New Milk House at Melody Dairy

Construction of a new milk house at Melody Farms Dairy is well under way and will be ready for use within a brief time. The building is 20x30 feet in size and will house the most modern equipment that can be bought for the handling of milk and dairy products according to latest sanitary methods.

The equipment to be installed will include an 8x10 Frigid Air cooling device so that all the various dairy products can be held at any desired degree of temperature. Other equipment to be installed will make it possible to have milk ready for delivery within five minutes from the time it is taken from the cow. This will be accomplished by an aerator, then bottled, capped and sealed, and placed in the large refrigerator—all within five minutes. This rapid handling of milk automatically reduces bacteria.

Melody Dairy is now marketing chocolate milk which is meeting with popular favor and Mr. Madigan, the owner, announces that cottage cheese will soon be added, and possibly another dairy product.

Emory Orchard Changes Owners

The people of this community will be pleased to know that the 70-acre on M-66, a short distance south of Lowell, known as the Emory orchard, which has been more or less neglected for the past three or four years, is being put into fine shape and will again be brought to bearing with its old-time vigor.

This orchard was recently acquired by the Columbia Orchard and Canning Co. which George and Jacob Friday are the moving spirits. They also own orchards at Coloma and Hartford.

The Lowell orchard is under the direct management of H. Bauschke, an experienced orchardist. Mr. Bauschke moved his family here several weeks ago and has already performed a tremendous amount of labor in the work of rejuvenating the orchard, but a year or two will be required to get things in a No. 1 shape and Mr. Bauschke appears to be the man who can do it.

There are over 4,000 trees in the orchard about equally divided between such varieties as Hubbardston, Baldwin, Wealthy, Jonathan, Wagener, McIntosh, Red, Delicious, Spy, Ben Davis.

No medium or method can be given to compare with The Ledger in covering this field.

A Girl's Heroism

Thirteen-year-old Bryan Untied, having relapsed from heroism to such mundane and sordid duties as the milking of cows, the sooting of pigs and the feeding of chickens, no longer prides himself on his former heroism. Nevertheless, his deeds will not soon be forgotten. However, if they gave you the impression that the boys have a mortgage on heroism, you have "got another guess coming to you."

While not so spectacular, in view of the fact that no life other than her own was at stake, there is a worth-while story of a Kansas City girl, a graduate of the University School of Medicine in Kansas City. There was a class in poisonous chemicals, and they were experimenting on guinea pigs. A tube containing a virulently infective and deadly poison was broken and its contents spilled over the girl. If infection set in, that was the end. There is no known antidote.

For twenty-four hours that girl sat and looked death in the face and laughed at it. If she made a sacrifice in the advancement of a science designed to safeguard humanity, she was ready with the seemingly inevitable penalty. She smiled and chatted while a bunch of international-known medics watched her like hawks for the development of symptoms of an absolutely hopeless infection. Miss Dorothy Marie Johnson, of Kansas City, pulled through. She says she will not get an invitation to visit the President of the United States, but she is in Bryan Untied's class. And when Bryan and his friends come to know about it they will help in exploding any theory that heroism is exclusive to the male sex.

The Lowell Centennial-Home-coming is for all people of this entire community, embracing the territory for miles around. All who ever lived in this vicinity, or who reside where in this section are Lowell people. Do your part by letting former residents know of the home-coming, August 6, 7 and 8.

Lowell High Starts Well With Tennis

The high school's first attempt at inter-scholastic tennis has proved very successful, and this success has been achieved with practically no coaching. Two weeks ago Lowell broke even with East Grand Rapids, winning two matches and losing two. Last week Lowell defeated East Grand Rapids 3-1, and Sparta 4-0. In the only defeat of the week, Sinclair lost a gruelling match to Samrick, of East Grand Rapids, 6-2, 5-7 and 7-9. Clark won over Ketter 6-4 and 6-3; Runciman and Peckham defeated Gibson and Benjamin 6-1, and 6-3; Staal and Rutherford defeated Swart and Benjamin 6-2, and 6-2.

Sparta was taken into camp on Thursday. They lost all their matches, and won but two sets out of ten. Since then West 6-2, and 6-2; Clark defeated Morton 6-4, 4-6, and 6-3. Runciman and Peckham triumphed 6-3, 3-6, and 6-3, and Rutherford and Staal won 7-5, and 8-6.

