

From Grand River Comes Best Grade Of Pearl Buttons

Local Factory Output 700 Lbs. Weekly

A local industry which has flourished for almost two years, and about which little is known generally is the pearl button factory on South Monroe St., operated by Gus Libby and associates.

Consuming about a ton of clams weekly, the factory produces 210,000 buttons, almost as fast as the laundries can tear them off. The weekly output weighs 700 pounds, the balance being waste shell.

The pearl button business originated in Iowa some 47 years ago, Mr. Libby states. Previously but, were rare and costly. Clothing was supported principally by pegs of lace. About 22 years ago, the button business was introduced into Michigan and found fertile ground along Grand River.

Shells from this stream are graded among the best, for button manufacture, ornamentation, and other purpose. Particularly prized is the Grand River market shell, now becoming scarce. Other valuable species are the three ridge and pink toe.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

Sleeping partners do not help a business to win success, and sleeping citizens find their home towns getting in bad before they know it.

It is usually hard to induce new industries to move into a town, but it should always be possible to do something which accomplishes as much, which is to persuade the people to spend their money at home.

Council Declines To Cut Local Tax On Gas Pumps

Proposal Loses After Much Argument

The usual grist of diversified matters passed through the mill of the village council last Tuesday evening, the scheduled bi-monthly meeting having been postponed from Monday.

A copy of the local ordinance regulating the trucking into Lowell of fruits and vegetables was requested by Knappen, Uhl, Bryant and Smith.

A petition signed by about 50 citizens asking for a sidewalk on the west side of Lafayette street from the central school grounds to Main street was received and placed on file.

A bill of $30, allegedly for services rendered, submitted by the Michigan Municipal League, was rejected. Payment of an account of $25 for canvas gloves used on a WPA project was held up pending an investigation.

Permits Granted; Tabled

In the matter of building permits the council authorized the construction of a garage on Riverside Drive, upon application of Mrs. Gladys Kropf; while it tabled for non-compliance with the ordinance governing structures in the business district fire zone the request of Clayton Malory for permission to construct a gas station and garage at the southeast corner of Monroe Avenue and East Main Street.

Tax Repeal Beaten

If the people of this community hear a wild shriek emanating from the depths of the J. E. Now more than a mile into the bowels of the earth, the drill daily draws nearer to China.

Beautiful Park Is Suitable Adjunct To New Reservoir

Lowell Water System Now Among Best

A three-quarter-mile ski slide, from the new WPA reservoir under Peck's hill to the Baptist church is being provided for in the final operating plan at Reservoir Park. The slide, which is the original suggestion of Engineer Albert Roth, may be the nucleus of a future winter sports tournament here.

A flapole has been installed above the modernistic concrete control house surmounting the reservoir, which is being sited over, as is the area just west, occupied by the old reservoir, to provide a beautiful park, with drinking fountains and benches, surrounded on three sides by forest, and affording the most magnificent view available of Flat and Grand River valleys.

The setting will be further enhanced by vistas cut through the trees. In a covered concrete well will be the special pump and motor for the sprinkler system, automatically controlled from the Lowell Light & Power Company offices downtown.

The sprinkler system has been piped through the park, and a pipe underdrilling for the sod is being hauled.

Attractive as it is, the park is more or less merely an ornamental adjunct of one of the most modern and completely equipped municipal water systems in the middle west.

The special pump and control will enable the operator, standing in the Light & Power Company offices to tell the amount of water in the reservoir on the hill, to start and stop the pumps, and to talk over the same wire, directly by pulling switches.

Fire hydrants, an adequate supply for a holoocaust sweeping the town is provided by the thirty-horsepower booster pump at the foot of reservoir hill. Automatically controlled, this pump will bring water pressure up to 110 pounds in an emergency.

The supply of pure spring water in the hillside wells at the north village limits is apparently inexhaustible. Eight hundred gallons a minute have been pumped from the wells for forty-eight hours continuously, without lowering levels materially.

Four switch-over pumps guarantee an ample water supply constantly in the five hundred thousand gallon capacity reservoir. For beauty of setting and well-kept grounds, the new water station beside Flat River, backed by hills, is certain to run the new Reservoir Park a close second. The trimmed front lawn is dotted with spirea bushes and bowers beds. At one side extend rows of row, the five thousand baby pines planted by the American Legion to form Veterans' Memorial Park. On the other winds the river. In a few weeks, with the hills crimsoning into autumn, the scene will be literally indescribable.

