

Better Days Ahead For Lowell

LOWELL SHARES COUNTY HONORS WITH GRANDVILLE

BATTLE TO SCORELESS TIE—FIRST TIME SINCE 1929 THAT LOWELL FAILED TO REGISTER A TOUCHDOWN.

Playing at Grandville a week ago, on a field more fitted for skiing or hockey, Lowell was finally held to a tie score by a class "C" school when weather was able to score. It was the first time since Nov. 8, 1929, that Lowell failed to defeat a class "C" opponent, and it was the first time since early in 1929 that Lowell failed to register at least one touchdown. In each of the past 43 games Lowell has held the opponents scoreless 26 times, and so Grandville is to be congratulated. Because of the tie score, Lowell loses undisputed claim to county honors and must share the laurels with Grandville.

Grandville Strong The crowd of fans accompanying the team declared Grandville's team adopted in all departments of the game. Mr. Finch declared that the forward wall was the best that his boys have encountered in years, Lowell fans felt that the game would not have ended as it did had the field been suitable for football. But the Grandville fans feel the same way and both schools must be satisfied with the score. Grandville authorities did all in their power to clear the field of snow and ice, and in this way they were more successful than we had even dared to hope. The spirit between the two teams was excellent and Lowell is happy to share the spoils with the boys from Kent County's new "city."

The Game The story of the game might be written in very few words by stating that it was an exhibition of slipping, sliding, fumbling and punting. All of the boys did their part as well as could be expected under the circumstances. In punting the honors were about even, in rushing the ball the teams were about even. But in forward passing Lowell had the decided advantage, completing several for substantial gains. The only forward pass attempted by Grandville was intercepted by Doyle. Both teams threatened on several occasions but most of the battle raged between the 30 yard lines.

The Prospects for Next Year The curtain has lowered on the football season and the boys are now busily engaged in basketball. In retrospect we would say that the team play of the boys was largely responsible for the splendid record made during the season. In losing Schwacha, Bergin, Keiser, Flavel, Eichhoff, Houseman, Clark, Sinclair, and others, Mr. Finch will lose some excellent talent. Bergin's generalship was almost perfect; Schwacha's punting was remarkable; Clark's work play was a feature; and the work of Houseman and Eichhoff at guards was outstanding. In prognosticating we would venture to predict that Lowell will have a fine team again next year. Of the 27 boys on the first squad 17 should return for duty next September. Doyle, Hickner, Lindquist, Fleming, Scott, and Christoff will undoubtedly furnish the nucleus for the new team. The schedule next year will be the same as it was for this year, the opponents being Allegan, Lee, Ionia, Holland, Rockford, East Grand Rapids, Belding and Grandville.

Health Poster For All Schools "Cleanliness" is the subject of a health poster which has been sent to every school, public and parochial, in Kent County by the Grand Rapids Anti-tuberculosis Society. It is an unusually attractive study in beautiful colors and shows a mother bath-bathing a protesting cub in a shallow natural bathing hole by the side of a stream. It will afford many opportunities for tying up health and nature study in 1,000 classrooms within the next week when it may be used as a visual device to teach both internal and external cleanliness. Three other beautiful nature studies for health teaching will be sent to the schools later. Funds raised by the tuberculosis society through the sale of Christmas Seals make all kinds of posters and literature available to teachers if they will call at headquarters, 301 Association of Commerce Building. The series of posters now on hand were painted by the famous animal painter, Charles Livingston Bull, now deceased.

King Fed Turkey Gift to Roosevelt

A fifty-pound turkey, raised at the Michigan State experimental farm at Lake City, Mecosin county, has been shipped to President Roosevelt with the compliments of Michigan. The big bird will grace the festive board at the President's Thanksgiving dinner so we will know the family of our chief executive will have much to be thankful for and especially so from the fact that the famous turkey has been raised exclusively on King's feed produced in Lowell.

No Decision Yet On New Name for Pond

The editor is frequently asked if the proposed new name for the Pond has been decided upon. In answer we will state that no decision has been made up to the present time. So many good names were proposed that the committee were not able to agree. However, we hope to have another meeting of the committee in the near future when it is hoped the name will be agreed upon and awards made to the winner. THE PUBLISHER.

