Supper Time For Houghton's Twin Colts

Introducing Molly and Mike, the new twin colts that are attracting a great deal of attention at the Frank Houghton farm in Lowell-Tp., near Morse Lake. The two colts were born Saturday, May 8, and were going strong last Saturday when the picture was taken, which was just at supper time as the picture shows. The mother of the colts is a Percheron and their sire a Belgian. At birth Molly weighed 88 pounds while Mike tipped the beam at 120.

Fanciful and Amusing Plot Seen in Operetta, 'Moon Maiden'

The high school operetta, "Moon Maiden," which is to be presented Friday evening, May 21, in the new school auditorium, is an attraction no one, young and old, alike, will want to miss. The plot is very fanciful in that it is centered around a trip to the moon by a group of earthfolk on the airship X. Y. Z. They have many amusing and exciting experiences with the situation becoming quite complicated when the Moon Maiden's magic lamp of romance is stolen. With the result that the romances become so mixed up that no one is in love with the one they should be. But at turns out well when the lamp is found and the magic spell is broken.

Elliott, state superintendent of Public Instruction, and by Mr. John F. Thomas who is well remembered as a former superintendent of schools here and at the present time occupying a high position in the Detroit city school system.

Termite Damage Sign For Repairs

Termites may have given beneficial engineering service to Michigan pioneers by boring through fallen trees and returning them to the soil. Dwellers in cities and subdivisions today have yet to discover anything beneficial in having linoleum, furniture, floors and foundations crumbled by insect workings. The termite worked willingly for the pioneer with the cutting away and removal of most of the trees. Now the pests have moved into the cities of north central and north eastern United States where they work just as enthusiastically. Despradations of termites have not been serious in Michigan farther north than Bay City, but below this point termite damage runs in to untold thousands of dollars.

Along Main St. Board Members To Be Nominated By Petition

With this issue the Lowell Ledger begins its 45th year of publication.

Don't forget the supper meeting of the Board of Trade next Monday evening at 6:30 at City hall. Good speeches and good music.

Stanley Beach and Perry Outman, who are operating a shoe store here, have purchased another store in Belding which they will open the 15th of July.

John Pattison, who works at the Central Garage, is expecting many "blessed events" in the next couple weeks as the King Milling Company ducks are nesting in his specially constructed nests beneath the garage. The ducks are hatching their eggs in old fenders and other auto parts. These modern ducks!

As will be seen by local market quotations in this issue of the Ledger prices have undergone quite a change. As compared with last week, wheat has gone from $1.22 to $1.30, rye from $1.05 to $1.10, corn from $1.15 to $1.25, barley from $1.80 to $2.00, oats from $0.50 to $0.55, corn and oats feed from $2.55 to $2.65, corn meal from $2.80 to $2.90, bran from $2.25 to $2.15 and hogs, dressed, from $12.75 to $14.00, etc.

Bruce McQueen, one of our local leaders in wild life conservation, states that the pheasant eggs which were obtained about three weeks ago from the state game farm near Mason, bid fair to return even a larger yield this year than has resulted from previous efforts, as the eggs came from the state farm this spring in much better condition than formerly. The eggs are being incubated at the Foreman Poultry Farm and the baby pheasants will begin to pop from their shells in a few days.

A Lowellite who had occasion to visit Midland a few days ago says that that town is famous not only because it is the geographical center of Michigan, but that it is also the greatest aspirin manufacturing plant in the world. Seven carloads of aspirin were shipped recently from the Dow Chemical Works there. The town is almost entirely surrounded by chemical wells, the salt brine of which is converted into the various chemicals used in the commercial value. Well, seven carloads of aspirin ought to be able to do something for a good many headaches.

Lowell Rotary Club enjoyed one of its most delightful programs Wednesday noon, the speakers being W. H. Emery, Harry L. Hopkins and Bruce McQueen, who this week are observing the twentieth anniversary of their enlistment in the World War. The speakers told many interesting and humorous incidents in connection with their enlistment in the war and their overseas service. Both Mr. Kropf and Mr. McQueen were members of balloon squadrons and were among the youngest commissioned officers in the service. The speakers were presented by Paul Kellogg, program chairman for the day.

