

Weather forecast: An estimated three-quarters inch of rain fell here Monday. A little late but nevertheless quite welcome.

The autumnal equinox arrived on schedule on Monday at 10:41 a. m., at which time the sun crossed the equator on its southward trip. In other words, Fall is upon us.

Tuesday's high winds caused a heap of work for the light and power plant crew. Falling limbs put electric lines out of commission for a time at various points and a truckload of waste paper was spilled all over the street.

Charlie Wood, well-known local painter, suffered a heart attack on Monday evening while eating supper at a local restaurant. A physician was called and Charlie was removed to the home of his brother, Otis (Wood, 725 Lafayette-st., where he is resting comfortably, but will be obliged to remain in bed for several days.

Frank Stephens reports that Art Waxmik of R3, Lowell, ran over a fox on a Boston township road a mile north of W-18 Saturday night and had the foresight to stop and pick up the carcass which was worth $5 when he presented it to Ionia county authority for the county bounty.

The fire department was called out about 4 o'clock last Monday morning to subdue a grass fire near the west village limits. When discovered the fire was creeping steadily towards the pine trees, shrubbery, etc., on the Foreman Poultry Farm. It is thought that the fire started from cigarettes tossed out by passing motorists.

Women Turn To Old Delicacy Potato Bread

Potato bread is an old-fashioned delicacy that many people like, but seldom get in these days. Many women went back to home-baking when store shelves were empty of bakery bread. Although flour is a little more plentiful now than during spring and early summer, potatoes are even more abundant.

Michigan State college home economists say tests have been made to determine how much cooked potato can be used to replace flour in a standard bread recipe. One-sixth, by measure, seems to be the ideal quantity. The potato should be boiled, put through a ricer, and packed well into the cup when measuring. If the ricod potato is mixed with the milk, it will not form lumps in the loaf.

And just a word of warning—be sure and save out plenty of the flour called for in the recipe for kneading the dough. Here is the tested recipe:

Scald one cup milk, add one-half cup boiled, ricod potato, 1 teaspoon salt, one-half tablespoon fat and 1 tablespoon sugar. Cool to lukewarm and add one cake crumbled yeast. Stir in 2 1/2 cups flour and mix well until blended. Reserve one-half to two-thirds cup of flour for kneading. Sprinkle kneading board well with this flour, then turn out dough on board and knead until smooth. Let rise 1 1/2 hours or until double in bulk. Punch down and let rise one hour. Knead lightly, shape and let rise in pan 1 hour. Bake 15 minutes at 375 degrees; lower heat to 350 degrees and continue baking 45 minutes.

Keith Himebaugh Tells of Travels

Attends World Food and Agric. Conference

Keith Himebaugh, who left about six weeks ago for points in Europe and Denmark, on an important mission for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has written an interesting letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Himebaugh, of Lowell. The letter, written at Copenhagen, Denmark, under date of September 11, reads as follows: Dear Mother and Dad,

It surely was nice to get your letter. My mail has been coming in bunches after long periods without any. For a month while I was traveling around Europe I got no mail because it was impossible for it to catch up with me on an uncertain route and schedule. I got a couple of letters when I got back to Copenhagen on September 1st, and more came a couple of days ago.

All this has been one of the most wonderful experiences I have ever had. We have been practically everywhere in Europe, met all of the leaders, have seen the most terrible destruction, the most historic spots and creations of man, dating back before Christ, have been received by the Pope, have been wined and dined everywhere, and had a generally good highlight education on what is going on and what it is all about over here.

I have learned that air travel is much easier on the nerves than auto travel, especially with European drivers who, when they think they have American officials in the car, think the way to please them is to get them there in a hurry—no matter how many pedestrians' lives they risk in the process.

It is getting so that I automatically take a nap when I get on a plane, but the first thing I do in every country is to learn to say the word that will get our drivers to slow down. I neglected to inquire in time in Germany and in an emergency used the word "Halt" which, of course stopped the proceedings completely and suddenly because the driver was a former German soldier.

Having been in one place for a whole week, we went up to Oslo, Norway for the day. On Monday morning we hopped over to Stockholm, Sweden, and came back here Monday night.

