DIAMONDS

WOULD you like to find a diamond? Then the next time you are around a gravel bed, keep your eyes open and if you see what appears to be a bit of glass, and if it reflects lights as a rainbow, there are possibilities, remote perhaps, that your wish has been gratified. This is the advice given by the Geological Survey Division of the Conservation Department, which says that a considerable number of diamonds have been found in Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois. Somewhere in the north is or was, a gigantic diamond deposit. Glaciers sweeping over this deposit carried diamonds down with them and scattered the pieces over the Great Lakes states. No one knows where the great diamond deposit was entirely swept away by the action of the ice or whether it continues to lie undiscovered. Attempts have been made to find this field but it has defied all efforts. In the great wild and inaccessible areas of Canada, it is like looking for a needle in a haystack. The diamonds are scattered through the glacial deposits and generally have been found in gravel. While most of them are small, many diamonds of considerable value have been discovered. Seventeen were one-half carat or more in size and the largest weighed 2 1/4 carats. It was reported that one diamond sold for $10,000.

Washed by water, the diamonds found in gravel are clean and can be easily seen. The diamonds look similar to pieces of glass or clear crystal quartz. They will usually reflect a rainbow of colors without polishing. Pebbles showing rainbow colors are worth examining carefully.

MICHIGAN LAW IS DIFFERENT

MICHIGAN'S new election law gave the White House secretary, President Herbert Hoover something to think about a few days ago.

Not knowing that the Michigan statute provides that every candidate is to be furnished with a proof ballot for checking purpose to ascertain if his name is properly spelled and placed in the proper place and under the proper party label, one of them called Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald to find out why county clerks of Michigan were sending in ballots for their OK.

Mr. Fitzgerald explained to the person on the other end of the telephone line that the county clerks of Michigan were just following the law.

It is incumbent on each of the county clerks to have a sample ballot approved by every candidate. Mr. Fitzgerald explained to the White House secretary and President Hoover was included just the same as every one else, down to county surveyor.

This year the names of the candidates for president and vice-president on all parties appear on the ballots rather than the names of the presidential electors. This provision was enacted by the 1931 legislature.

WHEN TO STOP ADVERTISING

WHEN every man has become so thoroughly a creature of habit that he will certainly buy this year where he bought last year.

When younger, and fresher and spunkier concerns in your line cease starting up and using the newspapers in telling the people how much better they can do for them than you can.

When nobody else thinks "it pays to advertise."

When population ceases to multiply and the generations that crowd on after you, and never heard of you, come on.

When you have convinced everybody, whose life will touch yours, that you have better goods and lower prices than they can ever get anywhere outside of your store.

When you perceive it to be the rule that men who never do and never did advertise are outstripping their neighbors in the same line of business.

When men stop making fortunes right in your sight, solely through the discreet use of this mighty agent.

When you can forget the words of the shrewdest and most successful business men concerning the main cause of their prosperity.

When you would rather have your own way and fail than take advice and win.

When you want to go out of business with a stock on hand.

When you want to get rid of the trouble of waiting on customers.—Gazette, Lexington, Virginia.

The attention of every citizen is called to the matter of registering with your township clerk in order to vote at the coming November election. In Lowell township the clerk will be in his office every day up to and including Saturday, October 29, the last day. Be sure to register.

The corn husker that was advertised in The Ledger a week ago was sold the same week to a man in Plymouth.

Michigan railroads Saturday were notified by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the second reduction within a month and a half on the freight rate on potato shipments from Michigan to Ohio, Indiana and Northern Kentucky.

The last of the concrete was poured at the underpass beneath the Grand Trunk right-of-way on the new M-21, west of Pawamo, Saturday, and the section of the pavement will be opened for traffic in another week.

Mrs. Julia Farlin, a former and favorably known resident of Lowell, died at her home in Ann Arbor Wednesday, October 19th, and was brought to Lowell Monday for burial in the family lot at Oakwood.

An article in the October Country Home entitled, "Redskins and Northern Spies," gives an interesting sketch of one of the oldest and most extensive apple growers in the State, Luther Hall, who was the brother of the late Mrs. Ruth Hall Freeman. Mr. Hall is 86 years old, and with his two sons, Louis and Frank, cultivate and raise apples from twenty-seven hundred best-bearing trees in Michigan. His orchards are situated midway between Belding and Ionia.

Teachers from 13 counties are in Grand Rapids this week Thursday and Friday to attend the program of the fourth district of the Michigan Education Association. There are 4,238 members in this district.

