LIKE AN AMERICAN THE FOLLOWING words were written by that great Democrat, Woodrow Wilson. They read like the words of a true American:

"I do not want to live under a philanthropy. I do not want to be taken care of by the government either directly or indirectly or by any instrument through which the government is acting. I want only to have right and justice prevail so far as I am concerned. Give me right and justice and I will undertake to take care of myself. I will not live under trustees if I can help it. I do not care how wise, how patriotic, the trustees may be. I have never heard of any group of men in whose hands I am willing to lodge the liberties of America in trust."

WHAT COUNTS IN EDUCATION THE ESTABLISHMENT of a Freshman College in Lowell in the former East Ward school building reminds us of the declaration of President James A. Garfield, a graduate of Williams College who once said of Mark Hopkins, the most famous head of that institution of which President Garfield's own son later became president:

All that is needed to make a college is Mark Hopkins on one end of a log and a boy on the other.

All the fine buildings in the world never made an educational institution. What counts is the teachers and their ability to inspire the young folk who come to learn.

The people of Brown City, Nebraska, are alive to that truth. Unable to send their children to a town high school, several miles away; unable to finance the construction of a school building; they have built by their own hands a sod house of the ancient prairie type to make a place where teachers and students can meet, taxing themselves for the salaries of good teachers.

Even so did the ancient teachers and founders of some of the world's great universities meet the demand of eager youth for learning. The very word "academy" comes from the grove of the same name where Plato gathered his disciples in the woods. Abelard, founder of the University of Paris, began in a rude hut, around which students pitched their tents.

There is hope for America so long as we devote to education the funds expression in spite of material difficulties. And we venture that the boys and girls who attend school in this Nebraska sod house will cherish the memory of that Alma Mater and remember when a free lunch will be there longer than many schools which takes place in Gothic temples.

"EASY MONEY" IS GONE FOREVER WE HEAR a good many people talking about "Recovery" as if they believed that the aim and purpose of all the things that are being undertaken in the name of the commendable objective was to bring back the "easy-money" days of the later 1920's. We don't think that any thoughtful men, in or out of politics, expect or desire anything of the sort.

These days are times when the hope and belief that there was some short-cut to riches pervaded a large section of the American people. We fear that there are many ambitious young men today who cherish the same sort of hope. We believe that they are doomed to disappointment.

To be sure, not many people actually did get rich in a hurry, but everybody, figuratively speaking, had a try at it. And enough achieved sudden wealth to inspire others with the belief that it was easy. As a matter of fact, it never was easy. The public simply didn't hear about the hard, patient work that those who succeeded did before riches began to come their way; they only heard of them after they had won their wealth.

We do not understand that there is a purpose, anywhere, to restore conditions under which anybody can expect or hope to get rich without working even harder for them than those who gained them in the past worked. There always have been, always will be, a few to whom making money is a natural talent, who, under any social scheme, will always accumulate more than the majority. And we believe that there are as many opportunities as ever, perhaps more than ever, for the accumulation of wealth.

It seems to us, however, that for a good many years to come there is going to be a much closer scrutiny of the means whereby men become wealthy, and important riches are not going to be earned except by those who, in earning them, do something which definitely benefits society as a whole.

LESSON IN CAMP ETIQUETTE A STORY comes from Lake Superior State Forest about an Ohio tourist-camper who gave his neighbor a lesson in camping etiquette and thereby made a friend.

The tourist watched a Michigan group break camp, his critical eye missing no detail of the scene. When he saw them prepare to leave he intervened. "I've camped at this place for three summers," he said. "It was my intention to return next year, but if every camper left his site in the condition you have I would never come back."

The Michigan tourist was taken aback. Sheepsheadly he surveyed the grounds which were littered with corn husks, cans and paper and grinned broadly. "Give your neighbor a lesson in camping etiquette and thereby made a friend."

The many friends of Representative Dexter G. Look will be glad to know that he is resting comfortably in spite of the illness which has kept him confined to his bed at his home on Vergennes rd. for the past few months. Mr. Look is quite free from pain and enjoys keeping abreast of the times with his papers and magazines and he also enjoys visits from his old friends.

