

Pithy Points Picked Up and Patly Put By Our Peripatetic Pencil Pusher

A west coast woman has just given birth to her 23rd child. What a racket if the kids start singing "Hail, hail, the gang's all here!"

Up jumps rabbit and bites hunter! The man didn't bite the dog but the rabbit assailed the hunter, Charles Neil, the victim, of Quincy, Ill., contends. He said he was walking along the road when one of the timid animals jumped out of a bush and bit him. A physician treated a deep wound in Neil's leg.

A farm record book designed to assist farmers in assembling and preserving information on farm operations can be obtained free from county agricultural agents or from the farm management department at Michigan State College by farmers who have crop contracts with the Agricultural Administration.

John S. McDonald of Grand Rapids, former justice of the Michigan supreme court, has been appointed to the State Liquor Control Commission for three years by Governor Wm. A. Cushman to succeed William G. Lewis whose term expired. The appointment of McDonald, a Republican, gives the G. O. P. control of this 3-man commission. The commission organized by electing McDonald as chairman.

A happy new year, in at least one sense, awaits the nation's bankers and writers of some 2,250,000,000 checks annually—for on Jan. 1 the two-cent bank check tax automatically dies. The bank check tax was one of about two dozen so-called nuisance taxes imposed in the revenue bill of 1932. It was supposed to last only a year but was continued with the proviso that it would automatically lapse on Jan. 1, 1935.

Spanking as a punishment for disobedient wives has the sanction of the Luzerne county, Pa. court. It's the husband's privilege, Judge John S. Fine told Mrs. Harry Bell when she appeared to prosecute her husband on charges of cruelly beating the spanking. But said he did it because his wife "ran around" in his car while he was at work and ran up expenses, but didn't pay the bills.

The Michigan Bankers Association is warning banks, merchants and individuals to help curb the epidemic of spurious checks being circulated. Keep your bank checks locked up, it warns. Don't cash checks for strangers. Many cases of where crooks have procured blank checks and forged signatures have come to light lately. The warning ends with "Strangers are not always crooks, but crooks are generally strangers."

Michigan farmers, in taking high honors in the International Hay and Grain Show at Chicago, defeated the competitors from other sections. Ninety-seven entries went to the show from Michigan and brought back 70 prizes. Corn, wheat, barley, beans, soy beans, peas, red clover, alsike clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa made up the list of farm products that brought checks to their exhibitors. Jesse Pickett of Caledonia received a prize for his corn exhibit.

Representative William Green of Hillman, who escaped with his life from the Hotel Kerns fire in Lansing, apparently lost every possession he had in the hotel at the time of the disaster. But it developed later that he has recovered his money. The currency, wrapped about in a check, was found in a pocket of a pair of trousers. It was identified as Representative Green's by the name on the check. All the trousseau except the pocket containing the money had burned away.

The liquor control commission has moved to tighten its control of the traffic in intoxicants in the state with the passage of two new regulations covering dancing and advertising. The first regulation prohibits dancing where liquor or beer is sold with the exception that the local governing body may permit this. Employees of licensees, however, are prohibited from dancing with the guests. The second regulation prohibits use of advertising displays to adorn fronts of establishments and allows no booths higher than 42 inches. These regulations will go into effect Jan. 15.

Forehanded Michigan farmers who will want to borrow money from their local production credit association can make applications now and save any chance of delay next spring, according to Commissioner S. M. Garwood, Washington. Some loans are being made now but the rush of applications begins just before the crop season. Most farmers know whether they will need additional credit facilities next spring and can make their applications now. Money on approved loans will be advanced when wanted and interest charges begin only when the money is advanced. The production credit associations are permanent additions to the credit facilities of agriculture. They are conducted by local people and make loans only on a business basis of ample security for the money loaned. Commissioner Garwood points out that the two common mistakes made in borrowing money are to borrow too early and pay unnecessary interest charges or to borrow too late and be unable to get cash discounts on materials purchased. Managers of production credit associations are expected to assist their clients in avoiding both of these mistakes. Borrowers do not have to draw the full amount of a loan at once. The money can be taken up as the production credit association as it is needed, and the interest charges are made only on the portions which have been withdrawn. If application has been made for more than is needed the balance can be left at the association and no interest charge is made.

