Happy New Year! WE CAN'T STOP NOW

There are unmistakable signs everywhere of improvement in economic conditions. More men are at work, millions of them. Farmers are noting some improvement in prices. Retail business is good. Many of the big insurance reports show orders on hand for some years past. Prices are rising. The bank reports for October showed that money, in the shape of checks, changed hands at a rate 25 percent higher than in October of 1932.

That is perhaps the most encouraging sign of all, for it is not the volume of money but the flow with which it moves from hand to hand that counts. If everybody had a million and nobody spent anything we would have hard times; but if everybody had only a hundred dollars and spent it quickly, knowing where the next hundred was coming from, we would have immense prosperity.

Some of the present recovery is due to such Governmental activities as the Public Works program and its latest offspring, the Civil Works Administration; much to the loosening of credit and the pressure on debtors through Federal assistance to banks and mortgages. Much of it is due, too, to the distribution of loans made to growers of various commodities as a premium for reduced production.

These are only temporary measures, of course. If they were all to be abandoned now, they probably would have more permanent effect than a "shot in the arm" has upon a doge fiend. They are, however, laying the foundation for business and industry to build upon, and probably will tide us over the emergency and set us well on the road to recovery.

It looks to us as if there is nothing to do now but to give the New Deal a chance to prove itself. Everyone has a right to his private opinion as to whether the end result will be beneficial, but nobody with sense would want to stop it now in the middle of the stream.

Make Lowell brilliant with lanterns in 1934. Every weed-ridden street corner can be converted into a joyous spot of beauty with these simple, but wonderfully colored flowers.

STREAMLINING THE BUSINESS STRUCTURE

WE HAVE seen a lot of pictures and read a great deal about the proposed "streamlined" trains which some of the Western railroads are planning to put into service. They are expected to make 100 miles an hour or more by the elimination of unnecessary dead weight and the removal of external obstructions which catch the wind and retard their speed.

We have also read a lot of the things which are being printed about streamlined automobiles. Like the new railroad trains, the tendency is to shape which look queer, at first glance, to the untrained eye, but which, we are assured, will run more smoothly and faster than the old familiar shapes.

All of which makes us wonder whether what the Administration in Washington is trying to do is not, in effect, streamlining the business structure. The obvious purpose of all that is being done is to make business and industry move more rapidly, with less obstruction in the shape of unnecessary external expenditures, and carrying less dead weight.

The proposed changes in the business structure give it a more appearance in the eyes of those who have all their lives seen business being done in one particular way. It is human nature to distrust whatever is unfamiliar. We have got so accustomed to watered stock in big business and industrial concerns, holding companies piled up on each other in public utilities, heavy commissions, exorbitant profits and private graft, unfair competition and outrageous trade practices that, to many people, these things seem a natural and unescapable part of business, without which it could not be conducted.

And so the old-time railroad men look with distrust on new streamlined schemes to make the train run less and go faster. Our fathers, in the old horse-and-buggy days, looked askance at the automobile. It looks to us as if we were going to have to get used to some new ideas in business.

COLD—AN AIR CURE

If you want to cure your cold, go up in an airplane. That is the advice of Dr. Haldor Carlson of Chicago, who has been investigating the belief that common colds disappear at high altitudes. Among passengers who had since the flight between New York and Chicago he found that no more colds were contracted when they boarded the plane and had not a sign of a cold at the end of the journey.

The doctor doesn't try to tell you that he is so, but airman have proved it, and now it is being advertised.

FORTY-FIRST YEAR

COMES TO GRIEF TRYING HOLDUP IN DRUG STORE

THOMAS WATERS ALLEGED TO HAVE ATTEMPTED ROBBERY IN DETROIT—FORMERLY LIVED HERE—SAID TO HAVE HAD GOOD REPUTATION

Thomas Waters, 23, formerly of Grand Rapids, was in a critical condition in Receiving hospital, Detroit, Friday from bullet wounds inflicted by a detective and a special policeman who said they caught him holding up a drug store.

Waters was shot first by Detective Lee O'Neal, who was in the store at the time. O'Neal said Waters pointed a pistol at him and ordered him to raise his hands. As the detective did so he reached for his shoulder holster, drew out a gun and shot the youth in the chest.

Police quoted Waters as saying he came to Detroit from Grand Rapids Thursday and "decided to get some easy money."