Will S. Winegar, pioneer druggist, was a welcome caller at the Ledger office last Friday afternoon. Mr. Winegar has not been in the best of health for some months past and as a consequence his visits downtown have been at frequent intervals. In spite of physical infirmities, he retains his genial, jovial manner and a keen interest in all that is going on. It is always an inspiration to have a call from Mr. Winegar.

Alton Speaker

PAUL F. VOELKER Supt. of Public Instruction

Dr. Voelker will be the speaker at the Alton Church Fair and Community Homecoming this week Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. He will take for his subject, "A New Deal For the School Children."

Tubbs To Speak at B. of T. Friday Evng.

M. N. Henry, chairman of the program committee for the Board of Trade banquet to be held this week Friday evening, announces that Robert Tubbs, city attorney of Grand Rapids, has been secured as speaker. Mr. Tubbs will discuss the arguments for and against the six amendments to the state constitution that are to be voted upon at the election on November 6. This is a timely subject and will be of interest to all at this time.

The occasion will be "Ladies' Night" all of whom are expected to be present to look after their husbands. There will be a fish dinner with plenty of fried lake perch as the piece de resistance. Community singing and other musical numbers will feature the entertainment portion of the program.

The dinner will be served at the City hall at 6:30 and Howard Gould will preside as the chef—and Howard knows how to serve fried perch as the queen's last. Secure your tickets at Henry's or Hilderley's drug stores or from the ticket committee, Bruce McQueen and Walter Kropf.

Michigan farmers who expect their alfalfa seed for sowing next spring should locate their seed early because the crop is short and varieties not suitable for this State may appear in the market later, according to the farm crops department at Michigan State College.

Michigan produced 2,600,000 pounds of alfalfa seed last year but the 1934 crop is not expected to be more than two-thirds as large. This Michigan seed is well suited for use here but, as prices are high, much of the supply will probably be moved outside the State. This year's crop is not large enough to supply the Michigan demand if all remained here.

Montana, Idaho, Minnesota and the Dakotas produce alfalfa seed adapted for use in Michigan but the crops in all those states except Idaho is short this year. Southern grown seed is nearly worthless in Michigan. It germinates and grows during the summer and fall but kills out during Michigan winters.

Foreign alfalfa seed from warm countries is also a poor buy. It has the same disadvantages for Michigan as seed produced in the southern states. The Michigan seed law requires all alfalfa seed to be sold in bags marked with the place of the seed's origin. Federal law requires that imported seed shall be stained with a dye so farmers will know where it came from. Buy Michigan or northern grown alfalfa seed.

Woman's Club The Lowell Woman's Club met October 10 at the home of the president, Mrs. A. S. Bennett. After the regular business session the meeting was turned over to Mrs. C. E. Horn, chairman of the day, assisted by Mrs. Bartlett and Mrs. W. E. Hall. The subject was "Legislation" and the chairman called on Mrs. R. G. Jefferies to give a talk on the amendments to be voted on November 6.

Mrs. Bartlett read several articles on "Munitions as Senator Vandenberg sees it." She also read from the book, "Iron, Blood and Profit."

Bruce Walter of the Lowell high school played two very charming selections on the violin, accompanied by Mrs. David Cox.

Mrs. Hall was in charge of the open forum. She quoted some very curious and amusing laws in some of our states which are still on the statute books. The meeting adjourned to meet on October 24 at the home of Mrs. J. E. Bannan.

HELP GIVEN TO FALL CROPS BY TIMELY RAINS

TIMELY AND WELL DISTRIBUTED SEPTEMBER RAINFALL AND ABSENCE OF FROSTS UNITE TO BRING ABOUT INCREASE IN NEARLY ALL LATE CROPS

Marked improvement in yield prospects for potatoes and grain in the condition of nearly all other late crops were general over much of Michigan during September according to the report just released by the Michigan Cooperative Crop Reporting Service. Rainfall during the past month was timely and fairly well-distributed and the absence of killing frosts in all except some northern areas, helped bring late crops to maturity. The reported improvement in the condition of the State's potato crop was the greatest for September in more than 37 years of records, the condition on October 1, 1934 being 74 per cent of normal, 15 points higher than for September 1, 1934 and 4 points above the 10-year average.