REV. R. V. SMITH, Evangelist, Singer and Guitarist. Special evangelistic services will begin Sunday, Dec. 30, at the Church of the Nazarene, closing Sunday, Jan. 13. Rev. Raymond V. Smith will be the evangelist. This young man is a good preacher, singer and instrumentalist having been affiliated with the Salvation Army for ten years previous to his connection with the Church of the Nazarene. Special music and singing will be an added feature of this meeting. A cordial invitation to attend these meetings is extended to all by the pastor.

Subscription Drive Ends Successfully

Judges Declare Louise Blaser First Prize Winner; Edith Althaus, 2nd; Pauline Kilgus, 3rd

The office of The Ledger last Saturday night was like an office on an election night. The candidates in the "Christmas Prize" subscription campaign were there with their families and friends in the front office and waited with tense eagerness for the final count of the later returns, these having been placed in a sealed ballot box. In the directors' room of the State Savings Bank the judges, Mr. Dan Winger, Assistant Cashier, Mr. Van Vorst, Lowell Township Supervisor, and Mr. W. W. Gumsier, Superintendent of Lowell Public Schools, counted the votes and along about nine o'clock came to the eager throng in the office of The Ledger and announced the winners as follows:

Judges' Report We, the undersigned judges, appointed to have supervision of the final count of The Lowell Ledger "Christmas Prize" Subscription Campaign, concluded December 22nd, 1934 and to act as counting judges, certify and state that we have made careful check and count of the votes earned by each candidate and contained in the ballot box, and have added same to the votes earned up to and including December 15th, entitling the following candidates to the prizes as follows: First prize—New Ford 1933 Model Tudor DeLuxe Sedan, Louise Blaser, 12,261.625. Second Prize—A Vacation to Miami, Fla., and return, or $200.00 in cash, Edith Althaus, 12,221.176. Third Prize—Bonus check for 50% of his or her total earnings added, Pauline Kilgus, 10,538.608. Fourth Prize—Bonus check for 33 1/3% of his or her total earnings added, Mrs. Rosella Yeiter, 6,997.750. Fifth Prize—Bonus check for 25% of his or her total earnings added, Mrs. Fred Pattison, 5,634.950. Sixth Prize—Bonus check for 15% of his or her total earnings added, Mrs. Vivian Schneider, 3,752.400. The following candidate qualified for 20% cash commissions of her total subscriptions collected: Irene Reusser, 1,070.800. Judges: W. W. Gumsier, Dm. Van Vorst, Wm. A. Winger.

Contest Fairly Conducted The contest, with every possible safeguard to insure utmost fairness to each contestant, was a lively one and excited a deal of interest. So close together were the leaders at the closing day, that not until the official count of the final ballots was it possible for anyone in this office, or out of it, to know the outcome, until the official count. Moreover, it was the kind of competition that gave every participant a new courage and confidence in themselves and their ability. It stirred local interest in putting thousands of extra dollars into circulation which goes to help business in the Lowell area and to give local stimulus to the recovery activities. As The Ledger paid out in prizes and commissions all of the subscription money that was brought in by the contestants, it derives no financial profit from the contest, and did not expect any. What it chiefly wanted was to make the paper known in every nook and cranny of the Lowell trade territory. That the untiring efforts of the contestants did for us, and with our greatly increased circulation, we can offer to advertisers a newspaper that now "covers" this trade territory like the dew.

We hereby thank all of the contestants for their fine efforts. In turn they thank those who helped them in their campaign. Cards of Thanks First Prize Winner I wish to take this method of thanking each and every one of my friends who were so nice to me in giving me their subscription in The Lowell Ledger Subscription Campaign, enabling me to win the 1935 Ford DeLuxe Tudor Sedan. I wish also to thank the publisher of The Lowell Ledger for the fair manner in which the contest was conducted. Many, many thanks to all. Louise Blaser. Second Prize Winner I wish to thank all my friends for their support given me during the Ledger "Christmas Prize" subscription campaign that made it possible for me to win the second prize. I extend my sincere congratulations to Miss Blaser, first prize winner, and the other successful candidates. Edith Althaus. Third Prize Winner I want to thank my many friends who gave me their support and interest during the Ledger subscription campaign to win third place. It was a pleasure to visit you all in your homes and make friends, and I am deeply appreciative of the fair and impartial manner in which The Ledger conducted the campaign. The contest for me was a pleasant experience never to be forgotten. Pauline Kilgus. Fourth Prize Winner I wish to express my sincere appreciation to all those who gave me their support in The Lowell Ledger Campaign just closed, enabling me to place fourth in the final count. It was a pleasant experience, and one worth while, and I appreciate the impartial manner in which the publisher The Ledger conducted the campaign. Many thanks to you all. Rosella Yeiter. Fifth Prize Winner I wish to thank my many friends who assisted me in the "Ledger contest." I worked alone, did my best, received fifth prize, and feel well repaid for my efforts. Mrs. Fred Pattison, Alto.