Robert Patterson, Ionia restaurant keeper, believes in telling his former patrons of his whereabouts. Shortly before he was to leave for Detroit House of Correction to serve an eight-month term imposed upon him by Federal District Court for violation of the liquor laws, Patterson put a sign on the door of his restaurant which read: "Gone to winter quarters."

Southern farmers are elated over the prospect of receiving 8 or 9 cents a pound for their cotton this fall. Even at that comparatively low price they will make a moderate profit. By contrast it may be mentioned that while radium sells for nearly two million dollars an ounce, it yields little profit to the producers.

The warm sunshine which prevailed so steadily a goodly portion of the present month caused Mother Nature to outdo herself. Walter Gibson has been displaying blossoms taken from cherry trees in his yard and reported buds ready to burst open. Pink climbing roses on the stone fence at Fallsburg park have been in bloom. Miss Louise Blaser of Vergennes reports picking a three-pound tomato from the Blaser garden.

Mrs. J. F. Paulus of Lansing informs The Ledger that news has been received of the death of Estella L. Shear at her home at 309 West 107th-st., New York City. She taught in the Lowell High school in 1879 and has a number of relatives and friends in Lowell.

LT. COL. EVANS, NOTED WAR ACE B. OF T. GUEST

STATE DIRECTOR OF AERONAUTICS URGES ESTABLISHMENT OF LANDING FIELD IN LOWELL — IMPORTANCE STRESSED — COMMITTEE IS NAMED.

With some 40 business and professional men in attendance the Board of Trade was host to one of America's foremost figures in aviation at a luncheon last Friday. The guest of honor was Lieut.-Col. Evans, war ace, commercial aviator, sportsman, pilot, and more recently State Director of Aeronautics.

After an introduction by Mr. Thomas Welch, Grand Rapids Airport manager, Col. Evans described in graphic detail the important work undertaken by the State Department and told of the already completed projects that are now in progress. In his official capacity Col. Evans is in direct charge of the establishment and maintenance of the State's airways and in the development of new projects at strategic points to increase the scope and safety of commercial and private flying.

The last year has seen the completion of an air lane extending from Southern Michigan, through the Upper Peninsula, to Ironwood, providing a series of landing fields and ports only from fifteen to twenty miles apart, providing aircraft with safe harbors in case of emergencies or dangerous weather conditions. These fields are already responsible for at least eight emergency landings, all of which were made without damage to planes or passengers. Extending as they do into the heart of our hunting, scenic and resort sections these ports have proved a boon to both private and commercial pilots and as a result the traffic over this lane has continually increased.

Want Field at Lowell

Col. Evans expressed himself as particularly interested in the establishment of a Lowell field at this time, not necessarily a full fledged airport, but a suitable landing field for use of visiting officials, emergency landings, student training and private flying. Over a period of a few years this field could be developed until a full airport rating be established. This port would fit in perfectly with the State development plans and Col. Evans offered the full co-operation of his department and engineering staff in its establishment—this coupled with available State and County assistance would bring the cost of this desirable and progressive development down to a very low figure.

A motion by Norman Borgerson that an investigating committee be appointed was passed and Pres. Foreman named Messrs. Look, Shepard, Van Dyke and Drew to make the necessary survey.

Immediately following the luncheon, Col. Evans accompanied by Committee members Shepard and Drew made an aerial survey of the district, locating several fields acceptable to the State for this use.

On 1933 Air Map

The desirability of a Lowell field has been increasingly apparent during the last several years with the rapid development of commercial aviation, the universal adoption by State and business officials and the great interest in student training and elementary work by the growing generation.

With immediate action, Mr. Welch expressed his belief that Lowell would be placed on the 1933 Air Tour schedule which would indeed be an important event for our town, creating a vast amount of good will and securing an inestimable amount of excellent publicity.

For a town of Lowell's progressive reputation we have been haps lagged a little in this new method of transportation but we are in hopes that in the near future Lowell will take her place on the air maps of the nation.

New License Plates in Lower Numbers

Elimination of all automobile license plates of more than six figures, is to be accomplished by the Department of State in 1933 through the use of combinations of letters and numerals.

The system will reduce the amount of steel needed for the plates and it is estimated that the move will effect a saving of several thousand dollars. The lower numbered plates will be easier to read and the letters which will precede the numbers will be assigned to definite counties.

Allocation of letters will be according to the first letter of the name of the county, except that counties starting with the letter "I" will be allocated to the letter "R" for reasons of legibility. To illustrate, "R" plates to Ionia, Ingham, Iosco, Iron and Isabella counties.

