

THE KID SWIMMERS

TOW FAR do parents allow their children to go in swimming at unsupervised places, without older or responsible persons present?

UNIVERSAL SERVICE

A LAW providing for universal military service may be necessary. The American people feel that the settling of disputes by war is foolish and idiotic.

SEEKING THE BIG CITY

NEW YORK CITY has made a large gain in population in the past 10 years, this increase being apparently around 450,000.

PLACE OF SQUARE DEALING

PEOPLE often claim there is plenty of dishonesty in the business world. You see no signs of it when you deal with the stores in Lowell.

POPULATION GAINS

CITIES AND TOWNS are anxiously looking for the census figures to show whether they are losing or gaining. In some years when the country took in around a million immigrants each year, and large families were still being raised, a town seemed to be losing its place on the map if it did not make a good gain.

POPULATION GAINS

THE KENT COUNTY Board of Supervisors and the rural members of the second game between the Rockford and Cedar Springs softball teams. There will be games for women and children, with prizes for the winning contestants.

COMMENDABLE ACTION

IN WITHDRAWING from the race for the Republican senatorial nomination and leaving a clear field to Senator Vandenberg, late Representative Elton R. Eaton, of Plymouth, has done a commendable thing. The patriotic statement of his reasons for withdrawal, which Mr. Eaton has sent to Mr. Vandenberg, is such as might be expected from a man of his sincerity and in harmony with his record in public life up to this time.

LIBRARY NOTICE

THE library will be closed for two weeks (from July 30th to August 12th inclusive), opening August 13. Patrons may draw extra books for the vacation period.

The Lowell Showboat amateur concert held last night at the Showboat dock, proved to be an outstanding success. The program opened with a concert by the Lowell high school band.

Reserved seat tickets for the Showboat went on sale Saturday at the office of Village Clerk L. E. Johnson, 206 E. Main St. Mr. Johnson reports that the demand for seats is unusually good.

Our Main street is getting all 'primed up' for the eyes of Showboat visitors, what with lamp posts receiving a new coat of paint, lamp shades cleaned, yellow parking space lines repainted and a general cleaning up under way.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Rickert of London, England, arrived in Lowell yesterday for an extended visit with his sister, Mrs. D. G. Look. Dr. and Mrs. Rickert were among the American refugees aboard the Washington which arrived on this side safely after a six-days voyage across the Atlantic. Dr. Rickert was at one time active in Lowell affairs before going to London some thirty years ago.

Petitions are being circulated in and around Ada for improving conditions at the Ada bridge on M-21. It has been suggested that the road be widened 1/2 at the curve and a large "narrow bridge" warning sign be placed before the entrance to the bridge. The circulation of the petition was caused by a long-felt need of the residents for greater safety at this point and also because of the fatal accident which occurred there July 6.

The clerks at Weaver's market recently proved their supremacy over other contestants in a coffee-selling contest conducted in the Red and White stores throughout Western Michigan. One of the clerks, Richard MacNaughton, received an electric coffee grinder for first clerk prize, he selling more coffee than any of the other 200 clerks in this district. The store received a small radio for selling more coffee than any of the 80 other stores in Western Michigan. Pretty fine record, boys!

Jokes, jests, jabs and jibes just by a Jeff. Who will be the first to give us the prosperity under the corner angle in this campaign? ... It takes months to get a vacation, two weeks of peeling during it, and a rest cure after it. ... Fashion returns every seven years, but today's bathing suits look like a revival of Eve. ... The reason they call them the rising generation in Lowell is because they don't do any too much retiring. ... One of the dead remarks is "trying to hide behind a woman's skirts." Look at the amount of skirt!

Homes of this community have been pestered a great deal during the past few weeks by strangers asking for signatures to various kinds of petitions. These strangers do not always tell the whole truth and in some cases are known to have secured signatures under false pretenses. People are advised not to sign any paper without knowing the whole truth. Representatives of strange cuts have also been busy distributing pamphlets containing unwarranted attacks upon a worthy institution. Better give such people the cold shoulder.