Democratic Rally Here Sat. Evening

There will be a Democratic rally at the Lowell city hall at 8:00 p. m. Saturday, Sept. 12. Hon. Joseph M. Donnelly, U. S. District Attorney, gives the key note address. Thos. F. This will be the opening gun in the campaign for the re-election of President Roosevelt, and a good turnout is expected.

A state conservation officer was notified and they were taken to Grand Rapids for appearance in juvenile court.

Hospital on Wheels

This "hospital" Car 99 is fascinating. It is one of the finest cars, structurally, on the four Ringling trains. It is painted, like the others, a true Pullman green, with the name of the show "Pullman" generally appears. The car is of standard length, 70 to 72 feet, usual for both sleepers and circus cars of all types.

Complete Medical Service

On one side of the entry, inside the car, is a wash room and shower bath. The adjacent operating and treatment room, small but well equipped, has the usual table, sterilizers, instrument cases and even an infrared treatment lamp, with which some dozen or more treatments are given a day, for sprains and sore muscles are inescapable in circusland's program of feats of skill and daring.

Down the car is a corridor at the side. In the wards the passage is at the foot of the beds, which are placed across the car. Between the operating room and the wards is the doctor's stateroom.

The three wards have three, two and three modern hospital beds respectively. Special "radiants" make it possible to raise the heads of the beds and make various other adjustments as in any good hospital. Each patient has an individual locker, chart board and push button for service.

Next to the wards, at the other end of the car, comes the kitchen, planned like that in a modern city apartment. The nurses' boudoir is at this end of the car.

Overhead are tanks holding some 450 gallons of water, which is changed daily. Lighting is by electricity. Electric fans are supplied at strategic points, assuring, with the doors and windows, satisfactory ventilation. Heating is by portable oil stoves; coolness, not warmth, is the usual problem in a circus car.

The pleasing decorative scheme is aluminum gray and purple. The wall color is aluminum. All curtains for windows and cubicles are purple. The cubicle curtains, as in a modern hospital ward, are suspended from metal frames that make it possible to give each bed all the privacy that is needed.

To quote the August "Hygeia" magazine, from which the bulk of this article is taken (Health and the Circus):

"The Florence Nightingale" throughout, leaves you with the impression of its simplicity, practicality, and thorough planning."

And when the circus comes to town, the friends of Dr. Bergin, and they are many, are welcome to inspect the unique institution over which he presides.

Invisible Taxes

"We cannot buy a stitch of clothing without the government's taking in taxes a part of the money we pay out. We cannot buy an ounce of food at our grocery store without being taxed to support the government. We cannot go to a movie, or to a baseball game, or ride in an automobile without this invisible tax arm of government reaching out and taking a part of the money we spend."—All M. ### Mrs. Emma Greene Honored

The annual meeting of the M. E. L. A. S. took place Friday afternoon at Belding. After the monthly routine of business and the annual reports a reception was given Mrs. Emma Greene, who has served the society as president for a quarter of a century with the exception of three intervening years. Many beautiful flowers were presented her and Mrs. Chas. Doyle sang a poem, "The M. E. Aid," composed by Mrs. N. L. Coons for the occasion, all joining on the chorus to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia." Mrs. E. S. White read a poem on "Flowers," also written by Mrs. Coons.

Rev. Miller made some very fine remarks concerning the work of the president, who responded by saying that she had always had the cooperation of each member of the society thus making it possible to attain success.

Following the reception the election of officers took place with the following result: President, Mrs. Chas. Doyle; 1st vice president, Mrs. F. F. Coons; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Will Kerekes; treasurer, Mrs. C. O. Lawrence; recording secretary, Mrs. Ernest Roth; financial secretary, Mrs. Carl Munroe. Although all were loth to have Mrs. Greene vacate the chair, at the same time, the whole society joyfully welcomed Mrs. Doyle as their new leader.

Colby-Paul

An outstanding social event of the season was the marriage of Marion D. Colby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl V. Colby of Alto, to Ernest Jack Paul of Atlanta, son of Mrs. G. M. Thorndike of Alto, on Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents.