Old-Time Resident Is Laid to Rest

Mrs. Frances Campau Barbin, a pioneer of Lowell 70 years ago, was born in Grand Rapids. She came to Lowell when she was 15 years of age. Some of the pioneers who are now living will remember Raine Barbin, who owned and operated a blacksmith shop for many years on the west side of Flat River, where C. L. Williamson's shop is now located. The home of the Barbins was across the road from the shop. This property is now owned by the Dolloway family. After a few years the Barbin family sold out in Lowell and moved to Grand Rapids.

Soon after their return to Grand Rapids, Mr. Barbin died. In after years Mrs. Barbin married Dr. Danforth of Cascade, and lived there for many years. After the doctor passed away, she returned to Grand Rapids and lived among her relatives, the Campaus.

Get Your Name on Red Cross Roll Call

This year, as never before since the war days of 15 years ago, is so important that we respond to the annual roll call of the American Red Cross. To have a name should be considered a privilege as well as an opportunity to share in the activities of this great organization. Of each membership, fifty cents goes to the National Organization and the balance goes to the Kent County Chapter. This work is far too important to be slighted. Let's all get behind the 1933 Red Cross roll call and make it a real success.

For the Glory of Lowell

(AN EDITORIAL)

Another improvement, sponsored by the Village Improvement Committee of the Lowell Board of Trade, and one which should stand at the head of the list in importance to this community, is the construction of an artistic and durable footbridge across Flat river, at a point approximately two blocks north of Main-St. bridge. When it is considered that there is now only one way across Flat river the necessity of another passway is readily apparent. In addition to the practical necessity of such an improvement there should also be considered its great value to the community as an inducement to other people to locate here. People like to build homes where they find good schools, churches, adequate sewer and water systems and where surroundings are pleasant and beautiful. With the improvements of the islands and river banks of Flat river an artistic footbridge would provide the finishing touch.

It doesn't take much stretch of the imagination to understand that these improvements mentioned above brought to fruition would prove a magnet that would yearly draw thousands of outside visitors to enjoy the natural and man-made beauties to be found here. It is no idle dream to say that Lowell could become widely known as the Venice of America, Venetian Nights and gaily decorated craft among the islands of the Flat should become a reality. The Ledger hopes that village and Board of Trade officials will continue to bend every effort to obtain approval from the Civil Works Administration for the construction of this bridge and improvement of Flat river islands with federal funds.

Identity of Elmer Coming to Light

The Lowell post of the American Legion is going to make a determined effort to enroll its quota of membership by December 31st, and thereby "get Elmer," the mysterious World War veteran, who has been the object of a nation-wide search that attracted wide attention at the recent national convention held in Chicago. No one knows for sure (barring scores of claimants throughout the country), the real origin or identity of "Elmer." Hundreds of Legionnaires at the convention in Chicago went through the hotels and along the streets with tearful pleadings for aid in helping find him. In restaurants, theaters, on trains and even in the big parade, the familiar cry of "Where's Elmer," was heard from early daylight—well, until the next daylight.

Several local Legionnaires maintain that they have seen someone they thought was Elmer and that after a brief talk with them he mysteriously disappeared again. He promised to come back and join this post providing it attains its quota by November 17th, November 17th is the date of the annual telegraphic roll call on membership to be held by national headquarters in Indianapolis in connection with a conference of department commanders and adjutants. According to Post Commander, William J. Delaney, "Elmer" appeared at the meeting as mysteriously as he later departed. He spoke briefly, advising the boys to sign up in the 1933 members for 1934 first. "I want to belong to an outfit that thinks enough of its local post to renew its membership 100 per cent," he is quoted as saying. Commander Delaney states that "Elmer" promised him that he would come to Lowell on December 4th.

Mark W. Blue, 74, Passes Away Nov. 17

Mark Wellington Blue was born June 10, 1859 in Lapeer County, Mich., and passed away at his farm home one-half mile north and one-half mile west of Fox's Corners in Vermeiren on Friday, November 17, 1933 at the age of 74 years. Mr. Blue was married on March 9, 1879 to Miss Leetta Kennedy of North Branch, Mich., who preceded him in death on May 16, 1917. To this union five children were born: Ora, who died in infancy; Carl of Washland; John of Spring Lake; Ralph of Gostock Park, and Mrs. Mattie Arnold of Grand Rapids.

