

TWO KILLED AS CAR IS DRIVEN IN FLYER'S PATH

MRS. EDWARD RASH OF LOWELL AND JAMES RASH OF HART VICTIMS OF CROSSING ACCIDENT — EIGHT CHILDREN LEFT TO MOURN LOSS OF FATHER, MOTHER.

Two lives were snuffed out, almost in the twinkling of an eye, Monday, when the west-bound Grand Trunk passenger train, due here at 1:35 p. m. struck the sedan occupied by Mrs. Edward Rash, 36, of near Lowell, and her brother-in-law, James Rash, 36, of Hart.

The accident occurred at a farm road crossing near the Edward Rash farm, about 1 1/2 miles east of Lowell, near the old M-21 crossing.

James Rash was at the wheel when the car was struck. The heavy snowfall undoubtedly obscured his vision. He and his sister-in-law had just left the farm with a quantity of wood in the sedan and were on the way to the farm home of Mrs. Minerva Gram, his mother, who lives but a short distance away on the opposite side of the track.

Witnesses said that the flyer carried the bodies of the victims and the automobile a distance of several rods. Mrs. Rash was dead when picked up, while her brother-in-law was placed in the baggage car where he was treated by a nurse, a passenger on the train, who volunteered her services. He lived but a few minutes.

Lowell Never Has Failed In the Past

Recently an urgent appeal was made in these columns for more money, food and clothing in order to carry on the work of the Lowell Welfare Union.

Do you know how much that appeal brought?

A friend gave $5, and that was the only response.

There are families in dire distress and they must be helped.

The high calibre of the persons who are conducting this welfare work is so well-known that everyone should realize that when they issue an appeal the need is great or they would not issue it.

You say the times are hard, and that you are hard up. Of course you are. We are all hard up.

But none of us are as hard up as those who haven't sufficient clothing to keep them warm nor enough food to sustain the body.

No great amount is needed—perhaps $50 to $75 in money and some food and clothing to carry through to warmer weather.

Hold Services Good Friday At City Hall

Arrangements are under way for union services to be held on Good Friday at the City Hall during the hours from 1:30 to 3:00. Local ministers of various churches will speak briefly and there will be music appropriate to the occasion.

One of the last official acts of the retiring village president, M. N. Henry was the issuance of the following proclamation requesting local stores to close from 1:30 to 3:00.

Ella F. Jakeway Life-long Resident

Ella F. Jakeway, daughter of Charles E. and Cora C. Francisco, was born in Grattan township, Kent Co., January 14th, 1867 and died at her home in Lowell, Mar. 17th, 1932, at the age of 65 years, 2 months, 3 days.

Among those from out of town attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Ella Jakeway were Mrs. Vina Elliot and Mrs. Etta Cooper of Greenville; Mrs. James Ford of Stanton; Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Jakeway and Herbert Jakeway of Kalamazoo; Mrs. Mary Denton, of Belding; Mr. and Mrs. George Plumbthorpe of Muskegon; Mr. and Mrs. Edson Jakeway and children and J. H. Jakeway and son of Flint; Mr. and Mrs. John Rennels and Mrs. Minnie Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krum, Mrs. Anna Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Will Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Jones, all of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Sylvia Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sullivan of Clarksville; Mr. and Mrs. H. Hatherly of Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Copeland of Chicago; Mrs. Cora Smith of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gray and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Elsy of Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. George Denton, Lakeway and many from the surrounding country who have known Mrs. Jakeway from childhood. In respect to her wishes her nephews acted as pall bearers at her burial and each detail as far as possible was carried out according to her expressed desire.

Postmaster Escapes Near-Fatal Accident

Postmaster N. E. Borgerson met with a serious accident about 2 o'clock last Friday morning while returning from Grand Rapids where he had provided for the Kent County round-up of war veterans, held in the armory.

Mr. Borgerson was driving alone. He apparently dozed a moment, his car going into a ditch on the opposite side of the road, striking a concrete culvert and hurrying over it a distance of several feet.

Every Article Sold at Leecce Auction

Despite the worst storm of the winter there was a good attendance at the auction sale held Monday afternoon at the Leecce farm in Keene township.

