

A FINE SPIRIT

THE BUSINESS MEN OF Lowell are displaying a fine spirit of cooperation in a program which will carry out to a greater degree than ever before the promotion of community development.

The first of this series of weekly events will be on Wednesday, Sept. 23, and they will be held each Wednesday thereafter.

In the bright autumn days of September and October, people should be full of desire to accomplish things not achieved before.

CHILDREN DEMAND PLAY-GROUNDS
CHILDREN in Jersey City have been making barricades in the streets with cobblestones, and smashing milk bottles on the pavement.

SPEED KILLS
THE HEAD of the Michigan state police, after a careful study of auto accidents, is recommending that the State fix a speed maximum of fifty miles per hour.

Lowell To Have $70,000 Postoffice Sealed Bids For Site or Donation of Same Advertised

Lowell is slated for a new $70,000 postoffice. This good news was verified last Friday morning in a telegram from Hon. Prentiss M. Brown, junior U. S. Senator from Michigan.

All citizens of this community, regardless of party affiliation, will rejoice over the fact that Lowell is to have a fine federal building. No doubt, some considerable time will, of necessity, elapse before actual construction work will begin.

Bids Wanted For Postoffice Site
That the U. S. Postal Department is moving promptly in the matter of a new Federal Building at Lowell, Michigan, is shown by the following notice addressed to Postmaster Fred J. Hodsey, Tuesday afternoon, September 14, 1937.

S. O. Movie At City Hall on Friday
Spun from the romance of life among the rich farms and rolling fields of the Mississippi valley, the story of a typical agent of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana has been screened for showings by the city hall on Friday.

Rev. S. B. Wenger Now Prison Chaplain
Rev. S. B. Wenger who resigned recently as pastor of the Lowell Congregational Church after six years of service, has been appointed Chaplain of the Southern Michigan prison, Jackson, and enters upon his new duties there today (Thursday).

Rotarians Hear Talk On Meat Packing Industry
Tom Burns, a representative of one of the country's largest meat-packing industries, gave an interesting talk at Lowell Rotary Club on Wednesday noon in which he traced the growth of the meat-packing business and its expansion which has been due to the development of transportation and refrigeration.

Haner Company Store Opens Saturday
The Haner Company will open at their new location, 209 E. Main st., on Saturday, Sept. 18. The public is invited to visit the store and see their lines of home furnishings which are advertised on page six of this issue of The Ledger.

Work of Local Artist Attracts Attention
A colorful array of pictures by Oren Frost of Moseley are on display in the windows of the W. A. Roth furniture store this week.

YOUTH IN CRIME BY J. EDGAR HOOVER
That's the title of the second of a series of articles on crime by the chief of the G-Men. Don't fail to read this important article and learn how the young are initiated into gangs and criminal rackets which cost the nation over $10,000,000 a year.

Former Resident Passes
Prayer services were held at Oakwood cemetery last week Wednesday afternoon for Jesse Fisher, a former Lowell resident who passed away in Detroit.

Pleasant Year Ahead For Woman's Club

The Lowell Woman's Club will open the season Wednesday, Sept. 22, by having a party with the Alto members in Alto. For several years the club has had its opening meeting in Alto, and members look eagerly forward to this meeting.

Gay '90s Revived By Alton Girls
The second annual frolic of the "Gay '90s" Alton girls was held Friday, Sept. 10, at Richards Park in Lowell. The girls met at 10:30 and prepared the tables for a picnic dinner which was enjoyed just before noon.

Along Main St.
The E. C. Foreman Poultry Farm of Lowell won five out of six penspense firsts at the Michigan State Fair which closed in Detroit last Saturday.

Full Details Regarding Potato Marketing Plans

Farmers in nine states in which surplus late potatoes are produced will go to the polls this week to express their approval or disapproval of the potato marketing agreement program which has been proposed to aid in preventing further declines in potato prices.

Kent Growers Vote This Week
A specific point on which growers will vote is on the issuance of an "order" by the Secretary of Agriculture. If no order were issued the proposed marketing agreement would be binding only on the handlers signing it.

Lowell Launches Community Program

'Lowell Days' to Mark Series of Weekly Events
One of the most enterprising community programs launched in Lowell is now under way with the announcement of the Board of Trade that the business and professional people of Lowell are instituting Lowell Days, a series of weekly events to begin on Wednesday, Sept. 23.

Indications are that a majority of the business and professional people of the community are heartily in favor of the program and it is likely that there will be one hundred per cent representation. A complete list of those sponsoring the events will be published next week.

Unlike most community enterprises of a like nature, the people who benefit from the program are under no obligation of any kind. There are no purchases to make, there are no fees to pay, no tickets or coupons to save.