Farm Census Begins Jan. 1

Beginning January 1, census enumerators will call on all Michigan farmers to obtain information in accordance with the law which requires that an agricultural census shall be taken every five years, according to the director of the census, William L. Austin, Washington, D. C. The farm census will be very important, in view of the unusual conditions under which agriculture has been conducted in the past few years. The first farm census was taken in 1840, and others at intervals of 10 years until 1925 when the new law requiring that the census be taken every five years was passed. Many of the governmental plans to aid farmers are based upon information provided by the data secured by the census reports. This is the most accurate detailed record of the farming industry, and it is very important to the farmers themselves that accurate information be given to the census enumerators when they call. The enumerators will have means of identifying themselves when they call. Most of them will be local people chosen in the districts where they will work. Every farmer can secure a sample farm schedule which is a copy of the blank which the census enumerator will fill out when calling at the farm later. The sample copies can be secured by writing to the Bureau of the Census, Dept. of Commerce, Washington, D. C. Most county agricultural agents will have copies which can be inspected in their offices. Have your business or personal stationery printed at The Ledger office. Good materials and fine quality workmanship assured.

240 Children Made Happy By Local Committee

The Committee having in charge the distribution of gifts to children who might otherwise have been overlooked in the townships of Vergennes and Lowell, including the village of Lowell, reports that approximately 240 children were given a Christmas present this year. A pound of candy, some fruit, and an additional gift all of the value of approximately 50c was given to each child. These presents went into 90 homes. In addition to this, a basket comprising a complete Christmas dinner was given to 10 worthy service men's families. These gifts were all delivered to the respective homes of these people. The American Legion Post, the American Legion Auxiliary and the Fortnightly Club sponsored this work. The Council of the village appropriated thirty-five dollars to be used in connection with the gifts within the village of Lowell. This was very much appreciated.

Gumser Residence Wins Xmas Award

The beautiful window display in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gumser on N. Hudson-st., depicting the star of Bethlehem in a sky of blue with the three wise men below, received first prize in the judging of the best Christmas decorated residence front last Saturday night. Second place was awarded Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Borgerson, whose home on N. Washington-st. presented a very pretty picture with extensive decorative lights in the trees and front windows. The committee states that special mention should be made of the homes of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Shivel, Vergennes-rd., where the lovely garden was flooded with color from a blue arc light; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kellogg, Vergennes-rd., who had trimmed the several window boxes with colored lights; Renis Doyle, E. Main-st., who had a large lighted star placed in a tree along the road so it could be seen from a great distance; Mr. and Mrs. Knapp, Avery-rd., for the exceptionally large tree that was literally covered with brightly colored lights; Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Gouffredsen, Riverside-rd., for decorated trees and the trimming across their front door; and the prettily decorated homes of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Look, Vergennes-rd., Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Runciman, Riverside-rd., and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Doyle, Vergennes-rd. The judging was done by the following committee: Mrs. P. J. Finis, Mrs. C. H. Reynolds, Mrs. R. E. Riney, Mrs. M. and Melvin Court. The contest was sponsored by the Lowell Board of Trade.

Chest Clinics Here Show Good Results

When the last Christmas Seal chest clinic was held in Lowell by the Anti-tuberculosis Society 27 people thought enough of their health to attend for examination and advice. Twenty-four had chest examinations and three children were brought in for tuberculin skin tests only. Eleven of these people attended clinic for the first time, most of them because they had lived in family contact with tuberculosis and wanted to find out whether or not they had acquired the infection and the disease. Two cases of childhood tuberculosis and one mother who has had sanitarium treatment attended for their regular examination and advice about how to keep their infections under control. The physician in charge ordered x-rays of the chest for 13 people, tuberculin tested 11, advised prophylaxis for four, dentistry operations for two and proper diet, including cod liver oil for four people. No open, infectious cases were discovered and eight of those examined were considered negative for tuberculosis and discharged. In Lowell and vicinity 33 adults and 17 children continue to be under supervision of the tuberculosis society's medical and nursing staff. Miss Frances I. Williams, B. N., does the home follow-up and education for these clinics.