The service was read by Rev. William E. Beckett of Shelby. Banks of beautiful flowers formed an improvised altar before which the couple stood. Music was furnished by Miss Bernice Yelter, cousin of the bride.

The bride was lovely in wine velvet, wearing a corsage of roses and swansonia.

Immediately following the ceremony a luncheon was served, after which the happy young couple left for the north.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Phillips and son Richard of Johannesburg and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Doty of Atlanta.

Mrs. Paul is one of the popular young ladies of Alto. After graduating from Lowell high school she was employed by the Farmers State Bank of Alto where she worked until her marriage. She will be greatly missed by the entire community as she was very active in church as teacher in the primary department, also one of the church choir and loved by everyone who was honored by her acquaintance. Mr. Paul is cashier of the Lewiston-Atlanta Bank and is one of the most prominent young business men in his community.

We cannot override the fundamental facts of life. Our forebears were often burdened with trees; we are now burdened with drought for lack of them. Let us assume our burden and plant trees, restore sod, cooperate with all our latest facilities for soil restoration and we well know we are free from many of the burdens our forebears suffered from. Individuality, since life began, has ever grown, and our great Republic needs the big, able, kindly and tolerant individual as never before. It must be our watchword that, as our social life rises, becoming more intricate each year, just so our individual life broadens and we carry with us joyfully more responsibilities. There must be no confusion here, or socialism, dictatorship, even parasitism, will ride on our backs by our own invitation. It is hard work to grow individualism as needed, but the job must not be shirked. We must not dream we can grow socially one bit faster than we grow in individuality.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS

ONE OF THE singular things about the way the American people run their government, is that in most of the states they pay relatively little attention to the primary elections, where candidates for office are nominated by the several political parties.

Probably in the average state, the number of people who vote at the elections is double the number who vote at the primaries. Yet the primary is apt to be the place where the real issue is decided. If a political party makes a strong nomination at the primaries, it is likely to win. If it makes a poor nomination, it is apt to lose.

If the American people want to decide what taxes they shall pay and who shall hold office, they must go to these primaries, and vote for the best nominees. Intelligent and conscientious folks often stay away from these primaries, arguing that they are usually cut and dried, and their results fixed up in advance. The reason why the results are frequently assured in advance, is that so many good folks stay away from the primaries. The people who have axes to grind and special favors to ask contrary to public interest, are all there and ready to vote. If there is only a small vote, these elements are looking out for their own interests frequently control the nominations.

The American people complain bitterly over high taxes, inefficient and frequently corrupt government. And of course, many of them are too indolent or absorbed in other things, to get out to primary elections and help competent people in office. Why wonder that many things go wrong?

WHAT SEPTEMBER SAYS

EVERY MONTH speaks its own language. It conveys thoughts to human life. September, with its invigorating air, says it is time for man to quit his languid ways and walk and labor with a spring in his step and his touch.

Still more, September is a month of fruition. Waving fields of grain, rich color of fruits, and the time has come to reap the reward of labor. The industrious gardener sees his bins filled with luscious fruits and vegetables.

Unfortunate farmers in the drought states have seen honest toil beaten by the titanic sun and storms of dust. Yet as a whole September brings a ripe fruition for those who have stressed and striven. It is a kind of object lesson that toll in the long run does not go unrewarded.

HONORABLE SERVICE

HON. CARL E. MAPES of Grand Rapids, congressman from the fifth district, is a candidate for renomination on the Republican ticket in next Tuesday's primary election. Mr. Mapes will have two opponents, Howard N. Jacobson and George Veldman, both of Grand Rapids. There is every reason to believe that Congressman Mapes again will receive a splendid endorsement from the voters in this section of his district. No man in public life stands in higher esteem than Mr. Mapes, a feeling that is held even by those who disagree with him politically. His honorable record and his conscientious devotion to duty entitle him to renomination and reelection.

Odds and Ends

In Kent County 831 loans were closed in the amount of $1,563,819 by the Federal Land Bank and the Land Bank Commissioner, from May 1, 1933 through June 30, 1936.