The entire list of articles as advertised in last week's Ledger, including horses, cows, implements, tools, etc., was sold. It was a cash sale. A. W. Hilzey was auctioneer and D. A. Wingie, clerk.

Odds and Ends Here and There

From Belding Banner News: "Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Collar, who have lived at the home of Mrs. Margaret Peck since last October have returned to their home in Lowell. Mr. Collar was employed at the local Kroger store until he had the misfortune to injure his shoulder some time ago. The Collars made many friends while in our city who regret their leaving."

Leo Kitchen, who resides at Hillcrest Orchards, is still confined to the house as the result of injuries he had from a fall on the ice on Feb. 4. Mr. Kitchen is grateful for the remembrances sent him since the accident.

State Rep. Dexter G. Look went to University hospital last Wednesday where he underwent an operation on Monday for an ailment which has caused him more or less trouble for the past few months. Mr. Look withstood the operation nicely and expects to be present at the opening of the special session of the state legislature which convenes next Tuesday.

Woman's Club

The Lowell Woman's club had as their speaker at the last Wednesday meeting, the Rev. R. W. Merrill of the first M. E. church. The topic for the day was "Woman's Enlarged Social Field." Rev. Merrill mentioned the increased responsibilities that have come to women in social, civic and community affairs, saying that we were more to be sympathized with than to be congratulated in having entered the fields to which our efforts had led.

Just because his first name is "Lowell," a copy of the Lowell History was mailed to "The Voice of the Literary Digest" and promptly back came acknowledgment in the following words:

Board of Education Cuts Tax $6,000

Propose Reduction in School Taxes from $27,000 to $21,000—School's Standing and Efficiency Maintained—No Departments Dropped.

The Board of Education of Lowell school district has lopped $6,000 off the amount of money to be raised for the operation of Lowell schools for the coming school year, reducing the amount to be raised by taxation from $27,000 to $21,000. This is a reduction of not far from 25%.

The board has been wrestling for a considerable time with the problem of how to keep school costs within the ability of taxpayers to pay and at the same time maintain the school's efficiency and high standing.

The reduction has been brought about largely through salary reductions, starting with a salary cut of 12 1/2% applying to the superintendent and a 10% cut applying to the remainder of the teaching staff. Including the superintendent the staff totals 22 instructors.

Right about 70% of the school budget goes for teachers' wages. The board and superintendent have been working under a system of rigid economy in all activities and the recent action of the board insures a continuance of that policy.

Lowell schools, from superintendent down, are manned by high-calibre instructors, mentally and morally. The standing of our graduates in college is indicative of this fact, which is also known in the surrounding community and which accounts for the steadily increasing number of non-resident pupils, today totaling more than 100 in the upper grades of the high school.

Under the economy plan no department of school activity will be dropped, although there may be one less teacher, the work to be rearranged and divided among the others.

Funeral services for Gerrit J. Johnson, who died March 15 in Los Angeles, were held Monday at the late home in Grand Rapids. Mr. Johnson began his business career in Lowell about 40 years ago, later moving to Grand Rapids. He became wealthy and was noted for his philanthropy and as a civic leader.

Mr. Johnson was a life member of Lowell Masonic lodge, which organization was represented at the funeral by the following members, all of whom knew Mr. Johnson when he resided here: W. S. Winegar, R. D. Stocking, M. N. Henry, E. D. McQueen, S. B. Avery, Harley Maynard, Clyde Kinyon. Rep. D. G. Look was also to have attended but was unable to do so because of illness.

Something of the mind and heart of Mr. Johnson is shown in the excerpts below, taken from a letter received recently by Mr. M. N. Henry:

"Received your kind letter which was forwarded from Grand Rapids to Los Angeles. In your letter you speak of the selfishness of the average well-to-do and I think your point well taken. I wonder if it is right for us to blame individuals for their actions when it is society as a whole that is to blame. You know, from the cradle to the grave, we are taught to worship success, and success means accumulating money. It may be that some day in the future we will learn that all is not gold that glitters, and that the mind of man can be far more brilliant than the most polished gem or the lustre of gold."

