Pithy Points Picked Up and Patly Put By Our Peripatetic Pencil Pusher

RADIO—SOMETHING NEW

SOMETHING new in radio music is promised soon. No body who listens to a great orchestra over the radio today gets the music as it sounds to those in the room with actual players. The reason for that is that the radio picks it up from one spot, while the listener in the room hears it with both ears and gets the basses on the left, the strings in the middle and the horns and trumpets on the right in their true relation to each other.

A radio engineer who has been working on the problem for one of the big broadcasting chains stated the other day that the solution has been found. It is only a question now of waiting until the big auditoriums in which the great symphony orchestras perform are equipped with the new system of picking up the music as it really is produced.

WATCH OUT FOR DRUNKEN DRIVERS

MONDAY of this week people in the vicinity of St. Johns had a vivid object lesson in the danger of encountering drunken drivers on the highway. A powerful car came lurching up US-27 at high speed—two tons of sudden death piloted by a man who is believed to have been very much under the influence of liquor. In another car an Ohio man and two male companions tried frantically to avoid the oncoming car. They failed. Four men went to the hospital. One man died next day. The two cars were completely wrecked. The driver, the one who is alleged to have been drunk, went to jail with only a few scratches. It is not the province of a newspaper to try such cases. The court is the place for that. Nevertheless, these people are about fed up on this sort of thing. They should be. Auto travel is general. Everyone uses that means of getting from place to place. The highways are built by taxpayers, and constructed for legitimate travel by safe and sane people. When a drunken person starts speeding on such a highway he is a potential murderer. If you see one coming give him as wide a berth as possible. When convicted, the courts should give him as long a stretch as possible. —St. Johns Republican-News.

THE FARMER AND HIS DEBTS

SO MUCH has been printed about the farmer's debts, and so many politicians have painted the picture of farm distress in such gloomy colors, that the impression prevails all over the country that all farmers are on the verge of losing their farms through foreclosure proceedings and are in a state of practical beggary. Nothing could be further from the truth, as we know and so do our readers. As a matter of fact, according to a thorough study of the whole debt situation recently published by the Twentieth Century Fund, the total farm debt of the United States amounts to only about one-third of the mortgage debts against city property. Fully sixty percent of all farms are entirely free from mortgages, this survey reports. Of the remainder, those which are mortgaged, sixty percent are in the closely grouped states north of the Ohio river and east of the Missouri. And of those, only about a quarter of the debtors are in anything that can be called distress, or in danger of losing their homes through foreclosure. There are 6,000,000 farms in the United States. About 3,000,000 are mortgaged for a quarter of their value. Only about 750,000 farmers are in acute distress, and their total debt is less than one percent of the total internal debts of the people of the United States. It seems to us that a great deal of noise has been made about a situation which affects so small a percentage of our people. As is too often the case, we suspect political motives behind a great deal of the uproar.

We are, of course, sorry for any farmer who is in danger of being foreclosed. We understand that foreclosures are threatened more often than they are actually proceeded with. We also understand that the Government at Washington is ready to come to the immediate aid of any farmer about to be dispossessed. But we do not like to have the impression get around that all the farmers are "broke," and that is what many city people believe.

BIRTHS

To Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Bieri a 7½ lb. daughter on Monday, December 11, 1933.

Whatever may be thought of economic principles involved in the NRA program, or any of the associate organizations designed to bring recovery from the depths of depression, the patriotic purpose cannot be denied and the very first test of any undertaking is its purpose. Perhaps there are features in NRA which run counter to what has been largely accepted as natural economic law, but if the purpose is designed for national, state, community and individual benefit we can well be patient and sympathetic with the undertaking, especially as its progress gives promise of ultimate success.—Harry M. Royal in Hart Courier.

GRANGE LEADER SAYS GOVERNOR ON WRONG FOOT

BRAMBLE DECLARES ORGANIZATION OPPOSES A GENERAL CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION, FAVORS REVISION BY SECTION.

Governor Comstock's recent comment wherein he referred to the position of the grange in favor of a state income tax but opposed to rewriting of the constitution, that "That is the kind of ignorance I have to combat," had further repercussions at the Michigan Farm Show in Grand Rapids last week. Saturday was grange day, and many members of the grange who had heard the governor Tuesday evening were present Saturday to hear C. H. Bramble of Lansing, master of the Michigan State Grange. "If the governor had had the program of the grange before him," said Mr. Bramble, "I am sure he would not have made the mistake he did." He then explained that the grange, while opposing a general constitutional revision, was not opposed to revision section by section as need might arise, and that it is not opposed to any changes necessary to permit a state income tax.

