

SERVICES TO THE PUBLIC
PERHAPS the greatest difficulty encountered in carrying on the organizations of a community, is in inducing the people to take the official positions in such associations or to serve on committees or do any real work. Sometimes people consent to do these things, but little or no time to these duties. Such ornamental workers are not useful.

The people who are asked to do such work often say they can't spare any time. It they were given definite advantages when they make this sacrifice. They enlarge their personal acquaintance, which adds to their happiness and satisfaction, and creates friends who are helpful in one's occupation or in realizing one's aims. A person gains experience in carrying on public activities which will lead to higher success in any enterprise he may undertake.

UNEMPLOYED TIME
HOW DO PEOPLE use their time when they are out of work? The way in which they answer that question will determine to a large extent how soon they find work, and how good jobs they get.

After some men have tramped around from place to place seeking work, it is natural for them to become disheartened. Many people lose their heart that they hate to show themselves in a business office.

If a person can fight against that feeling and keep trying and trying, he will be successful. The business seems almost sure to get work in time. Much will depend upon his appearance. If his face tells a story of despondency, his chances are poor. If his clothes look shabby, his chances are bad.

It would seem that unemployed people should spend part of their time actually looking for work, part of their time trying to prepare themselves for doing better work. If they can't write good letters, it would help them to study some textbook that would correct their faults. If they lack intelligence, they had better do some good reading every day.

Married men who are out of work should do all they can to assist their wives. It is perhaps harder for the little woman than for them. The man who just sits around and smokes and grumbles is a trial to a woman who is giving every ounce of her energy. The same is equally true of sons and daughters. With their hours unoccupied, they should be able to do something helpful around the home.

It is an unhappy experience to seek work and be unable to find it, but the experience is easier to bear if the mind and hands are kept busy. Millions who have followed that counsel have found that patience and persistence lands a job.

ENLARGING TRADE
BUSINESS people are always thinking hard as to how they can obtain more trade. The business community whose should be studying how it can spread out and draw customers from a wider area.

Such increased trade comes largely in two ways. First, by advertising. The more people convey information about the goods they are selling, the more people come interested to buy and buy these goods. Second, by incessant effort to please everyone who comes into a store or buys goods. The business that makes unusual efforts to please people, that is willing to make some sacrifices to satisfy customers, and which gives a hearty welcome to every customer, new and old, is always likely to enlarge its sales.

APPROACHING FOLKS
ARE YOU glad to stop and chat a moment with the people whom you meet? Or do you take an offish attitude, and only admit people to your acquaintance whose friendship you feel will be valuable to you in some way?

The different answers to these questions divide people into two classes on this point. Some are self centered whose thought is closely concentrated on their own aims and ambitions. If a person does not interest such folks, they are bored to have to talk to that one. They greet him coldly on the street if they greet him at all. If he attempts to talk with them, they get rid of him as soon as possible.

That attitude does not make friends. The people who thus surround themselves with a hedge of exclusiveness cut themselves off from many useful contacts. The humblest person usually knows things that would be valuable to them. The lady with the shabbiest clothes often has a very bright mind, that can make good suggestions to anybody.

The young person who is starting out in business needs all the friends he can possible get. If he decides that some folks are dull and not worth knowing, he will make some mistakes that will cost him dearly.

In some towns this cold and offish attitude is more or less characteristic. People seem to catch it from each other, and it is a heavy bar to progress. A town where that spirit has a foothold in the business places, will not draw in much trade from outside. If the man with the dingiest clothes and the lady with the most old-fashioned costume find themselves treated with cordial warmth, they appreciate it and make returns.

Lowell has always endeavored to live up to its slogan, "The Friendly Town."

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS
"Let him now speak, or forever hold his peace," says the marriage service. That applies to the man who speaks up by advertising and tell about the service he has to render, or never complain that people won't patronize him.

Every bit of rubbish left out doors almost anywhere in a town is visible to some extent, and is blot on the looks of a place. Clean it up, if you want your home town to be attractive.