Life Saving Classes To Start Friday

Clifford Schaeffer, director of first aid and life saving for the Grand Rapids chapter American Red Cross, will start a senior life saving class at Bostwick Lake this week Friday, July 19 at 2:00 p. m. The class will be open to all persons 18 years or older. At the completion of seventeen hours of work, senior life saving cards will be given and the persons receiving cards will be eligible to enroll in a teachers' training course. Those who satisfactorily complete the teachers' course will be authorized as water safety instructors and will be used to promote and teach classes in Red Cross swimming and life saving in Lowell and the nearby community.

Transportation will be furnished by school buses each Tuesday and Friday. Persons interested should contact James Topp, local WPA recreation leader, before Friday.

Plan Detroit Trip For Band Members

The Lowell Board of Trade and the Lowell Showboat, Inc., are planning a baseball trip to Detroit for about sixty members of the Lowell High School Band and around forty business men. It is expected the excursion will take place on Friday, July 26, when the Tigers will play the Philadelphia Athletics. The group will attend as an advertisement for the Lowell Showboat.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

A few dollars spent in planting shrubs and trees around your home place should make that place look a thousand dollars more valuable in a few years.

The shy and retiring girl who is too bashful to smile at the men, won't probably get many dates. And the retiring business that is too cautious to smile at the world with a confident advertising program, won't probably be troubled by excessive crowds in its sales place.

McPherson to Enter Race for Governor

Will Make Formal Announcement Next Monday Night at Community Banquet in High School Gym., Sponsored by Neighbors and Friends

Surrendering to the demands of his many friends in all parts of the State, Melville B. McPherson, Lowell's distinguished and respected citizen, has finally responded to the call of service and will become a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan in the coming September primaries.

Mr. McPherson's formal announcement of his candidacy will be made at an informal banquet which will be tendered him by friends and neighbors of this community next Monday night, July 22, at seven o'clock in the Lowell high school auditorium. The banquet will undoubtedly be one of the largest ever held in Lowell. Men and women of this community will be happy to attend this function as a testimonial of their esteem for their most illustrious citizen. In addition to the home folks who will attend, word has been received from upwards of one hundred well known citizens from various parts of Kent County signifying their intentions to be present, as well as a number of newspaper men and other citizens from more distant parts of the state.

Testimonies as to Mr. McPherson's ability will be given by John A. Collins, mayor of East Grand Rapids; Fred N. Searl, Kent County prosecutor; Mrs. Earl R. Stewart of the Soldiers' Relief Commission; Chester Martin, State Tax Commissioner from Detroit; C. H. Runciman and Frank J. McMahon of Lowell. Attorney R. M. Shivel will preside as toastmaster and there will be several musical numbers. At the close of the program, Mr. McPherson will announce his candidacy and will outline his platform.

In order to bring the occasion within the reach of all citizens the committee in charge announces that tickets are on sale at the nominal price of fifty cents each and may be procured at Palace Cleaners, Henry's Drug Store, Coons' Clothing Store and the Ledger office. All citizens, both men and women are most cordially invited.

Group of Women Aiding Showboat

Community cooperation has always been a secret of the success of the Lowell Showboat. No finer example of this cooperation can be found than last week when the Showboat committee was unable to secure costumes through the regular source.

Mrs. R. D. Hahn called together a committee of Lowell women who decided that they could handle the problem. The women visited many stores in search for patterns and material and with this accomplished, they immediately look the measurements of the girls in the chorus and are now cutting out the dresses.

The following local women are assisting with this work: Mrs. Hahn, Mrs. E. P. Gotfredsen, Mrs. Hattie Peckham, Mrs. Agnes Doherty, Mrs. N. E. Borgerson, Mrs. E. C. Foreman and Roberta Hahn. Many of the girls in the chorus or their mothers will finish sewing the dresses.

Cost of Relief Lower in Summer

The Kent county welfare commission and the Old Age Assistance bureau reduced their case loads and costs in June, according to monthly reports issued by Ira M. Dean, local welfare director, and Rupert Kettle, old age assistance supervisor.

