How An Important Advertising Firm Views Newspapers

The following unsolicited letter from one of the largest and best advertising firms in the United States shows clearly how The Ledger and legitimate newspapers in general are valued and appreciated as advertising media:

"Mac," bird dog owned by Dr. E. D. McQueen, has an unfeeling habit to keep himself in training. Coming downtown in the morning at the heels of Bruce A. McQueen, "Mac" stops at the Ledger office, changes his gait, sneaks cautiously thirty feet, and peeks around the corner, in the hope of catching a King Milling Company pigeon napping on the ground.

The annual village election occurs Monday, Mar. 9. Now is the time to look after your registration with both the village and township clerks. Many voters have found to their surprise that they are not registered.

It now appears that the burning of the Runciman warehouse at Lake City last week was a most serious affair that at first rendered 7,000 bushels of potatoes which burned up a quantity of a non-fattening variety.

Five hundred persons attending the annual banquet of the historic Gridley Republican Club on Monday night were treated to some typical Lowell Showboat entertainment by a quartet consisting of Frank P. McGowan, Royden Warner, C. H. Runciman and Walter Kropf.

I wish to announce to the voters of the Township of Vergennes that I will be a candidate for Township Treasurer at the Republican caucus to be held in March. Your support will be greatly appreciated.

I wish to announce that I will be a candidate for the nomination for the office of Township Treasurer at the coming Republican caucus for said township. Your support will be appreciated.

U. P. TAXATION PROBLEMS TOLD BY MCPHERSON

Melville B. McPherson, chairman of the state tax commission, was saluted as a future governor of Michigan in his introduction by Wilbur V. Burras before Lowell Rotarians Wednesday noon at Richmond's Cafe.

He spoke of the 1911 ore appraisals by the Finley formula, to determine for tax purposes the extent and value of the mines. The surveys raised such valuations from 19 to 100 millions of dollars. The formula achieves mathematical and scientific results, tempered by a minor element of free calculation according to probabilities.

Mine Operators Show Human Interest

Michigan's white-tailed deer herd may be subjected this winter to the most severe winter's state game men fear. The normally trying period for deer in Michigan's north woods, which usually exists from mid-February until early spring, has been intensified this winter by heavy snows. The quest for food, especially in the north woods, has been reduced or depleted by continued browsing, may be more exacting as a consequence.

Michigan Steel Leader

He predicted increasing centralization of the iron and steel industry in Michigan because the corporations receive fairer treatment from our state government and are not hampered by labor troubles such as have prevailed in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and to a lesser extent, in Illinois.

The speaker referred to Ford's two mines, and the Memorial Day custom at the Blueberry mine near Ishpeming of strewing flowers over the lake created when the mine flooded and drowned 52 men.

The days of virgin copper are definitely ended. Houghton copper is too expensive to mine. But Michigan copper with its high heat resistance is needed for automobile radiators.

That the corporations are sometimes as heartless as demagogues would have us believe was affirmed by the speaker, citing a large company which has liquidated and spent to maintain employment twelve-and-one-half million dollars in bonds which had been placed in a vault in 1927 as a cash reserve.

At the same time this company shut down its reclamation plant, producing large quantities of ore at small labor costs.

UNSATURATED TVA PROBLEMS
A NEARLY unanimous decision of the United States Supreme court is always welcomed. It clarifies the law of the land, and points out what the government can and what it cannot do. The recent decision sustaining the activities of the government in distributing power from the Wilson dam on the Tennessee river, is to be welcomed.

It has established the right of the government to sell surplus power from the Wilson dam, which was built for war purposes. But what the government cannot do is to sell surplus power for profit. The government cannot sell surplus power for profit. The government cannot sell surplus power for profit.

A PINCH ON THE LEG
TREMENDOUS ROOSEVELT was to be re-nominated for governor of New York, because it was thought that the gains to be made are so great and so probable. The Roosevelt campaign is a case of the Roosevelt campaign.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS
People used to say they didn't like to live in "one horse town." Trouble was and still is in many cases, that all the other towns are better than any one town.

THE SIGNIFICANT
IT IS SIGNIFICANT that authoritatative of the Townsendsendism refer to the movement as a "revolution." We consider the word to be properly used.

FLAME IN THE FOREST HAROLD TITUS

CHAPTER I.—Jerry Young, a lad of seven, is prepared to face the burning lumber camp...

CHAPTER II.—In a St. Paul office Jerry now in a mood, and an expert woodman, learns of the death of Kerry...

CHAPTER III.—The sun had climbed from the horizon and the air was screened its rising...

"Kid, I'll bet, 'T'p' he muttered. Stare enough. A little 'little girl' a boy answered excitedly...

"I don't know what you game was, but when a stranger in this country makes a play like that with a man like Tod—well, he won't get it."

"Yes, a job. You know how it is, I guess? I've got to get stuck with a white, and when I'm in one place I don't just bicker to get out."

"You see, she explained, 'These prospects of ours are the sort who will want to know, down to the last cent, what you are doing for them...'" placed his great palms across the lower ribs and pressed firmly...

"The impact of his body on the stream made a mighty splash. He came up immediately, shaking his head and clearing water...

"He had been dived, and this time he was dived in a cage. Each of his eyes was in the depths as he drifted into it. He rose quickly and swam his head to get back into the water...

"He had just started the program, but he had it held in his hand on the small back and turned his head, intently watching for what he had thought he felt to come again..."

Other guests were Mr. Wingeier, Mrs. Fred Blaser, Miss Louise Blaser, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wingeier, Mrs. Gerald Clark and little son and Mrs. Gus Wingeier and Mrs. Glen Adgate of Saranac. Everyone enjoyed the fine dinner and entertainment and the guest of honor was presented with many fine gifts.