I don't know when or how we are going home as yet but we are going to try to leave Saturday. Mr. Dodd (Under-Secretary of Agriculture) wants to go home by boat and we are trying to get reservations on the Queen Mary. However, we will probably take whatever we can get whenever we can get it. Europe seems to be full of people trying to get to the other side of the Atlantic.

I can't put down many details about my trip in a letter. I expect to give about a dozen lectures on various phases of the trip when I get home. Each lecture would take a book. I've been from the Mediterranean to well up toward the Arctic Circle on this side. I have been where the temperature never gets much above 60 degrees in the summer and has been 100 degrees, in Alaska 106 degrees, and in Bucharest 122 degrees in the shade. Rumania is having a terrible drought.

We flew over the Balkans at the time the Yugoslavs were shooting down planes and didn't know at what moment they might take a crack at us.

I could go on this way all night, but I won't because tomorrow I have work to do.

Love, Keith

Service Awards to Three Lowell Men

Frank and James McMahon and Mert Sinclair were awarded the Edward Dunbar Rich award for 1946 for 25 years meritorious service in the public water supply of Michigan.

The awards were presented at the joint conference of the Michigan Section of the American Water Works Association and the Michigan Conference on Water Purification at Park Place hotel, Traverse City, on Thursday evening, September 19.

The fact that Lowell had three members of the Municipal Water, Light and Power Plants eligible for this award of service was unusual. The Village of Lowell salutes the fine work that these 25 years represent.

New Hope Offered Hay Fever Victims

About five million Americans have taken new hope over the prospect of a cure for their common ailment—hay fever.

The promised relief lies in a new drug called anthallan. Careful tests indicate that anthallan is effective in most allergy cases regardless of cause. The drug is easy for the doctor to administer and is said to be entirely safe in reasonable doses.

The cause of most hay fever sufferers' misery is ragweed—a plant that thrives in many sections of the country with no encouragement whatever. Its pollen floats in the air almost everywhere from the middle of August until frost comes. The annoying symptoms of hay fever result from the sensitiveness of the mucous membranes of the eyes, nose and upper respiratory tract to this pollen. Besides, the well known and uncontrollable sneezing, itching, redness and swelling of the eyes and nose result from this sensitiveness.

Unfortunately, hay fever victims can be sensitive to more than one substance. Sometimes hay fever is complicated by sinusitis or asthma. Nor is all hay fever confined to the fall months. What is known as perennial hay fever may occur at any time and can be due to an allergy to any one or more of a long list of things including milk, eggs, house dust or dandruff.

Like all drugs used in the control of hay fever, anthallan should be taken only under the doctor's supervision.

In the next article, helping the TB patient meet his problems will be discussed.

Re-Registration Is Essential In All Townships and Villages

If you live in any of the townships or in the villages of Michigan, it is essential that you re-register for the fall election. State officials a year or so ago decided that all of the voting precincts of Michigan should have what is termed a permanent registration system. This was made mandatory for cities a number of years ago, but for some reason townships and villages were exempted from the provisions of the act when first passed.

Now that Michigan is to have the permanent registration system for the townships and villages as well as cities, it is ABSOLUTELY necessary that you re-register at least 20 days before November 5, if you desire to vote in the fall election.

And let it be said right now that Michigan NEVER had a more important election than the one that will take place on November 5.

Dad Writes A Letter to Mr. Motorist

An open letter was published in the editorial columns of the Port Huron Times-Herald the other day. It carries a message no motorist can ignore. It is an appeal that needs to be heeded in Lowell as well as in Port Huron. For that reason, we are reprinting it:

DEAR MR. MOTORIST:

A few months ago I wrote to ask that you drive carefully in my neighborhood. I was worried because my youngsters were crossing and re-crossing the street, in their excitement not being as careful as they should.

Vacation is over and last week I took my youngest by the hand to lead him into the first grade room at school.

He swaggered to a seat indicated by the teacher, sat down and grinned back at me.

All of a sudden I got a lump in my throat and had to turn away and get out of there fast.

He's taken a big step in life. His "Mom" and I can't guide his actions 24 hours a day any more.

We can't rush to take his hand when he crosses the busy thoroughfare to and from school. Why, he made sure that I wouldn't be going to school with him the second day. It was his way of notifying me that he's a big man now.