This record is all the more remarkable in that this is Lowell's first attempt at tennis, while these other schools have been playing for years. Five of the school's six boys who are now on the team will return to school next year. One match remains to be played with Sparta.

Landscape Day Friday, June 5

The average Michigan home owner does not need acres of shrubs to beautify the grounds about his house, but he will see now such shrubs as he does need actually look when effectively grouped if he accepts the invitation of Michigan State College to inspect on June 5 seven acres of shrubs, vines, and flowering trees at the Graham substitution at Grand Rapids.

Last year time was selected so visitors would see the later flowering shrubs in bloom, and this year, the early shrubs will be at the period of their greatest attractiveness.

Landscape plans for the beautification of Michigan homes were made last year for 396 home owners by specialists in landscape planning in the College department. Men from the department have also given a series of lessons in landscape work to groups of people in each of fourteen counties.

A program of short talks will be a part of the activities at the Graham station, June 5. Director V. H. Gardner, Professor C. P. Halligan, C. W. Barr, and O. I. Gregg, all from Michigan State College, will be on the program. (The Garden Lure club, might with propriety invite them to come to Lowell to help in planning permanent improvements and beautification of our river banks.—Ed.)

WORKING LIKE BEAVERS FOR CENTENNIAL

CITY WILL TAKE CHARGE OF DECORATIONS AND LIGHTING EFFECTS—OX ROAST FOR OPENING DAY—FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT $2,500 PLEDGED.

Work for the success of the forthcoming Centennial-Home-coming at Lowell, Aug. 6, 7 and 8, is moving with such rapidity and thoroughness that it makes even an editor hump to keep up with all that's going on.

On Tuesday night there was a meeting of the various committee chairmen, each of whom outlined work being done by their respective committees. To go into detail would take too much space, but all events will be chronicled in due time. A new feature was developed, however—a good old-fashioned ox roast for the opening day, to be held at Recreation park, and Frank A. Madigan generously volunteered to furnish the ox.

At the Board of Trade luncheon on Wednesday noon William Christiansen and John Arehart, of the finance committee, reported $2,500 subscribed to date towards the Board's yearly budget, with a number of citizens yet to be called upon. The committee reported not a single refusal to subscribe so far in their work.

The response has been most generous and whole-hearted.

Mayor Henry told how the city would co-operate toward the Centennial by taking over the matter of street decorations and lighting effects for the pageant, which will be handled most capably by Supt. Frank J. McMahon, chairman, and the decorating committee.

Manager Drew, of the Strand theater made a generous offer of one free ticket with each paid admission on each Wednesday night, when the prizes in gold are given away by Lowell merchants during the "Buy Lower in Lowell" campaign.

The free tickets will be given by Lowell merchants at the Saturday sales. Chairman Norman Borgerson announced committee meetings to be held next Tuesday evening as follows:

- Advertising—E. C. Foreman, chairman, at Walter Kropf's store.
- Decorating—F. J. McMahon, chairman, at City Hall.
- Parade—F. A. Madigan, chairman, at City Hall.

It was voted to close Lowell stores from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. on Memorial day, Saturday, May 30. For this reason the special cost offers will not be advertised for Saturday, May 30. Beginning the Saturday following, the special cost bargains will be resumed and will continue until further notice. However, on Saturday, May 30, during the days and evenings that the stores are open Lowell merchants will have as attractive and even better bargains than can be found anywhere.

Now turn to page 5, read the offerings at cost and below by the 50 Lowell merchants and come to Lowell this week Saturday, May 23, and make your money go farther than it ever did before.

Memorial Service Next Sunday at M. E. Church

A memorial service will be held at 10:30 a. m. next Sunday in honor of the heroic soldier dead of our country. The members of the American Legion will attend in a body. The veterans of the Civil War and the Spanish-American war will also be present. The Eudonia class will decorate the church for the occasion, and the pastor, Rev. A. T. Cartland, will deliver a memorial address on "The Debt We Owe Our Soldiers."

The people of Lowell are invited to participate in this service next Sunday as far as possible.

Social Events

Mrs. Rose Tallant entertained with a birthday dinner Sunday in honor of the 70th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Chris. Fahrni, Sr. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Fahrni, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fahrni and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fahrni, and daughter, and James Fahrni.