No Change Necessary. Mr. Bramble said, however, that he didn't believe a change in the constitution would be necessary, pointing out that the state already has a graduated inheritance tax, and that the supreme court would have to reverse itself on that tax in order to hold a graduated income tax unconstitutional. The grange master attacked the head tax feature of the old age pension law as "an imposition upon the people of Michigan," and asserted that the legislature would repeal it "if it could get its hands on it."

He also warned farmers to oppose any move to remove the 15-mill tax limitation amendment from the state constitution and went further to advocate lowering the limit to 10 mills. "It may be necessary to do this to force an income tax," he said, and also attacked the sales tax as one that "cannot be justified by any right or reason." "The state of Michigan," he said, "is today raising more money than ever before and it is all going to be spent."

Other speakers on the grange program were Mrs. Dora H. Stockman of East Lansing, former member of the state board of agriculture; James C. Farmer, national grange lecturer, and Cong. Carl E. Mapes.

Mrs. Stockman praised Grand Rapids for sponsoring the farm show.

Mr. Farmer reported that in his travels over the United States he is finding a definite industrial and business improvement. Mr. Mapes reviewed national farm legislation.

New Ford V-8 On Display Here

The new Ford V-8 for 1934 was put on display here last Saturday at the show rooms of E. J. Johnson, local Ford dealer. The new Ford has greater power, more speed, quicker acceleration, smoother performance, more miles per gallon, especially at higher speeds, and quicker starting in cold weather, plus refined body lines and a new built-in system of clear vision body ventilation. The improvements in engine performance are the result of the use of a new dual down-draft carburetor and dual intake manifold, which increases the engine's power approximately 12 percent and provide a remarkable improvement in pick-up. The new car incorporates numerous improvements in engine and chassis design, the new body ventilation system and refinements in body styling and appointments which have been brought to a proper stage of development during the past year in engineering research. The new Ford ventilation system, which is built into the body, permits clear vision, prevents drafts and provides the desired amount of fresh air in any weather. The distinctive lines of the Ford V-8 have been refined in the 1934 car by a newly-designed radiator shell, grille and other features. Interiors reveal new tufted upholstery and garnish moldings, a cove-type head lining, new instrument panel, arm rests, door pulls and hardware. Sun visors are provided in all closed cars, those in the de luxe cars being swivel type to prevent glare from the front and sides. Eleven body types are available.

There will be Christmas exercises at the McIntyre school, West Lowell, Tuesday evening, Dec. 19, starting at 7:45.

Late Bulletins

Fifty men will start work Friday morning of this week on the Central school building. The work of reconditioning and repairing will be rushed to completion, with the men working in shifts in order to resume school in about three weeks. The School Board secured approximately $4,000 from the C. W. A. for the above mentioned work.

The village council met in special session at 10 o'clock this morning to consider a site for the proposed airport here. Mr. F. A. Madigan has submitted an attractive proposition for a landing field on his property just west of the village, and the council passed a resolution this morning recommending to the State Aeronautics Board its choice of either the Madigan site or the Croft site which lies just north of the village, the council expressing its preference for the Madigan site.

Forty men are now at work on the two units of the sewage disposal plant. The east unit was started a few days ago. Work on both of the units is progressing very satisfactorily.

Work on the Vergennes road has been completed from the village north to Fox's Corners and the workmen are now improving the road, a further distance of a half mile north of the Corners.

Village officials have been active this week in laying before the C. W. A. the necessity of extending the village sewer system and prospects are good for favorable action in the matter. It would give employment to a large number of men throughout the winter.

Depositors Cooperate

The City State Bank Reopening Moves Rapidly

Progress in plans for the reopening of the City State Bank of Lowell announced in last week's Ledger, are moving steadily forward. Official notices of the reopening plan were in the mails Tuesday morning and within 24 hours depositors representing a total of more than $25,000 had signed up for the plan and by Thursday noon this sum had been increased to over $100,000 with each mail bringing additional signers. The rapidity with which the reorganization can be effected depends largely upon the prompt return of the signed agreements.

The State Banking Department has approved of Messrs. J. B. Nicholson, George Klahn and W. S. Winegar as members of the depositors' committee to further the plan of reorganization. The plan provides, among other things, that the stockholders shall pay into the bank 100 percent of their stock holdings, the proceeds of the assessment so levied shall constitute the paid in capital stock of the reorganized bank. It should be emphasized again that the quicker depositors sign the waiver and consent agreements the quicker the bank will be open to serve the community with regular banking facilities.