On September 8, 1921 Mr. Blue was married to Mrs. Lydia Conklin of Rovenue, who survives him. There are also eight grandchildren, five great grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Mary Tracer of Marion, Mich. Mr. Blue was loved by all who knew him—those who worked for him as well as his neighbors and the business men of Lowell, who will miss him greatly. He was a man who would never send a hungry man from the door and even stray animals seemed to realize that at his home they could always find a welcome and something to satisfy their needs. Therefore it seems so pathetic that his last days were spent without his being able to take any nourishment. But he was very patient and considerate in his last days of pain. He died as a result of cancer of the stomach.

Milk Truck Is Turtled in Crash

Neil Blakeslee's milk truck was turned completely over and about 250 gallons of milk were spilled onto the pavement on US-46, East of Saranac, Monday morning, when the truck was struck by a coupe said to have been driven at a high rate of speed by George Donofrio of Detroit. Mr. Donofrio was treated for cuts and bruises at the Ionia hospital and Edward Ridgeway, passenger in Mr. Blakeslee's truck, was treated at Lowell for minor abrasions. Mr. Blakeslee escaped injury.

Dutton Road Work Provides More Jobs

Low bid for the construction of 2.587 miles of 21-foot, two course gravel on M-37, Dutton northwesterly in Kent County was submitted by Gross Construction Co. of LaPorte, Indiana at $16,161.26. It is announced by State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner. The project is to be financed by federal grant. Work is to be completed by July 1, 1934. Under provisions of the National Recovery Act, the minimum wage for skilled labor on the project will be 64 cents an hour and for unskilled labor 44 cents an hour. Labor will be employed from Kent County under the Federal Re-employment Service.

Helping Motorists To Help Themselves

The Kent county road commission plans to try to help motorists to help themselves, this winter. Sacks containing a mixture of chloride and sand will be placed at steep hills and dangerous curves to enable cars to climb steep grades and to safely negotiate slippery curves. Good sportsmanship of motorists is appealed to in that they refrain from carrying away the sacks.

Forty Men Will Be Given Work Plant Will Cost Approximately $12,000; Federal Government Stands Entire Cost

Other Projects Proposed to Improve and Beautify Village and Provide Work

Cheering news for Lowell! Gray skies will change to a rosy hue here next week when turning of the earth will start the construction of a sewage disposal plant that will give steady employment to forty or more men for the next three months. The project, contemplated here for several years, has been made possible under the program of the Federal Government to give employment at once to four million men throughout the country. The estimated cost of the Lowell project is about $12,000 and is a portion of the $700,000, which has been allotted to Kent County by the government in order to provide work for those on relief rolls and for unemployed.

Village President V. E. Ashley and City Attorney R. E. Springett got busy on the project as soon as the government's program was announced with the result that application for the disposal plant was filed with the Federal works Relief Commission for Kent County on Monday morning. Twenty-four hours later James G. Bryant, administrator of the commission, announced to President Ashley that Lowell's application had been approved and that preliminary work was to start here next week, possibly by Monday morning. Since last Friday evening hurriedly called meetings of both the Village Council and the Lowell Board of Trade have been held, both bodies lending their support promptly in order to get the quick action necessary to obtain results. Application will also be filed promptly with the commission for approximately twenty blocks of sewer extension, a project which, if granted, will provide a large amount of additional employment.

A very gratifying point in connection with the construction of the disposal plant is that over 76 per cent of the cost of same will be for labor, with less than 24 per cent for material. The plant will be located south of Main-st bridge, nearly opposite Picnic Island. It will consist of two units, one unit to be located on the east side of Flat river and the other unit on the west side. The grounds surrounding the two units are to be neatly landscaped.

One of the things which resulted in quick action from the commission on the disposal plant was the fact that the village already had the blue prints and plans on hand. These were made some six years ago by Albert Roth, formerly of Lowell, now a member of the engineering firm of Hubbell, Hartgering & Roth of Detroit. Mr. Roth had also made blue prints for the future extension of the village sewer system.

Great Year Ahead for Lowell

That Lowell is bound to see more activity during the next 12 to 24 months than for any like period in years past seems certain. In addition to the construction of the disposal plant every effort will be bent by village officials to obtain money for the extension of the sewer system, so badly needed in order to properly serve those homes now deprived of such service. Some water mains should doubtless also be extended and others rebuilt. Another project which will get under way in the near future and which will give additional employment is the improvement of the islands in Flat river. A temporary bridge has been decided upon from the mainland on the east bank to the islands to enable the trucking of filling material. When the islands are put into proper shape an artistic foot bridge has been proposed to connect the islands with the mainland.