DIES FAR FROM HIS NATIVE LAND

Mike Benoe, aged about 37, passed away unexpectedly Tuesday following an attack of acute indigestion. He had lived here in the Pullen block for about a year and was employed by the Grand Trunk railroad. Mr. Benoe was of Turkish descent and is not known to have had any relatives in this country. He was well thought of by his fellow-workers and they made arrangements for his funeral which is being held this Thursday afternoon at two o'clock in the Veiter Chapel, Rev. Vernon Shirley officiating. Interment in Oakwood cemetery.

MILO JOHNSON PASSES

Milo M. Johnson, 73, a resident of Lowell for many years, died Sunday at his home. He is survived by his widow, four sons and three daughters. Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. at the Veiter Chapel Wednesday, Rev. S. Miller officiating. Burial in Oakwood cemetery. Mr. Johnson was an employee of the King Milling Company for a great many years and had a large circle of friends who extend sympathy to the bereaved family. Learning should be a utility rather than an ornament.

Hail and Farewell — by A. B. Chapin

News and Notes of Freshman College

A few weeks ago the Lowell Freshman College was but a novelty; a theory untried; a venture without a precedent. The present week brings to a close the first term of the college year. The first term of the institution is gone; its true value to the students, and through them to the community, begins to appear. Not all the benefits which come from college training can be tabulated, nor even estimated, in terms of dollars and cents, but there are some returns that can be indicated in such manner. One of the very few big Life Insurance Companies has estimated the money value of a college education as compared with a high school education. The earnings of the average holder of an A. B. degree over a period of thirty-eight years immediately following his graduation from college, will be so much greater than the earnings of a high school graduate, that the former will profit to the extent of $18,000 for each of the four years spent in college. On this basis it is not difficult to estimate the increase in potential earning capacity of Lowell's college group.

If economic conditions were normal a part, if not all, of those who are registered in the local college, would have gone away from home to attend school. The amount of money that would have gone to support these young people would have been from $175 to $400 each term for each student. Our merchants and others can readily estimate the amount of money that has not gone from Lowell to maintain the more than thirty students who are getting their freshman year of college work at home. Lowell students are not yet able to realize in a financial way on their college training, but they are increasingly cognizant of its value and of the desire for the results that the other two terms may bring.

The second term of the college will begin on Monday, Jan. 7, 1935, the same date on which Western State Teachers College will open. Persons desiring to avail themselves of the opportunities which the local college affords should confer with Supt. Gumsier relative to courses that will be offered. Remember that it is not required that a person register to work for college credit; nor that he enroll for a maximum of work. Of course, it is desired that all who can should work for credit, but the school is here to serve those who may profit by what it can offer.

During the present term the Registrar, Dean of Men and heads of the Departments of Psychology, English, German and Spanish from Western State Teachers College have visited the local school. These visits are made so that the authorities of the Kalamazoo school may know the quality of work done here. All have expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the arrangements made by the people of Lowell for housing the school, and with the quality of work being offered. Similar visits will be made in each of the other terms of the school year.

During the term just ending the energies of the entire college personnel have been along the line of hard work in class rooms. On but one occasion has work given way to play. A student committee arranged for a social gathering which was attended by most of the college group, and thoroughly enjoyed by all present. A partial organization for extra-curricular activities was effected. Mr. Leonard Fader was elected president; Miss Mabel Hall, vice president; Miss Marguerite Shirley, secretary. A committee was named to plan for a second meeting at which time the organization will be completed.

Band Instruction Is To Be Resumed

Many persons will be glad to know that the opportunity to obtain band instruction will be provided again this year through FEBA classes. Howard White, who so successfully conducted the class of sixteen a year ago, will have charge and he looks forward to a much larger class this year than last. All who have instruments or are desirous of learning to play band instruments are urged to attend the first meeting, Tuesday evening at seven o'clock at the City hall. Classes are to be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of each week thereafter and will be of about three hours duration. Ladies as well as men are eligible for the instruction.