Vandenberg Sees Great Future For Lowell Showboat

Says Worthy of Widest Publicity

U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg who accompanied the Lowell Showboat on its trip down Flat river last Thursday evening and who with Mrs. Vandenberg witnessed the program from seats in the audience, was so greatly impressed with the pageant and performance that he has written the following personal letter to Captain C. Runciman, from which we are pleased to quote as follows:

Grand Rapids, Mich.
August 6, 1938

My dear "Captain" Runciman:

I want to tell you what a fine time I had on the Showboat Thursday night. This is one of the most amazing enterprises that I have ever seen, and it is a great credit not only to Lowell, but to those of you who are responsible for "carrying on". You were 100% perfect in the role of "Captain".

I want to repeat what I said to you at that time. I think your Showboat deserves and can get a national publicity which it has not thus far received. If you will remind me of this matter about six weeks in advance next year, I shall willingly bring the event to the attention of "Life" and some other national publications. I am entirely at your service in any way I can cooperate.

I shall appreciate it if you will also extend my greetings and my appreciation to Mr. Borgerson and your other associates.

With warm personal regards and best wishes,

Cordially and faithfully,
Arthur H. Vandenberg

M.S.C. Man Finds Malta In Trouble

Service to families far from Michigan is being rendered this summer by a Michigan State College scientist who is studying undulant fever problems on the Island of Malta.

Dr. I. F. Huddleston has made the name of the college more famous over the world for his development of Brucella which aids about 85 per cent of the undulant fever victims on whom it is used. This fever is contracted by humans from milk borne infections.

Recently the scientist left the campus at East Lansing to continue his research on the island, checking up on previous visits. He took a supply of the Brucella with him.

At the island he found scores of sufferers and the supply of Brucella nearly exhausted. Staff members in the bacteriology department at the college were notified and a shipment of 400 cubic centimeters of the biologic agent was dispatched to him.

At the island Dr. Huddleston found another situation which illustrates why the disease is more prevalent there than in the United States. The milk supply for the thousands of residents comes from goats. Suggestions had been made that this milk should be pasteurized for protection of those who drink milk on Malta.

Equipment was obtained for pasteurization. Revival of the outbreak of the fever are blamed on the fact that breakdowns of the pasteurizing machinery have meant periodical returns to the raw goat milk.

Undulant fever gets its name from the fact that the sufferers have fevers which range up and down, difficult to diagnose and caused by different species of the Brucella bacteria. Dr. Huddleston has developed means of detecting and treating the various types.

Kent Pomona Grange Will Picnic Aug. 18

Kent County Pomona Grange members and their families will hold their annual picnic at Townsend Park Section "A", next week, Thursday, August 18th. A basket lunch will be served at noon. Ice cream will be furnished free to all attending.

This is one of the biggest and best times enjoyed by the Grangers of Kent county during the year. This year will be no exception according to report of those in charge of arrangements. Sports of all kinds will be indulged in for both old and young with prizes for everyone. There will be ball games in the afternoon. Sports for children of all ages and prizes for each event. An event which will appeal to most people will be the tug-of-war which will be staged across the creek. It is expected the losers of this event will receive a free bath.

Prizes are announced for the grangers coming from the farthest distance in the county, the Grange with the largest representation according to membership and a prize for the oldest Granger in attendance.

HARRY S. TOY TO SPEAK IN GRAND RAPIDS

Harry S. Toy of Detroit, one of the candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor will speak in Grand Rapids this week Friday evening at eight o'clock. The meeting will be held in the Hotel Pantland ballroom.

Judge—"Well, Sam, I see you're back for fighting with your wife. Liquor again?"

Sam—"No, sah, judge, she licked me this time."

Whenever Maisie tries to stop her brakes are such a fearful flop. She slams them on with futile grind. And smacks the car ahead behind.

A. F. Armstrong, proprietor of the Price-Rite Hardware, will open another store in Greenville about September first. The new store will also bear the name of Price-Rite Hardware.

Elmer D. Loyer of Lowell has been awarded his twenty-first emblem for proficiency in athletics since enrolling as a trainee in the C. M. T. C. in 1935. This year he acted as Cadet Second Lieutenant of Co. "A", at Camp Custer, Mich.