"K" plates to Kent, Kalamazoo, Kalkaska and Keweenaw counties.

Dr. C. S. Wheeler will share the hour with the pastor. The evening picture will be Millet's "Gleaners," a most appropriate theme for the harvest festival.

Committees in charge are: Executive—Mrs. O. J. Yeiter, Mrs. Otley. Decorations—H. Alexander, C. E. Kysar, L. Bierl. Arranging exhibits—Mrs. Oatley, Mrs. Bedell, Mrs. Merrill, Mrs. Yeiter. Demo. Speakers Draw Big Crowd

A good audience greeted the Democratic county candidates at the City Hall Saturday evening. Harry Stauffer's Pepper Boys of Lowell opened the meeting with a number of orchestral bits. Earl Hunter presided over the meeting and introduced the speaker, of the evening, Joseph Kozak, candidate for register of deeds, gave a brief resume of the duties of the office.

N. C. Thomas and his quartette selected a trio of song numbers that went over in a big way. Dr. Jarvis, the old wheel horse of Kent democracy was called on for a talk, which was followed by Irving Smith's discourse on the office of the circuit court judge for which he is a candidate. Henry Hart, candidate for prosecuting attorney talked on the program of the party, both national and local. Dr. Stephen Whinnery, who is aspiring for the office of coroner, gave a most enlightening talk.

Chairman Hunter introduced William Lennon candidate for sheriff, and John Slagter, candidate for the legislature.

At this juncture, Winfield H. Caslow, candidate for Congress from this district arrived from a speaking engagement at Alto, and he was given a good hand as he mounted the platform. He spoke on the subject: "Open Government vs. Committee Legislation." Applause was much in evidence. Before the local meeting all the speakers appeared before a crowd at Alto.

Bird of Paradise Truly Spectacular

Next Sunday and Monday the famous stage success rethinks the Strand screen in a blaze of lavish glory for "Bird of Paradise" has been filmed in the exotic charm of Hawaii and the hundreds who have seen it on the stage will be thrilled again at this world-famed play which is often called the greatest melodrama in the annals of the theatre. It is a story of volcanic emotions played in a locale of hissing volcanoes and turbulent natives—the drama of forbidden love beyond the pale of white men's morals. An inspired cast of natives support Dolores Del Rio, Joel McCrea and Skeets Gallagher in this colorful romantic drama. Another highlight of this bill is the new Laurel and Hardy comedy, "Scram," with these comedians at their funniest.

Extension Class Studies Nutrition

The Home Economics Extension class met at the home of Mrs. Hattie Peckham Tuesday. There were sixteen members enrolled to take the nutrition work given to the Lowell groups this year.

A good home is one of the greatest factors in developing men and women who are fitted to meet life's problems and so this group of women are earnestly endeavoring to better the home life through the service given them by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Michigan State College, and the County Board of Supervisors. This service is given by a trained home demonstration agent experienced in Home Economics and brings to the home maker the latest information regarding individual and community home-making. It gives personal advice to women requesting it and helps to arrange and carry out a county-wide program of home economics.

Through this nutrition class we hope to improve the health of ourselves and our family by giving them the right kind of food at the right time. This month we are looking after our teeth. Studying the necessary foods needed to build them into perfect teeth. Also we are learning how to walk correctly, sit correctly and stand correctly. We have also pledged ourselves to use only sugar beet sugar raised in this glorious state of Michigan thereby helping the unemployed to work and to happiness.

He is one of the ablest men in the Congress and an untiring worker in behalf of the tiller of the soil. He not only knows the problems and needs of agriculture but is thoroughly posted on national problems. He is an outstanding speaker and this is a rare opportunity to hear a man of ability and power. It is predicted that there will be a large attendance from Lowell and surrounding territory.

Cong. Carl E. Mapes of the 5th Congressional district and other candidates will also be present. Arrangements are being made to have the Lowell band furnish music for the occasion.

Remember the date, next Monday evening, Oct. 31, at Lowell City Hall. No matter what your party affiliation may be, you are cordially invited to attend.

Start Friendly Suit In U.S. Dist. Court

A friendly suit has been filed in the United States District court asking that a receiver be appointed to operate the Fines Oil Company of Lowell. The action is said to have been taken with the knowledge and cooperation of the Fines Oil Co., merely as a protective measure owing to the future uncertainties in the oil industry. The local company has not met with material losses, declares the local manager, and this certainly speaks well for its management considering the trying times of the past two years.

