We Visit Old Scenes

Had a bit of real pleasure the other night. For two years have been angling with the Smith-Hughes department at Fremont high school to come up there and talk at the adult night school. We taught school in that town when first out of college and made many friendships. Last Wednesday night I went to Fremont. The room we taught in had been changed but the desk, the tables, the file case and a large glass case for specimens were still in use. Best of all, in the group were about ten folks who had been students of mine in the days we were teaching. Naturally in addition to my talk there were many reminiscences between former students and teachers. It was a most enjoyable evening.

As the Editor Sees It Private Opinion Publicly Expressed In this country there are less than 100 individuals with incomes of as much as one million dollars a year. This year each of these 30 individuals will pay to the government a total of $53,323 on each million of income. In the balance left, they may be asked to pay their other taxes. Our "grass roots" column would like to see how the individual is to become the "grass root".

The union overlords are out to organize the men employed by the defense industry. They are affiliated with the United Mine Workers. What a combination! The Congress needs to be on the alert. More than ever before in our history it is necessary that the farmer is not made to hold the bag.

A few weeks ago when the Office of Civilian Defense was getting underway, the Ledger presented a warning that great vigilance would need to be exercised to guard against the expenditures of vast sums of money for useless and silly gifts under the guise of defense. That warning turned out to be true. On Johnny Q. Pagan with the result that it is now being looked at by the Office of Civilian Defense. It is more likely to mean what the words really imply. What we want to be taught is how to protect ourselves from bombs, air raids, sabotage, the propaganda of our enemies and how to FIGHT BACK! The Congress could go one better by putting Civilian Defense in the hands of our own proper niche, but we cannot, or will not, do that.

There may have been some excuse for the 48-hour week back in the days when there were half a dozen men for every job but today that excuse cannot be truthfully made. Every man-jack of us and every woman too for that matter has to jump to it we are to win this war.

President Roosevelt made an important speech to the people of the nation last Monday night. The speech dealt with the civilian government is keeping nothing back. It is the only way to win. It will help the enemy. In other words, it is the only way to win. It will help the enemy. In other words, it is the only way to win.

As the Editor Sees It Private Opinion Publicly Expressed In this country there are less than 100 individuals with incomes of as much as one million dollars a year. This year each of these 30 individuals will pay to the government a total of $53,323 on each million of income. In the balance left, they may be asked to pay their other taxes. Our "grass roots" column would like to see how the individual is to become the "grass root".

The union overlords are out to organize the men employed by the defense industry. They are affiliated with the United Mine Workers. What a combination! The Congress needs to be on the alert. More than ever before in our history it is necessary that the farmer is not made to hold the bag.

A few weeks ago when the Office of Civilian Defense was getting underway, the Ledger presented a warning that great vigilance would need to be exercised to guard against the expenditures of vast sums of money for useless and silly gifts under the guise of defense. That warning turned out to be true. On Johnny Q. Pagan with the result that it is now being looked at by the Office of Civilian Defense. It is more likely to mean what the words really imply. What we want to be taught is how to protect ourselves from bombs, air raids, sabotage, the propaganda of our enemies and how to FIGHT BACK! The Congress could go one better by putting Civilian Defense in the hands of our own proper niche, but we cannot, or will not, do that.

There may have been some excuse for the 48-hour week back in the days when there were half a dozen men for every job but today that excuse cannot be truthfully made. Every man-jack of us and every woman too for that matter has to jump to it we are to win this war.

President Roosevelt made an important speech to the people of the nation last Monday night. The speech dealt with the civilian government is keeping nothing back. It is the only way to win. It will help the enemy. In other words, it is the only way to win.

Garden Lore Club
 Mrs. Hulda Finels, president and Mrs. Harold Englehardt, vice president of the Lowell Garden Lore Club were hostesses Tuesday at a very lovely one o'clock luncheon in the former's home on West Main Street for the 1942 program committee.

Many worthwhile ideas were exchanged and much enthusiasm aroused. Many worthwhile things that can be accomplished by an energetic garden club were discussed.

This year above all others, the club wants to be outstanding, and worthwhile in this garden work that has no ending and has spread from shore to shore. The people of the United States are being urged to take part in an organized campaign this year to grow vitamins at the dinner table through the medium of a home Victory garden.

A pleasing design and the free use of flowers about the Victory garden will make it an attraction the season long. The use of flowers in the vegetable garden is an old American colonial idea.

