable by many voters if they could feel sure that it would not prove an entering wedge for this class of taxation in Michigan and followed by other taxes on other articles. If the referendum carries the proceeds will go into the general fund. The money will not be used to reduce the real estate tax burden.

HIDDEN TAXES It is estimated that nearly 25 per cent of the cost of most of the commodities we buy is represented by taxes. In many cases these "hidden taxes" are greater than the direct taxes we pay.

Those who lament the modern "high cost of living" may be sure that one of the main causes for it is the high cost of government.

FIRE IN HOMES

An authority points out that about ten per cent of America's half-billion dollar annual fire loss represents damage done to homes. Approximately $50,000,000 of domestic property is destroyed each year.

Most of this waste can be laid to carelessness, neglect, or false economy in the matter of home construction. Practically all home fires are preventable. Defective flues and electric wiring, lack of fire stops and the like are the causes of a terrible amount of suffering and a gigantic waste.

The only solution to the problem is knowledge and unceasing vigilance on the part of home owners. Flues should be periodically cleaned; wiring should be inspected and when necessary replaced; attention should be given to heating plants; care should be taken in disposing of waste of all kinds.

These are little things that can be accomplished at small expense in either time or money. Yet they may be the means of preventing a great conflagration.

It should be remembered that fire is every citizen's problem. Whether or not our own property is damaged, we pay for every fire in the community, large or small. Fire loss is reflected in business conditions, in employment, in taxes for fire departments, in home building and industrial development. Not to take the steps that prevent fire is to be guilty of criminal neglect.

Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce and a well known economist, recently predicted that by the end of October general business conditions would be improved and that by the end of the year prices should reach 1928 standard. This forecast is supported by other industrial and governmental authorities.

TIME TO BUY This, then, is a good time for both business and individuals to buy the commodities they need. By doing so they will get full advantage of temporary low price levels and—of greater importance—will stimulate employment and industrial development, thereby benefiting the entire nation.

THE RAILROADS IN 1930 The railroads of the United States have done a fine work this year in maintaining employment and business progress.

It is reported that capital expenditures by the lines during the first six months of 1930, for new equipment and additions and betterments to railroad property, totaled $468,305,000—$118,000,000 more than in 1929.

Yet, during the same period, railroad traffic was less than at any time since 1924 and railroad revenues were greatly reduced. The return to the lines during the six months' period was at the rate of but 3.61 per cent, as compared with 5.52 per cent last year.

We have had a business depression but it would have been a great deal more serious had it not been for the public spirit of the railroads. They have gone ahead, in the face of declining revenues, improving service and doing a fine work not only for the benefit of their employes and customers but for the nation as a whole.

It is impossible for any industry, no matter how willing it may be, to progress indefinitely without receiving an adequate profit for the work it does. The railroads are the life-blood of industry and of agriculture and essential to community prosperity.

Business is sure picking up," remarked Neil Cameron the other day, when he found a check for $55 in one of his milk bottles. Since then he has been thinking he would like to know what that nation's favorite drink is, as he would like to supply a lot of fellows with the same kind of tipple.

Now that the Detroit bridge and tunnel enterprises have been happily completed, the next international achievement should be the building of a bridge and tunnel across the Great Lakes to the Atlantic and it is bound to come.

Editor's Mail Box Farmers & Merchants State Bank, Carson City, Mich. October 18, 1930. Mr. H. G. Jefferies, Editor, Lowell Ledger, Lowell, Mich.

Dear Mr. Jefferies—I write to acknowledge receipt of your issue of the 16th inst. in which you give me a very nice letter of appeal, sent you recently. In the interests of a more timely delivery of your paper, I am also pleased to inform you that many other editors have joined with you, as shown by the newspapers I am receiving. What we need is fair play in the interesting game of good government. This we have not had, and it accounts for the reason many of us have lost interest and stay away from a paper.

Very best wishes, E. B. Sibbald.

Hot Springs, N. M., Oct. 28/30, Lowell, Mich.

Dear Sir: My father sent it to me for nothing, but of course I can't expect you to give it to me. I get it every week and enjoy it very much. I would not want to lose it. The printer of the paper speaks very well of your interest in the paper.

I would have hated to have the Ledger go into the hands of a fellow who didn't know how to run a paper and who would not maintain the high standard which has been attained under my father's management. If you or any of your friends ever suffer with rheumatism take the Hot Springs, New Mexico, cure.