Lowell Merchants Issue Trumpet Call Proclaiming Greatest Value-Giving Sale

This week's issue of The Ledger contains the special offerings of Lowell merchants for this week, Saturday, May 23, and it is with confidence that we recommend these bargains to our readers.

The bargains offered represent cost and even less than cost prices and are made on new merchandise.

The Better Business Committee of the Lowell Board of Trade has sponsored this "Buy Lower in Lowell" campaign, the object of which is to acquaint every one, far and near, with the advantages of trading and making friendships in Lowell.

Also, do not forget to ask for the free tickets which will be given away EVERY DAY with every 50c purchase. On every Wednesday night, beginning with the first Wednesday in June, three prizes in gold will be given away.

And further, with every Saturday purchase there will be given an additional ticket, which, with one paid admission will entitle the holder to the Wednesday night performance at the Strand theater. This means two tickets for the price of one.

And last but not least, bear in mind that every day in the week you can buy to advantage in Lowell.

Turn to page 5 and read the trumpet call of Lowell merchants proclaiming the greatest value-giving ever offered by any town, anywhere, big or little.

We were certainly very much pleased with the interest which was shown by the schools in turning out in spite of the bad weather, and we hope that a favorable next year.

Wallace Beery in New Picture Strand Theatre

"The Secret Six," a sensational drama of American city politics and underworld life, is being presented at the Strand attraction this Sunday and Monday. With Wallace Beery, hero of "The Big House" and "Min and Bill" are one of the best casts ever assembled, headed by Lewis Stone and Jean Harlow. The picture opens in a slaughter house where Beery works as a killer in the pens and the narrative takes him up the ladder of gangdom until he finally becomes the millionaire overlord of the city's crime and vice. The picture has a wealth of dramatic highlights and as the law begins to crush Beery's crime organization there are plenty of thrills and fireworks.

CUBS WIN ANOTHER

Lud Kerr pitched Fallsburg Cubs to another victory last Sunday, when they beat Lansing Cardinals, 3 to 1. Roger McMahon led the way in hitting last by turning in two doubles and a triple.

Fallsburg plays Lesinski Drugs of Grand Rapids Sunday at 2:30 at Fallsburg park.

TRACK BACON BROUGHT HOME BY THINCLADS

WIN REGIONAL MEET AT GRAND RAPIDS SATURDAY BY THIRTY-FOUR POINTS TO THE GOOD OVER NEAREST COMPETITOR — 9 SCHOOLS PARTICIPATE.

Lowell's Thinclads won the Regional Track meet at Grand Rapids last Saturday, scoring 69 1/2 points. Grandville was second with 26 points, followed by Coopersville with 21, East G. R. 16 1/2, Montague 13, Godwin 3. Grand Rapids Lee and Holland Christian failed to score.

Bergin, Lowell's husky Freshman won the 120 lb hurdles, going over the sticks in 14.7 sec which broke the regional record by four-tenths of a second. Court of Lowell ran within a foot of Bergin in winning third place in the race.

Laver broke two regional records when he heaved the shot 45 feet 9 inches, and tossing the discus 119 feet even, within one foot of the state record that he made last year.

Houseman and Johnson, Lowell's other two weight men, also did very well taking second and third in the discus with heaves of 112 feet, and 108 feet, and taking third and fourth in the shot with puts of over 40 feet.

Broadbent and Dinson, Lowell's two sprinters having just gotten over a bad case of flu two days before the meet did not place in the 100 and 220, and we had expected them to run one and two in the 100 and 1st and 3rd in the two-hundred.

Baird and Laver came through as was expected in taking a tie for first in the high jump, going over the crossbar at 5 feet, 4 in. and not trying to go higher.

Morse and McMahon, our two Sophomore polevaulters, tied for 1st and 4th in this event and another year should find them placing at the state meet.

The local relay team won a nice cup for copping the relay in 1:40.4, just two-tenths of a second ahead of Grandville.

This week the team will go to the State meet at East Lansing where they should find them competing through the campus and beyond through the state championship. Last year Lowell tied for 5th place with over 700 boys competing in class C.