Thomas Waters had planned to marry next month, it was disclosed by friends in Grand Rapids. He informed friends when he left Grand Rapids Thursday he was going to Canton, Ohio, to collect money due him.

The young man, who bore a good reputation here, went to live on Lafayette-av. about a year ago when his mother and grandparents, with whom he previously had made his home, left the city.

Use More Cheese, Especially Dutch

Farm women in Michigan are considering using more cheese, especially cottage cheese, in the diet since it can be easily made from skim milk. This type of cheese is a carrier of all of the milk solids excepting butterfat.

Home demonstration groups are leading their regular meetings held this month in Grand Rapids, East Nelson, Lowell, Zeeland, Grand Haven and Coopersville.

He was married June 19, 1885, to Etta Jane Whitney, Grattan township, who died March 3, 1931, and he later married Mrs. Mina Bagley, who survives together with four children and nineteen grandchildren. The children are: Verne Aldrich of Whiteville, Loyal and Maurice Aldrich and Mrs. W. H. Ingersoll of Kalamazoo.

The family moved to Barry county 43 years ago.

Bank's Patrons Show Cooperation

Fred H. Swarthout, Conservator for the Lowell State Bank, reports that satisfactory progress is being made in carrying out the bank's reopening plans as outlined in last week's Ledger.

"I am very appreciative," said Mr. Swarthout, "of the splendid spirit of cooperation which is being manifested by patrons of the bank. We shall proceed just as rapidly as numerous details can be carried out."

Mr. Swarthout also stated that waiver and consent agreements would be mailed to depositors in the near future and other steps taken as rapidly as possible in order to restore full banking facilities to the community.

Chris. Steketee, prominent local architect, has been appointed supervising architect for Kent county for the Civil Works Administration, with offices in the county building. Mr. Steketee and his assistant, Emil G. Zillmer, are busy engaged in getting under way the program of rehabilitation of township schools and grounds that is expected to provide employment in every section of the county for men registered with the CWA.

Since 1920 her residence had alternated between Grand Rapids and the North Dakota home. She and Mr. McGinnis last returned to Grand Rapids a little more than a year ago.

We congratulate her and wish her continued success.

RING IN THE NEW

WHY WE GREET THE NEW YEAR

Why do we greet thee, O blithe New Year? What are thy pledges of mirth and cheer? Comest, light-errant, the wrong to right? Comest to scatter our glooms with light? Wherefore the thrill, the sparkle and shine in heart and eyes at a word of thine?

The Old was leavest, the Old was true, The Old was brave when the Old was new, He crowned us then with grace and gifts, His choicest leaves had a deep blue tint, Yet straight and swift, when his hand unclasp'd, With welcome and joyance thine we grasp'd. O tell us, Year—We are fain to know—What is thy charm that we hail thee so?

Through the ether clear, from the solemn sky, The New Year beckons and makes reply: "I bring you, friends, what the years have brought, Since ever man toiled, aspir'd, or thought—Days for labor, and nights for rest; And I bring you love, a heaven-born guest; Space to work in, and work to do, And faith to that which is pure and true."

School Aid Bill Passes Legislature

The Michigan Legislature in passing the School Aid bill in eleven hours clearly indicated that they appreciated the school problem. A sum of $15,000,000 appropriated as a special emergency fund to be distributed as advances against allocations under the provisions of the Thatcher-Sias act. The bill places into this special emergency fund, all excess revenue from retail sales tax above $31,700,000 and the expenses of administration; revenues from Act No. 8 of the Public Acts of the extra session of 1933 with the exception of appropriations of $2,000,000 to the Department of Public Safety, and $1,000,000 for a revolving fund; and finally, a sum of not to exceed $15,000,000 from the general fund of the state not otherwise appropriated.

Distribution of the revenue will be made first to school districts most in need of financial aid as advances against sums which they would receive under the provisions of the Thatcher-Sias act. The administration of this fund will be under the direction of State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Paul F. Voelker and the Emergency Administrative Board, organized under the provisions of Act, 23 of the Public Acts of 1931.

Odds and Ends Here and There

Pithy Points Picked Up and Patly Put by Our Peripatetic Pencil Pusher

Happy New Year!

To date more than 3,000 applications for Old Age pensions have been made in Kent county.