Messrs. Nicholson, Klahn and Winegar, composing the depositors' committee above mentioned, are among the bank's heaviest depositors and were chosen to represent all of the depositors of the bank because of their well-known high standing in the community covering a long period of years. Mr. Nicholson, who now resides in Grand Rapids, was at one time superintendent of schools here and was later connected with the Lowell Specialty Co. in an executive capacity. Mr. Klahn is a well-known and substantial farmer residing near Eldmade. Mr. Winegar, now retired, was a druggist here for upwards of fifty years.

CO-OPERATIVE FARM HOUSES HOMELESS MEN

'FAITH FARM' EXPERIMENT SAID TO BE PROVING SUCCESSFUL—ON M-66 WHERE WABASIS CREEK INTERSECTS.

There is much in the air these days regarding cooperative movements. Innumerable self help projects have been inaugurated during the past three years. Some of them have had a great deal of publicity. The work being done at Ashland College has aroused a great deal of interest and the movement near Belding known as "Little Russia" is likewise becoming well known. Probably, however, fewer people realize that we have only a few miles from Rockford a project which has a sounder basis and seems in a fair way to become a bigger thing than any of the others. Over on Wabasis Creek on M-66 Faith Farm is in a fair way to demonstrate the practicability of a cooperative movement in which everyone taking part is about down and out. During the past year it has been operated as home for homeless men. They have raised some crops and have done a lot of pioneering work which will enable the farm next year to be productive to a large degree. It began with eighty acres and then three other fortyies have been secured by the same process and several others are optioned at very small figures. It is mostly muck land. C. O. Loomis, the executive secretary, estimates that about $1,800 will be needed to put it in going shape.

Next year, there will be a camp for boys run during the entire summer. The boys will be at work under an educational program the entire time. The early months before school is out will see a camp for the entire families.

It is an ambitious project but when we realize that the sponsors, the Social Welfare Association, comprises a list of very successful men and that it has already done a big piece of work, the success seems assured. Last year this association through its store at 2860 S. Division avenue gave away an unbelievable amount of food which included among other items 300,000 pounds of bread, 25,000 pounds of meat, 23,000 pounds of beans, 1,100 bushels of potatoes, 2,600 bushels of apples, and over $3,000 worth of milk products. This store is open seven days a week and it has been decided to operate it next winter opening it to any resident of Kent County who is in need. The office of the Association is at 222 Home Bank building in Grand Rapids. It is doing a fine piece of work and any encouragement given the group will be well worth while.—Rockford Register.

C. D. Livingston Expires Suddenly

The body of Charles D. Livingston of Detroit, former Michigan insurance commissioner, who died near Bristol, Ind., Monday, was taken to Detroit Tuesday for burial.

Mr. Livingston died at the farm home of Kirk Kline, near Motville, Mich., a few miles over the Indiana state line. He had become ill while driving and she had rushed him to the nearest farm house. He died because of a heart attack. Mrs. Livingston said she took over the driving at Sturgis, when Mr. Livingston complained of feeling ill. Mr. Livingston was appointed Michigan insurance commissioner Jan. 13, 1927, by Gov. Fred Green. He resigned last February to accept the presidency of Lloyds Insurance Company of America. In 1931 Mr. Livingston was elected president of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. Mr. Livingston was born and raised in Bowne-twp, and attended the Lowell High school many years ago.

Picture at Strand Reveals Mystery

The secret which Universal Studios jealously guarded within the impenetrable walls of a forbidden sound stage for months will be revealed on the screen of the Strand Theater next Sunday and Monday when 'The Invisible Man' opens its engagement there. Until the film's recent release, only a select group of 20 people actually knew the amazing manner in which this spectacular motion picture was made, and they were under oath not to tell. As it continues to thrill audiences all over the country, guesses accumulate regarding the nature of the actor whose presence supplies the "kick" of the drama. His name is Claude Rains, and "The Invisible Man," has made him a star virtually overnight.

William Harrigan, Gloria Stuart, Dudley Digges, Una O'Connor, Henry Travers and Foster Harvey comprise the featured cast members.

Alto Bank To Reopen

Plans Announced in Official Notice in this Issue

As will be seen by the official announcement on page seven of this issue of The Ledger, plans for the reopening of the Farmers' State Bank of Alto have been approved by Federal and State authorities and January 29, 1934, or as soon thereafter as possible, has been set as the opening date. The bank will reopen under what is known as the "Michigan Plan." Under this plan the stockholders will stand 100% assessment. Accounts of $10 and under and school savings accounts will be available for payment in full without restrictions as will also postal savings accounts and trust fund accounts deposited since last February 11. The earnings of the bank are to be conserved and no dividends are to be paid to stockholders until a surplus is established equal to 20% of the capital stock of the bank.