It's no wonder that August is a great month in this community. It's the month which brings the Lowell Showboat, the annual Park fair and supper, the annual 4-H Club Fair and the annual Grand Trade picnic. Life is worth living in Lowell.

Earl Kropf is said to be rendering good service through the free employment agency which he is operating at his barber shop. Persons desiring work are free to register their names and farmers and others desiring help are asked to make use of the list.

Branch Managers throughout the State are preparing for the rush to purchase license plates, when some 800,000 motorists will trade their black and white half year plates for the black and green full year plates. Plates may be obtained in Lowell from Mrs. Mabel Gibbler, who has an office at the Lowell Granite company.

If stamp sales can be looked upon as a business barometer the Lowell postoffice has "Kidd Recession" on the ropes. The first seven months of 1938 show an increase in stamp sales of $900.00 over the corresponding period for 1937. "This growth in revenue," says Postmaster Hosley, "is not of the mushroom variety but reflects the upward trend of a healthy business condition. The average daily dispatch of parcel post is greater than it has been in several years."

The Central Michigan Office Chair Company is another Lowell industry which has had a successful year except for a brief shutdown early in July for annual inventory. The company is giving steady employment to about 35 hands. "The business upturn," says Manager E. E. Higgins, "is creating quite a demand for office chairs and we are also turning out quite a quantity of drop leaf tables. It looks very much as though we will be able to continue active operations without interruption."

Funeral services were held Wednesday p. m. in the Haner chapel for Peter H. Speerstra, Sr., 77, who passed away suddenly at his home and was found dead in bed Monday. He had been in ill health since the death last May of his son Henry. He was given a military funeral and burial was in Cascade cemetery.

Mr. Speerstra enlisted in the United States army during the World War after three of his sons, Henry, Joseph and Herman had joined the service. He was born in the Netherlands and came to the United States in 1893. He married his wife, Ida in 1890. Mr. Speerstra was well known and had many friends in the community.

Surviving are the widow, Ida, five sons, Peter, Benjamin, Joseph and Herman of Alma, also grandchildren and two sisters and three brothers in the Netherlands.

New 4-H Buildings To Be Dedicated Tues.

Interesting Ceremony Should Attract Many Visitors

A formal dedication of the two new 4-H Club fair buildings will be held in Lowell Tuesday evening, August 16 at 8:00 o'clock.

C. H. Runciman, of Lowell, will have charge of the program. Opening remarks will be given by Thos. Slater, President of the Kent County 4-H Fair Association. Carl Hessler, supervisor of Courtland township and chairman of the Agricultural Extension Committee, will speak for the supervisors. A. D. McRae, District Superintendent of the WPA will speak for that organization. Invitations have been extended to the Extension Department of Michigan State College and the State Department of Agriculture to have representatives present.

W. W. Gumsir, president of the Lowell Rotary Club will dedicate and present the buildings. John Arehart, president of Lowell Village, will accept the buildings for the village and the 4-H Clubs in the county. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Lowell High School band under the direction of Bruce Walter.

4-H Club Fair Program

Final touches for the fourth annual 4-H Club fair program on August 24 and 25 have been made. All exhibits will be placed on Tuesday, August 23. Judging in all departments will start Wednesday at 9:30 o'clock. Miss Olga Bird will judge all girls work, Nedley Pearson, livestock and P. G. Lundin, crops, poultry and handicraft. The judges are Assistant State Club leaders from Michigan State College. Judging will continue through the day until finished.

Accident Fatal to Jacob Schrouder

Jacob Schrouder, brother-in-law of Mrs. M. E. Simpson, was hit by a car last Thursday, August 4 as he stepped from his car into the street in front of his store in Wilmington, California. He was rushed to the hospital but lived only two hours without regaining consciousness.

Mr. Schrouder was the eldest of the three Schrouder brothers who ran a chain of drug stores in Grand Rapids some few years ago. They have two sons, one C. A. Schrouder, now managing a Loveland drug store in Grand Rapids and Charles, who lives in Los Angeles and sings in movies and Broadway.

His widow, Matie Althen Schrouder, expects to make her home at present with the son in Hollywood. Mrs. Schrouder has many friends in Lowell who extend heartfelt sympathies to her at this time.