Along Main St.

The Ledger extends the season's greetings to all its readers and best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year to all. Christmas in Lowell this year was a bright and happy occasion. People generally seem to have thrown off the spirit of depression which has prevailed so long and are looking more hopefully toward the future. The weather was delightful, with snow "covering" all the landscape. Main-st., with its scores of brilliantly lighted Christmas trees, presented a most colorful appearance and gave forth warmth and good cheer. Stores, in general, report the best holiday business since 1930, this being in keeping with reports from throughout the entire country.

Charles O'Connor, 24, of Garson City, was placed under arrest here Friday night charged with driving while drunk. Among other things, he crashed into a car owned by Paul Kellogg O'Connor tried to be rough with night officer Eugene Carr, who sustained a black eye, but he was landed in jail with the assistance of Dr. J. R. Stryker and Pelet Finis where he proceeded to do more or less damage to the furniture, among other things starting a fire necessitating the calling out of the fire department. O'Connor was taken before a Grand Rapids justice where he was given a fine of $100 and costs, and, in addition, paid $100 because of damage to the Lowell jail. O'Connor is said to be a college student with a reputation as an athlete, but he evidently made poor use of his physical ability. "I'll bet old Santa's coming in an airplane!" "No, sir-ee! He'll come in a bright, new, shiny automobile!" "My pa said he'd come with reindeer and jingling bells and a big sleigh filled with presents for all good boys and girls!" These were some of the expectant and exciting remarks heard from the crowd of hundreds of youngsters thronging Lowell's Main-st. last Saturday afternoon, all eagerly awaiting the arrival of Santa Claus. The Old Fellow came in due time and distributed the sacks of candy to the outstretched hands of the happy children. It was truly a great day and no doubt the grown-ups got as much happiness out of it as did the children.

Arrangements for Santa Claus special visit to Lowell were made through the efforts of W. V. Burras and other members of the Lowell Board of Trade. FORMER RESIDENT DEAD Cole Newton of Hastings, a resident of Lowell some forty years ago, died very suddenly while walking down town in Hastings Monday, Dec. 24. He was about 80 years of age. His wife was Addie Gilley, sister of E. F. Gilley of Keene. Besides the widow, Mr. Newton leaves five children. Funeral services are being held this Thursday in Hastings. Interment in South Boston cemetery.

Aged Couple Die Within Two Days

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor, who lived on the south side of Grand River, passed away last week within two days of each other. Mr. Taylor, 71 years of age, died December 20 in a Grand Rapids hospital. He had lived in Lowell for about 16 years and was a member of the Moose Lodge. He leaves three sisters and two brothers. Mrs. Taylor, 89, passed away December 22 at their home. She is said to have been the first woman to become a member of the American Medical Association and was a charter member of the Episcopal Star. Mrs. Taylor practiced medicine for 25 years in Petersburg, Ill. In 1930 she married Mr. Taylor and came to Lowell. She is survived by one son, Clark Shipp, of Chicago. Funeral services were held for Mr. and Mrs. Taylor at the Veiter Chapel Sunday, Rev. S. B. Wenger officiating at services for Mrs. Taylor. The Moose Lodge had charge of arrangements for Mr. Taylor. M. N. Henry reading prayers. Mr. Taylor was buried in St. Mary's cemetery Sunday; Mrs. Taylor in Oakwood cemetery on Monday.

MRS. HORTENSE FORMAN DIES

Hortense Forman, 72, passed away Monday, Dec. 24, at the home of her son Harry in Ludington. Mrs. Forman was born in Keene-tp., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Carr. She visited friends in Keene on Labor Day and her death is a shock to the entire community. Interment is in Ludington beside her husband. Surviving are two sons, Frank, who lives in Tennessee, and Harry at home, and a grandson, Mr. Elmer E. Gilley of Keene is a sister-in-law of the deceased and Mrs. R. Van Dyke and Eugene Carr of Lowell are cousins.