Board Members To Be Nominated By Petition

School Elections Under General Law

The new plan that the Board of Education has adopted for the annual and special elections in the school district provide that candidates for members of the Board shall be nominated by petition. This means that those who intend to enter the race must announce, or their friends must announce, their candidacy in advance of the actual election. The legal provision states that these petitions "shall be filed with the secretary of the Board of Education not less than 15 days nor more than 30 days prior to the date of election. Each petition shall be signed by not less than 50 qualified registered school electors of the district and no elector shall sign the petition for more candidates than are to be elected. The act also provides that the general form of the petition and its form may be obtained from the secretary, F. F. Coons, or Superintendent, W. W. Gummer, or it may be taken from the "General School Laws" of 1936, page 116, section 360. The column of this paper will contain additional information concerning the procedure of the election in the future edition. Every effort will be made to inform the electors of the change in the manner of conducting the annual election, which occurs the second Monday in July.

Softball Players Meet Tonight

All men, young and old, interested in participating in the Softball League at Recreation Park meet this Thursday evening at 6:30 for practice and to sign up. Teams will be determined, schedule drawn up and games will commence next Monday. Don't delay. Be there Thursday night. The registration fee is 25 per player. Any teams from surrounding territories or communities interested in joining this league get in touch with Stanley Beach or W. H. Emery of Lowell.

MOTHPROOF BAGS DEFY FUR-EATERS

Moths may continue to flit gloomily about in closets but they will go hungry if proper precautions are taken in storing furs at home this summer. Garments should be placed in heavy mothproof bags or sealed with gummed paper. Commercial moth preventatives may be placed in the bottom of the bag, but should not touch the garment as they often cause discoloration. Even with these precautions garments should be removed every two weeks and beaten gently on the skin side with a flexible beater to destroy any moth eggs that may be sheltered in the folds.

TO FIND OUT WHETHER WE GOT OUR MANNERS FROM MONKEYS

An article in The American Weekly, with the May 23 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, will point out that scientists of several universities have decided to study the family life of the queer, shy gibbons in their native jungles for new light upon human morals and customs.

Women's Relief Corps Carries On Its Noble Work

The work of the American women in the great war for the preservation of the Union was that of relief—relief on the battle field and in hospitals, for the wounded and sick; relief in homes provided for the wives and children of the soldiers at the front, as well as for the widows and orphans of those who went forth never to return. Soldiers' Aid Societies were organized from New England to the far west, which were, in turn, a great source of supply for the Christian and Sanitary Commissions formed under the patronage of the government for the collection and distribution of hospital and sanitary supplies. Millions of dollars were raised and expended and thousands of lives saved through the direct agency of the patriotic loyal women of the North in the four years of our great struggle. With the disbandment of our armies there followed the dissolution of the Christian and Sanitary Commissions and the formal closing of the busy work-rooms of the Soldiers' Aid Societies.

A decade passed; a financial crisis was on the country; sickness and old wounds, lack of work and bitter disappointment began to make cruel ravages in the veteran ranks. Hundreds of orphans cried for bread; hundreds of women, in widows' weeds, went about the streets seeking work in the name of their soldier husbands, but there was no work. Where then would the veterans turn for help but to the loyal women of America? The Grand Army of the Republic, organized at the close of the war to promote the great principles of Fraternity, Charity, and Loyalty had done their best to aid their unfortunate comrades, but their organization was small in numbers and had no sources of revenue for the steady drains upon their treasury. Then it was that the loyal women answered again, "Here am I," to the call of relief—the men who saved the nation. Almost simultaneously Massachusetts and Ohio took up the line of advance, the former under the name of the Women's Relief Corps. These societies, with several other local auxiliaries and leagues, united in 1883 in a national association at Denver, Colo., under the name of Women's Relief Corps, Auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, which is still going strong. Although the "old vets" and most of the widows have answered the call, by no means has the W. R. C. died. A younger band of loyal women is carrying on. Each year they make the bouquets which decorate the graves of the comrades dead. Each year they ask the aid of the public to help furnish flowers for this purpose, and again this year making the same plea for— You know somewhere on the hills-top of the City that has no pain, They will watch in their beautiful doorway to bid us welcome again; For we must cover them over with beautiful flowers. Cover them over, these heroes of ours. When the Maytime comes around, we will come with hearts so fond and true. To place our flowers above the breasts of our dear Boys who wore the blue. For every year they're marching slower; Every year they're bending lower; Every year the lifting music stirs the hearts of older men; Every year the flags above them seem to bend and bias and love them. As if they're grieving for the future and had no sources of revenue for the steady drains upon their treasury. —Contributed