Well Known Citizen Dies Unexpectedly

Funeral services were held Wednesday p. m. in the Haner chapel for Peter H. Speerstra, Sr., 77, who passed away suddenly at his home and was found dead in bed Monday. He had been in ill health since the death last May of his son Henry. He was given a military funeral and burial was in Cascade cemetery.

Thieves Taken By Local Officers

The men involved in the breaking and entering job in the night time in Lowell during the past couple of weeks have come to grief, two of the men being arrested on August 4 and the third man being arrested on August 8. Those involved were Odell Krump, 28; Howard Ridgway, 34; and William Lloyd, 37; all of Battle Creek, 994-A Golden-ave.

Krump and Lloyd are now serving 90 days in Barry County jail on a misdemeanor charge and when that term has expired will probably be sent to Calhoun County to stand trial on a charge of felonies committed there. Ridgway was arraigned in justice court in Grand Rapids Tuesday on a breaking and entering charge. Later Ridgway pleaded guilty in Circuit Court to a charge of breaking and entering in the night time and was remanded to county jail to await sentence.

Jobs in this vicinity to which the men confessed are the theft of 40 chickens from the south range of the Foreman Poultry Farm on July 12, 1938, by Krump and Lloyd; the breaking and entering of the Pere Marquette hand car house in Lowell where gasoline and tools were taken July 31, 1938 and on the same night the breaking and entering of the King Milling Company and the theft of 12 100-lb. bags of mash by Krump, Ridgway and Lloyd. The stolen property was recovered at the Battle Creek address of the three men.

It is reported that the men arrested have also admitted being involved in stealing lumber from the Clarksville lumber yard, wheat from a farm north of Clarksville, killing and butchering a calf on the Vanderveen farm near Saranac, and the two chicken jobs in Barry County from the Aldrich farm.

Working on the case for Kent County were Deputies Frank L. Stephens and Fred Gramer of Lowell and Coney Johnson from the Sheriff's office in Grand Rapids. These men appreciated the splendid cooperation given them by the sheriff's departments of Ionia, Barry and Calhoun counties where the arrested men are wanted for several jobs.

Once vanishing, Indians are now the most rapidly multiplying group in the United States. The younger set often refuses federal aid and tribes with holdings of value insist upon paying for their own education, highways and irrigation projects.

Bolts Kill Stock, Barn, Contents Destroyed

The barn and shed on the James Denton farm in Keene-twp. were struck by lightning about two o'clock Wednesday morning and burned to the ground. The contents including a cow, a calf, goats and hay, harnesses, farm implements and many other things, were a complete loss. "The barn went up like an explosion," said Mr. Denton, "and the fire spread with such rapidity that nothing could be saved. The loss was partially covered by insurance."

Three Horses Killed Under Tree

Three horses owned by Sam Ryder were struck and killed by lightning during the electrical storm Sunday afternoon. The farm four miles northwest of Lowell in Vergennes-twp. The horses were standing in pasture under a hickory tree behind the barn when the lightning struck the tree and followed it on down to strike the horses. These horses were the only ones Mr. Ryder possessed.

Keesh Home Struck

While Will Keesh and family were absent from their home about four miles southwest of Lowell on Sunday afternoon, lightning struck the residence burning the telephone farm four miles northwest of Lowell in Vergennes-twp. The horses were standing in pasture under a hickory tree behind the barn when the lightning struck the tree and followed it on down to strike the horses. These horses were the only ones Mr. Ryder possessed.

All Roads Leading To Parnell Today

Today (Thursday) is the day that it seems everyone has been waiting for—the annual Parnell chicken supper and fair—looked forward to each year by an increasingly large number of persons and with good reason, because everybody is sure to be served a fine chicken dinner with all the trimmings and fixin's which have made the ladies of Parnell famous. Serving of meals will begin early this afternoon and will continue until a late hour this evening.

According to expressions heard on every hand all Lowell will be headed for Parnell this afternoon and evening and patrons will be served a fine dinner and the proceeds are used toward the support of St. Patrick's church and school.