We can see where the State Supreme Court has cited the officials governing body of the second city of the state for contempt. The people had already done that.

The Pere Marquette Railway Co., asked permission of the interstate commerce commission Wednesday to abandon a six-mile line from Elmdale to Freeport, Michigan.

Despite the fact that during 1933 forest fires raged over almost a quarter of a million acres of land in Michigan, only 2,453 acres of this area contained merchantable timber.

Always good news when days begin to grow longer. Although only a minute or so a day at first, "that's snappin'," as 'Amos' Andy' put it. The lengthening to longer days began with last Friday.

Crews aggregating 1,000 men, operating under the C. W. A. are now engaged in creating the most extensive improvements and developments ever carried on in Michigan's system of fisheries.

A road construction project under the public works program granted to Michigan, includes 15,341 miles of bituminous road on US-131 east to county line in Kent, in Greenville and west to county line of Montcalm county. The cost will be $136,575.

A big truck carrying a cargo of 4,000 gallons of gasoline overturned on US-16 early last Wednesday morning at a point near Frost's Corners. Ice pavement was the cause. Twelve hundred gallons of gasoline leaked away. A nearby farmer salvaged 70 gallons.

Warning to all persons possessing furs of protected fur-bearing animals was issued December 27. The law requires that all such persons must make a report of all such furs in possession to the Director of Conservation within five days after the close of the respective seasons.

Much of the entire continent has felt the icy blasts of winter since Christmas day. More than 40 deg. below zero is reported in some sections of the northwest. Here in Lowell the mercury dropped to 10 below at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, the coldest hour. By mid-day the reading was 16 above zero.

Left entirely to their own resources and protected from hunters, two buck and three doe deer increased in seven years to a herd of 162. The deer herd is located on the George Preserve near Pinckney which is operated by the University of Michigan. The Preserve contains an area of approximately 1,280 acres and is completely enclosed by a deer proof fence.

Fishermen who aren't sure whether the catch on their hook is a bluegill or a sunfish, or a brown or rainbow trout can now turn to the booklet that was issued them with their fishing license. The Digest of Fishing Laws for 1934-35 are issued with all licenses with four pages of pictures of the more common species of fish, and all persons over 18 years of age taking fish from the inland waters of the state after Monday, January 1, must be supplied with one of these licenses.

An increase in Michigan's tourist trade in the summer of 1934 because of depreciated dollars and the repeal of prohibition is expected by leaders of the state's resort associations. "Michigan should see a tremendous increase in tourist and resort business," predicted George E. Bishop, secretary of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau. He said that the decline of the dollar in foreign exchange will cause many who otherwise would go to Europe to vacation at home next summer.

M. B. McPherson, state tax commissioner, suffered slight injuries when his car left the pavement, near Portland, last Friday morning. Mr. McPherson was enroute to Lansing at an early hour when the accident occurred. His car was quite badly damaged. The accident occurred not far from the point where Mr. McPherson was so badly injured about a year ago, necessitating several weeks in a hospital. "He!" laughs off the suggestion that he had better detour Portland in the future. Anyhow, all are glad to learn that he has escaped serious injury and that he is following his activities with his accustomed vigor.

An order from NRA headquarters in Washington was sent to Hosiery Mills, Inc. of Belding, to curtail operations to two shifts of eight hours per day and three days per week. After it was learned that the mill would have to lay off approximately 250 employees, two out of every five working days, and because of the heavy orders, the management sent a telegram to NRA headquarters asking that an exception be made. Similar telegrams were sent by the city council, board of commerce, local NRA committee and Belding Manufacturers association. However, the pleas of the various bodies were of no avail as the return telegram said the mill would have to obey the dictates of the code. In the 13 months in which the mills have been operating they have paid out to employees $166,143.

State Has 900 Gas. Distributors

An attempt is being made by means of a mandamus suit, to compel the Department of State to disclose confidential information it receives in the collection of the gasoline tax. In Michigan there are slightly more than nine hundred wholesale gasoline distributors, all of whom pay gasoline taxes monthly and who file reports on the total number of gallons of gasoline sold. The large majority of these distributors are small independent companies, not connected with the large refining corporations. The information which comes to the department concerning the volume of business of each company, has not been made a part of the public records as the policy of Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald is that the department received its information in a confidential manner and should not violate this confidence.