What you said about Lowell lodge No. 90 having given Dexter Look and a few other members, including myself, a life membership sort of gave me a sudden jolt, for it seems only yesterday that I received my first degree. And then, too, at that time, Lowell itself also practically gave me my first degree in business. For I was then a raw young 25 years old when I first came to Lowell and now I am 68. If I knew one-tenth as much now as I thought I knew then, I would be some wise guy. Lowellites were good to me. They helped smooth down some of my rough spots. If it is not too much to ask of you, will you kindly extend thanks to the lodge in my behalf? I am enclosing a small check for the lodge to show somewhat my appreciation. Sincerely yours, G. J. JOHNSON.

EASTER WITH THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS

The Christian Endeavorers will have an early Easter observance at the parish house Sunday morning at 7 o'clock by way of an Easter breakfast.

Following the breakfast a program fitting the day will be given. Misses Helen and Maxine Hunter will be leaders of the discussion on the topic "What is Easter." Special entertainment will be given by Mrs. S. B. Wenger, Misses Mabel Hall, Dorothy Hawley, and Charlotte White and Glendon Swarthout.

Reservations for the breakfast must be made by Friday noon. See Maxine Hunter or Richard Court.

WARNING MADE BY McPHERSON ON NEW SCHEME

CONSEQUENCES OVERLOOKED IN PROPOSED AMENDMENT LIMITING PROPERTY TAXES TO $15—LOCAL GOVERNMENTS WOULD BE LEFT STRANDED

It is announced that more than enough petitions have been signed to place the proposed Constitutional amendment limiting property taxes to $15 per $1,000 valuation before voters of the state at the general election next November. The signatures, which have been secured, although it is admitted the scheme might bankrupt local governments.

The Detroit Free Press gives first page position to an interview with State Tax Commissioner M. B. McPherson, a leader in most rural movements who warns that the consequences are being overlooked. The interview follows:

Local Governments Would Suffer "If the limitation is adopted," McPherson said, "the property levy for all purposes will be limited to $15 per $1,000 valuation. The average rate last year was $32.56. Thus property levies will be reduced more than 50 per cent on the average. Local governments will then be left stranded. They will face bankruptcy unless new revenue is provided—and none is proposed so far."

"There will be a great deal of confusion over prior rights in the $15 tax. The state will claim that its tax must come first. Cities operating under the Home Rule act already are claiming they have prior rights. School districts also will fight for a portion of the levy, if not all of it."

Income Tax Suggested "What will be the outcome? That question cannot be answered now, but some organizations are prepared to advance an income tax as a solution, the proceeds to be distributed among the local governments to replace the revenue lost by the limitation. Another organization is to advocate a general sales tax. The Legislature will find itself in an unwelcome predicament, indeed."

"The great danger, however, lies in the fact that no one yet has analyzed the proposal. No one knows how much certain governmental units will lose and how much they will gain. No one knows whether an income tax will provide enough money to replace the lost property revenue. No one knows whether a sales tax would be a workable solution. I do not believe either plan would save the local governments from bankruptcy."

"Yet the proposal will be before the voters in November. And in my judgment it will be adopted in spite of the lack of foresight."

Old Man Winter Sends Near-Blizzard

The Spring season began officially Sunday, March 20, at 2:54 p. m. and apparently just to show that he had come back quality left in his old frame, Old Man Winter set forth on Monday to show us the worst storm of the year. It was of near-blizzard proportions and by Tuesday morning there was a foot of snow on the level. Many roads were drifted badly and for several hours traffic was impeded.

Wilbur Burns, who was driving from Flint to a point west of Grand Rapids, was obliged to stay overnight at a farm house. Mr. Burns reports there were many abandoned cars along the various highways.

Frank A. Gould, who was bringing new cars here from Detroit, also reports seeing a number of cars stalled by drifts.

Rep. Club Women Meet Wednesday

The Kent County Women's Republican Club will hold a meeting, Wednesday, March 30th at 2:30 o'clock at the residence of the chairman, Mrs. N. G. Nash at Byron Center. The speaker will be Bartel Jonkman, prosecuting attorney of Kent County. All candidates seeking office are invited and will be given an opportunity to speak.