Thursday's program will feature horse pulling contests for both light and heavy teams. $70.00 in cash awards. A bicycle derby for youngsters with cash prizes for best decorated bicycle, cleverest costume, funniest costume, oldest bicycle in the parade, the oldest and youngest rider. Entries for both boys and girls. In addition to the derby there will be bicycle races for all ages, both boys and girls.

Youngsters having Sheldahl poles should bring them to the fair for there will be a race with good prizes awarded. The day's program will close with a baseball game. All exhibits released at 4:00 o'clock.

Farm House Hit, Family Absent

Perhaps the funniest remark came from a lady in the audience last Saturday night who was heard to say, "Aren't those Morlok quadruplets just too cute for anything?"

Many think that the funniest endman joke occurred when Interlocutor C. H. Runciman, with diminutive 15-year-old Billy Eberhardt on his knee, gave a Charley McCarthy act. The dialogue went something like this:

Billy—"I understand, Mr. Runciman, that the government is handing out lots of checks these days for not doing things."

Mr. Runciman—"Why, how is that, Billy?"

Billy—"Oh, checks for not raising wheat, not raising corn, not raising hogs—but, Mr. Runciman, I think you should have the biggest check of all."

Mr. Runciman—"How so, Billy?"

Billy—"Why, for not raising any hair!"

Horses Badly Shocked

Two horses standing in a barn on the Wright farm in Vergennes-twp. suffered severe shock from lightning in Tuesday night's storm and it is feared that at least one of the horses and possibly both of them will not recover.

Annual Picnic for Lowell Community

Preparations are going forward with enthusiasm for Lowell's annual community picnic which will be held at Fallsburg Park Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 23. Details are being worked out by a committee headed by Theron Richmond and L. E. Johnson, L. W. Rutherford, Stanley Beach, George Story, Ed. Compagner and Ray Avery.

The afternoon will be given over to all kinds of sports and contests with C. H. Runciman acting as master of ceremonies and announcing the events through a loud speaker system. The contests will be of a fun-making kind, many of which will provide as much amusement as chasing a greased pig at a county fair.

An added feature this year will be a free dinner in the shelter house in the evening with Royden Warner's orchestra furnishing the music.

A fine picnic lunch will be served consisting of baked ham sandwiches, potato salad, beans and beverages.

All people living in neighboring villages and all farmers and their families are extended a cordial invitation to attend. The Lowell Board of Trade sponsors the annual affair.

A Scotch traveling salesman, held up in the Orkney Islands by a bad storm, telegraphed to his firm in Aberdeen: "Marooned here by storm, wire instructions."

The reply came: "Start summer vacation as from yesterday."

Echoes from the Showboat Whistle

There is cause for satisfaction over the successful handling of traffic every night during the Showboat. There were literally thousands of cars in town each night and our local officers performed their work commendably, assisted by six special officers sent by county sheriff, Hugo M. Blacklock, also two men from the Michigan State Police, all of whom were on duty each evening. We haven't heard of a mishap of any kind, nor have we heard of any home or property being molested. All of which speaks well for a town where its population each Showboat night.

One Showboat patron, (Donald MacNaughton by name) asks: "Why not give next year's Showboat patrons a 'seventh inning stretch' like they do at the ball game?"

Doubtless Showboat orchids should go to Charles Hatch, 91 years young, who came over from the Michigan Masonic Home at Alma to take in this year's river pageant and there was no more pleased or enthusiastic person in the audience last Friday night. Mr. Hatch was born in Smyrna in 1848, came to Lowell in 1865 and lived here for 31 years, working in local saw mills, and other factories here until 1896 when he went West, returning to Michigan in 1929.

Mr. Hatch was present on the opening night of the Showboat on the river that used to be filled with sawlogs when I was a young man," commented Mr. Hatch. During his visit here, Mr. Hatch was a guest at the home of his cousin, J. C. Hatch.

Two Trains, One Track

It Frank Christian, of Marine City, ever wondered why limited interurbans always used to stop for minutes at a time in the vicinity of Lowell, he might be interested to know that it wasn't just because Minnie waved to the train crews from her farm home and was known as the mascot of the Port Huron-Mt. Clemens interurban.

It was because she saved Christian—and many others—from probable death, a fact that he isn't likely to know unless he reads this.