Complete details will be available in all of the sponsor places next week and further details will be published in this newspaper so that all will be well acquainted with the program before the first day's attraction.

FOOLS RUSH IN

I have never seen any statistics of the number of automobile fatalities that are due to amateur drivers. I mean the number of injured who might have gone home if they had been left alone but who were hurt by ignorant Samaritans who suggest them around driving the sharp edges of bones into bones, veins or nerve tissue. These figures should be collected.

When dealing with broken bones unless you are an expert you should get a doctor to the patient before you try to get the patient to a doctor.

Children in Court

Social Events

Clemenz-Rickert
The Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church of Detroit was the scene of the marriage of Miss Gladys Rickert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Rickert, and Victor L. Clemenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Clemenz of Lowell, on August 29, the Rev. John Zoller officiating in the presence of relatives and friends from Lowell and Detroit.

The couple left for an extensive motor trip through the East, attending the Great Lakes Exposition and Water Carnival at Cleveland, the Cleveland-New York ball game, and after an intensive tour of Washington, D. C., and vicinity, including the boat trip up the Potomac River, returned through Virginia, West Virginia, Southern Ohio and Southern Indiana where they visited relatives in several different Indiana cities—Saranac Advertiser.

Miss Mapes Weds in Washington
Miss Jane Elizabeth Mapes, daughter of Rep. and Mrs. Carl E. Mapes of Grand Rapids and Washington, D. C., and Robert Little Pierce of Ann Arbor were married in All Souls Memorial Church, Washington, at 5:00 o'clock Saturday.

A reception in the bride's home followed the wedding.
The bride attended Wesley College and the U. of M. law school. Mr. Pierce attended the U. of M. law school also.

The couple will reside at 4016 Calvert-st., Washington.

Vergennes Cooperative Club
Mrs. Selene Condon was hostess to the Vergennes Cooperative Club on Thursday, Sept. 9. There were three guests and a large number of members present. Roll call was Current Events. The program was a study of the newer trends in education in Michigan, by the committee, Mrs. Blanche Himebaugh and Miss Ina Alger, followed by a very interesting discussion. After lunch the group inspected Mrs. Condon's new home and her own clever carpenter work.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Nellie Ford on October 7.

Surprise Party
Mrs. Howard Burt was entertained Friday evening with a surprise birthday party at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry L. Briggs. Guests included Mrs. Lucille Byrnes, Mrs. Claude Staal, Mrs. Clarke Fletcher, Mrs. Harold Graham, Mrs. Lynn Fletcher, Mrs. John Borgerson and Miss Evelyn Borgerson. Mrs. Burt received many gifts and wishes for a happy birthday. Euchre was played, after which delicious refreshments were served.

Blough-Fahrni
Mr. and Mrs. Chris Fahrni, Jr. announce the marriage of their daughter Beulah to Lester Bowne of Bowne at Elkhart, Ind., on Sept. 4.

Social Brevities

The Fortnightly Club held a picnic supper at the John Arehart cottage at Murray Lake on Tuesday night of this week.

The Goofus Club met a week ago Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eugene Carr. Honors went to Miss Esther DeVries, Mrs. Lou Wingeier, Mrs. Ed. DeVries and Mrs. Fred Gramer. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The members of the cast of the 1937 Lowell Shakespeare were treated to an appreciation dinner given at the Century Tavern, Ada, on Tuesday evening. The dinner was followed by dancing and the occasion was much enjoyed by all present.

The drawing to a close of the summer vacation and the return to college of local young people was marked by a weiner roast at Fallsburg Park last Sunday by the following group: Dora Jane and Ethel Anne Thomas, Dorothy and Helen Lampkin, Edith and Anne Althaus, Jane Finciman, Gladys Armstrong, Martin Kuenen, Bob Courtwright, Lester Fenning, Clinton Christoff, Phil Miller, Bill Doyle, Carl Mapes and Jack Bergin.

Vergennes Grange

The Vergennes Grange held a special meeting last Friday evening. Mr. Brewer was present and helped to plan a program for the future of the grange. A committee of four was appointed to interest new members and another committee to notify all present members of the meeting dates. There was a good turnout. The regular meeting will be held Sept. 17 at 8:00 p. m. with a program and pot-luck lunch.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Eiffel Tower
After an approximate six block walk, I arrived at the Eiffel Tower, the International Exhibition of 1889. This tower, 963 feet high, is completely constructed of iron and is now an important meteorological and wireless station. The first story is 190 ft. high, the second 380 ft. and the third 906 ft. high. On the first floor is a restaurant and small theatre, on all three stories are shops, refreshment rooms, etc. The view from the gallery of the third floor is one of the most magnificent and extensive of Paris. At the present time the Eiffel Tower is in the center of the 1937 Paris Exposition.