October 1 indicated production as determined from growers' reports on condition and probable yield per acre is estimated at 28,350,000 bushels as against 20,670,000 bushels harvested in 1933 and 21,311,000 bushels in the 5-year average crop, 1927-31.

The condition of the Michigan field bean crop on October 1 was reported at 49 per cent or 4 points better than for September 1 but nearly 13 points below the 10-year average. Indicated production of the State's field bean crop of 100 pounds each which is 27 per cent smaller than the 3,519,000 bushels harvested in 1933 and 8 per cent less than the 5-year average production of 2,803,000 bushels. Yield prospects improved for the State's soybean crop.

Central counties, although growers' October 1 reports showed some gains for the Saginaw Valley and Thumb areas. In northern counties, where the dry bean acreage is relatively small, the crop was injured by frosts and weather during September, although favorable for late-planted fields, delayed harvesting of the earlier crop in some of the principal producing sections.

Sugar beets were another of the crops showing improvement in tonnage as a result of favorable growing conditions during September. The condition of the Michigan crop on October 1 was 81 per cent or 4 points above the 10-year average. This year's crop, which showed an improvement in tonnage as a result of favorable growing conditions during September, indicates a prospective production of 1,038,000 tons. Factory reports for 1933 showed 1,203,000 tons harvested last year.

Michigan produced 2,600,000 pounds of alfalfa seed last year but the 1934 crop is not expected to be more than two-thirds as large. This Michigan seed is well suited for use here but, as prices are high, much of the supply will probably be moved outside the State. Vote 'No' is Advised On All Amendments

At the coming November election the voters of Michigan will be called upon to pass judgment on six proposed amendments to the state constitution. The ballot carrying these amendments will be so voluminous in size that no voter will have time to give them any consideration in the election booth. In fact, it would take days and days of study for one to become even approximately familiar with the full meaning of these various amendments. They are so lengthy that The Ledger is not giving space to them in these columns as we do not believe that one reader in a hundred would take the trouble even to read them, to say nothing of giving them the necessary study and research. For this reason, the Ledger is giving herewith its opinion regarding these amendments and in doing so we are presuming to advise our readers that the safe thing to do is to vote "No" on each and every one of these propositions. It is our belief that whenever any such group proposes a change in our taxation laws that we should know fully what they propose to give us in exchange. There is still considerable truth in the old saying that "It is sometimes best to cling to the ills we have than to rush into those we know not of." There always can be found some things in favor of any proposition but legislation should not be included in the state constitution. We should not clutter up our constitution with amendments. The constitution should be a declaration of broad principles and not a mere mass of ordinances.

Amendment No. 1 provides for the non-partisan election of all judges. The adoption of this amendment would entail the added costs of special conventions and special primary elections and would probably result in no better judges. The judges elected under the present system whereby each party chooses its best qualified men results in broad non-partisan results.

Amendments No. 2 and 3 should be considered by the legislature instead of by the voters. The two proposed amendments provide for the limiting of the tax on gasoline, and for the exemption of gasoline manufacturers and distributors from taxation, with the further provision that the present weight tax be declared the maximum. What is to be the "nigger in the woodpile" is the provision that manufacturers and distributors will be exempt from taxation. The passage of these two proposals probably would give us more harm than benefit as the maintenance of the highways would be jeopardized and the public school system would suffer because of further decrease in revenue. It is claimed that the tax reduction would mean nothing to the citizens and that regard to the state rate on gas the price from Michigan to the Florida coast practically no differences in rates exist, so if the amendment did carry it would mean nothing to the auto-owner. The Farm Bureau, the Grange and several other organizations have gone on record in opposition to these two proposals.