Deaths from traffic accidents were 3 per cent fewer during the first half of this year than in the corresponding period last year. A total of 13,300 fatalities from such accidents have been reported by the National Safety Council.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Eugene B. Elliott, announced recently the first installment of primary school interest money this year will amount to $10,766,500. It will provide an average of $7.70 for each census child.

Broadcasts of all National Football league games in which the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions participate will be sponsored by Standard Oil Company of Indiana this fall. The Bears games will go on the air over WGN, Chicago, with Bob Elson, veteran sports announcer, describing the play. The Lions games will be carried by station CKLW, Detroit-Windsor.

As a service to deer hunters who are planning trips into new and strange country this fall, the lands division of the department of conservation, Lansing, has available maps of many northern counties showing the roads, streams and lakes. These maps will be sent on request at a fee covering part of the cost of publication and mailing, ranging from 50c to $2.50.

Approximately 50,000 acres of northern forest lands had been burned over by the 2,300 forest fires which had occurred in Michigan up to Sept. 1. The upper peninsula, not including Isle Royale where the national park service is in charge of fire suppression, had 1,000 fires which burned over approximately 35,000 acres. In the lower peninsula, 14,000 acres burned over.

The average person committing suicide in Michigan is a male, 49 years of age, who uses firearms to perform the act, with hanging as his second choice, and economic conditions have a very definite influence over his action. This was revealed by a search of the vital records of the Michigan Department of Health covering a period of twenty years, during which time 11,676 persons committed suicide.

Beautiful Park Is Suitable Adjunct To New Reservoir Lowell Water System Now Among Best

A three-quarter-mile ski slide, from the new WPA reservoir down Peck's Hill to the Baptist church is being provided for in the final grading operations at Reservoir Park. The slide, which is the original suggestion of Engineer Albert Roth, may be the nucleus of a future winter sports tournament here.

A flagpole has been installed above the modernistic concrete control house surmounting the reservoir, which is being soddled over, as is the area just west, occupied by the old reservoir, to provide a beautiful small park, with a fountain and benches, surrounded by trees, and affording the most magnificent view available of Flat and Grand River valleys. The setting will be further enhanced by vistas cut through the trees.

A covered concrete well will be the special pump and motor for the sprinkler system, automatically controlled from the Lowell Light & Power Company offices downtown.

The sprinkler system has been piped through the park, and a clay underdrilling for the sod is being hauled.

Attractive as it is, the park is more or less merely an ornamental adjunct of one of the most modern and completely equipped municipal water systems in the middle west.

A complex automatic control will enable the operator, standing in the Light & Power Company offices to tell the amount of water in the reservoir on the hill, to start and stop the pumps, and to talk over the same wire, simply by pulling switches.

Fire protection more than adequate for a holocaust sweeping the town is provided by the thirty-horsepower booster pump at the foot of the reservoir hill. Automatically controlled, this pump will bring water pressure up to 110 pounds in an emergency.

The supply of pure spring water in the hillside wells at the Reservoir Park is apparently inexhaustible. Eight hundred gallons a minute have been pumped from the wells for forty-eight hours continuously, without lowering levels materially.

Four switch-over pumps guarantee ample water supply constantly in the five hundred thousand gallon capacity reservoir.

For beauty of setting and well-kept attractiveness, the pumper station beside Flat River, backed by hills, is certain to run the Reservoir Park a close second. The trimmed front lawn is dotted with spirea bushes and bower beds. At one side extend, row on row, the five thousand baby pines planted by the American Legion to form Veterans' Memorial Park. On the other winds the river. In a few weeks, with the hills crimsoning into autumn, the scene will be literally indescribable.

Democratic Rally Here Sat. Evening

There will be a Democratic rally at the Lowell city hall at 8:00 p. m. Saturday, Sept. 12. Hon. Joseph M. Donnelly, U. S. District Attorney, gives the key note address. Thos. F. McAllister, candidate for congress; Herman J. Wierenga, candidate for representative in State Legislature, and several Kent County Democratic candidates will be with us. This will be the opening gun in the campaign for the re-election of President Roosevelt, and a good turnout is expected.