Old age assistance showed a reduction of 59 cases in June. Aid to dependent children and aid to the blind increased by 17 and 4 cases, respectively. Total expenditures decreased $1,511.50. The decrease was principally effected through elimination of fuel allowances because of summer. Total case load in June was 4,485 and total expenditures amounted to $273,912.50. The county welfare case load was 2,259 on July 1, a drop of almost 50 per cent from the February peak load of 4,700 cases. The welfare deficit, $50,000 on June 1, was cut to $38,798.28 by July 1. Dean said. Administrative costs for June were cut from $10,088.89 to $8,407.47. Direct relief disbursements for the last six months of 1939 amounted to $273,912.50.

Dean also announced that $260,000 worth of food stamp books have been purchased from the revolving fund since March 15. Work also is proceeding on a cotton stamp plan under which relief clients who are issued clothing would be given free brown stamps to buy cotton clothing through the regular trade channels.

Scientists are now worrying about "intelligent human beings" on other planets. How about finding a few on our own first?

Entertainment and Fun to Be Features of 1940 Showboat

Entertainment and fun will be the keynote of the 1940 production of the Showboat according to entertainment chairman, C. H. Runciman. A number of nationally known acts have already been booked and negotiations are under way with a star who has appeared in over forty movies and is now featured with one of the prominent weekly radio programs. The committee is taking full advantage of the fact that because of the war, nearly all of the vaudeville acts in the world are in the United States. Members of the Showboat committee have visited Chicago and Detroit in a search for talent and General Chairman N. E. Borgerson visited several large open-air shows in New York in an effort to improve and add new interest to the show. A complete program will appear in next week's issue of the Ledger.

New Farm Ideas On View July 26 Michigan State

Some queer looking contraptions, which prove that farming may be the oldest profession in the world but still has some wrinkles to iron out, are to be viewed by the thousands who attend Farmers' Day at Michigan State College on Friday, July 26.

How about a chimney in a hay stack? It's an attempt by S. T. Dexter in the farm crops department to cure the exceptionally green hay without having it spoil or get caught out in the field in a rain. Two identical stacks of green material were placed recently out on the farm for the test, with one equipped with a crude chimney. The idea is that as the hay gets warm the chimney takes away the heat and creates a draft. This draws in air through the hay, aiding in the curing process.

On another portion of the college farm, near the experimental barn east of the dairy barn, is another experiment. This was developed by H. H. Musselman, head of the agricultural engineering department. It is an above-the-ground trench soil, filled with green cut material treated with molasses.

Musselman has placed discarded barrels, filled with water, on one end so that the weight can help exclude air from the fermenting feed. On the other end, Dexter has covered up the silage with building paper and has sealed out the air with a layer of water. Some of the feed is to be examined Farmers' Day.

In other spots on the farm, the Michigan Experiment Station will open for the day for inspection by visitors. General programs are scheduled from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. and from 1:30 to 3 p. m.

(By K. K. Vining) Neighbors Will Miss Him

We have been wondering since Frank Peterson passed away who will do the legal work for the folks up in Courtland and Oakland townships. For years he drew most of the deeds, contracts, leases, mortgages for his neighbors and counseled with them in regard to the legal matters.

I will remember the first time he came to my office after we started out in Courtland. The talk at once went to alfalfa and mairl. Peterson with his cousin, Will Peterson, Miles Bouman, Elwin Parmeter and a couple other neighbors had built a home-made mairl digging outfit on Round Lake near Harvard. He told me all about its working and when spring came we made a trip up there to see the outfit. It was one of the first mechanical arrangements developed in the state to dig mairl.

The Peterson Farm had an oak wood lot that always had a crop of fox squirrels. It was one pleasure to hunt there each fall. The farmstead was always neat, well kept and attractive. As a member of the Board of Supervisors he was always interested in agricultural extension work and supported appropriations for the same.

As a chap to sit down and visit with, Frank Peterson had no peer. Whether it was alfalfa, politics, his experiences in Washington or just visiting he was always interesting.