Arrange Loans Now For Future

Forehanded Michigan farmers who will want to borrow money from their local production credit association can make applications now and save any chance of delay next spring, according to Commissioner S. M. Garwood, Washington. Some loans are being made now but the rush of applications begins just before the crop season. Most farmers know whether they will need additional credit facilities next spring and can make their applications now. Money on approved loans will be advanced when wanted and interest charges begin only when the money is advanced. The production credit associations are permanent additions to the credit facilities of agriculture. They are conducted by local people and make loans only on a business basis of ample security for the money loaned. Commissioner Garwood points out that the two common mistakes made in borrowing money are to borrow too early and pay unnecessary interest charges or to borrow too late and be unable to get cash discounts on materials purchased. Managers of production credit associations are expected to assist their clients in avoiding both of these mistakes. Borrowers do not have to draw the full amount of a loan at once. The money can be taken up as the production credit association as it is needed, and the interest charges are made only on the portions which have been withdrawn. If application has been made for more than is needed the balance can be left at the association and no interest charge is made.

REV. R. V. SMITH, Evangelist, Singer and Guitarist. Special evangelistic services will begin Sunday, Dec. 30, at the Church of the Nazarene, closing Sunday, Jan. 13. Rev. Raymond V. Smith will be the evangelist. This young man is a good preacher, singer and instrumentalist having been affiliated with the Salvation Army for ten years previous to his connection with the Church of the Nazarene. Special music and singing will be an added feature of this meeting. A cordial invitation to attend these meetings is extended to all by the pastor.

"We Do Our Part"

MUCH effort is being put forth on every hand to restore what the human mind calls normal times, and many plans are being tried in the endeavor to accomplish this purpose. Wide appeal has been made in the United States for cooperation, and some show their willingness to cooperate by agreeing to certain codes; such are permitted to display a card on which is printed an emblem bearing the words, "We Do Our Part." Those who are permitted to advertise that they are doing their part must closely watch to see that they live up to their declaration.

In considering true cooperative effort in the highest—the spiritual—sense, we must discover where it is we begin to do our part. All the material codes we may subscribe to, and all the declarations we may make, will be of no real value unless we gain the true significance of cooperation. We must get the right idea of cooperation before we can see it manifested outwardly. Thus it is in our consciousness that the first steps to be taken. It is in our individual effort, and each individual must, of necessity, do his part before it can be done collectively.

Are we employees with an exaggerated sense of our true worth, feeling that we are not being properly compensated? Are we harboring a sense of resentment toward our employers, doing our work in a careless manner, giving as little as we can, thinking in this way to measure the amount of work we do by what we get? Or are we cheerfully striving to bring out the highest sense of service by putting forth our best efforts to give and do the very best we can, happy in the thought that we are loyally and lovingly cooperating with those with whom we are working, constantly finding fault with their work, and holding them in bondage to the fear of losing their positions? Are we thinking that these policies will make more profits for ourselves and more dividends for the stockholders?

Or are we striving to bring out the highest concept of an employer, and realizing that loving consideration of all is the first step toward producing harmonious cooperation? Honest and just compensation is not only essential, but mandatory; for did not the master Christian tell us that "the laborer is worthy of his hire"? Are we as considerate of the one doing the most menial work as we are of the highest salaried executive, knowing that, according to God's plan, each idea, being in its right place and expressing right activity, is entitled to the same loving consideration? Are we practicing the Golden Rule and loving our neighbors as ourselves? This is a great work, and in order to accomplish it, it is necessary that we be constantly on guard against the enemy, who, through aggressive suggestion, would divert us from our high purpose. Who is this enemy? Thoughts of disobedience, dishonesty, deception, disloyalty, selfishness, greed, envy, jealousy, resentment, hatred, which rob us of our ability to do our part. . . . The Bible records an occasion when a great work of restoration was going on, and the enemy conspired against it, and we read, "Nevertheless we made our prayer unto our God, and set a watch against them day and night, because of them." And when the enemy found they had been discovered, they tried through subtle suggestions to stop the work. But Nehemiah, always on guard, went further, "And I sent messengers unto them, saying, I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down; why should the work cease, whilst I leave it, and come down to you?" We must follow Nehemiah's example and set a watch day and night. We must not come down to the level of erroneous thoughts and leave the work we have set ourselves to do.

Restoration of work begins with the realization that God's creation is already perfect and complete. Nothing can ever change this one perfect creation, for we read in Genesis, "God saw every thing that he had made, and behold, it was very good." It is a false concept of creation, a fabrication of the human mind, which produces limitation, poverty, depression, and world-wide discordant conditions.