A very interesting entertainment will be furnished by the chairman and refreshments will be served. Hostesses: Mrs. Lila M. McFall and Mrs. Baker. HELEN MORRIS, Corresponding Secretary.

Declamation, Oratorical Contests Marked by Brilliant Efforts

The declamation contest held recently was the best contest of the kind ever held in the High School. Over 120 Freshmen and Sophomores participated in the preliminary contest and 11 survivors took part in the elimination contest which was held before the school assembly.

Glendon Swarthout took first place and he will represent Lowell High school in the Declamatory contest which will be held in Grand Rapids early in April. The title of his speech is "The Real John Adams," by Daniel Webster. Maryann Ashley was a close second, Gladys Armstrong made third place and Gerald Yellon captured fourth place. Two other youngsters who took part were Sophia Giovach, Kathryn Steed, Jane Runciman, Norma

Publicity is the taxpayer's greatest safeguard. Every board, every person, who handles public money should publish an account of it.

THE CAUSES OF FIRE

"Safeguarding America Against Fire," a publication of The National Board of Fire Underwriters, publishes a list of the known originating causes responsible for the largest fire loss in each state. They should be of interest to every citizen.
Matches and smoking seem to be the great offenders, accounting for the largest loss in 18 states. Defective chimneys and flues were high in 14 states, and stoves, furnaces, boilers, and their pipes, in seven states. Misuse of electricity and spontaneous combustion led the rest in two states each. Sparks from machinery, incendiarism, explosion and sparks on roofs were the major causes of loss in one state each.

The interesting thing is that every single one of these causes must come under the head of "strictly preventable." Rather than dangerous of them all, matches and smoking, represents pure carelessness on the part of the individual. Defective chimneys and heating systems are possible only through inexcusable negligence. Misuse of electricity is the product of avarice and also inexcusable ignorance or of sheer carelessness. More than 80 per cent of fire accidents can be prevented with the exercise of a little judgment—a little intelligence. Various public and private organizations have labored mightily to instruct us in fire prevention and to point us in the duty we owe to ourselves and our communities. The rest is up to us. A thinking people cannot continue to contemplate a waste that takes 10,000 lives and half a billion dollars in property values each year.

BANKS ARE STRONGER

The first increase in bank deposits in several months was reported by the Federal Reserve Board last week, in a statement evidently based on banks' "in leading cities." These showed demand deposits had increased $2,000,000, to a total of $11,003,000,000. Time deposits, showing the first increase since August 12th, went up $15,000,000 to a total of $5,700,000,000.

From these figures it appears that more than $1,000,000,000 have been taken from banks in one year. In other words, practically one-fifth of the bank deposits in these "leading cities" was withdrawn within a year.

The anti-banking campaign now in effect throughout the United States should stress the solvency of existing banks and the great strength given them by recent legislation. It is all right to make some plea on the grounds of patriotism but the fact remains that hoarding has been caused because people, as a whole, feared to lose money in banks because they were afraid their savings might be lost.

By convincing all that such fears are groundless and that money placed in banks will be safe, one removes the cause of hoarding and this evil will disappear. Exhortations to put money in banks in order to help the community will not persuade frightened and to do something that they think would cause them loss. Once you get them to understand that there is no reason for a bank to fail because of an inability to realize on its assets, you have defeated the hoarding movement.

BOTH ARE VALUABLE

Let's not make the mistake of underestimating intelligence.
Too many people take every opportunity to say smart things about the man of book intelligence, suggesting that they believe that this is a big joke.

No problem of the world will be solved by emotions. No great benefit comes to the world except through change. Thousands of experiments would have been valueless without a trained mind to read their messages and apply them fruitfully.
It's all right for a man to take pride in his experience, garnered through the years. He has something that is distinctly an asset to him. However, let him not underestimate the value of so-called book-intelligence, if he has little of it.