Remember When

I remember about 70 years ago my first school teacher. His name was S. P. Curtis. I was then seven years old. When I came to Lowell there were a good many Indians living around here. They used to peddle baskets with a pony and wagon. I remember one time my folks and I went to an Indian pow-wow, or Indian dance. It was held just north of the Lowell cemetery on the place known as the Ryder farm. One Indian got drunk and caused a lot of trouble, so the Indians put him in a dry well that was there and the dance was over. How many can remember that time? I also remember when Lincoln was assassinated—how the newspapers were all ablaze with pictures showing Booth running off the stage. And when Grand river was so full of logs that Grand youngsters used to run all the way across the river, without getting in the water. Yes, and the lynch pin wagons, and the snow on Decoration day. I also remember the skating rink that Mrs. Hahn refers to.

JOHN HASTINGS.

Who can remember when there was only one bridge over Grand river, (upper one,) and Mac Shaw drove the bus and wore a Prince Albert coat, tall silk hat and high red topped boots?

MRS. KATHERINE STONE, 29 W. Fulton Street, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pauline Kyser Tells of Trip to Lansing

The "Paul Revere" club, which is the local chapter of the "Sons and Daughters of the Republic," is an active organization.

At a recent meeting a delegate was chosen to go with about fifty other boys and girls from various clubs in the county to Lansing, Pauline Kyser was chosen by her classmates to represent them. The trip was taken on Thursday, May 14.

At a regular meeting of the club on Friday, Pauline gave a very interesting report. She told of the ride to Lansing in a large bus, of a visit to the school for the blind, of her visit to the capitol building, and each child shook hands with the Governor, who talked to them for awhile, telling them the history of the furniture and fixtures in his office. They also visited the senate room. Then they climbed to the dome of the capitol building where they spent some time going through the campus and building at M. S. C. where they ate their lunch. They reached home about 6:00 o'clock.

The club has also been studying the meaning and symbolism of the flag of Michigan. One essay on "Michigan Flag" was sent to Grand Rapids, there entering a State Essay Contest. This one was written by Helen Frost.

The "Paul Revere" club is sponsored by the local Women's Club. Mrs. R. W. Finch is in charge.

Odds and Ends Here and There

Spearing in Michigan's non-trout streams will cease at midnight, May 31. Since April 1 spearing has been permitted in these waters for the taking of non-game fish and since May 1, spearing of pike has been lawful.

H. J. Englehardt has been appointed councilman to take the place of O. L. Beebe, who has moved to Sunfield. Mr. Englehardt's appointment is looked upon as a good selection.

A class of 16—nine boys and seven girls—received their first communion last Sunday at the 9 o'clock services at St. Mary's church, of which the Rev. Fr. E. J. Jewell, is the pastor. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion.

A goodly number of people from Lowell and vicinity attended the supper given last Friday by the Snow Ladies' Aid society at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Burras. The more the editor gets around the more he's convinced that there are more good folks in this community than anywhere else on earth.

Miss Rose Duncan, who recently came from Chicago to reside in the pipe organ in the Strand theatre, has met with popular favor among local theatergoers. Her renderings prior to the rising of the curtain afforded restful entertainment.

While driving near Oak Grove Saturday a tire blow-out caused Miss Irene Kinyon to lose control of the wheel, the car crashing into a tree and being completely wrecked. Miss Kinyon, fortunately escaped with her life, but received a number of painful bruises and cuts.

Ben Wepman has had his store front brightened up with a fresh coat of paint. He has also added a neat display window at the left of the store entrance.

Busy day in Lowell this week, Saturday—50 merchants offering special bargains at cost, Popular Shoe store selling out at sacrifice, a big tractor demonstration and in addition the merchants giving free tickets for prizes of gold and free tickets to the Strand theatre. Better be in Lowell Saturday.

Frank T. King has made an original contribution to the schools. A beautiful framed picture of Admiral Byrd being presented to the High School Monday. Mr. King has donated several other pictures to the schools and patrons appreciate this sort of interest in the schools.

SENIOR PLAY CAPPY RICKS BIG SUCCESS

ENTIRE CAST DOES ITSELF PROUD UNDER ABLE COACHING OF MRS. WARNER ROTH — DESERVING CREDIT IS DUE TO COOPERATION OF OTHERS.