There will be more about this in next week's Ledger. As it will be just six weeks until the first meeting, the Club wants to be all set to go 100% with the old membership and another 100% of new members. New members wishing to join please call, Mrs. Finels, 243; Mrs. Englehardt, 75 or Mrs. Elmer White, publicity chairman, 268.

Nutrition Three Golden Rules
 (By The Women's National Emergency Committee)

Golden Rule No. 1
 A sound foundation for buoyant health can be built with seven or eight basic foods—milk, seafood, fruit, meat, eggs, green vegetables, bread with adequate vitamins in it.

Golden Rule No. 2
 As far as you possibly can, see to it that every day you eat, at least two or more glasses of milk, so as to get some Vitamin A, some of the B Vitamins, good proteins and plenty of calcium.

Enriched bread or biscuits, or whole grain cereals, or whole wheat bread and enriched flour whenever you use white flour for cooking purposes, so as to get B Vitamins and minerals.

A tomato, an orange, a grapefruit or their juices, so as to get plenty of Vitamin C.

A big helping of green, leafy vegetables and sometimes yellow ones, raw or lightly cooked, so as to get more Vitamin C, more Vitamin A and minerals.

Eggs, or lean meat or seafood, so as to get more proteins, several B vitamins and iron.

Golden Rule No. 3
 Then, unless your doctor has you on a special diet, eat anything else you like including the necessary fats. You will, in this way, be getting a daily nutritionally adequate diet.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon, Feb. 21, for Samuel Keim, aged 78, who passed away early Wednesday morning at the home of his son, Wesley, who with his wife, Della, have cared for him in their home for nearly a year. Sam had lived his life in this neighborhood and was well known by both young and old. Over three years ago, he was stricken with a stroke, from which he never recovered and during the past few weeks gradually grew weaker until his passing. Prayer services were held at the home at one thirty and 2 p. m. at the old Mennonite church, Rev. Gordon Truesdell officiating, Bishop Tobias Schrock and Rev. Daniel Zook assisting. He is survived by three sons, Burt of Grand Rapids, Wesley at home and Walter of Ionia and one granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Schwab. Nine grand children and one great-grandchild, besides a number of nieces and nephews.

Egg Joins Apple In Health Fight

Whoever coined the phrase "an apple a day" either forgot or didn't appreciate that a hen's egg deserves a pedestal in every man's everyday fight for health.

An estimated 1 1/2 million hens in Michigan are doing their best to keep Michigan egg consumers healthy and to supply the nation's war needs.

At Michigan State College the home economics staff members support the contention of the poultry husbandry department that hens fed properly lay eggs that are packed with health and food essentials.

Chemistry and nutrition studies continue, literally, to take the egg apart and find more and more what food value is available. The white of an egg, for instance, is somewhat restricted in vitamin values except for one member of the so-called vitamin B complex. In particular the white offers a relatively high content of what is known as riboflavin.

In the yolk there are added vitamin supplies. More of the riboflavin is present, enough with the white to surpass most other foods except certain animal tissues such as liver and kidneys.

Depending on how the hen is fed, also on the variance of the egg that one hen might lay compared with the egg production of some other hen, the vitamin A content is valuable to those who eat eggs.

There is a good source of vitamin D in eggs. This varies widely depending on how much of the vitamin is provided in the hen's diet. Another vitamin in the yolk is the vitamin B1.

"Michigan poultrymen have met and exceeded federal goals set up for egg production," explains C. G. Card, head of the college poultry department. He sees no need for farmers to worry about overproduction, since federal purchases, needs for eggs for drying plants and for local consumption should continue to provide egg markets.

Not Dumb
 "I don't suppose you keep any thing so civilized as dog biscuits in this rundown, one-horse, jay tow do you?" snarled the tourist.

"Oh, yes, stranger," the village merchant responded pleasantly. "Quite a few city folks come through here and we aim to have anything they want. Will you have 'em in a bag to take out, or would you like to eat 'em here?"

Modernization Triples Value

Nowhere does lack of imagination cost more than in old house ownership. If owners of Grover Cleveland period homes, like this, could shut their eyes and visualize the attractive, modern cottage that could be created from such an old homestead, there would be less value lost in real estate depreciation and money spent on wrecking operations.

The complete transformation of this old house was accomplished through the use of more imagination than money. On an average, a dollar spent on modernization jobs like this can represent three dollars earned in increased real estate value. Many old homes can be instantly improved merely by changing "dated" lines and by replacing old-fashioned millwork.