The story hasn't been told before because it would have cost the job of a forgetful train dispatcher.

About 20 years ago Christian operated a steam train from Marine City to Mt. Clemens on the interurban tracks at night after the interurbans had ended the day's service.

Forgetting Christian's train one night, the dispatcher gave go-ahead signals to a late interurban baggage car.

Minutes later, he remembered. Terrified, he ran to the phone with a faint hope. There was but one telephone along the line and that was at the home of Louis Schultz.

Probably the baggage car already had passed that point. If so, it and the steam train would hurtle together head on a few miles away on the single track.

"I never heard the phone ring like it did that night—quick and sharp," Schultz recalls. "I jumped for it. Minnie, about 16 then, was getting ready for bed and just taking her dress off. The rest of us were under the covers."

"The dispatcher yelled, 'Stop that baggage.' I knew something was very much wrong and I yelled to Minnie, 'Stop that baggage.' She raced out the door with her dress on her arm.

"The car was speeding—there was a faster operator on the line than Clark—with his big blue light picking out the track. Minnie jumped up and down on the rails waving her dress and screaming.

"Brakes were applied and the car backed up part way. 'Must be something wrong,' never mentioned it. Neither did we. That dispatcher still gives me a grateful look when I meet him on the street."—Detroit Free Press.

To Hold Rites Sunday For Mrs. Lovisa Ridgway

Mrs. Lovisa Ridgway, 80, passed away Wednesday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Anna Yardley.

Funeral services will be held on Sunday at 2 o'clock at the Congregational church, with burial at DeCoul Cemetery, East Nelson.

It took a professional bee-trainer to lure the humming tribe away. The harried service station proprietor must think that somebody was trying to put the bee on him.

More Local News Ionia Free Fair Newer And Greater Than Ever Before Spectacular Night Show

For thousands of Michiganders and out-state visitors, the word will be "Ionia" next week. For it is then that they will flock to this Grand River valley city for the 24th annual Ionia Free Fair, August 15 to 20, which has been aptly termed, "Michigan's Greatest Outdoor Event."

As a result, the 1938 nightly grandstand show, "Belles of Liberty," will be one of the most novel and spectacular presentations ever seen by fair-goers in the United States.

With 100 radio screen and stage headliners in its cast, "Belles of Liberty," will be a performance long to be remembered.

With Monday, August 15, designated as "Thrill Day," two outstanding stunts have been scheduled. Death-defying Captain F. F. Frakes, nationally-known daredevil aviator, will crash a plane through a house before the grandstand.

With numerous premiums offered in 14 all-inclusive agricultural departments, farmers will find real inducement to exhibit the best of their products.

Six big days and nights of continuous and excellent entertainment is in store for Ionia visitors this year, Chapman announced.

Those attending the fair in previous years will see as a newer and greater exposition than ever before, while newcomers will marvel at the effort and money expended to make the Ionia Free Fair Michigan's outstanding attraction," he said.

MISS HATTIE LYNN IN GRAND RAPIDS HOSPITAL Miss Hattie Lynn who was taken to Bologgett hospital last Friday underwent an operation this (Thursday) morning for gall bladder trouble. Miss Lynn's many friends will be glad to know that reports received as we go to press are to the effect that she is getting along nicely.

CARD OF THANKS To my kind friends and relatives I wish to express my most heartfelt thanks for the many letters and cards of good wishes I received while at the University hospital at Ann Arbor, and also for the splendid dish of fruit from the Bowne Center L. Leone Malley, 19, and Levi Simmons, 19, were injured in an accident Sunday evening when their car collided with one driven by Charles Mast, 30 of Smyrna on M-21 at the west village limits. They were taken to Bologgett hospital where Malley was treated for severe cuts on his forehead and body and Simmons was treated for a painfully bruised shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Coons and son David and Miss Dorothy Mangle of Muskegon are leaving today on a two weeks' vacation trip to the copper country of the Upper Peninsula. Should they go as far as Ironwood, they would be farther from Detroit than New York City. Although in Michigan, they would be west of Chicago and due north of the eastern part of Iowa—believe it or not.