Yours sincerely, Care Sierra County Advocate, Hot Springs, New Mexico.

Note by the Editor—We never knew "Jimmy" Johnson, but we know he must be of the right sort from the fine way he speaks of his day in the above letter. As for ourselves all we have to say is that the fine record set by "Jimmy" in his 37 years as editor and publisher of the Ledger has been such that "yours" has been a pleasure and a privilege for its readers to see and to read.

Don't put it off, put it on. That's why that roof is nearly gone. The mule is waiting, plague on his hide. When the mule is waiting, plague on his hide. We'll drive to your farm with a truck load of Mule-Hide and all, if you'll say, it's that our rule. When autumn rains come trickling in, you'll think to yourself what a fool I've been. To let my chance go slipping by. When help was plenty and the sun was high. Now hurry and order that roofing and show how wise you are, before we have snow. Don't put it off, put it on.

Now Mule-Hide is good to that you'll find. It costs something of course, for it is not free. But when you decide that roof to repair, you'll buy Mule-Hide roofing for you are aware. There's nothing like using the best you can get. And you'll say it beats anything I have used yet. Don't put it off, put it on.

How about a Storm door? We just put on a Steel roof on Marcel Miché's new garage.

BEES NEEDED PACKING TO SURVIVE WINTER The protection of bees in Michigan apiaries from winter winds and low temperatures by the use of windbreaks around the hives either in wooden or paper cases is recommended by specialists in apiculture at Michigan State College.

Colonies going into the winter should have a vigorous queen, three to five pounds of young bees, and 50 pounds of well-ripened honey. As for ourselves all we have to say is that the fine record set by "Jimmy" in his 37 years as editor and publisher of the Ledger has been such that "yours" has been a pleasure and a privilege for its readers to see and to read.

FOOTBALL (Continued from page 1.) three plays and passed to Broadbent for the extra point. Score, Lowell 13, Rockford 0. Again Rockford elected to kick and the ball was returned to Rockford's 32 yard line. On the first play, Broadbent scampered off tackle, hook off three tacklers, eluded three more would be tacklers and dashed 68 yards for a touch-down. It was the most spectacular play of the season. Broadbent was assisted in his dash by clever blocking on the part of his mates. Friesner passed to Stahl for the extra point. Score, Lowell 20, Rockford 0. Rockford elected to receive and returned Friesner's excellent kick to the 25 yard stripe. Lowell recovered a fumble on the next play, but lost the oval again on another fumble. Rockford failing to gain, kicked to Lowell's 40 yard line. Friesner at this point punted 55 yards to Rockford's 5 yard stripe, but the visiting quarterback dashed down the sideline to his 40 yard marker before he was stopped by Court and Broadbent. Both Lowell boys were injured in the play and were removed from the game. Court suffered a broken collarbone and will be out for the season. Broadbent lost part of a tooth and he was so badly shaken up, that he was on the sidelines during the rest of the battle. Weaver replaced Court, and Bergin substituted for Broadbent. Rockford failed to make a first down, and kicked. Lowell returning it to the 50 yard line, Baird snared a long heave from Laverne for a 20 yard gain. Lowell was penalized 15 yards on the next play and the half ended, as Rockford intercepted a pass in mid-field. Score, Lowell 20, Rockford 0. The locals had made 12 first downs to none for the visitors, during the half. Third Quarter Lowell returned the kick off to the 30 yard line. Bergin showed good form in making several first downs. He was aided by Wepman and Watters in taking the ball straight down the field to Rockford's 10 yard line, where it was lost on downs. In attempting to kick out of danger, Rockford's punt was blocked by Baird, resulting in a safety. Score, Lowell 22, Rockford 0. During the rest of the quarter, the ball was in mid-field and the period ended with Lowell in possession of the ball on their own 25 yard line. Rockford had made one first down during this quarter. Fourth Quarter Only two of Lowell's regulars were on the field, and there was no more scoring during this session. Sterkins received a pass good for 15 yards and Laverne made several runs. Rockford made one more first down. The game ended with the ball in mid-field. Score by Quarters Lowell..... 6 14 2 0-22 Rockford..... 0 0 0 0-0 Touchdowns—Laverne 2, Broadbent; Safety, Rockford. Points after touchdowns—Broadbent, and Stahl. Lowell substitutions—Weaver, Waters, Bergin, Malon-Weaver.
