

The Village of Plymouth has undertaken an extensive beautification plan of its streets and parks. The 75 men on the village welfare list will be used a portion of each month, their labor off-setting the groceries they receive for their families. Several other towns employ similar programs.

A large number of Detroit's gold hoarders are worried. During the past few weeks before the bank holiday some of the frightened depositors drew their money in gold and carried it across the river to Windsor (Canada) banks. Then came President Roosevelt's order for banks to refuse gold payments which was followed shortly by an order to all banks to furnish the government with a list of those who had withdrawn gold. There seems to be little doubt that the government intends to make an example of these timid Americans who would "short" their country in an emergency. The Detroiters who sneaked their gold to Canada now face an embargo on gold by Canada. They want to sneak it back into Detroit banks to avoid trouble and cannot get it. Let 'em sweat.

Michigan has a greater percentage of its farms electrified than any state between the Allegheny and Rocky mountains, a percentage of 21.6. Ohio and Wisconsin are other nearby states that have nearly as great a percentage. States along the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard are ahead of us; all others are behind. There were 2,000 farms that added electricity in 1932. The above figures do not include the storage battery plants.

It has been asserted that people now live 20 years longer than they did 50 years ago. They have to—in order to pay their taxes.

The Bedding Chamber of Commerce announces that the silk mills in that city will reopen within a few weeks under new management. This is cheering news. Bedding people have been having a sorry time of it since the failure of its banks and the closing of its principle industry.

Mrs. Hattie Bouse received word from her daughter, Libby Tredwick Taplin in Montpelier, Vermont, that her husband, C. Taplin, was no worse, and that their lives had been spared through the horrors of the terrible catastrophe.

Commenting on a little story published in The Ledger recently, the Ionia County News says: "Prosperity struck a Kent county farm last fall. A Jersey bossie presented her owner with twin heifer calves, which have named Eleanor Roosevelt and Ruth Garner. This is good news and we congratulate the farmer on his good luck, but at the same time are warning him not to let the news trek back to Dottie Gann."

The U. S. Government has notified gold hoarders that they have until March 27 in which to take their yellow metal to a bank and receive currency in exchange. This order is made in order to keep our money 100% good. A steady stream of gold coins and metal has been pouring into Federal Reserve banks since the passage of the anti-hoarding act.

For the benefit of Ledger readers in other sections we will state that March this year in Michigan has been running true to old-time form. They have had a few days of bright sunshine alternated with cold winds, some rain and some snow. Last Saturday and Sunday, trees with hoar frost, presented a beautiful picture. Walks and highways were covered with a thin coating of sleet and hoar frost. Tuesday, the first day of official spring, was marked with quite a snowfall.

Study Shows Way To Help Schools

Economics Department at Michigan State College Gives Report on Six Michigan Counties.

The results of a study of the school systems in six Michigan counties has recently been published by the economics department at Michigan State College and although the report does not give definite recommendations for any one type of school organization it does present a clear picture of the present system. School officers and others interested in educational problems will find the material in the bulletin valuable in aiding them to solve the problems in their particular districts. The counties included in the study are Ingham, Cass, Saginaw, Roscommon, Antrim and Marquette.

All types of district organization are included in the territory in which the study was made. The districts are rated for quality and the different gradations are shown on colored maps. Four suggestions made by the author of the bulletin are to make use of consolidated districts, county units, township units, or modifications of the present district system. Each of the different types of organization may be successful in one community and may fail in another. The individual differences in the districts must be taken into account before a definite type of organization can be recommended. The bulletin, "Rural School Organization in Michigan," Special No. 229 will be mailed to those requesting it from the director of the experiment station at East Lansing.

Earthquake Scenes Vividly Described

J. C. Richmond, a graduate of Lowell High School with the class of 1928, for the past four years a resident of Calexico, Calif., sends the following vivid description of the recent California earthquake. The letter was written from Calexico, Calif., to his mother, Mrs. E. E. Richmond, landlady operator in The Ledger office.

Suppose you have read all about the Long Beach quake. Well, it was, and is, a terrible thing. We were all in the house when the first hard tremor came at 5:55.

See Buildings Topples. Kathryn was getting supper. I was asleep on theavenport. The first noise sounded like two big trucks came together. I ran to the front door. Just as I looked up and down the street, two- and three-story buildings were dropping, just like leaves falling off a tree. It gave me a terrible feeling.

Our house is a one-story frame with stucco all over the outside, all rooms on one floor. I ran in the house and met Kathryn coming with the baby. We drew the cars out of the garage. Kathryn's folks and all of us sat in them all the time 'quakes were falling and buildings falling down. All one-story houses stood up under those shocks, but all the dishes in the houses, pictures and other breakables were practically ruined.