Juveniles Detained For Stoning Ducks

Visions of a duck dinner turned into "duck soup" for four Grand Rapids boys who were taken into custody Wednesday morning for investigation following the stoning of several ducks belonging to the King Milling Company flock. The boys, around 14 to 16 years of age, had been camping in Recreation Park since last Saturday. A state conservation officer was notified and they were taken to Grand Rapids for appearance in juvenile court. Doubtless the boys failed to realize the seriousness of their offense, wild food coming under the protection of both state and federal laws.

Council Declines To Cut Local Tax On Gas Pumps Proposal Loses After Much Argument

The usual grist of diversified matters passed through the mill of the village council last Tuesday evening, the scheduled bi-monthly meeting having been postponed from Monday.

Trustee Chas. W. Cook, chairman of the streets and sewer committee, was empowered to purchase a sludge pump to dredge out the four municipal septic tanks along Flat River. The apparatus secured in compliance with state law, is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $500. It will be operated by a three-horse power electric motor. Lowell Light & Power Company employees, under direction of Supr. F. J. McMahon, began stringing wire extensions for the motor on Wednesday morning.

A copy of the local ordinance regulating the trucking into Lowell of fruits and vegetables was requested by Knappen, Ul, chairman of the streets and sewer committee, from the Central Rapids law firm. Clerk L. E. Johnson was instructed to comply with the request.

A petition signed by about 50 citizens asking for a sidewalk on the west side of Lafayette street from the Central Rapids law firm, Clerk L. E. Johnson was instructed to comply with the request.

A bill of $30, allegedly for services rendered, submitted by the Michigan Municipal League, was rejected. Payment of an account of $25 for canvas gloves used on a WPA project was held up pending an investigation.

Permits Granted, Tabled In the matter of building permits the council authorized the construction of a residence on Riverside Drive, upon application of Mrs. Gladys Kropf; while it tabled for non-compliance with the ordinance governing structures in the business district fire zone the request of Clayton Mallory for permission to construct a gas station and garage at the southeast corner of Monroe Avenue and East Main Street.

The council authorized removal to the pumping station of a frame structure acquired in the purchase of the Schaefer property, and since utilized for office space and storage in the WPA reservoir project, now virtually completed. The building will supply needed storage room at the pumping station, where sixty-five feet of corroded iron pipe recently disappeared, paralleling the bizarre theft of two tons of manhole covers from an eastern city; and the gradual dismantling and hauling away of locomotive near Big Rapids, Mich.

Hospital On Wheels Is Interesting Feature of Great Circus Caravan

Imagine, if you can, a community as large as Lowell traveling in a single caravan from mid-April to mid-November, some 15,000 miles, north, east, south and west, in jumps varying from 14 to 284 miles. Visualize further, a hospital on wheels serving this traveling community of all classes and big top social castes of upwards of 1,000 persons, and you have the "Florence Nightingale," No. 99, the new hospital car, "The Greatest Show on Earth," to which the medical director of Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus, being an ultraloyal Lowellite, might append the postscript: "Excepting the Lowell Showboat."

Dr. J. H. Bergin in Charge The guiding genius of the "Florence Nightingale" is Dr. Joseph H. (Mike) Bergin, son of Chris Bergin, brother of Mrs. Art Hill, and a graduate of Lowell high school with the class of 1915. For a period

Hospital on Wheels

This "hospital" car 99 is fascinating. It is one of the finest cars, structurally, on the four Ringling trains. It is painted, like the others, a true Pullman green, with the name of the show in gold letters where the word, "Pullman" generally appears. The car is of standard length, 70 to 72 feet, usual for both sleepers and circus cars of all types.

Complete Medical Service

On one side of the entry, inside the car, is a linen and supply closet. Opposite is a wash room and shower bath. The adjacent operating and treatment room, small but well equipped, has the usual table, sterilizers, instrument cases and even an infra-red treatment lamp with which some dozen or more treatments are given a day, for sprains and sore muscles are inescapable in circusland's program of feats of skill and daring.

Down the car is a corridor at the side. In the wards the passage is at the foot of the beds, which are placed across the car. Between the operating room and the wards is the doctor's stateroom.

The three wards have three two and three modern hospital beds respectively. Special "gadgets" make it possible to raise the heads of the beds and make various other adjustments as in any good hospital. Each patient has an individual locker, chart board and push button for service.