Experience and intelligence together will solve many problems that neither alone can handle. The man without either is handicapped. He who pokes fun at intelligence is as foolish as the book worm who imagines he can understand life from reading between the covers of the printed page.

No small town needs to slip unless the business man of that town let it slip.

RUDYARD KIPPLING'S FAMOUS POEM

"It has inspired more young men than any other poem in the English language."—Edgar Wallace.

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about don't deal in lies,
Or being hated don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise.

If you can make one heap of all your winnings,
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings,
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your nerve and keep it steady,
And see your little world become a heap of ruins,<
And do not build it again with your broken toys,
And do not say: "Tis but one step to the goal";
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings—nor lose the common touch;
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth, and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son!

EARN WHAT YOU WANT

Young people might find the present a good occasion to understand that the majority of those who have anything in a world of hardships money worked for what they acquired.

Too often the youthful mind is impressed with the easy accumulation of a fortune by some exceptional figure that looms in the public consciousness, little realizing that such a career is the great exception among a mass of hard workers who got to the top by sheer diligence and persistence, rather than through some streak of luck or opportunity.

More and more there is abroad in the world a conviction that individuals who do not earn what they have are not entitled to their possessions. The thought is not so bad. If every youngster who begins a business life in the next ten years gets thoroughly imbued with the idea of giving value for money or rewards, received the business world won't be worried as much by the next period of depression and the chances are that the people of the next generation will find a happier proposition.

FARMERS WHO PROFIT

Despite depression and hard times there are some farmers in the United States who will make money in 1932.
They will not gamble on a one-crop system, which places all their fortune upon the fluctuating price of this or that crop. Rather will they diversify their crops as much as possible for themselves and their dependents and sufficient feed to carry their animals through the twelve months that follow harvest.

It is a mathematical certainty that the less a farmer has to buy the better is his chance to have a surplus when he sells what he raises. This applies particularly to the necessities of life, the food and feed, that sustain strength for the workers on the farm.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Why people read some novels is only matched by why some novels are written.

The problem of agriculture, whether farmers believe it or not, is living at home by raising food and feeds instead of buying them.

Whenever a writer begins to write in the hope that somebody will comment on what he writes, his day is beginning to end.

Two piece bathing suits in two rather small pieces, lead back to nature movement in which the back is really next to nature.

Reducing taxes is a popular cry, but a government, like a business, has to balance its books if it intends to continue operating.

Alert advertisers know the difference between a newspaper, for which readers pay, and a circular, which most people throw away.

Isn't it generally true that the chap who waits that he don't get nothing out of life is the one who don't put nothing in it?

Wrecking Several Valuable Buildings And Causing Scores of Small Losses!

Homemaker's Corner
By Home Economics Specialist, Michigan State College.

In discussing economical and nutritious meals for the entire family, Mrs. Amy Newberg of the Home Economics staff at Michigan State College states that the needs of the individual members of the group must be considered.

The most plans provide for an average family consisting of five, 14-18 years, and boy or girl of 18 years. The regular breakfast should consist of fruit, cereal, bread, and beverage.

Orange juice should be provided for the children, although less expensive apple sauce may be omitted in their case. The children will need one or, preferably, two servings of fruit a day; but, if cost must be considered, the adults need only three or four servings of fruit a week.

A large dish of warm cooked cereal should be given each person. If a very coarse grain is used it may be put through a sieve and then mixed with milk for the youngest child. To give variety, the cereal may be cooked thick, then sliced, and salted for the older members of the family.

Crisp toast with butter is given to the younger children each day, but French toast or hot breads may be served the older boy and the adults once in a while. Milk is given the youngest child; milk or occasionally cocoa to the two older children; and milk or coffee to the adults.

Should one of the adults wish to reduce, the menu could be adjusted as follows: fruit remains the same, but may be served unsweetened or replaced by tomato sauce; small servings of cereal and breadstuffs, with skim milk and no sugar, and butter in small quantity. To help the family gain weight, give extra large servings of cereal and breadstuffs and top milk, moderate amounts of sugar, and the usual amount of butter. Though it is high in energy value, butter should not be excluded from the daily diet unless green or yellow vegetables, egg yolk, or cod liver oil are included.