Another project that will be under way here in the near future is the building of two bridges on Main-st. over Flat river. This is a federal project which has also been approved. The cost is estimated at $72,000 and much labor will be used. State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner informed a delegation of Lowell citizens last week that the new bridges would be built this winter. Mr. Van Wagoner also looks with favor upon the widening of Main street throughout the length of the business district. This is a much-desired improvement as Main street at its present width is too narrow to carry the heavy traffic to which a trunk line highway is subjected. A delegation of Lowell citizens composed of Messrs. D. G. Look, R. Van Dyke, R. E. Springett, N. E. Borgerson and R. G. Jefferies, discussed the above matter with Mr. Van Wagoner a few days ago and were most courteously received by that gentleman. Mr. Van Wagoner promised to pay Lowell a visit in the very near future.

Another project which has Mr. Van Wagoner's approval is the transferring of M-66 north of Main street from Riverside-Dr. to Hudson-St. which is a more logical route. It is within the bounds of possibility that this change will be made within the next few months and the new route paved to the village limits north. Still another improvement, which is surely within the bounds of being carried out the coming year, is the reconstruction of Monroe and Jefferson avenues and possibly some other streets with hard surfacing similar to that used in the recent construction of M-66 south. The money for this purpose will come from the Culp Bill and can be used for street improvements within the village. The Ledger believes that every citizen can look forward with hope and confidence in the well-being and prosperity of this community. (Continued on Page 5)

What is really surprising and as yet unaccountable in the whole matter is that just three days prior to his announcement of his resignation Mr. Woodin declared that his resignation was not a resignation.

President's Advisers on Managed Currency

Inset is Dean Achom, under secretary of the Treasury, who acts during the absence by lines of Secretary Woodin.

WEAF-WNAC Link, 10 Years Ago, Was Earliest Broadcasting Network

This program comes to you through the facilities of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Station WEA-F. The announcer names the big radio broadcasting chain which is presenting the program. Then he passes while you listen to your own local station announcement. It was not always so. In fact, chain radio broadcasting is so young that only this year has it observed its tenth birthday.

A Historic Event

It was on the evening of January 4, 1923, that long distance telephone lines were used for the first time to connect broadcasting stations for a chain broadcast. On that occasion, Station WEA-F in New York, then owned by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and Station WNAC, of the Shepherd's Stores in Boston, were connected by telephone lines so that both might broadcast simultaneously a program which was being given in the WEA-F Studio.

Since then, chain broadcasting has become the rule, rather than the exception, and so far have we progressed that some programs originate now either aboard ocean liners or across the Atlantic.

At the present time there are eleven networks in this country, connecting 134 radio broadcasting stations. These networks regularly use more than 44,000 circuit miles of telephone wire.

In the earlier days of chain broadcasting, the Bell System's program transmission networks were located chiefly in the eastern part of the country. As the networks grew and points on the Pacific Coast were added, the distances traversed by a single program might be as much as 5,000 miles. The transmission of program material over circuits of such lengths made it necessary for the Bell System to introduce a series of improvements in the equipment for program transmission. These improvements have kept the circuits and apparatus in the van with broadcasting developments in general.

Stormproof Cables Now Circumvent Weather

The first important improvement in the circuits came from a modification of the repeater which are placed at strategic points, to amplify and strengthen the transmitted currents.

Another factor which the telephone engineers had to consider was the weather. The weather in certain parts of the country has no consideration for chain broadcasting, and Mother Nature seemed to take particular delight in playing with an open wire line at the most unfavorable moment, leaving in her wake a broken link in the radio chain. Circuits in storm proof cables were planned for sections of the country where the weather conditions were particularly unfavorable, and the first one was opened between New York and Washington during the summer of 1925.

To offset other forms of distortion, Bell system engineers developed various improvements in cable facilities used in program transmission until they finally arrived at the type of loading and repeater which are now being used. The circuits, under these arrangements, transmit a sufficiently wide band of frequencies to take care of the tones met in both vocal and instrumental numbers and cause a negligible amount of distortion.