Interest on savings accounts and certificates of deposit and other interest bearing accounts will be computed to March 4, 1933, and become a part of the creditor's claim against the bank. By the "Michigan plan" under which this bank will reopen, 50% of the deposits are available in the amount of 20% each year for five years. The other 50% will be in certificates of participation issued against trust assets. The Farmer's State Bank of Alto has served its community for many years and both the bank and its patrons are to be congratulated upon the approval of plans for reopening. The bank's officers and directors have worked conscientiously and faithfully in conserving the interests of their patrons.

Lyle Schwarder, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schwarder of Ada and a member of 4-H Ada Crops club, has made good on his first year's work of raising red kidney beans. His entry won first place at the County Achievement at Bostwick Lake in November. The beans were entered at the farm show in Grand Rapids last week and again took first place. They will be shown at East Lansing in February during farm week. Lyle feels proud of his first year's work in the 4-H club.

Cash For Cream

W. E. Hall, local cream buyer and implement dealer, announces that all Cedar Springs cream checks issued by him will be redeemed in cash if brought in at once. Mr. Hall will continue to buy cream and will pay cash for same. The fact that the Cedar Springs Creamery Company is involved in bankruptcy has no bearing whatever upon Mr. Hall's business. "Does your wife make a fuss over dinner being late?" "That all depends on whether it is due to my meeting a friend or her being out for the afternoon."

Selected for Membership in National A. D. S.

M. Norton Henry, Lowell, registered pharmacist, (and proprietor of Henry's Drug Store, 203 Main St.) has been selected for membership in the A. D. S. Fellowship, according to word received here today from the Fellowship headquarters, 580 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

The A. D. S. Fellowship is an informal organization of registered pharmacists all over the country who take pride in their profession and who render their services in the field of public health in rigid adherence to the highest standards and principles of pharmacy. The A. D. S. Fellowship is sponsor of the "back-to-pharmacy" movement which is making rapid headway in every section of the United States. This movement seeks to remind the public that the local drug store is primarily a professional service institution and centers attention on the many invaluable services rendered to the sick and well of his community by the registered pharmacist. Druggists are identifying themselves with this movement by restoring to their windows the significant emblems of pharmacy—the mortar and pestle and those intriguing colored globes which grace the windows of all drug stores a generation ago. President of the Fellowship is Samuel L. A. Honow, president of the American Druggists Syndicate and one of the best known figures in American pharmacy.

Contrary to popular belief, his customer's health is still the modern druggist's prime concern. This was proven by a Department of Commerce survey which showed that the prescription department accounted for fully 20 per cent of all drug store sales, and when proprietary medicines, household remedies, drug sundries, hospital supplies, etc., were included in the prescription department activities, the largest portion of the independent retail druggist's business was concerned with the health of his neighbors.

State Ranks High In Agriculture

Among the reasons why Michigan occupies a very high rank agriculturally, says the State Department of Agriculture, are the fact that in the Lower Peninsula there are thirty-two cities with a population of over 10,000, of which seventeen have a population of over 25,000, the fact that, in addition to these many large and convenient home markets, during the pleasant months of the year an enormous transient trade with tourists is enjoyed, the fact that Michigan has 8,020 miles of railroad and 7,620 miles of surfaced highway, the fact that it has an average growing season of 145 days, and the fact that it receives an annual precipitation of from 25 to 40 inches.

Lowell Woman's Club

The Lowell Woman's club was intellectually entertained by an illustrated lecture on the Holy Lands given by Rev. S. B. Wenger, last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. P. MacFarlane. Mrs. Charles Doyle sang "Holy City" with Mrs. A. Cox at the piano. Mrs. Martin Houseman conducted open forum with short articles pertaining to the "Holy Lands," assisted by Miss Audie Post, Mrs. J. E. Bannon, Mrs. MacFarlane and Mrs. E. S. White. The leader for the day was Mrs. S. B. Wenger, assisted by Mrs. MacFarlane and Mrs. J. H. Rittenger. Watch for announcement in the paper for the next meeting.

Two Local Boys Finish At M. S. C.

Seymour L. Heseche and Elmer C. Yeiter of Lowell are included in a list of successful graduates of short courses at Michigan State College as the result of a recent survey conducted by County Agricultural Agents. During the past 39 years, 12,508 men and women have completed short courses at the college. Six short courses will be held in January 2. Two-months courses will be offered in general agriculture, dairy production, dairy manufacturing, poultry, agricultural engineering, practical floriculture, and home economics. A month's course in commercial fruit production will begin at the same time.