A NEW THRILL!

There is a new thrill in cooking with a Perfection stove or range equipped with High-Power burners.

The burners themselves are entirely new, having just been developed by the Perfection Stove Company after years of study and experimentation. They are better, swifter in performance and more positively controlled than any other make of oil stove burner—they will do a faster job of preparing a meal or a more uniform and dependable job of baking and roasting.

The High-Power Perfection burners are available in a complete variety of models—ones in all sizes from five to square top ranges. All are distinguished by modern design, completeness of equipment and a wide choice of color combinations. Any of them will bring to your kitchen a cooking satisfaction never before possible with an oil-burning cook stove.

OBITUARY

Caroline Marguerite Reuter, daughter of John G. and Magdalena Reuter, was born Dec. 25, 1858, near Freeport and passed away at her home in Lowell, Mar. 8, 1932 at the age of 73 years, 2 months, 14 days. During her young womanhood she was a teacher near Freeport.

She was married to Samuel S. Yeiter Oct. 8, 1884, at Irving, Barry Co. They lived on their farm in Lowell township until his death, January 24, 1916.

To them five children were born all of whom survive her: Clair O. and Harold of Lowell, and Mrs. Lena Louise Horn of Dozwagiac. Her mother, age 93, still lives at Freeport. She also has three brothers, George A. and Guy of Fort Recovery, O., and J. W. of Grand Rapids; also three sisters, Mrs. S. C. Seese and Mrs. I. E. Moore of Freeport and Mrs. J. W. Godfrey of Akron, O., also eight grand children.

On December 23, 1930, she was married to Milton Coulter of Grand Rapids, who passed away March 17, 1925. Since then she has continued living at her home on Monroe street.

Early in life she joined the M. E. church in Freeport. After her marriage she became a member of the West Lowell church, transferring to the church in Lowell upon taking up her residence here. She was an earnest Christian and an active worker, retaining a keen interest in its program up to the time of her death. Her last days were bright with her confident faith.

She leaves a heritage of happy memories and of a life comforted by the assurances of a vital faith.

Private funeral services were held at her late home on March 11 at 1 p. m., with public services at the church at 2:30. Interment in Merriman cemetery.

Little Miss Charlene Taylor celebrated her eighth birthday with a happy birthday party at her home, Thursday March 10th. Miss Marian Bushnell, teacher, and the members of her class in school were her guests: Kenneth Wingfield, Gleone Collins, Kenneth Smith, Jack Maxson, Inez Cole, Jack Simon, Phyllis Brown, Dorothy Scott, Harold Dolloway, Shirley Dennick, Walter Gunster, Bobbie Yeiter, Shirley Lee and Jacqueline Fahrni. Her aunt, Mrs. James Loomis and friend, Mrs. Terrawor of Flint, were also present. Games were played and Jackie Maxson and Shirley Lee won the honors. Nice refreshments were served. Charlene received many lovely gifts and all reported "lots of fun."

The initial dancing party given by the "Checked Vagabond" orchestra was held Thursday evening, March 17th, in the second story of the Yeiter block. This will be a weekly event from now on. The color scheme, black and gold, figured in the decorations, together with palms, drapes and colored lights, making a very unique setting for the orchestra which is composed of local talent as follows: Miss Evelyn Yeiter, Ed. Reynolds, Paul Wachterhouser, Bryne and Bruce McMahon. A fine attendance enjoyed this, the only place of amusement of its sort in the village and which will be of a high standard.

The recent marriage of John A. Andrews, Jr., of Grattan and Miss Sallie Quick of Grand Rapids, is announced by his relatives.

Attorney and Mrs. R. E. Springett announce the marriage of their eldest son, Thurston Springett and Miss Ruth King, teacher of Benton Harbor, Saturday, Mar. 19th. Thurston, a Junior at U. of M., will continue his study of chemistry in which he is specializing.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lalley gave a family dinner at her home Saturday night for the pleasure of Mrs. Will Lalley, the Misses Katherine and Anna Lalley, Loyal Lalley, James McMahon and Miss