Hundreds from Kent Co. Hear Militant Speech by Pres. Hoover in Support of Recovery Program

Every county in Michigan but one was represented at the Olympia in Detroit last Saturday night when President Hoover outlined in detail what his administration has done to aid the farmer and laboring man; then turned the full force of his verbal attack upon the Democratic candidate, whose conclusions, President Hoover declared were "amazingly far from the truth."

Never in Michigan's history have the citizens of the state made such efforts to hear an address by the nation's chief executive. Motor cavalades from near-by counties started to arrive in Detroit shortly after noon. Over 400 were present from Kent County, five being from Lowell. More than 40 minutes before President Hoover began to talk, the Olympia was packed with 20,000 persons—some of whom traveled hundreds of miles. Another estimated that 15,000 others were blocking the streets outside in an effort to catch a glimpse of the President. Overflow meetings in other parts of the city, according to estimates, attracted scores of thousands more. At least 100,000 heard the address in Detroit in addition to millions who "listened in" on the nation-wide radio hook-up.

And those who were successful in securing seats after hours of waiting heard President Hoover in a new role. Instead of a prosaic reading of a prepared address, he lashed vigorously at his opponents who have hindered the nation's efforts toward reconstruction and departed frequently from his written text to give his hearers a new insight into the terrific task of again restoring jobs to the unemployed, to again starting the wheels of industry and to restore adequate farm prices.

At the start of his address, the President said that "what our people need is the restoration of their normal jobs, recovery of agricultural prices and business; and they need help in the meantime to tide them over until these things are accomplished, that they may not go hungry nor lose their farms or homes."

He then launched into an analysis of his opponent's claims that governmental costs could be reduced. President Hoover showed by citing statistics that the economy being preached by his opponent has already been put into practice.

This week Saturday, Oct. 29, is the last day for Registration for the November Election. See your Township Clerk.

Baked Ham Supper by Whitneyville L.A.S.

The Whitneyville Ladies' Aid society is laying great plans for a baked ham supper to be served at Whitneyville on Friday evening of this week, Oct. 28.

The hams for the occasion are being furnished by Weaver's market and we have it on good authority that Mr. Weaver is selecting his choicest for the occasion. Then as a further guarantee of something to delight the epicure they are to be baked in the Lowell Bakery under the personal supervision of George Herald, the proprietor—and Mr. Herald has some reputation for knowing how to bake hams to the queen's taste. The supper starts at 6 sharp and the price of 35 cents for adults and 15 cents for children under 10, makes the supper within the reach of all.

A number of people from Lowell and vicinity are planning to attend.

Foreman Leghorns Rank Third in U.S.

The official Poultry Blue Book survey of egg laying contests conducted in 1931-32 places Foreman Poultry Farm of Lowell third highest in the entire United States in total egg production. Five pens entered in Texas, Georgia and New Jersey, Alabama and New York egg laying contests, comprising fifty birds, laid a total of 11,891 eggs. Several hens achieved the 300-egg mark and ranked among the highest individuals.

This official rating places Foreman Strain Leghorns as the highest official laying strain in the Middle West for 1932. These outstanding hens have now been returned to the Foreman plant and will be used in the breeding pens this coming season. The Foreman plant is open to inspection at all times where these national champion hens can be seen.

FREMONT BOWS TO LOWELL BY SCORE OF 33-6

FANS GASP AS HOME TEAM MAKES TWO TOUCHDOWNS AT THE SENDOFF — FREMONT'S FORWARD PASSES THRILL CROWD.

It did not take long for Lowell to demonstrate its superiority over Fremont on the gridiron last Friday night. The fans gasped in wonder as Finch's proteges galloped to two touchdowns soon after the opening kick-off and it appeared as if Lowell would have another field day. Fremont seemed bewildered at the sudden turn of events but soon settled down and gave one of the finest demonstrations of forward passing we have ever seen.

Turning the ball on their own 15-yard line the visitors completed pass after pass until they were on Lowell's five-yard line from where Dunning carried it over without even being touched.

The fans began to realize why Fremont had gone through two seasons without defeat and it appeared to be anyone's game. At this stage of the game, Green, who had scored both of Lowell's touchdowns early in the first quarter on runs of 60 and 45 yards, came through with another of those "Red Grange's" gallops and advanced 65 yards before being stopped. It paved the way for another touchdown and McMahon plunged over, making the count 20-7, just as the half ended. On the second play in the third period McMahon dashed 60 yards to another touchdown and then Fremont again threatened via the aerial route. In the final session Burris scampered twenty yards for the final touchdown. Bergin, as usual, used excellent judgment in his selection of plays.