Next to the wards, at the other end of the car, comes the kitchen, planned like that in a modern city apartment. The nurses' boudoir is at this end of the car. Overhead are tanks holding some 450 gallons of water, which is changed daily. Lighting is by electricity. Electric fans are supplied at strategic points, assuring, with the doors and windows, satisfactory ventilation. Heating is by portable oil stoves; coolness, not warmth, is the usual problem in a circus car.

The pleasing decorative scheme is aluminum gray and purple. The wall color is aluminum. All curtains for windows and cubicles are purple. The cubicle curtains, as in a modern hospital ward, are suspended from metal frames that make it possible to give each bed all the privacy that is needed.

To quote the August "Hygeia" magazine, from which the bulk of this article is taken (Health and the Circus):

"The 'Florence Nightingale' throughout, leaves you with the impression of its simplicity, practicability, and thorough planning."

And when the circus comes to town, the friends of Dr. Bergin, and they are many, are welcome to inspect the unique institution over which he presides.

Invisible Taxes

"We cannot buy a stitch of clothing without the government's taking in taxes a part of the money we pay out. We cannot buy an ounce of food at our grocery store without being taxed to support the government. We cannot go to a movie, or to a baseball game, or ride in an automobile without this invisible tax arm of government reaching out and taking a part of the money we spend."—Alf M. Landon at Buffalo, N. Y., August 26, 1936.

Mrs. Emma Greene Honored

The annual meeting of the M. E. L. A. S. took place Friday afternoon Sept. 4. After the monthly routine of business and the annual reports a reception was given Mrs. Emma Greene, who has served the society as president for a quarter of a century with the exception of three intervening years. Many beautiful flowers were presented her and Mrs. Chas. Doyle sang a poem, "The M. E. Aid," composed by Mrs. N. L. Coons for the occasion, all joining on the chorus to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia." Mrs. E. S. White read a poem on "Flowers," also written by Mrs. Coons.

Rev. Miller made some very fine remarks concerning the work of the president, who responded by saying that she had always had the cooperation of each member of the society thus making it possible to attain success.

Following the reception the election of officers took place with the following result: President, Mrs. Chas. Doyle; 1st vice president, Mrs. F. F. Coons; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Will Kerekes; treasurer, Mrs. C. O. Lawrence; recording secretary, Mrs. Ernest Roth; financial secretary, Mrs. Carl Stunee. Although all were loth to have Mrs. Greene vacate the chair, at the same time, the whole society joyfully welcomed Mrs. Doyle as their new leader.

Colby-Paul

An outstanding social event of the season was the marriage of Marion D. Colby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl V. Colby of Alto, to Ernest Jack Paul of Atlanta, son of Mrs. G. M. Thorndike of Alto, on Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents.

The service was read by Rev. William E. Beckett of Shelby. Banks of beautiful flowers formed an improvised altar before which the couple stood. Music was furnished by Miss Bernice Yelzer, cousin of the bride.

The bride was lovely in wine velvet, wearing a corsage of roses and swansonia.

Immediately following the ceremony a luncheon was served, after which the happy young couple left for the north.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Phillips and son Richard of Johannesburg and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Doty of Atlanta.

Mrs. Paul is one of the popular young ladies of Alto. After graduating from Lowell high school she was employed by the Farmers State Bank of Alto where she worked until her marriage. She will be greatly missed by the entire community as she was very active in church as teacher in the primary department, also one of the church choir and loved by everyone who was honored by her acquaintance. BIRTHS

To Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson, a daughter on Wednesday morning.

To Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nead of Lowell, on Sept. 4, at their home, an 8 lb. daughter, Betty Lou.

We cannot override the fundamental facts of life. Our forebears were often burdened with trees; we are now burdened with drought for lack of them. Let us assume our burden and plant trees, restore sod, cooperate with all our latest facilities for soil restoration and we well know we are free from many of the burdens our forebears suffered from. Individually, since life began, has ever grown, and our great Republic needs the big, able, kindly and tolerant individual as never before. It must be our watchword that, as our social life rises, becoming more intricate each year, just so our individual life broadens and we carry with us joyfully more responsibilities. There must be no confusion here, or socialism, dictatorship, even parasitism, will ride on our backs by our own invitation. It is hard work to grow individualism as needed, but the job must not be shirked. We must not dream we can grow socially one bit faster than we grow in individuality.