People sat in their automobiles waiting, and not knowing what would come next. The first hard 'quake lasted 15 seconds, we read later, but seemed such a long time, and more 'quakes kept following. We were very, very fortunate. We drove to Calexico, to Kathryn's sister, and I sent a telegram from there as everything was out of commission in Long Beach. The water mains are all broken, sewers are broken, and steel-reinforced stucco walls and all one-story houses seemed to stand the shake.

Remember When Lee Tracy Back In Strand Show

I think Lowell citizens of an earlier days enjoy reading your "Member When" contribution. While some of the articles are of comparatively recent date, others describe events and conditions of long ago, and find some old acquaintances and those who remember further back than I do. Three years ago this spring I chanced to meet Mr. O'Harrow, who lives at Alto and he told me he remembered the day my father, with other members of the 13th Mich. Infantry started for the Civil war in '62, and another former pioneer resident of Lowell, Mr. John Blain once told me the town first started at the bend of the Grand river at the foot of Peck's hill, at the steam boat landing, and I remember when the south bend of the upper branch over Grand river, in 1867, went out, and for some weeks we crossed that part on a stringer when we came to town on foot, and several different years between 1875 and 1885, the water was about 4 feet deep over the highway north of east bridge. The trees each side of the road was all that told us where the road was. A few weeks ago a "Member When" article appeared in The Ledger written by a young woman whose father was a small boy when I "tended mason" for her great grandfather, to build a stone wall to replace the one under a barn on my father's farm, which barn was struck by lightning and burned to the ground, Sept. 20, 1869.

700 in Line, So Didn't Land a Job—Earl Curtis Praises Speech of Rep. Dexter G. Look

Lansing, Mich., March 16, '33. Editor:— I take the liberty of asking you to publish this letter as I promised to write to my many friends in Kent county. Well, as I have no permanent home any more I am now in Lansing. I thought I might land the job of assistant Attorney General, or at least advised to the Governor, but alas I must have been about the seven hundredth in line, but I have attended several sessions of the Legislature and since enjoyed it. I wish to announce that our townsmen and representative from the Second Kent district delivered an address on the House floor in opposition to "County Centralization," which I am satisfied had great weight in defeating that bill, and we should thank D. G. for that as Kent Co.

Warning! Stickers Good in 28 Other States

Michigan motorists who operate their cars on half rate windshield sticker permits until August 1, will be able to drive in 28 other states without being stopped, according to formal assurances already received by the Department of State.

The states which have approved the plan formally are Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky (pleasure cars only), Tennessee, Nevada, Utah, Province of Ontario, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Colorado, Alabama, Georgia, New York, Connecticut, Maryland, Maine, Arkansas, Louisiana, South Dakota, Oregon, Oklahoma, South Carolina, West Virginia, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, District of Columbia, and Florida.

Following a request by the legislature, Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald extended the time for the use of 1932 plates until April 1. This extension was made because of the fact that many motorists and companies owning fleets of trucks were unable to secure funds which were in banks. No further extension will be made after April 1, motorists will be required to have either 1933 plates or 1932 plates with the windshield permit.

What's Wrong At Lansing?

9000 Door Kickers For Job Seekers

President Roosevelt Accomplishes More in 10 Days Than State Administration Does in 10 Weeks.

What is wrong in Lansing? The new state administration has been on the job for more than TEN WEEKS.

A new national administration at Washington, D. C., took office just a bit over TEN DAYS ago.

In Lansing everything is chaos, bickering and leaderless confusion. At Washington, starting the first day of President Roosevelt's administration, came bold action striking at the very heart of the country's trouble.

As this is written such relief as Michigan's 500 banks have had has come from President Roosevelt. From their own state administration has come nothing but a succession of conflicting reports. Michigan depositors and Michigan bankers are dizzy trying to follow the gyrations of an impotent banking bill which has been tossed, torn, tangled and wrangled over because of what?

It has not been a question of how soon or how much of Michigan's hundreds of thousands of state bank depositors shall be relieved. Little consideration is given the business interests of the state. "Who will get the jobs?"—that's the thing they are fighting over; the spoils of office.

Paraphrasing, let the writer make it clear right here that he has confidence in the honesty and sincerity of Governor William A. Comstock. The Governor is trying. He wants action. He was drawn into declaring a bank holiday with minutes to consider state house, news, and Michigan depositors and Michigan bankers—and he had to make this decision at once. No wonder he is bewildered. What has happened since is too fresh in the minds of Michigan people to need recounting. Nor is it necessary to explain why the Governor's efforts have been futile to get action.