But, gosh! He isn't a big man at all. He's just a baby. His little head is crammed with a number of things and he's likely to forget almost any time the "fundamental" rules of safety we have tried to teach him, and that he'll hear again from his teacher.

If he gets to school and back safely, it will be because you have been careful, Mr. Motorist.

Because you observe the speed zones.

Because you are going slow enough to stop if he dashes out in front of your car.

Because you are on the alert every minute you are behind the wheel.

Please be careful, Mr. Motorist. He's bright and cheerful, and such a good boy!

He loves his family and we all love him.

Please take it easy, Mr. Motorist. His life and our happiness are in your hands.

Sincerely,
HIS DAD.

Mrs. William P. Laux Laid to Rest Monday

Mrs. William P. Laux was born September 28, 1880 in Ionia county, Mich., and passed away at the home in Lowell, September 20, 1946, at the age of 65 years, 11 months and 23 days.

November 7, 1900, she was married to William Laux of Ionia county. For some time they lived on a farm, coming to Lowell in 1907, where they have since resided, having lived for 38 years in their home at 613 Avery Street.

Two children were born to this union, Mrs. Eva Young of Battle Creek and Lyle of Lansing. There is also one grandchild, William Laux, Jr., 15, who will make his home here with his grandfather.

Mrs. Laux was a member of the First Methodist Church, having united with the church in her youth. She was a very devout Christian worker, and a woman of great faith and prayer. For fifteen years she, with her husband, was a member of the Michigan State Holiness Camp meeting Association and greatly appreciated and enjoyed the religious privileges of their stay on the camp ground during the summer. She was also a member of the auxiliary of the Kent County Rural Carriers.

Mrs. Laux had been in failing health during the summer and had been confined to her home for several weeks preceding her death. In addition to her husband and her immediate family, she leaves two sisters, Mrs. Jessie Cahoon of Lowell and Mrs. Arthur Parker of Battle Creek & one brother, Lewis Pottruff of Lyons and a host of friends and neighbors to mourn her passing.

Funeral services were held in the Lowell Methodist church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. C. E. Pollock officiating. Interment in Oakwood cemetery.

166 Needy Families Aided in Kent Co.

Since establishment of the county expansion program of the Family Service Association last March, Mrs. Florence Pfuecke, county case worker for the association and member of the Red Feather agency of the Grand Rapids Community chest, has aided 166 needy county families.

Mrs. Pfuecke averages 800 miles a month in routine sweeps of the county area, aiding approximately 30 families each month with problems that upset family life.

She also has spoken to rural teachers, PTA, Grange groups and farm bureaus throughout the county. In her work she has received aid from county Community chest, public welfare and health agencies.

"Our expansion program is only in its infancy now," Mrs. Pfuecke said. "By this time next year, we hope to make consultations available to every key town and village in Kent county."

Mrs. Pfuecke is a graduate of the New York School of Social Work and holds a master's degree from Columbia university. She has been affiliated with family service in Grand Rapids for five years.

Mrs. Pfuecke visits Lowell City Hall every Monday from 10 to 12, however, she will not be here again until Monday, October 7, as she will be attending the State Conference for Social Welfare and Mental Health in Detroit.

Red Devils Drop 14 to 0 Decision To Wyoming Park

(Farrest Buck, Sports Reporter)

Lowell's championship football status received a definite setback when they ran slambang into a 14 to 0 upset at the hands of an up and coming Wyoming Park eleven, at Godwin Heights Friday night.

Under the coaching of J. Towens, the Parkers presented a flashing "T" formation that had Lowell's defense back on its heels most of the evening.

The Red Devils missed a scoring opportunity shortly after the opening kickoff, when they carried the ball to Wyoming's three yard line, only to lose the pigskin on downs. A 20-yard pass, Bishop to Wittenbach, was the highlight of this series of plays.

Failure to punt by Lowell, on 4th down early in the 2nd quarter, gave the Parkers a chance to get their offensive to working and enabled them to score during the last four seconds of the first half, and a 7 to 0 lead midway of the game.

Bishop and Bird made several nice gains during the third period, however the locals were unable to carry their threats into pay territory. At this time the Red Devils defense let up and with the assistance of several penalties, Wyoming crashed over for a 14 to 0 lead.