Amendment No. 4 is the so-called home rule amendment—a term that is pretty apt to fool the people. As we see it, this amendment would mean the centralization of government and the final outcome would be the taking from the taxpayer his last remaining contact with tax-assessing officers. Amended justice courts, that uniform taxation be abolished and an income tax enacted. This amendment is dangerous. With Michigan industries now being taxed by the federal government to furnish the cash for relief and PWA funds in southern and western states it might prove dangerous to open the gates to special taxation. Before voting for this change we should know the kind of an income tax we are to have. Would it be on gross incomes and in brackets so low as to include the already overburdened farmer and working man? We should know the full facts before voting for such a constitutional change.

Amendment No. 6 provides for an increased jurisdiction up to $1500 for justice courts. The present maximum is $300 and $500. While the proponents of this amendment claim it will speed court action in Wayne county, the amendment would probably result in hundreds of appeal cases to the circuit court in up-state Michigan. The Grand Rapids Bar Association on Monday of this week unanimously adopted a report of its special committee urging defeat of this amendment. Should the proposal carry, justices of the peace will have no criminal jurisdiction in the report states. "This would make necessary the calling of grand juries under the statutes and the handling of all criminal matters in circuit court," the report continues. "The delay and attendant increase in cost thus occasioned would be intolerable. All justices of the peace, even in townships, would then have to perform their many duties now prescribed by law."

Amendment No. 7 provides for the non-partisan election of all judges. The adoption of this amendment would entail the added costs of special conventions and special primary elections and would probably result in no better judges. The judges elected under the present system whereby each party chooses its best qualified men results in broad non-partisan results.

Amendments No. 2 and 3 should be considered by the legislature instead of by the voters. The two proposed amendments provide for the limiting of the tax on gasoline, and for the exemption of gasoline manufacturers and distributors from taxation, with the further provision that the present weight tax be declared the maximum. What is to be the "nigger in the woodpile" is the provision that manufacturers and distributors will be exempt from taxation. The passage of these two proposals probably would give us

Civil War Veteran Buried Here Today Word has been received here of the death at Birmingham of Willis Merriman, 92, former well-known resident of Lowell.

Mr. Merriman was born in New York state, served in the Union army during the Civil War and came to Michigan after the close of the war, settling on a farm in Vergennes-tp. After Mrs. Merriman's death, Mr. Merriman moved to Lowell, where he lived until four years ago, when he moved to Birmingham.

Funeral services were held in Birmingham at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Military services will be held at the grave in Oakwood cemetery at 2:30 today under auspices of the local American Legion post. Local funeral arrangements are in charge of Roth & Brezina.

Garden Lore Club The Garden Lore Club met at the home of Mrs. Rosella Yeiter Tuesday afternoon. After a short business session the meeting was turned over to Mrs. W. E. Hall, chairman, and she announced the following program: "How Flowers are Grown," read by Mrs. Willard Hunter; "Some things to do for our lawns," read by Mrs. Mattie Peckham; "How my garden is looking out of the window," read by Mrs. William Wachterbauer; and a reading, "Cornus fls Fiddle," by Mrs. E. S. White. A flower game and drawing was held, 12 lucky names drew a fine Madonna lily bulb donated by Mrs. E. White.

Let us make the next meeting a banner one by all members turning over to our annual potluck supper at 7 p. m. followed by the election of officers, payment of dues for the next year and re-organization of the club, which is made necessary by our being affiliated with the Federated Garden Clubs. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Finis, Mrs. Charles Doyle, chairman.

LOCAL ELEVEN COMES ACROSS WITH A VICTORY

GRIDDERS SHOW RETURN TO OLD-TIME FIGHTING SPIRIT AS THEY DEFEAT LEE 6-0—CHRISTOFF SMASHES WAY TO A TOUCHDOWN

Playing an inspired, but at times a ragged type of game last Friday night, Lowell trampled over Lee Street high school 6-0. The team functioned without the services of several of the regulars because of injuries, and several others who did participate were in a crippled condition. The team spirit and the pep was present for the first time this year, and the dogged determination of the entire eleven made defeat impossible. Lee Street presented the best team they have ever had, and the battle for supremacy between the two teams was a toss-up for three-fourths of the game.