Garden Lore Club

On Tuesday, May 11, the members of the Garden Club were invited to visit the gardens of Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Votey near Ada. About forty ladies accepted and enjoyed the wonderful display of daffodils, growing row on row in field and shady dell, on hillside and sheltered nooks.

There were patches of grape hyacinths of adorable blue, sprinkled among the daffodils and narcissus. There was the primrose path, carefully followed which led down a hillside, covered with wild flowers, to Honey Creek which has a waterwheel in it to supply the garden with water.

Mrs. Votey said she had had some hard work. Once she planted some bulbs when she had to spade through two inches of frozen soil, but was repaid for all her labor when one day recently she walked in the garden with Dr. Votey and he said to her, "You have done well, my dear." And we know all the daffodils must have nodded their heads and repeated, "You have done well."

The committee for arrangements, Mrs. Nell Blakeslee, Mrs. F. E. White and Mrs. Hattie Peckham, served delicious refreshments out of doors.

The cared for beauty of the hillside over Honey Creek brought a realization of the natural beauties of Lowell, its river banks and islands.

I believe the recipe for happiness to be just enough money to pay the monthly bills you acquire, a little surplus to give you confidence, a little too much work each day, enthusiasm for your work, a substantial share of good health, a couple of real friends, and a wife and children to share life's beauty with you.

A Reader Likes Our Main-st.

A Ledger reader residing a few miles northeast of Lowell sends in the following for our "Along Main Street" column. The writer apparently likes our business houses and concludes her contribution with a timely suggestion regarding parking space for farmers:

You know I don't believe it is the gas Vern Armstrong sells, but the great big smile that goes with it.

And you know, Girls, I don't see why you have let Garfield Ford run loose so long. Don't you think he is mighty near perfect?

Say, if it is good food, can you think of anything Richer, than a Richmond?

Three good drug stores, don't you think?

You know Harold Weekes. Well, he is like one of our kinfolks, as was his dear old Daddy before him. He can say it—in dry goods.

You know Coons Clothing. Well, my husband bought a suit there, and was years wearing it out.

You know, Gee! we like little Jimmy, and well, we could not get along without Sam.

You know if you want to meet a busy man, just try to catch Ralph on the wing.

Do you know where our staff of life comes from? King Milling Co., of course. Pure Gold, the flour that makes the dough.

Do you know Mrs. Scott, the candy maker? I think she is sweet. Better get acquainted.

You know Frank Gould? There is a man that always speaks.

Do you know Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Smith? You are used so good when you go there, you want to go again.

Of course, you know Harry Day. Some of us don't visit him as often as we would like, but we know he is there just the same.

Well, you know "The Showboat Captain." Mr. Runciman. Sometimes it takes a strong chair to hold him. Ask him what happened up at Smyrna! Wonder if that man ever gets mad?

You know Lowell has a fine bunch of grocers. I can't mention them all. One that I know has a wife that is a great help to him. I think of sunshine and roses every time I see her.

You know Mr. Roth—always the same even when you are not able to smile back.

These few I have met and there are more good business men on Main-st. I know from the looks of the cars on everyday and Saturday. Well that reminds me.

But you know there is one thing the Boys have overlooked—that is parking space for farmers when they come to town. I see Ionia has taken note of that fact, and the Editor of the Ledger has also called attention to the matter.