As a county farm agent we are going to miss his counsel and advice. The folks up in Courtland and Oakland will miss him as a good neighbor. Virtues of Smooth Brome Grass Found another fellow who likes Smooth Brome grass in his alfalfa. Tom Clark, senior member of T. W. Clark & Son farm of Cannon township was telling me the virtues of this new grass. Asked him why he liked it so well he said it grew up well and keeps alfalfa from lodging. He told me two alfalfa fields one of 20 acres with the brome grass and the other without. The latter was matted down and hard to handle. Along with the Clark farm like the brome grass as hay and as a pasture crop.

Rockford Resumes Ag. Course Rockford High School will offer a course in vocational agriculture this fall. This work was one time a part of their curriculum but was dropped during depression days.

Addison Miller has been engaged as a teacher. He is a native of Maxon County, a product of Michigan State College and has had two years teaching experience at Clayton in Lenawee county.

He took the position July 1st and is busy getting acquainted with Rockford and the surrounding country.

Lowell, Sand Lake, Sparta and Caledonia are other schools in Kent county offering 4 year courses in agriculture. Beautiful Blue Delphinium Couldn't help noticing the blue delphinium in the garden of Mrs. Carl James in Vergennes township as I drove by the other day. Mrs. James has made a specialty of these plants and they are beautiful.

A Moving Affair

Eugene Wagner who does the testing work in the South Kent C.T.A. up and got married the other day. The cow testing job is a moving affair. Here today and away tomorrow. To solve the housing problem Eugene bought a house trailer to live in.

Yankee Star a 4-H Boy 4-H Club baseball fans will be interested in a news item found in a magazine the other day. Charlie Keller of the New York Yankees was a 4-H dairy club member in Maryland for eight years. He had Holstein calves and was always showing at the county and state fairs, where he was a consistent winner.

FRESH WATER WELLS SHOULD BE INSPECTED

Dr. J. D. Brook, Kent County health officer, has requested the Ledger to advise those home owners who may be using water from wells that they have same inspected as a precaution against possible contamination. Dr. Brook says: Since there is always the danger that the water from such wells is contaminated, we would gladly inspect the well and obtain a sample of water upon request from anyone using a well. Send us the name and address (location) of the well and prompt service will be given. J. D. Brook, M. D., Kent Co. Health Officer.

Buck, Doe and Fawn Pay Friendly Visit

Last Friday evening about 7 o'clock J. E. Prosser, proprietor of the Prosser Inn at Ada, heard his turkeys at the back of the inn making an exceedingly loud noise and as he opened the door to see what the trouble could be he saw about 100 feet away three deer, a buck, a fawn and doe. The sight was witnessed by Roy Shear of R. 2, Ada, and a number of other guests at the inn. All declared it a most beautiful sight. Binder twine, $3.75 per bale. Runciman's Elevator, Lowell.

Free Fair Offers Noted Circus Stars

"A show within a show." Hoaglan's circus attractions, will play a prominent part at every afternoon grandstand performance at the Ionia Free Fair, August 12 through 17.

This outstanding troupe of horse men and daredevils are so versatile that President Howard C. Lawrence has turned the entire Tuesday afternoon show over to them for a galaxy of thrills that will rival the best seen at any circus in the nation.

Headed by Jinks Hoaglan, one of the best riders in the world, the spirited group will present such attractions as horse pushball, four-horse chariot races, exhibitions by thoroughbred jumpers and amazing high-school horses.

Tuesday afternoon will also inaugurate the opening of the four day harness racing program, with sleek pacers and trotters from throughout the Middle-West set for a share of the thousands of dollars in prize money.

Completing the program will be such noted spine-tinglers as Peckay Ringens, the man who rides a bicycle 100 feet through space to plunge into a tiny tank of water; five Albanis, aerialists who ride motorcycles and hang from swinging trapezes 75 feet above the ground; comical bed-bouncers, the Mandel Brothers; Walkmirs, acrobats who perform on a long pole balanced on the head of a fellow performer; Jim Wong troupe, five men and a girl who do breathtaking acrobatic stunts.