Lowell's running attack during the first three quarters was counter-balanced by the phenomenal punting of Foster, back for the visitors. In fact, this boy gave the finest exhibition of punting that we have seen this year in interscholastic circles. Because of his long spirals, Lowell was playing in its own territory during most of the half.

During the third quarter Lee penetrated to Lowell's 23 yard line, but the boys rose to the occasion and took the ball on downs. At this point Christoff made the longest run of the day, dashing to mid-field.

Fourth Quarter At the opening of the fourth quarter, Lee lost the ball on its own 40 yard line because some boy committed a foul while the ball was being punted. Lowell was in Lee's territory for the first time and made two first downs carrying the ball to the 20 yard line. At this point officials detected holding by some member on Lowell's team and a penalty of 15 yards carried the ball back to Lee's 35 yard strip. On an attempted pass the officials ruled interference by the runner and it was Lowell's ball on the 10 yard line. Christoff grabbed the oval and smashed his way over the goal line but failed to convert the extra point. With less than three minutes to play Lowell was again on a march to the goal and the game ended in possession deep in Lee's territory.

Comments Lowell's offense looked much better; the locals made 10 first downs to three for the visitors. The most glaring fault in the game proved to be a lack of blocking, and the coaches plan to brush up on this department of play during the week.

The tackling was much better but there is still room for improvement. The boys lined up more lively and they went into the plays with team-like precision and their plays were executed and timed in a manner which was very satisfactory to the spectators. In fact the entire game was a delight to the fans.

The boys showed the fight and determination for which Lowell teams have long been noted. There were too many penalties inflicted against both teams. Lowell lost 60 yards in this manner.

The entire team is to be commended for the splendid defense. Line-up The following Lowell boys participated in the game: Reynolds; Rickett; Pinkney; Bettes; C; Monkowski; R; Hoag; R; Green; R; Schwach; R; Sumner; Ibb; Christoff; B; Ellis; R. Substitutions: Scott, Doyle and Stukkie. Officials: Churm, Hood and Kleis.

All county relief administrators and members of county relief commissions are warned in a letter from the State Relief Administrator, that the Federal grants will not be sufficient to meet relief needs the coming winter. He points out that local governments will be expected to assume the burden of at least a part of the cost of relief in each county. County administrators were urged to secure the cooperation of county boards of supervisors to this end.

One of Michigan's early conservation experiments was the introduction of salt-water eels, live-trapped in the Hudson river. Approximately 2,000,000 were planted in inland waters of southern Michigan, the first planting being made in 1877. The species failed to breed, however, and the supply decreased under continued fishing, spearing and netting. Occasional reports of the presence of eels in an inland lake are received by the Department. These are believed survivors of the early planting.

A $3,000 fine was granted and bail fixed at $3,000 which he furnished. He will appear in court today (Thursday). "If I can't run my own business I might as well be in jail," French is reported as saying.

For the first time since 1929, the number of passenger cars in Michigan is showing an increase over the previous year's registration. On Sept. 30, 1934 records of the Department of State disclose 969,074 automobiles registered for use or 29,039 more than were registered on Sept. 30, 1933. The increase in registration is attributed to two causes. The first is the two-payment plan of purchasing license plates, sponsored by Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald in 1933, which permitted thousands of motorists to keep their cars in use. The second cause for the increased registration is the reduction in weight tax rates.

The East Cong'l Church Concert Course Grand Rapids opens with the appearance of Rachmaninoff in a piano recital on October 22 at the Civic Auditorium. Rated as one of the greatest living Russian composers Rachmaninoff is a noted pianist and conductor as well. The Russian Revolution forced him out of his native land and confiscated his estates. Rachmaninoff and his family escaped into Sweden, thence to the United States. He makes his home now in New York and has a summer home in Switzerland where he does most of his composing. He is married and has two beautiful daughters.

well with the total proportions of the total publications in the country, holding these respective places.