This year's Senior play, "Cappy Ricks," given Friday, May 15, in the local City Hall, was one of the best ever presented to the people of Lowell. Its successful presentation should be added credit to Mrs. Warner Roth, who again coached the Seniors, having directed several such plays in the past, and it was largely through her skill and patience that the play was a success. Much credit should be given, however, to the members of the play-caste, for they put in many nights of practice and many opportunities for pleasure were forgone.

The Cast of Characters

Cappy Ricks, owner of shipping business, Gerald Fineis; Florence Ricks, Cappy's daughter and unknown rival, Margaret Lally; Matt Peasley, Florence's partner and suitor, Harry Broadbent; Singler, Cappy's friend, John Staal; Ellen Murray, stage name of Goldie Glake, secretary to Cappy, Phyllis Weekes; Cecil Bernard, a foppish young man sent to Cappy to be made a man of, Kenneth Fletcher; Skinner, Mr. Ricks's business manager, Emory Friessner; Aunt Lucy Ricks, Mr. Ricks's sister, Frances Rosewarner; Brookfield, Cappy Ricks's chauffeur, John Staal.

The financial success of the play was due to the generous manner in which Lowell citizens responded to the ticket sale campaign, and to Miss Florence Webb as business manager.

Extensive advertising was due to the efforts of John Staal as advertising manager, and the Art classes who donated brilliantly and cleverly illustrated posters. The correct stage settings were assembled under the direction of Mrs. E. J. Jewell, and the Senior class is to be congratulated for the manner in which they made the sales campaign a success.

Father, Two Sons Drown in Morrison

Milburn E. Stabler, 40, Lansing coal merchant, and his two sons, Lawrence 11, and Greenleaf, 9, were drowned in Morrison lake, southeast of Lowell, last Sunday, when their speedboat overturned.

Mr. Stabler's was also with the party, but he was rescued by L. E. Phillips, Grand Rapids business man.

Witnesses state Mr. Stabler lost his life when he attempted to save his sons as they floundered on the surface in the center of the lake some distance from the overturned boat and their father.

Mrs. Stabler was at their cottage about a quarter of a mile away when the tragedy occurred.

RED CROSS FIFTY YEARS OLD Fifty years ago, in 1881, a group of citizens signed the original constitution of the American Red Cross, and on May 21st this great organization of mercy celebrates its golden jubilee.

Those who had a part in the organization of the society at the home of Miss Clara Barnum half a century ago had the idea of a magnitude, it would attain. Chartered by Congress for its special work, the organization now boasts 3,500 chapters and a membership roll that runs into the millions.

MEASURED IN MILES

Suppose for a moment that advertising didn't exist—that there were no trademarked goods—no bounding you bounder had to be judged by its look or feel or taste. Imagine yourself setting out on the morning's shopping under such conditions.

When you buy a product that is advertised you know in advance what you will get, how much it costs and where you can obtain it. That is why, in millions of modern homes, the newspaper advertising columns are a guide to purchases.

VILLAGE LIFE

G. K. Chesterton, the genial and brilliant English essayist who has just gone home after several months in America, told an English newspaper men that he thought American villages were eyecores.

By comparison with English villages, and viewed from an English standpoint, Mr. Chesterton was saying just what many other European visitors have said. We don't know what villages he saw, but we do know that they all looked pretty much alike. They all had brilliant lights along Main street, and on Saturday nights, in all of the plate glass store windows. Most of them gave the impression of trying to be as much like Minneapolis, Chicago, or St. Louis, as they possibly could, and none of them, to the traveller merely passing through, displayed the peaceful eighteenth century repose of the typical English village.

It is fine to plan ahead, but the best planning begins when the work gets underway.

If you have a great belief in the wisdom of the ancients try to answer the puzzling inquiries of a five-year-old.

What the country really needs is a new recreation, which will afford good health for fat men without much exercise.

The world would be much better if every adult would make an effort to make life happier for some group of youngsters.

It would be a pleasure to run this newspaper without charging for advertising or subscriptions but somebody else can have the pleasure.

Personally, we don't know the answer, but the nation can well afford to put some thought on what will happen if the railroads are put out of business.

FOOD SOURS

About two hours after eating a man usually suffers from stomachache. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

WHEN FOOD SOURS

The right way is Phillips Milk of Magnesia—just a taste dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.