With the opening of the 4th quarter the wearers of the Red and White came to life. Eickhoff and Bishop began hitting at line with a vengeance that bodes evil for Lowell's future opponents. Bird and Kline showed enough speed, that with the aid of a little better blocking should improve the Lowell cause. Roth, Waits, Mueller, Doyle, Bob Bird, Schneider, Baker, Wittenbach and Johnson played in the Lowell line. Kline, Bird, Bishop, Eickhoff and Rickett performed in the backfield.

"Every other team with the exception of Lowell and Wyoming in the Grand Valley conference had the advantage of playing their opening games with outside foes.

This week's game is at Ionia Friday night at 7:30. The Red Devils have plenty of work ahead of them. The line must overcome some glaring weaknesses and their blocking must improve, more speed on both offense and defense will be necessary if they wish to make a good showing against the Prison City lads, who scored a 39 to 0 victory over Lansing vocational in their first game of the season.

Dr. Josiah Oldfield, a specialist of Chesham, England, declares the normal human heart is constricted to beat about 2,500,000 times—which would mean a life span of 95 or 100 years. Dr. Oldfield, who takes it easy and lives mostly on fruit, is 83.

Urge Public Support Of Safety Program; Accidents Increase

"Traffic Accidents are up 56 per cent in Kent County and Grand Rapids," E. Ross Farra, manager of the Safety Council, reports in a bulletin sent to clubs and organizations throughout Kent County, urging public support of accident prevention programs and offering to furnish speakers and films.

"Industrial Accidents are up nearly 50 per cent, and home accidents have increased almost half in the first six months," the report continues. "We must do something about it now because the last four months of the year are always the worst ones for serious accidents."

Organizations wishing to hold accident prevention meetings, or wishing to put on accident prevention programs in rural or suburban areas are asked to call the Safety Council offices in Grand Rapids, one of the 23 Red Feather Services of the Community Chest of Kent County. Discing Method of Preparing Seed Bed
By Russell Jagers, Clarkville

This fall a person may see many fields being fitted for wheat, some hard and lumpy, others fine and mellow. In many cases this difference is due to the method of preparing the ground. Plowing quite often turns up hard lumps, particularly in a dry year such as we have had in Michigan. Discing on the other hand avoids lumps to a great extent and leaves a fine mellow seed bed, because of the action of the disc. Soil moisture also is conserved, as the important item in a dry year. The extra work of breaking sump is saved as well as the expense of sharpening or buying plow points.

Here are some suggestions in the use of the disc harrow.

First, weight the disc heavily. This is especially important when the straw and work it into the ground. Burning is not advisable because of the loss of plant food, and especially humus, which makes the ground more mellow and easier to work each successive year. Grading is more important when using weight, to reduce wear and drawbar pull.

Secondly, go back and forth in the same direction each time, rather than crossing as the disc seems to cut down faster. A corduroy road illustrates the principle. The logs are laid crosswise of the road to keep the wheels from cutting down, and the little ridges left by the disc have the same effect. Discing on the contour is made possible and practical also, especially where a swinging drawbar enables one to turn short and go back along the same course. Contouring saves power and helps prevent soil washing. You just go around the slopes, rather than up and down them. The ground may be finished to the degree desired by a little variation of this method. Here is a suggestion that may be followed or you may vary it to suit conditions. Go over the ground first pulling a half of the width each time to break the crust and save moisture, in the surface of the soil or falling as rain. Then plow the same direction, plow each time enough to give the required number of times to finish the preparation to the desired degree of mellowness. Our disc has 12 spaces across the front disc, so I take the disc of three spaces each time on the side toward which I am working in order to go over the ground four times. This will be enough to make the ground as mellow as ashes in many cases. More or less may be needed in different circumstances.

Thirdly, go slowly. This cannot be emphasized too much because of the high speeds commonly used in doing tractor work. Hand and foot power ground will work up much better and faster if one goes slow. A good rule is about the speed of a spoke of a wheel. In fact, they would work fine on the ordinary small tractor disc. The drawbar pull is averaged up by the method just given, rather than being light at first and increasingly heavy as the disc works deeper. In ground with spots that work up easier than the rest, speed up a bit to keep from going so deep, and the same on the turns at the ends.