Since the total circulation of all the publications that sent in replies amounted to close to 250,000, it may be said that the questionnaire covers comprehensively the state of American public opinion.

Mr. Lawrence comments further on the poll in the following language:

"The reaction of the country to the public opinion in their communities is in regard to some of the important economic and social problems that face the country today. The purpose of the inquiry was to provide industrial management with information regarding public opinion in their respective communities as a basis for formulating programs of industrial operation during the coming year.

The editors were assured that their individual replies would be held strictly confidential, that the results of the inquiry would be published only in the form of totals and percentages. The editors were not asked to state their political affiliations; their papers, or their own opinions, or the opinion of their papers, or their readers on the subject covered. The questionnaire asked them only to state the results of their own inquiries, and to give a definite 'Yes' or 'No' answer to each question regarding these points.

The questionnaire included 22 principal questions. At the end of the questionnaire, the editors were asked to express their own personal opinion concerning the factors that would contribute most toward increasing business confidence in their communities.

The Conference Board received 169 replies from 169 newspapers representing a total circulation of 24,843,077.

Literary Digest polls have proved that a substantial cross-section of the nation is contained in the list of editors who were contacted in this poll.

For these reasons the results of the ballot among the editors of the state of public opinion are of great value. Deal will attract widespread attention.

The vote was overwhelming against further increases in the tax on automobiles. The fixing of farm prices and against government control of private business. Along with these, the vote was in favor of establishing government of minimum wages as well as maximum working hours and a compulsory system of old-age pensions.

Each of the editors were asked to reflect so far as he could, the public opinion of his community on his own newspaper. The results and it is significant that 90 per cent of the cases where the tax on automobiles was increased in his home town of Shelby in the past has been considered in a particular locality. His opinions were in agreement with the majority of the editors and his own newspaper's support of the tax.

Orville E. Atwood, candidate for secretary of state, operates the mass of voters in the state, and is alert and active minorities, especially in this instance the religious division of the Department of State.

Gilbert H. Babster, after he returned from France where he was badly wounded, attended the University of Michigan for a time before returning to his home in Detroit to engage in business. At the present time, he is a member of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce and is active in the Boy Scout movement in Michigan.

It is to be noted that the percentage of replies from the Detroit department is in agreement with the independent groups coincided fairly well.

A FABLE REVERSED

Once upon a time—a quite recent time—there lived in the same neighborhood an Ant and a Grasshopper. The Ant was very industrious and frugal, and busied himself all summer in laying up a supply of provisions for the winter which, he had a hunch, would be coming along after the first of September.

The Grasshopper, however, was otherwise. He was indolent and carefree, and did not care for the future. He spent his time in playing and in eating.

When the first of September came, the Ant was very busy, and the Grasshopper was very hungry. The Ant had a great deal of food, and the Grasshopper had none.

The Grasshopper asked the Ant for some food, and the Ant refused. The Grasshopper was very angry, and he decided to punish the Ant.

One day, the Ant was out for a walk, and he saw the Grasshopper. The Grasshopper was very angry, and he decided to punish the Ant.

THE SILAGE SETTLES
A conundrum, alright, Frank J. Keena, 41 Pleasant St., Grand Rapids, writes the following card to the Ledger:

"I see in the Lowell Ledger of October 11 that Earl Vosburg of Spring Hill-East Ada filled silo Thursday and refilled on Saturday. How many cows and sheep has that man got?"

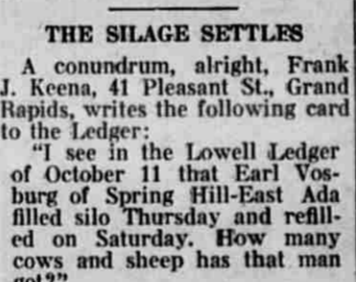

Editor's Note:—The editor isn't much of a farmer but we imagine that Mr. Vosburg refilled on Saturday because the ensilage had settled after the first filling. These "cilly fellers" seem to have funny ideas about farming.