Things are in a mess at Lansing. There is no leadership. The Senate is aimlessly arguing and bickering about meaningless trifles. Its presiding officer, Lieut. Gov. Stebbins has not yet learned how to follow the simple, parliamentary procedure. Its clerk, according to veteran newspaper men, has not yet learned the routine rules. The Senate is a joke.

The writer has spent two days in the capitol city talking with veteran observers, experienced state house newspaper men and some of the older members of the legislature. Without exception they say, "Never has there been such disorganization and lack of purpose in Michigan's government as exists today."

"What about the House?" we asked. "Better," they say, "but not functioning as it should." In years past the House was more unwieldy. One hundred members were more difficult to get action from than the 32 members of the Senate. Today it is different. The House with 41 veteran members are waiting for the

The Wet-Dry Vote Due Monday, April 3

Under the Heidkamp bill enacted into law, March 10, Michigan voters on April 3 will name 100 delegates to a convention to be held April 10 at Lansing, called for the purpose of ratifying or rejecting the 18th amendment. One delegate will be named from each representative district.

In Kent county, and all other districts, the candidates for delegates to this convention are picked by the probate judge, prosecuting attorney and county clerk. One pledged to vote wet and the other pledged to vote dry. The names of these delegates will appear on a separate ballot.

Voters should bear in mind that this is a vote on the matter of repeal of the 18th amendment. It is not a question of the personality of candidates, or whether you like or dislike them. If you think the 18th Amendment should not be repealed you vote for the dry candidate. If you favor repeal you vote for the wet candidate. The candidates from this district (which is the second legislative district of Kent county) are as follows:

Dry—J. P. Munson, Knapp-rd., a fruit grower. Wet—John M. Dunham, an attorney, East Grand Rapids. Voters should bear in mind that the question of repealing the 18th Amendment is decided in the election of Monday, April 3. The convention to be held on April 10th, is simply for the purpose of carrying out the will of the electorate.

Three Young Misses Start Church Nursery

Three young ladies of the Lowell Congregational church have inaugurated a plan which no doubt will be welcomed by many mothers of small children. The plan is a nursery, which will be conducted in the Parish House where children under 6 years of age will be cared for during church services. The young ladies who have volunteered for this laudable undertaking are Misses Gladys Armstrong, Jane Runciman and Catherine Steed. Mothers are invited to avail themselves of this opportunity of attending church services without any obligation whatsoever.

So. Boston Grange Entertains Pomona

Following a bountiful pot luck dinner at a well attended Pomona Grange meeting at South Boston last Saturday the "Dry" question was very ably defended by Rev. Fitch of Ionia.

Other talks and vocal music were arranged by County Lecturer, Mrs. Marion Hathaway, who then called upon Miss Esther Lewis, lecturer of South Boston Grange, whose program of songs by the Filkins, accompanied by Mrs. Lyle Bovee; dialogue by Helen Sharp and Herbert Vanderwall; pantomime "Nearer My God to Thee," Betty Freeman, Jeanne Tucker and Mildred Kyser with Mrs. Lewis, soloist; recitation, Helen Sharp; play, Mrs. Flora Lewis, Mrs. Mabel Tucker, John Freeman and Fred Fahmi was completed by a splendid address on "Citizenship" by Rev. S. B. Wenger of the Congregational church of Lowell.

Stanley Powell, Ionia County Pomona Grange Master, presided. Next Saturday evening, March 25th, will be held a grange and community meeting followed by program and dancing. Everyone welcome.

Laid to Rest

A beautiful life was brought to a close with the passing of Mrs. Lailie, who succumbed to the frailties of the physical and led this earthly abode to be reunited with those dear ones who had preceded her on life's journey.

She was always chiefly concerned with the more serious aspects of life, and welcomed each opportunity to be of service, and share the sorrow or ease the burden of an fellow sufferer. She radiated peace and comfort among those with whom she came in contact.

Her own sorrow she faced with courage and sweet forbearance and overcame the anguish of it by finding some new service. Her last days were a fitting close to the life of one who had given so abundantly during earlier years, for she was surrounded by the comforts and administered to by loving and skilled hands.

HE IS NEEDED

FRANK W. Peterson, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Kent County Board of Supervisors, has announced his desire to retire from that position.

Kent County cannot afford to lose the services of Mr. Peterson. He has proven his worth by conscientious and efficient work during one of the most trying periods of the county's history. He has managed most economically and the taxpayers of Kent want such a man continued at the head of its finances. The Ledger sincerely hopes that Mr. Peterson may be prevailed upon to serve during the remainder of this critical period.