On page 340 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," the textbook of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy tells us in the following words how the true understanding of God restores harmony: "One infinite God, good, unifies men and nations; constitutes the brotherhood of man; ends wars; fulfills the Scripture, 'Love thy neighbor as thyself'; annihilates pagan and Christian idolatry, whatever is wrong in social, civil, criminal, political, and religious codes; equalizes the sexes; annuls the curse on man, and leaves nothing that can sin, suffer, be punished or destroyed." —The Christian Science Monitor.

Oil Industry Is Growing in State

Will the petroleum industry in Michigan continue to grow? Will the tide of oil continue to increase? "We believe they will," said Dr. R. B. Newcombe of the Geology Division, Department of Conservation, in a recent speech.

"Drilling activity is now at a high pitch with 115 operations underway in 26 counties. In one week recently 10 wells were completed and permits were taken out for an equal number of new wells.

"Many of the 'wildcat' wells being drilled are on what is considered geologically as favorable prospects. Much is being learned about the geology of the state and much has yet to be learned but the handwriting on the wall is that a move or less a continuous succession of new oil pools will be discovered in the future and that the tide of oil risen thus far will continue to rise in the years that are to come."

The petroleum industry in Michigan grew like Topsy "grewed," Newcombe said.

Tracing the development of the industry, Newcombe related that until 1930 annual production amounted to about 1,500 barrels and that about 1,500 barrels were obtained at Saginaw in 1913 and 1914. Other showings of oil were found in drillings for salt which came as an indirect result of the lumbering industry. The first substantial oil production was in 1925 and after that production increased until 1930 when it fell off several hundred thousand barrels, but it continued to rise again and the 1934 production will probably exceed ten and a half million barrels, Newcombe said.

The New Leaf

By CHARLES F. WADSWORTH

KENTON MARSAYE sat in a big red leather chair in his club looking over the evening paper.

As he finished and folded it up to replace on the table, his eye caught the cartoon on the front page. It was of a little figure representing the New Year turning a leaf of a big book. At the top of the page was "January 1," and the rest of the page was blank except for a question mark in the center.

Marsaye looked at it momentarily and tossed the paper aside.

"A new leaf!" he said to himself contemptuously. "Hoody!"

Walking to the window, he looked down upon the street. He seemed restless. To friends who spoke to him and wished him a happy New Year he returned an unenthusiastic reply—almost casual.

Seating himself, again he took up the paper and noted the cartoon. The paper lay across his knee as he sank into a thoughtful mood.

THIS AND THAT

A worm is the ultimate consumer—and vice versa. Don't force a man into a promise—he'll break it. Act like a sheep and you will be eaten for mutton. Most of the maxims don't seem to suit your case. The handwriting on the wall is Greek to most of us. A rolling stone gathers no moss and a mossback nothing else. Life is an uphill road, but that's better than a downhill road. So long as rulers talk in vainglorious bifalutau, wars will result. A lie crushed to the earth will rise again and you never know when. Saving for a rainy day is difficult when it seems to be a rainy season. You are never really victorious over an enemy until you have made him a friend. Writers frequently develop writers' cramp, but talkers sometimes fail to develop any kind. One of the trials of life is the occasional necessity of being polite to a ruffianly person. Take war out of written history and very little remains; yet the most of life is not war. If an old man looks distinguished in the kind of clothes he wears, he doesn't need to be in style. Men who look important but aren't may be lacking in initiative, often another name for courage. Larrup the children if you insist on it; but don't complain of the opinion the children may have. The reason why "something just as good" is offered may be because the original is no good, anyway.

All Right With Him

Things popped into his mind. There was LaLand, his bookkeeper, whom he had criticized caustically the morning he was late last week. LaLand had taken the censure without a word, but Marsaye had learned later that LaLand's wife had been ill and it had been necessary for him to be at home for a while. But LaLand had not been given a chance to explain. Ought to have done so, I suppose.

Then there was Mrs. Mellig, who cleaned his office. He had bawled her out for a seeming neglect. She had meekly taken the abuse. Now Marsaye knew that she had had neuritis in her arm and it had been painful to her to do as well as she had. Funny how things are sometimes, and a fellow not know anything about it!

The time Miss Haseltine, with tears in her eyes, had asked to go home, after he had upbraided her for mistakes necessitating the re-writing of several letters, he had thought a streak of carelessness which he could not tolerate. He had