While these important improvements have been made in cable circuits for transmitting programs, further improvements were also required in the open wire circuits. In recent years the increased use of studios distant from New York. There was a need for improved circuits linking the east with the far west and special open wire type repeaters and associated equipment were developed and a highly refined type of open wire circuit evolved which was vastly superior in fidelity of transmission to any open wire circuit used heretofore. This type of circuit is utilized by both the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System in their network circuits between Chicago and the Pacific Coast.

Some Notable Broadcasts

The growth of chain broadcasting has witnessed many notable programs. There has, for example, been the broadcast of Colonel Lindbergh's return to New York and Washington in 1927, after his famous solo flight across the Atlantic. There was the inauguration of President Hoover in 1929, which was broadcast over 118 radio stations using about 30,000 miles of Bell System wire; the address made from Vatican City on February 12, 1931, by Pope Pius XI, which stands out as the largest worldwide broadcast yet made; and the extensive broadcast which took place on November 8, 1932, when about 200 radio stations were linked in network for the election returns.

Controls at Strategic Points

For its broadcast transmission service the Bell System has established control points at Boston, New York, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Washington and Charlotte, N. C. The circuits are lined up and tested at these points and certified to meet the various requirements of the network. A close watch is kept, in order to avoid interruptions in the broadcasts. The New York office is in general control of the Red, Blue and Purple networks; that at San Francisco of the Orange, and that at Boston of the Amber.

Barmains and Cocktails After Repeal

Gene, seemingly forever, are the oldtime bartenders with oiled hair and waxed moustache. Instead, when repeal becomes effective, will be American barmains, a la British system. Above is shown a class of girls being taught the art of bartending and cocktail mixing at the Bartender's Institute in New York.

C. W. A. Notes

In Kent County as a whole 6,000 men who have been out of employment will become self-supporting under the program.

Hourly wage scales to be paid on federal work are as follows; based on a 30-hour week: Common labor 44c, clerical 50c, semi-skilled 65c, skilled $1.20, team and driver 70c, tractor $1.

Chas. H. Bender, chairman of the State C. W. A. board, says "an honest day's work will be demanded for a honest day's pay" and that persons unwilling to work "will not be allowed to starve but will be put back on the welfare rolls" at their old rate.

Civil works employees will be paid by disbursing officers in each locality where Civil works projects are in progress. The money from the Civil Works Administration comes as an absolute grant without any strings attached to it.

Assurance is made that persons given jobs need have no fear that their wages will be diminished as their pay will be regarded as federal money.

President Roosevelt has declared that neither politics nor graft will be allowed to interfere with the new civil works program by which the administration plans to put 4,000,000 to work in self-sustaining employment on local projects before December 15. The President "expects" wholehearted and patriotic support in the new campaign against unemployment and assures the people of the co-operation of the Federal Government in putting the plan into speedy effect.

Public Acts of 1933 are now being distributed by the Department of State. Under the law the Public Acts are furnished without charge to various county officials and may be purchased from the Department by citizens for $1.50.

A new political party will appear on 1934 ballots. It is called the Progressive Fusionist Party and has adopted as an emblem the American flag and pictures of Theodore Roosevelt and Thomas Jefferson. The vignette and proper application for a place on the 1934 ballot were filed with the Department of State last week.

The Rev. R. W. Merrill sends the following note to The Ledger: "Wonderful snow clouds up here next to Lake Superior. They are so low they drag on the ground and about 18 inches of snow has wiped off from them. It makes lots more exercise and has driven the deer from their usual haunts. Shall have to go back to swamps for most of our deer."

A new high record in the production of oil in Michigan was established in September. Production of 904,164 barrels of crude oil was made.

A thirteen pound wall-eyed pike, one of the largest ever taken in Michigan waters was taken in a pond near Grand Traverse Bay by Edward Darrow of Traverse City. The fish weighed 13 pounds, 10 ounces and was 33 inches long with a girth of 19 inches. It was within four pounds of the national record for that species.

Richard Court, Sophomore at W. S. T. C. at Kalamazoo was elected county representative of his class during elections held there recently. Besides serving in this capacity, Richard is also treasurer of the Commerce club and was recently appointed circulation manager and assistant business manager of the Brown and Gold year book, of which he is also a member of the publication committee.