The entire team played well except for forward passes. Clark, Lalley and Rutherford at ends, Houghton and Hartley at tackles, Weaver and Dinsen at guards, and Kyser at center did well on offense and defense. But Lowell could not advance the ball by passes and seemed at a loss to stop the visitors. Mr. Finch will drill in this department before the next game. The boys will have a much deserved rest this week, but on November 4 will meet East Grand Rapids in the stiffest game of the year.

Lowell B's Take Grandville, 13-7

In the first period Grandville made the count 7-0 by pushing over a touchdown after blocking one of Lowell's punts. The second and third periods displayed good defensive ball and a punting game was the result. With four minutes to go Lowell rallied and scored a touchdown but failed for the extra point. Grandville chose to receive and with a one point lead attempted a forward pass which Scott intercepted. With the ball on Grandville's 40-yard line Christoff carried the ball behind perfect interference for Lowell's second counter and extra point. Final score: Lowell 13, Grandville 7.

Lowell's starting lineup: Barrett, Fenning, ends; Van Dusen, Warren, tackles; Havlicek, Hoag, guards; Scott, Hunt, halves; Hawk, quarter; Christoff, full back; Reynolds and Houseman, alternating service men; the following saw service sometime during the game: Peckham, Pinckney, Biggs, Bell, Doyle, Sherman, Schwacha, and Arehart.

AUNT SALLY KEEN

"What do YOU think we should do on this bonus question, Aunt Sally?"

"Annabelle, it isn't so much what we SHOULD do, I reckon, ez what we'RE ABLE to do. The whole thing was settled once you know."

"It was, Auntie? In what way?"

"Well, honey, back in 1925, we agreed to the veteran's demand in the best way we could which wuz to give 'em certificates payable in 1945, an' each certificate included twenty years of accrued interest."

"Was that satisfactory to the veterans, Auntie?"

"Yes, at the time it wuz, but a few years later came a fresh demand which wuz to let 'em BORROW fifty percent of their certificate value."

"And, did we yield to that, too?"

"Uh-uh, we did, Annabelle, an' in 1931 veterans borrowed a thousand million dollars of their bonus money at 4 1/2%. Think of it, a THOUSAND MILLION! Mind you, that wuz done last year when not only the United States but the whole World wuz up to its neck in financial troubles."

"Why Auntie, those figures are simply appalling. And what is it the veteran wants now?"

"Well, honey, he's now wantin' an immediate CASH payment of the other fifty percent. We've already told him he can BORROW it at 3 1/2% but he demands the thirteen years of unearned interest which the certificate includes."

"Don't tell me THAT demand is to be met, too?"

"I can't answer that one, Annabelle. Seems as though most anyone would know the nation can't possibly meet it considerin' the condition the country an' all the rest of us is in, yet a Democratic House of Congress, led by the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, Mr. Garner, has already passed such a bill, an' President Hoover has vetoed it. Puttin' that extra burden on US taxpayers is jest like loadin' an already overloaded vessel right up to its sinkin' point."

"It's terribly important, Annabelle, that we have a President who'll stave off this an' all other Pork Barrel measures."

W. F. M. Auxiliary Met Here Tuesday

The county meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Auxiliary, held in Lowell, Tuesday, was quite well attended, there being about forty in attendance at the morning session. The county president, Mrs. L. A. Buss of Grand Rapids, presided at the convention. The song service in the morning was led by Mrs. Herman Strong of Grand Rapids, whom we all love to see in her former place as soloist in the M. E. church. Mrs. F. F. Coons, accompanied at the piano. Seven Auxiliaries of the county were represented and many fine reports given. After luncheon which was enjoyed by all in the dining room the afternoon session was called to order. The outstanding number was an address by Miss Lang, an evangelist missionary on furlough from Japan.

Mrs. E. R. Anderson of Grand Rapids, District President, gave a pleasing report of the branch meeting held at Terre Haute, Ind., which she was privileged to attend.

Demands for Welfare Increases Co. Budget

Kent county board of supervisors, sitting as a committee of the whole, late Tuesday approved the 1933 budget, calling for an expenditure of $1,178,069.

That figure represents an increase of $197,470 more than this year's budget and $117,397 under the budget of 1931. The increase is caused by greater demands in welfare work.

County parks maintenance was cut from $15,000 to $11,000; and appropriation for many other activities were either reduced or cut out entirely. Salaries of all county officers are reduced.