Football Banquet Next Mon. Evening

The annual banquet for the Lowell football team will be given this year at the City Hall on Monday evening, December 18, at 7:00 under the auspices of the Lowell Board of Trade. The principle speaker for the evening will be "Pop" Chumey, Grand Rapids man who has acted here often as referee and who is favorably known in football circles. There will be music and other features of interest on the program. The boys and those who attend will be delighted to know that the piece de resistance will be the famous American bird known as the turkey. The success of the occasion is assured inasmuch as the affair will be in the hands of the following committee: Dr. J. R. Stryker, E. C. Foreman, L. W. Rutherford, T. A. Gazella, W. J. Smith, N. E. Borgerson, C. W. Cook and D. A. Wingieir. The banquet will be a "stag" affair for students and their dads. Tickets should be purchased before Monday morning from N. E. Borgerson at the Lowell postoffice for 50c so that the committee will know how many to provide for.

Advertisements in Ledger Want Col.

Bring Buyers and Sellers Together, Help Convert Needless Articles Into Cash. Every week, through the Ledger Want Column, there are many people in Kent and Ionia counties who get rid of articles they had stored away, and have no use for. Through our Want Column they get cash—much, right now most everyone has which. The buyers are just as pleased, because they get what they want, at a reduced price. There are quite a number of people in this territory who rarely let an issue of the Ledger go out without having at least one Want Adv. in it—and often several Want Ads. Many readers tell us that the Ledger Want Column pays them several times the cost of the paper every year. No matter what you have to sell, if it has any value at all and is usable, almost invariably there is someone in the county who is looking for just what you have to sell. Through its wide, general circulation in ten townships, the Ledger Want Column brings buyers and sellers together at a very minimum of expense. If you have something of value, that you now have no use for, why not convert it into cash through an adv. in the Ledger Want Column?

Tramp—I thank you kindly for your generosity, ma'am. Housewife—But I haven't given you anything. Tramp—No, but I'm sure you ain't goin' ter let my gratitude go to waste, are yer?

Two pieces of cork, about a half-inch thick, advises Harry Izor, Durand Express publisher, are just the things to carry in your pocket while motoring in the winter. If sleet or snow bother the windshield, put a piece of cork under the hood six or eight inches from the center of the cowl. This will leave an opening through which the hot air off the engine is forced by the fan against the windshield. Harry says "it will work."

The medical profession—at least part of it—is complaining bitterly at the fake remedies that are being advertised over radio. One remedy for which is claimed wonderful results, is nothing more or less than plain, ordinary epsom salts put up in a fancy package and sold for many times its real cost. One Dr. Lansing doctor says that people are "falling for" the advertising in droves and paying a long price for this old-fashioned remedy. Useful gifts at Weekes.

Lowell Boys Tell of Life in Forestry Camp

C. C. Co., 689th Co. Camp Cusino, Shingleton, Mich. December 4, 1933.

To our Lowell friends:

Here's a few lines to our friends who might be interested in knowing the life of a C.C. It's early to bed and early to rise, and by that I mean that we have to rise at 4:45 and lights out at 9:00 o'clock. Our Camp is located 17 miles from Shingleton and 23 miles from Munising, through woods and swamp.

The Camp site is located at the old Cusino Logging Mill from which the Camp gets its name. There are 175 fellows who make up the Company, and we are just like one big happy family, and by that I mean that we enjoy being up here.

When we first arrived here, we had to sleep in tents and a fellow didn't feel like rolling out in the morning with ¼ inch of frost on the tent wall, but now that the new barracks and "mess" hall are completed and we are all moved in, we have all the comforts of home.

The only work we do is road construction, and we surely do plenty of that. We have to work eight hours a day and put in at least 40 hours a week, then that gives us Saturday and Sunday to do as we please.

There are about 3 feet of snow and of course we enjoy working in that, but we are equipped so that we don't notice the snow or cold. We have a pet dog that comes into the Camp every day for her daily "ration" of food and, to protect her from some careless hunter, were forced to place a red ribbon around her neck.

There is one thing that I must state and that is about the food we have—it can't be beat. We have all we can eat which maybe accounts for the fact that so many of us are putting on weight. I dare say that every man up here has gained at least 15 to 20 lbs. and more.

Well, it's chow time now so I must close; we would gladly answer any letters that anyone would care to write us, so come on you fellow mates and get busy.

Wishing you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

James (Budd) Gaunt and Howard (Bucky) Buck.