Guests at this party were Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Oatley, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Roth, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gramer and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wingeier. #### Woman's Club

The Lowell Woman's Club met on Feb. 19 at the home of Mrs. F. E. Coons, with Mrs. Margaret Howell as chairman. The first number on the program was presented by Miss Charlotte White who played two piano solos; a paper on the "Reciprocity Treaty with Canada" was then read by Mrs. Chas. Doyle. The following are a few items from the paper: In 1854 the United States and Canada had a trade agreement which lasted twelve years, being ended by the United States. Negotiations were again opened in 1934 and went into effect on Jan. 1, 1936. Canada is the second largest consumer of U. S. products, and the U. S. is the same in regard to Canada.

Duties have been reduced one-half on most farm implements which greatly benefits labor in this country. Reduction in tariff has been made on fifteen manufactured products imported from Canada. Miss Virginia Doyle gave two piano solos; two members of the high school club, Madeline Kyser and Barbara Fletcher sang charmingly, harmonizing two popular songs, accompanied by Miss Helen Frost; concluding the program Ruth Houseman played two violin solos, accompanied by Mr. Bruce Walter at the piano.

The club adjourned to meet on March 4 at the home of Mrs. Harvey Coons. This will be an open day to which the friends of the club are cordially invited.

Mrs. M. Houseman, Rep.

U. P. TAXATION

He contrasted the lack of a sense of public obligation and responsibility manifested by the mining corporations operated near Iron Mountain, a town of 13,000, which now has no industry of consequence excepting the Ford plant manufacturing chemicals at nearby Kingsford.

The Ford Motor Company owns a half-million acres of upper peninsula timberland. Ford officials expect higher assessments on company property, do not question any valuation within reason, but do question the use made of money raised by these levies, Mr. McPherson said.

A visit to the big Cleveland foundries was described.

Fiction and Fact

The novel, "The Iron Will," which recently concluded serial publication in the Saturday evening Post, was based upon an actual Minnesota law suit argued not more than two years ago. Mr. McPherson declared. The characters are all drawn from life, the hero, made forty years younger, being Prof. Lake of the University of Wisconsin, who made a mine appraisal for the Michigan Tax Commission twenty years ago.

As a consequence of the situation giving birth to the law suit and novel, the Inland Steel Company moved from Minnesota to Michigan, purchasing sixty-acre tracts of limestone deposits for use in the blast furnaces, and causing a squabble between three townships over the right to tax the electric locomotives operated between the quarries. Chas. D. Dawson, the old rule of taxing railroad rolling stock at the location of the roundhouse, which was impracticable, the commission prorated the value of the engines divided by the mileage they covered.

Tax Survey Planned

Tax problems of the upper peninsula, a vast empire populated by only about 60,000 more persons than dwell in Kent Co., Michigan, are being studied by the Michigan Tax Commission, which is extending south from a line between Muskegon and Bay City, must continue to assume a considerable portion of the highway, school, and welfare costs of the upper peninsula, he said.

As chairman of the state planning commission, Mr. McPherson proposes to present a comprehensive impartial survey of this problem before the 1937 legislative session. He stressed greater operation in meeting tax questions between the upper peninsula and the balance of the state.

Among those who heard Mr. McPherson as guests of Lowell Rotary were E. I. Adams and Dorsey Hager of the Michigan Exploration Company; Dr. R. B. Newcomb of Mount Pleasant, vice-president of the Associated Petroleum Company; Fred Klumper and John Nait of Zealand; and Stanley Beach, Harold Englehardt, Gerald Henry, B. H. Dolan, M. P. Schneider and Norman E. Borgersor of Lowell.

February birthdays of John Hilderley, George Herald, W. W. Gums, and Dr. John K. Altland were celebrated with cakes and a quartet rendition.

The March Program Chairman was announced as Lee Lampkin.

POTASSIUM IODIDE FOR THE LIVESTOCK

Doses of potassium iodide in livestock rations recommended by the animal husbandry department, Michigan State College, to prevent losses from goitre in lambing, farrowing and foaling time include the following:

Swine: Dissolve one ounce of potassium iodide in a quart of water and give one ounce of this solution as a daily dose for ten brood sows; brood mares in foal, one ounce of this solution fed weekly on the grain; sheep and beef cattle, two ounces of potassium iodide to each 100 pounds of salt or a mixture of bone meal and salt kept before the animals.

BIRTHS

To Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynolds of Flint, (Alpha Markle), an 11 lb. son, Darrel Wayne, on Feb. 21. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds are former Lowellites who have lived in Flint for the past ten years where Mr. Reynolds is employed by the General Motors Company.

CARD OF THANKS

The family and friends of Jake Staal extend sincere thanks to Keene Township Supervisor Louis Cahoon, and the road commissions of Kent and Ionia counties for breaking a road to the residence, making it possible for Mr. Staal to receive medical attention for the first time in three weeks.

Are you aware of the fact that women own 65%, or $14,000,000,000 of the country's savings deposits? They also own 44% of the public utility stocks, 48% of the railroad securities, and 40% of all real estate.

Back when the pioneers were building the foundation for modern Michigan, there were prohibitionists—and there were Indians who wanted firewater. Mrs. Gideon Cross of Owosso was one of the earliest campaigners against sale of liquor to the redskins, and being a prohibitionist in those days was no task for a woman. Mrs. Cross left behind her the story of a squaw who resented the war against liquor. She waited her chance. It came. Her baby got smallpox. Carrying her papoose, she stole into Mrs. Cross' cabin, and there she laid her sick infant beside Mrs. Cross' baby, hoping that it would contract smallpox, too—a revenge with babies. The end of the story? No, the Cross baby didn't get sick.