WANT THE JOB, THAT'S ALL

DELEGATION of Democ. Comstock a few days ago, asking for the removal of Warden Shean of Ionia Reformatory and placing in his stead a man by the name of Henry J. Cook, formerly a sheriff of Ionia county. The Governor replied that this was no time to play party politics and refused to comply with the request of those seeking the removal of the warden. Governor Comstock is to be commended. The high type of service given by Warden Shean and his sterling quality should remove him from the realm of partisan politics.

A NUT TO CRACK

NOW THAT legalized beer appears in the not distant offing, the question is frequently asked on Main street, "Who will handle Lowell's beer?" Interesting conjectures are natural. Will the boot-leggers quit business? Will the home-brew cellar become a thing of the past? A nut for the wisecracks of the Coffee Club to crack.

However, the measure will start the sale of legalized beer and wine on April 7. The bill repeals the one-half of one per cent legal alcoholic content fixed by the Volstead act and substitutes 3.2 per cent. No federal restrictions are placed on the manufacture and sale of beer and wine. That is left to the various states. The tax of 85 on a thirty-one-gallon barrel of beer amounts to about 2 cents a pint.

GLORIFY LOWELL

LOWELL could be a riot of dainty colors throughout the summer months if a plan were devised whereby all cooperated in the planting of petunias. Streets, driveways, parks and the banks of Flat river would be glorified through an undertaking. The Garden Lore club is capable of taking leadership in this matter. The people of Lowell have never failed to cooperate in any movement for the advancement of the community.

MUST BUILD ANEW

THERE HAS BEEN no rich man's panic. It has been everybody's depression. This depression has forced American business back to where it was in 1915. The drop has been from a peak of about 80 billions of dollars of business per year to about 50 billions. This means that all of our economic gains and all our increased standards of living accumulated since the beginning of the World War have been completely wiped out. We must now start all over again to build up and help effect the further growth and prosperity of our great country. The one big thing that gives us courage right now is the historical knowledge that our country has nudged through many depressions before, and every depression has been followed by new record peaks of prosperity.

Bank Holiday Again Extended

Gov. Comstock Wednesday issued a third proclamation extending the bank holiday under the terms prescribed in his second proclamation of Feb. 21. The proclamation permits closed banks to operate as they have for the past month.

Garden Lore Club

The Garden Lore club met March 15th with Mrs. F. E. White, Mrs. L. E. Johnson, leader of the Perennial group, held a class of instruction on the growth and care of perennials. Mrs. J. Fahmi and Mrs. C. Dolloway were the teachers and the pupils were Mrs. J. E. Allhand, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Hattie Peckham, Mrs. W. Pennock, Mrs. George Lee and Mrs. Cecil Bibbler.

THE SENATOR NEEDS ONE THE FUNNIEST thing we have had to chronicle in these columns in many a day is to mention that Senator Karwick of the Detroit area has introduced a bill which would create the office of mattress inspector for the great State of Michigan. If it wasn't for the humor of the thing we'd go a step farther and say that mattress inspecting would not be any more ridiculous than the work of factory inspectors—and many other kinds of the species. A few days ago an inspector called at The Ledger office and was so exacting in his demands that he almost wanted to plug up the oil holes on the printing presses for fear a workman might fall in. We are inspected to death. Initiative and ambition are killed when a government becomes paternalistic. We suggest that Senator Karwick be given a good soft mattress and that he spend all of his time in beauty sleep.

A letter from Terre Haute, Ind., to Mrs. Elmer Richmond from her sister, states the Glass factories have started their furnaces and are commencing to call their men back again. Fruit jars, glass bottles, etc., will soon be going out for benefit of the consumer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker and James Baker of Marion, Ohio, brothers and sister-in-law of Mrs. C. F. Cahill and Mrs. Wm. Kaufman, attended the funeral of William Fauffman. They were accompanied by Glen Landy, of Sycamore, Ohio. All returned to their homes Tuesday morning.

Coach R. W. Finch and Supt. W. W. Gumsir attended the State basketball tournament at the Vocational school in Lansing Saturday. Mrs. Gumsir and Walter visited friends in E. Lansing during the day. All returning safely home in the evening, in spite of the storm, ice and darkness.

Mrs. Mary Hill has returned to her home in Jackson after a few weeks spent with her sister, Mrs. Charles Williamson, who has returned to nearly normal health and is so grateful for all the loving letters and cards received while at the hospital, also for the many favors shown her since returning home. All these kindnesses help to dull the pain and anxiety during a hospital experience.