My idea of shell-shock is something that the cook suffers when she cracks open an ancient egg.

Someone has said that a safe place to stop when on an automobile tour, is at the railroad crossings.

Mrs. Marjorie Fiandt, 38, of Battle Creek, was shot and killed Saturday afternoon by a rifle in the hands of Paul Smith, 15 years old, of Kalamazoo, a visitor or at the Fiandt home.

The Smith boy and Robert Judy, 18, also of Kalamazoo, were visiting Robert Fiandt, 16, son of the Fiandts, and were examining a loaded rifle which previously had refused to fire. The Smith boy pulled the trigger just as Mrs. Fiandt stepped into the room. The gun fired and the bullet struck her throat, severing the jugular vein and causing death within a few minutes.

Two of Lowell's outstanding entertainers, Mr. and Mrs. D. MacDuffee, are taking conspicuous parts in a minstrel show being put on this week Thursday and Friday evenings at Belding by the American Legion post of that city. Frank McGowan, of Showboat fame, is directing the Belding show.

Rufus—Is that so? Did the criminals get away with much money?

Goofus—No. The old man never carried more than a little small change around with him and so practically all he lost was his life.

PULLETS REQUIRE PROTEIN IN FEED

Normal Development Should Be Chief Aim.

Poultrymen cannot make up for a deficiency in breeding by cutting down the protein in the feed to delay early laying, says Prof. L. C. Norris of the New York state college of agriculture. Tests at Cornell show that pullets need from 14 to 15 per cent of protein in their feed during the period from twelve to twenty-four weeks of age. When less protein was fed, laying was delayed for about ten days and the growth of the pullets was retarded.

Poultrymen need an early maturing type of pullet of proper size and vitality which lays a large egg as that laid by a pullet which starts to lay at a later age. Such a pullet is cheapest to grow, because she uses relatively less food for maintenance and more for growing in the non-productive period than does the slower growing bird. A pullet which reaches a weight of three and three-fourths pound at five months of age and begins to lay, is cheaper to grow than the pullet that takes six months. Moreover, he says, the early maturing pullets lay more eggs in a year than the slow-growing birds. Size of bird, size of egg, and vigor must be considered in breeding the flock, along with early maturity.

Poultrymen should feed and manage the pullets to keep them developing normally, he advises. Do not lower the protein content by feeding more than 50 per cent of scratch grain or by cutting the protein content on the mash. Induce the flock to take exercise, and cut out the small-sized, rapidly maturing pullet that develops a red comb early.

Poultry Classification as to Use for Table

Broilers are young chickens approximately eight to twelve weeks old, of either sex, of marketable age, but not weighing over two and a half pounds each, and sufficiently soft-meat to be cooked tender by broiling. The lighter weights are sometimes quoted as squab-broilers. Fryers are young chickens, approximately fourteen to twenty weeks old, of either sex, weighing over two and a half pounds each, but not over three and a half pounds, and sufficiently soft-meat to be cooked tender by frying. Roasters are young chickens, approximately five to nine months old, of either sex, weighing over three and a half pounds each, and sufficiently soft-meat to be cooked tender by roasting. Stags are male birds of any weight or age, with flesh slightly darkened and toughened and with comb and spur development showing the bird to be in a state of maturity between roasting chickens and cocks. Stags are less desirable and bring a lower price than do soft-meat chickens. Cocks are mature male birds of any weight with darkened and toughened flesh. Capons are unsexed male birds weighing over four pounds, usually from seven to ten months old and with soft tender flesh. Silps are incompletely caponized male birds weighing over four pounds, with comb, spur and flesh development similar to that of stags.—Los Angeles Times.

Chicken Pox Protection

To protect from chicken pox remove all affected birds from the flock. Put them in a pen as far away from the main flock as possible. See that all stagnant water is taken away, as this breeds mosquitoes, and these pests transmit the chicken pox. The entire flock should then be vaccinated with pox vaccine by pulling five feathers from the leg of the bird and, with a small brush, applying the vaccine to the holes where the feathers were pulled.

POULTRY NOTES

Pullets lay about 20 per cent more eggs a year than do yearling hens.

North Carolina farm families consumed 8,390,060 chickens in 1932 and sold 5,010,000.

Yeast adds to the cost of a poultry ration, but does not improve the nutritive value of a good ration.