Each evening, "Music on Wings," lavish musical production boasting a Hollywood orchestra, radio singers, international dancers, circus stars and stage settings costing hundreds of dollars will be featured before the Ionia Free Fair grandstand.

Timely Advice

Is Offered For Vacation Time
If Lost or in Danger of Drowning Be Sure to Use Your Head

If you are lost or in danger of drowning, it's better to use your head than your feet.

Conservation officers, who each year lead lost persons back to their woods camps, and have rescued quite a number from overturned boats and other water hazards in the past seasons are urging vacationers to prepare themselves for emergencies with a few commonsense rules. Rule number one is to avoid panic by conserving strength and keeping one's reasoning ability.

If lost in the woods, it is better to stop and try to figure out where you are, instead of wandering about. In a storm or fog, or at night, it is best to make camp, after gathering fuel for a fire, and wait for better traveling conditions. Streams and telephone lines may be followed to reach assistance. Yelling, running, and worrying help not at all.

If your canoe or rowboat should capsize, it is safer, according to vital statistics records, to cling to the overturned craft than to try swimming any distance across a lake to a shore. Practically all boats will furnish some buoyancy, even when overturned or full of water, for persons hanging onto the sides.

Shoes and heavy outer clothing should be shed to make the swimming easier, when swimming is advisable. Due regard for balancing the boat will dictate care in standing up, changing seats, and in rescuing persons from the water—which is best done over the stern, rather than over the side.

Knowledge of artificial respiration, which is part of the training of all conservation officers, may be available for vacationers in remote regions.

We have had several meetings since the last report. We have canned strawberries and cherries, practiced table setting and studied the books. The attendance has not been very good on account of vacations, etc. The meetings were all held at the home of Mrs. B. W. Williams. We had planned a trip for the 10th of July but circumstances did not permit.

Our meeting was held at the home of our leader, Mrs. Draper, on July 13. We opened the meeting by saying the pledge, after which our club sang our club song. We then heard the secretary's and treasurer's reports. Each one of us made our part of the 4-H notebook. Beverly Gilman and Jennie DeJong made cocoa and we then had a lunch of sandwiches and cocoa. Our next meeting will be July 27.

The fifth meeting of the Morse Lake Classy Cooks was held at the home of Doris and Genevieve Depew. In the absence of our president, Pauline Montague, Lois Metternich, our vice president, took charge of the meeting. The members present repeated the club pledge and sang our club song, led by Dorothy Clark. Roll call was answered by each girl naming the different salads and vegetables she had prepared. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

Our club voted to have an ice cream social on Thursday evening, July 18, on the lawn at the Lisle Clark home. We voted to postpone our next meeting until July 25, when it will be held at Amy Yelter's home.

The club members then took up the discussion of salads and vegetables under Mrs. Chas. Smith's leadership. Genevieve Depew demonstrated the making of a boiled salad dressing which was later served on read and approved.

Members who were present at the meeting were Doris Depew. After a few amusing games were played the meeting adjourned.

BRUCE WALTER

Chester the Pup

By GEORGE O'HALLORAN

WE HAD company for dinner to night. It was a Mr. Smith, one of Brittlebrain's customers from Chicago. He was a big, crabby looking fellow with a derby hat, and a face like the missing piece of a jigsaw puzzle. Brittlebrain expected a big order from this visit and he knew just what he was going to say at the supper table. But he never got a chance. Clara's Uncle Sedgewick did all the talking. Can you imagine that old billy goat trying to tell us that he once tracked a black polar bear (the only one ever heard of, and therefore worth a fortune). Well, he tracked that bear for seven years and when he finally caught up with him the bear had turned gray from old age. That was too much for me so I went in the parlor and chewed the top out of the guy's derby. By the time dinner was over, Mr. Smith was kind of fed up on uncle's hot air. And finding his hat on the parlor floor without a top was no tonic either. He finally left without leaving an order, but he told Brittlebrain that he thought the frost must have crept through a crack in uncle's skull.