Now returning to the right bank of the Seine, I arrived at the National Museum of the Louvre. The first mention in history of this building was given under Francois I, who used it as a hunting lodge. Its original name Robur, meaning, the situation of the lodge in the center of a forest, was later changed to Louvre and used as a fortress and prison.

Francis I acquired during his Italian wars a decided artistic taste, which he proceeded to satisfy in a truly royal manner. Since France had no great artists, he imported into his country all whom he could persuade to leave their own native countries. Leonardo da Vinci was the most famous of his imports, with Raphael running a close second. Francis I purchased Vinci's "Gioconda" and "Virgin of the Rocks," Raphael's "Holy Family" and "St. Michael." Not only did he develop a fondness for painting and sculpture, but also all sorts of objects of art and antiquity, such as bronzes, medallions, jewels, cameos, etc.

Queen of Queens

LONG BEACH, CAL. . . . Miss Gwen Stith of San Pedro, was acclaimed winner of the first annual "Queen of Queens" contest held here. The contestants were girls who had previously been chosen "queens" of various events—Beauty, Beauty and so on.

Births
To Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lind, a son, Sept. 14.
To Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Coburn, at Ann Arbor, on August 29th, an 8 1/2 lb. daughter, Sarah Lou. Mrs. Coburn is the former Barbara J. Bradish of Lowell. She and Mr. Coburn now live in Ithaca where he is teacher of English and music in the schools.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. L. P. Morse, who passed away three years ago, Sept. 13, 1934. Sadly missed by her children and grandchildren.

Doing Europe

A Series of Articles Written Especially For Ledger Readers by James Furner of Ada

Editor's Note:—Earlier in the year, the Ledger published a series of articles entitled "Modern Mexico" by James Furner of Ada, who was in that country collecting native songs and stories for radio programs. These were sold to a gentleman in London, England, and Mr. Furner left recently to deliver them to him and to visit other points of interest in England and on the Continent. He has now submitted another series of articles containing much interesting reading on the customs and history of many peoples and their countries. This is Mr. Furner's second trip to Europe in three years and he should be able to give our readers some valuable information.

(Fourth Article)

The Louvre

Gradually under each king, the Louvre was built and added on until at the time of Napoleon Bonaparte it was the present state. When Napoleon came into power the Louvre had accumulated an enormous collection of art. Plunder of war was taken from Italy, the Netherlands and Germany. At one time half the masterpieces of Europe were in Paris, and though most of the works were after restored to their owners, many remained behind and are still in the Louvre.

Since Napoleon's time, pictures have continued to gravitate to this collection, not only by purchase and donation of single pictures, but by gifts of private collections in bulk.

Therefore, the Louvre stands as a monument to art and to the art student, making Paris the greatest art center in the world.

The ground floor of the Louvre contains sculpture of Medieval, Egyptian, Assyrian and modern periods.

The first floor contains the picture gallery of Greek, Egyptian, Babylonian, Chaldean antiquities, objects of art and a fine collection of French furniture.

Within in the picture gallery is Leonardo da Vinci's famous "Mona Lisa" valued at two million dollars. Jean Millet's "The Angelus" and "The Gleaners." One of the finest in regard to pageantry of French art, is Jacques David's "Coronation of Napoleon," which is nine feet high and 24 feet long. Napoleon was so thoroughly pleased with it he pensioned David for life.

And so it goes on and on through hundreds of famous paintings, too numerous to mention. The art objects displayed in this great treasure house largely reflect the current artistic taste of the world. Art is changeable—it is altered every day, every minute, it is never complete. It has a horror of clear and precise definitions. A great work of art like nature itself, is never at any given point, or at any given moment, a completed fact. All art is spontaneous and should never be reduced to a thing of fact, for a fact is a thing accomplished. Art can be found in the poorest, as well as in the best work; there can never be a standard—that is what people often try to do—standardize art. It becomes academic as soon as it is fixed, it is stationary and can not be changed.

Please forgive me for these past few paragraphs, I was rather carried away with my subject.

Across from the Louvre is the Palais Royal erected in 1624 for Cardinal Richelieu. Upon his death he left it to Louis XIII and it became the residence of Anne of Austria and her sons, Louis XIV and Philippe d'Orleans.

Today the Palais is still and desolate, but the history it could write if it were able! The Palais Royal gardens are opened to the public at all times.

Quite close to the Palais Royal is the National Library, one of the richest in the world, which contains about four million five hundred thousand volumes and was built in 1645.

The National Opera
Now we come to the very heart of Paris, the National Opera, or as it is called here, the Academie Nationale de Musique. It is one of the most extensive as well as most magnificent theatres in the world, covering 13,425 square yards.