Furnish the hens with nests about a foot wide and two to three feet deep, filled with shavings. The nests should be darkened.

Door mats for hens, if you please. They are nothing more nor less than troughs filled with gypsum, placed in front of the door and nests, to keep the hen's feet clean and prevent soiling the eggs.

Fifty pedigreed White Leghorn hens, valued at $1,550, were sent from an Oregon poultry farm to the Imperial government of Japan. A special Japanese emissary was sent to select the birds for the government's experimental farms.

It's a mighty sturdy public building that stands until the last bond issue for its construction is paid off.

Gerard Swope

Gerard Swope, President of the General Electric Co., and a member of the NRA Industrial Advisory Board, whose proposed plan of industry controlling itself, has created widespread controversy which may lead to a practical plan being worked out.

Toll of Horseshoes

The levying of horseshoes from famous riders has been long a custom at Oakham, in Rutlandshire, England. These shoes have been levied as tribute from famous men who have ridden through the town, for no visitor of high rank was formerly permitted to enter unless he paid a toll of one horseshoe. The shoes, many of them large and ornamental, now hang in the county hall, which was originally the banquet hall of the castle. It seems that the manorial rights of the castle were once held by the count of Derby, who was official farrier to William the Conqueror. His descendants still have six black horseshoes on a silver ground in their arms.

Penny Theater Actor

The Penny theater actor's life must indeed have been a wretched one. Like the strolling player of Shakespeare's time, his wardrobe was a mass of rags and his appearance starvation personified. Tenpence a night was thought a fair wage for taking part in six or seven successive performances, while seven shillings a week was considered high remuneration. Yet the poor performer frequently found himself in arrears of even this considerable salary, and a public dispute would be carried on by the actor and proprietor while the whole performance was held up.—Brian Phipps in the London Saturday Review.

No civilization can permanently endure under firm security for the few, and for the many perpetual insecurity and dread.

"A civilization based on crumbs from a rich man's table cannot stand indefinitely the strain of things as they are. The great purpose of civilization is security for the average man and his family."

Your Health

The following is one of a series of articles prepared by the Kent County Health Department and appearing at regular intervals in The Ledger. The articles deal with personal and public health matters.

TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis in its early stages is a disease which is not easily diagnosed, yet that is the time in which it can most easily be cured. Therefore, it is essential that where there is the slightest suspicion of the disease, the attempt at diagnosis be made by means of the more modern methods which are now quite generally available.

The first step in this procedure is the administration of the skin test which in itself is harmless. A positive reaction to this test does not necessarily mean that the disease is present, but a very pronounced reaction is suspicious and calls for chest examination and probably X-ray. The injection method of skin testing used by Dr. Aronson of the Rockefeller Foundation in cooperation with the Kent County Health Department in a recent survey in Kent County, is generally recognized as being the most accurate and most dependable. All very definite positive reactors found in the 2,000 persons tested by Dr. Aronson will be called upon, examined, and X-rayed to determine the presence or absence of tuberculosis.

During the four day survey above mentioned, eleven townships were visited where, at eighty-one schools, two thousand children and adults were tested. A large percentage of these schools were in rural communities where the attendance is small.

To those who were unable to receive the skin test and who feel below par, I would recommend that the family doctor be consulted for examination and advice.

J. D. BROOK, M. D.,
Kent County Health Officer.

Hello Folks! The Sixth grade class has been organized since the first of the year, but we will have to confess that we have been a little lazy about putting our articles in the paper.

In language class we have either a business meeting or program every Friday.

Some of the interesting programs have been a Halloween party, a radio program, a manners program, a hike, an Armistice Day program and several others.

Robert Jackson was elected semester treasurer. For September...

member John Cook was president; Tom Cook, vice president; Doris Christiansen, secretary. For October president was Lucille Warner; vice president, Florence Reynolds; secretary, Carroll Kysner. The present officers are president, Dorothy Scott; vice president, Lloyd Kerkkes; secretary, Kenneth Smith.

In History class we made a miniature Pilgrim and Indian village. We are having a museum in our room this year. Watch for our column next Thursday. "Never Say Fail!"

Pa—Tommy, I am not at all pleased at the report your teacher sent me in regard to your conduct.

Tommy—I knew you wouldn't be, and I told her so. But she went right on and made it out that way. Just like a woman, ain't it?
